TO THE ALUMNI
Doubtless more of you have returned today to see the Notre Dame game than were back for Homecoming or will be back for the Roundup in the spring. We wish to call your attention to the housing situation at the University. With the condemnation of Nebraska Hall, an 11th reduction of the capacity mightily, the lack of classroom space is becoming desperate, as any student will tell you. If you will take a few minutes to investigate, you will find just what the condition is. May we ask that you do this, and when the time comes that you support the University actively in its request for new buildings.

OF COLLEGE SPIRIT
NOT THE VICTORY BUT THE ACTION: NOT THE GOAL BUT THE GAME: IN THE DEED THE GLORY.
So reads an inscription on the walls of Nebraska's football stadium. And, in our saner moments, we heartily agree with it. But when the mob hysteria before a game grips us, we forget that there is such a thing as a game, and cry only for victory. We adorn our vehicles and ourselves with placards declaring that we MUST win. We sing unmusical songs in classes demanding that our fifteen or twenty football representatives now "elect for last year; make them pay; beat Notre Dame." Again, we believe that "we don't give a damn for the whole team of Notre Dame." So collegiate!

For the past several days the pre-game hysteria has prevented any serious study. Midnight rallies and singing and shouting in classes have utterly disrupted class work. Yesterday this reached a climax. For all that was accomplished, school might as well have been dismissed. A professor of philosophy amidst the noise from the hall, asked, "How can I talk of the wisdom of Plato with this going on? I know that winning of this game is the most important thing in the world, but—" Fresh roars from outside drowned him out. He dismissed the class.

This carefully organized and planned "enthusiasm" is becoming an Old Man of the Sea to the University. Spontaneous enthusiasm is all right, but our enthusiasm now is becoming like that following the nomination of a candidate at a national political convention. Spontaneous? No, of course not; it was planned beautifully.

Another professor sat for twenty minutes while his class sang songs, stamped and whistled. His efforts to begin his lecture met with new outbursts. Great spirit!

After all, though the idea may now seem idealistic and visionary, we came here to be educated. Football was begun as a means for exercise, without anyone caring particularly who won. That attitude was soon tition. The interest in the sport can amount to anything without keen competition. The interest in the sport today is because of this competition. The interests in the sport today is because of this competition. Finally a new attitude became apparent: "The team must win; if it does not—well if it does not—" Students at Northwestern University exemplified the extreme of this particular type of insanity recently. Because Michigan claimed the championship, disregarding Northwestern's claims, Northwestern students burned down a house, tried to burn their old stadium, and cracked the mayor and policemen over the heads with clubs.

We love football, believing it to be the finest of all games. And we therefore hate to see it prostituted to

GOOD MATERIAL IN FRESHMAN SQUAD

Yearlings Develop A Number of Men Who Will Bear Watching Next Year

Another season of freshman football is history. A very successful freshman football team checked in their suits Tuesday afternoon, after a last scrimmage with the Varsity. The coaching staff is more than pleased with the showing of the freshmen this year. Since the first scrimmage with the Varsity early this year, the Yearlings have been persistent in their battles with the Huskers. There were times when they tore big holes in the Varsity line and times when they were battered and bruised by the hard hitting Husker backs, but not once did the freshmen give up.

The freshmen have developed several stars, who will be heard from next year. Weight, speed and hard line smashers they have. The line is heavy and the backfield is fast. In the backfield Buzby and Zust are the best bets for quarterback. Both men run the team in good shape and are accurate passers. Beck is the leading candidate for fullback. He is a hard line plunger, a strong defensive man and his punting would cause an opposing team some worry. Howell, Andrews and Wyatt showed up well at the halfback positions.

Holmes and Reeves have been fighting it out for the center position. Reeves was injured early in the season, which forced him out of practice for some time. Holmes is an accurate passer and is a strong man on the defense. Teal, Stopher and Hall have been holding down the guard positions. At tackles Richards, Durisch and Lucas are men who will bear watching next year. The three men are big and are constantly breaking through the line and stopping the play before it is started. Holm and Ashburne held down the wing positions in good shape.

Marion A. Check, of Berkeley, a senior in Harvard College, has been appointed to an undergraduate committee, which will investigate athletic problems at Harvard.

Seniors Must Apply For Diplomas Now

Many senior students, the office of Registrar has announced, have not made application for their degrees or certificates for January or June. "It is of utmost importance that these students report to the office of the registrar at once," advised Florence I. McGahey, registrar, Tuesday.
