

HOLD BANQUET FOR FOOTBALL TEAM TONIGHT

Additional Number of Tickets Printed to Supply the Heavy Demand

JOYCE IS TOASTMASTER

Corncocks Have Been Working for Two Days on Decorations in Scottish Rite Temple

According to all indications the attendance at the annual Cornhusker Banquet to be held tonight at 8:30 in the Scottish Rite Temple will surpass that of any previous banquet. There has been a heavy demand for tickets and it has been necessary to have additional number of tickets printed in order to supply the Cornhuskers who wish to honor the 1925 football team.

In all probability the name of the captain-elect will be announced at the banquet and if his name is given out tonight. He will be among the speakers of the evening. "Bobbie" Joyce, whose ability as a toastmaster is widely known in Cornhusker circles, will be the toastmaster again this year and will introduce Governor McMullen, Chancellor Avery, Dean Engberg, Coach Bear, Captain Weir and the captain-elect. The Corncocks have been working for two days on the decorations and have worked out a scheme of decorations that promise to be a feature of the evening.

The program will begin promptly at 5:30 and every man who desires to see the official motion pictures of the Notre Dame-Nebraska game must be there at that time as there will be only one showing of the pictures. Immediately after being shown they will be rushed to West Point.

Following the pictures the banquet will begin in the main dining room of the building. Two orchestras, The Serenaders and The Hastonians, have been secured to furnish music for the evening. The committee in charge has promised that the banquet will begin on time and will be carried out according to a schedule that will enable all men who have other engagements for the evening to keep them.

Make Plans for Annual Campus Christmas Tree

Plans are being made by the all-University party committee for the annual Christmas tree. In former years the large pine tree between the Administration Building and U Hall has been decorated and a program rendered there. Whether or not this custom will be carried out this year is still undecided, but it is planned to have the tree decorated and lighted each evening of the holidays.

"Gentlemen Burglar" Returns Large Clock To Fraternity House

The "Gentleman burglar" who on Tuesday night left some small change in the trousers pockets of his victims at one of the fraternity houses, did an even more gentlemanly deed the next night, when he visited another fraternity house, and returned to its place on the mantelpiece a large clock which for several weeks had been reckoned in the house ledger as among the missing.

Aside from being run down, and in need of winding, the clock was in as good condition as ever, and is now back on duty telling the time of day. Similar visits would probably be welcomed by other fraternities who have been robbed lately.

PLAYERS GIVE SHORT PLAYS

Present Three One-act Plays And Three Interludes at Temple Theater

CHRISTMAS IS FEATURED

An evening of one-act plays was presented by the University Players to a well filled house at the Temple Theater Thursday evening. The plays will be given again Friday and Saturday evening and Saturday afternoon.

What will make the Christmas chimes ring was the theme of Elizabeth McFadden's "Why the Chimes Rang?" Representatives from all walks of life bring valuable gifts to the cathedral to offer them to the Christ Child but it is only when the child brings his few pennies that the chimes peal forth and the choir carols merrily, proving the adage that it is not what you give but how you give it that counts.

The play was staged with the ceremony fitting a Christmas theme. The lighting effects and the cathedral setting are worthy of mention. Mr. Ramsey does a rare bit of character work in the old man. Mr. Felton, who officiates as the priest, proves himself a very versatile actor. It is a departure from his usual juvenile leads. Alys Connel and Pauline Gellatly as two children add a touch of youthfulness to the play. "Poor Aubrey," a personification of bluff, depends for its success upon Charlotte Beck.

"Op-O'-Me-Thumb," is a clever presentation of a laundry girl's dream in which the interpretation of the "queen" by Frances McChesney was outstanding.

The remainder of the program consisted of three interludes, "The Noble Lord," "All on a Summer's Day," and "Thirty Minutes on the Street."

Will Hold Battalion Review on Wednesday

A battalion review of the second battalion, with companies "E" and "F" participating, will be held Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, for the purpose of decorating last year's members of Company E, the winner of Compet last spring. All members who are in school this year will be decorated by Miss Blossom Hilton who was sponsor of the company at the time of the compet. Harold Gish who was captain of the company, will also be present.

Proposal Number Four

Against U. S. participation in the World Court.

Three proposals for entrance into the World Court have been outlined in the preceding articles of this series. There is only one basis upon which the United States may stay out of the Court, and that is to not go in. These are the four parts of the ballot which is to be placed into the students' hands this morning.

There is no explanation to be made of the last position. It means merely that this country does not adhere to the World Court—that it remains outside. There are, however, a number of reasons advanced for maintaining our present status.

The United States has negotiated a large number of arbitration treaties with other countries so that in case of trouble, arbitration will be resorted to. Because of these, we do not need to go into the World Court.

It is against the traditional policy of the country to become involved in European affairs, politically. Of course there are economic connections and diplomatic ties but the consular and diplomatic services handle the affairs of these contacts. If trouble arises, there are the arbitration treaties.

This country has assumed responsibility for peace and good conduct on this side of the Atlantic. Europe should do the same herself without involving us in another argument.

WOMEN HOLD ANNUAL PARTY THIS EVENING

Expect Keen Competition in Contest for the Three Costume Prizes

FEATURE GRAND MARCH

Given by Associated Women Students; Coincides with Men's Cornhusker Banquet

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Armory, is the annual girls' Cornhusker party. So, garbed in the most fantastic costume that a college woman's imagination can conjure up, a motley crew will gather.

The evening will start off with a series of stunts presented by the honorary organization of the campus. They are in the nature of vaudeville acts. The honoraries giving skits are Mystic Fish, "Freshman Days," Xi Delta, "N Co-Ed Chorus"; Silver Serpents, "Pigmies in Pantomime"; and Tassels, "Tassels and Corncocks in Vaudeville."

Directly following the entertainment will be the grand march, the feature part of the evening. Every person or creature represented will choose a partner and parade around the hall in order to display the details of his costume to the best advantage. The chaperones—Miss Louise Pound, Miss Marguerite McPhee, and Miss Mabel Lee will act as judges and after due deliberation will award prizes. The type of costumes eligible for the competition are the prettiest, the most unique, and the funniest.

Have Women's Six-Piece Orchestra A women's six piece orchestra will furnish the music during the evening in order that the party be strictly a women's affair.

Mortar Board will have entire charge of all the concessions sold. They will have a decorated booth in the northwest corner of the gym where candied apples and ice cream sandwiches will be for sale.

The party has been given by the years and it is one of the most pleasurable traditions on the campus. It always coincides with the men's Cornhusker banquet, so the girls show very easily that they can have a rollicking evening without any of the gentlemen present.

This is the only time during the year when the University sponsors a party in the evening entirely for the girls. It has always proven most popular, and every one always takes advantage of the opportunity of having an evening of fun.

Costumes Feature of Evening

The costumes are always the most enlivening element of the evening. As there are no limitations to originality, competition is very keen and the results are often as different as they are ridiculous. Tramps are seen very often, undoubtedly because of the ease in securing an outfit, but there are also many soldiers wearing the familiar blue uniforms. Little girls with their dolls, and colored mummies brush shoulders with harem girls, bathing beauties, and even a stray Chinaman.

All doors to the Armory will be locked except the south doors on the west side. The admission charge is twenty-five cents, and because of the large crowd they are asked to bring the correct change if possible. The doors will be open at seven-fifteen in order that some may complete their costumes after arriving.

Ballot for Student Poll

The following proposals make up the ballot to be voted upon in classes today.

1. For U. S. participation in the World Court under the "Harding-Hughes-Coolidge" terms
(The U. S. not to be connected with the League of Nations or bound to any obligations under the League covenant; not to be bound by advisory opinions of the Court on questions not voluntarily submitted by the U. S.)
2. For U. S. participation under the "Harmony Plan" of thirty peace leaders
(The U. S. to join the Court under the "Harding-Hughes-Coolidge" terms, but to withdraw after five years unless a code of international law has been adopted outlawing war and the Court given jurisdiction).
3. For U. S. participation under the Borah terms.
(The U. S. not to join the World Court until international law has been codified outlawing war and the Court given jurisdiction; the U. S. not to be connected thereby with the League of Nations.)
4. Against U. S. participation in the World Court.

HOLD MUSIC CONVOCATION

Miss Aenone Poston, Gives Weekly Program on Thursday

Miss Aenone Poston, pianist, appeared in the weekly musical convocation held in the Temple Theater Thursday morning. Her selections were received with hearty applause from the audience.

The numbers were: Ballade in B Minor—Liszt. Standchen—Strauss—arranged by Bachaus. Concert Landler—Hans Luber. Concert Prelude (The Blacksmith)—Dirk Foch.

PLAN FOR TRIP OF INSPECTION

Engineering Students to Take Annual Tour on April 3 and 4 This Year

WILL GO TO CHICAGO

Plans for the engineering inspection trip made annually by members of the senior and junior classes in the College of Engineering, have already begun. A long trip will be arranged to the Chicago district for the week of April 3 to April 10, 1926. It has been the custom to take a so-called long trip every second year, alternating with a short trip in the intervening year.

The attention of all engineering students in the senior and junior years is called to a statement quoted from the general catalog of the University as follows: "Trips of inspection to points of engineering interest are made each year under faculty supervision. Participation in one of these trips and a written report upon the same are required for graduation. The trip should not be taken earlier than the student's third year in the college."

Urges Students to take Trip Though the short trip meets the requirements for graduation, the department earnestly recommends that students elect the long trip as being of greater educational interest and value.

The total expense of the trip will be about ninety dollars per man. All the details will be announced later. Notice is given at this time in the expectation that some of the students will wish to make their decision during the Christmas holidays as to making the trip. A short trip will be arranged in the spring of 1927.

For any further information desired, students are requested to apply to any one of the members of the Inspection Trip Committee. The members of this committee are: H. J. Kesner, chairman, F. W. Norris, C. A. Sjogren, J. Smay and H. L. Wallace.

Will Hold Meeting of Scandinavian Club

A meeting of the Scandinavian Club will be held Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the Teachers College, room 21. A speech in Swedish will be given by Rev. A. W. Lundeen on "Swedish Authors in the United States." Besides this attraction there will be Swedish songs and games also a general practice in Swedish dialect. All students are invited to attend this meeting.

Will Hold Christmas Party

A Christmas party will be held Friday evening by the Lutheran Bible League in the parish hall of the Trinity Lutheran church on 13th and H. The program will start at 8:30.

Weather Forecast Friday: Mostly fair; not much change in temperature.

Engineering Students Will Sponsor "Boot Dance on Saturday"

Checked shirts, leather jackets, and high boots—these will mark the engineers at the "Boot Dance" which is to be held in the Knights of Columbus Hall, Saturday night, December 12. This unique affair is being sponsored by students in the College of Engineering. All students are invited to the dance.

The Venetian orchestra will furnish the music. Tickets, which are one dollar, are being sold in all of the engineering buildings.

The chaperones for the "Boot Dance" will be the members of the College of Engineering faculty. They are: George Chapman, Hiles Haney, and August Lueb.

TO HOLD MIXER NEXT SATURDAY

Christmas Atmosphere Is Being Fostered by Decorations and Program

GIFTS TO BE PRESENTED

The all-University Christmas party to be held in the Armory Saturday evening at 8:15, will include several events featuring the Christmas spirit. Plans were perfected at a meeting held yesterday at Ellen Smith Hall to make this the best party of the year. Gifts will be presented from a Christmas tree, and the distributor will be none other than Santa Claus himself.

Santa is being assisted in creating a Yule-tide atmosphere by the committee on decorations and he has planned to place the tree in the center of the floor, with tinsel, colored lights, and streamers running from the tree to the walls.

Another feature of the intermission will be several carols rendered by the Vesper choir. The plans are to have the choir on the stage or in the balcony. During the singing the tree will be illuminated by spotlights.

Novel Christmas refreshments will be served throughout the evening. Music for the dance will be furnished by the Hastonian eight-piece orchestra. Everyone is invited to be present and help make this a real party. The usual admission of twenty-five cents will be charged.

Y. W. C. A. STAFF IS HOSTESS AT TEA

Grace Coppock Staff Entertains About Two Hundred Women Thursday Afternoon

The Grace Coppock staff of the Y. W. C. A. entertained about two hundred University women at a tea at Ellen Smith Hall, Thursday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. Miss Ethel Hartley and Mrs. Harvey Heath presided at the tea table during the two hours.

A Chinese play, a fantasy in verse "A Flower of Veddo" by Victor Mapes, was presented by four members of the University Players, Eloise MacAhan, Arvella Hanson, Mary Tidball, and Cleo Sigel. Richard Low, accompanied by Miss Marjorie Little of the School of Music sang four vocal solos.

Members of the Grace Coppock committee who assisted in serving were: Eloise McMontes, chairman; Geraldine Fleming, Agnes Hentzen, Caroline Buck, Frances Waterman, Dorothy Thomas, Eloise Keefer and Eloise MacAhan.

Beaded Pink and Black Mat Is Actually a Deadly Gila Monster

An unsuspecting passerby would probably marvel at the artistically beaded pink and black mat which the botany department keeps in one of its laboratories in Bessey Hall. But the mat moves! It is a gila monster, the only poisonous lizard known in the world. Its body covering is like a covering of pink and black beads. The body itself is about eighteen inches long.

The creature has been in the laboratory only about two years. It replaced one kept there before, that died from old age. The latter was also a poisonous lizard, and at one time contrary to its usual mode of movement, it shot out its head and bit Dr. Wolcott who was handling it. Dr. Wolcott says that since that he has handled the pink and black creatures with considerably more care.

Since it has been in Bessey Hall its diet has consisted entirely of raw eggs. In a state of nature, it eats the insects and animals it can find on the desert, its native habitat. It is found principally in Arizona, southern California, and New Mexico. With its two pointed tongue, it laps up the raw eggs, much like a cat.

Like most reptiles that hibernate, loses its appetite during the winter. Only once in a long while will it take any nourishment during this time. It begins its winter fast about the latter part of September, and begins eating again sometime in May. The most interesting feature is yet to come: The gila monster's storehouse of food is in his tail. During the summer he gathers up his store of food and through the winter he lives upon this supply. In the spring his tail is considerably shrunken, being hardly two thirds of its ordinary size. One can tell whether the gila monster is well prepared for the winter by the size of his tail.

TAKE VOTE ON WORLD COURT ISSUE TODAY

Ballot Contains Three Proposals and Chance to Reject Entrance

INSTRUCTORS IN CHARGE

Hold Poll in Ten and Eleven O'clock Classes and at Booth in Social Science

Voting on the question of the participation of the United States in the World Court will take place in the classes this morning. The ballot will contain three proposals for entrance into the Court as well as a chance to vote against it. Several thousand ballots have been placed in the hands of the instructors having large classes at ten and eleven o'clock. Additional copies may be secured from 10 to 1 o'clock at the table near the west entrance of Social Science building where the marked ballots will be turned in.

The poll is being carried on in cooperation with University authorities by a committee from the two Christian associations and it is sponsored by the local chapter of Morterboard, honorary organization of senior girls. The results are to be combined with those of many other colleges and universities so that the total may be published through the several press associations as an expression of national student opinion.

Issues Have Been Stated Statements of the issues involved in this ballot have been published in issues of The Daily Nebraskan this week so that students might understand the facts connected with the various proposals and some of the arguments advanced for each.

Results of the voting will be tabulated by a special committee working under the direction of the Y. W. C. A. in Ellen Smith Hall. These results will be telegraphed to the central office in New York as well as to the Princeton Conference of Students interested in the World Court. This conference is now in session at Princeton, N. J., and includes representatives of colleges and universities from the entire nation. It is held as a final concentrated expression of student sentiment on the Court.

Because the ballots were distributed a little early, a vote was taken in some classes Thursday. The results of the vote in these few cases are being withheld, however, so that those voting today will not be influenced. It is expected, according to some observers not acquainted with the results already secured, that there will be considerable division of opinion. Others hold that the vote will not be scattered, but will center on one or two points involved.

Some question has arisen in the minds of some students as to what effect the nation-wide poll will have on public opinion or on Congress. Advocates of the poll point to the fact that the press associations are to use the results as an indication that some importance is attached to student opinion. Others state that it will have little weight of the campuses concerned. Still others hold that there are enough benefits from the fact that students will have to read and think about the subject to make up for the trouble and expense of the poll.

Y. W. C. A. HAS STAFF DINNER THURSDAY

Is One of Group of Affairs Planned: Fifty Women Are in Attendance

The Y. W. C. A. held one of a group of staff dinners at Ellen Smith Hall from 6 to 8 o'clock on Thursday evening. The dinner was in charge of the membership staff and about fifty women attended. Miss Erma Appleby led the devotionals and Elsa Kerkow, chairman of the finance staff gave a short talk on the finance drive. After the program the time was spent in singing Christmas carols. The members of the staff in charge of the dinner are: Mary Ellen Edgerton, chairman, Marion Eimers, Helen Anderson, Pearl Diller, Kathro Kidwell, Eva Krough, Helen Howe, Rose Faytinger, Irene Lavelly, Marcelle Stenger, Romaine Dickinson, and Ida Mae Flader.
