

WILL HOLD HIKE SATURDAY

Women Who Are Interested Should Sign Up on Bulletin Board

A W. A. A. hike is scheduled for 9:30 Saturday morning. All women interested in hiking are invited to sign up on the W. A. A. bulletin board.

As soon as the skating rink is ready for use, the hiking will be replaced by skating. A system of points, for hours of skating, awarded by W. A. A. makes it possible for a woman to earn some W. A. A. points by skating, as well as hiking and other sports.

IN THE VALLEY

...by... "Zim" and "Zim"

The Kansas Aggies winning streak in basketball on its eastern trip was finally stopped by Notre Dame who defeated the team from the Jayhawk state 38 to 23. Prior to this defeat the Aggies have been showing the Big Ten teams how basketball is played in the Missouri valley.

Iowa State college wrestling squad will enter their first meet against Des Moines University January 9. Though it will be more or less of a practice tilt for the Cyclone wrestlers a fair idea of their ability to uphold past season records should be obtained.

Kurtz, the 125 pound man who won first place at both the Valley and Western intercollegiate matches last spring, will be out for the rest of the season, for the Iowa State team, because of a broken hand sustained in practice. Boyvey of the 115 pound class, and also western intercollegiate winner in this class for the Ames mat artists last year should show up exceptionally well.

The Iowa mat team are tackling some what of a hard schedule which includes Nebraska, winners of the Western intercollegiate and the Valley title two years ago, Oklahoma A. and M., winners of the Valley title last year, and two eastern teams, the Navy, and West Virginia. Captain Woodhull, who weighs in at 145 pounds and who was never defeated last year should be the big noise of the Cyclone team.

Iowa State has dropped baseball from its athletic calendar. The sport will be dropped for the period of one year because of the inability to schedule games. Four games were scheduled with conference teams and all of these games were with one team.

This makes five schools in the valley conference that will not have baseball teams this coming season. Drake and Grinnell have not had nines for some years and Washington and Nebraska have dropped the national pastime during the present school year.

It is hard for the followers of the famous summer pastime to see the game being dropped from the schools not only of the Missouri valley, but all over the country. Inability to meet expenses and short playing seasons are given as the chief causes for the discontinuation of baseball.

Drake University deserves honorable mention for the scheduling of the last game for her 1926 football team. The Navy has not been an opponent of a Valley team in years, if it ever was, and Drake should be able to demonstrate to the Sailors some good points on Valley ability. Drake has taken upon herself a great task with the Navy, Notre Dame, Nebraska, and others of high caliber.

Emory debaters. Such humor, natural and unaffected-one could not repress a round of laughter—underlying it, the bitterest sarcasm; gentle smile, concise, pointed and unmistakably plain to all; facts—a few of them—targetedly placed; no high-pitched lights of oratory; no emotional appeals to past valor and tradition conversationally convincing, and intensely interesting throughout were the qualities that make the debate.

Another feature will be the broadcasting of the annual mid-winter concert by the University Symphony orchestra on Wednesday, Jan. 13 at 8 o'clock. On Thursday, January 7, a faculty recital by members of the faculty of the University School of Fine Arts will be broadcast.

CHICAGO COLLEGE WOMEN MOST FREE

University of Wisconsin Restrains Feminine Students More Than Other Big Ten Schools

(New Student News Service) The University of Chicago Women are the most free, those of the Wisconsin University most restrained in the Big Ten Universities, according to a comparative survey of the rules in the Ohio State Lantern.

It would be impossible to have uniform rules for all Chicago's women students, according to the chairman of the Women's University Council, Edith Foster Flint. She considers the Chicago woman "responsible and self respecting," rules are practically impossible because of the diversion of training of Chicago co-eds. On the other hand at the University of Wisconsin the curfew rings at 9:30.

Several Universities have blue Sundays. At Iowa, Sunday dancing is a misdemeanor. At Purdue both dancing and card playing are tabooed in co-ed houses.

All the big Universities require their women students to register all their trips out of town, including their places of destination and type of transportation as well as chaperons.

ARRANGE TO TAKE GROUP PICTURES

Organizations May Make Appointments with Mr. Larabee at Campus Studio

Group picture appointments should be made at the campus studio where all pictures are being taken, by January 16. Mr. Larabee of the studio is in charge of the group pictures and presidents of organizations should get in touch with him soon to make an appointment.

Professional fraternities, honorary organizations, activities, clubs and societies and other groups are included in this classification. These organizations that have not made reservation for pictures should do so at once by phoning the Cornhusker office or by notifying the managing editor or business manager.

The price for the group pictures is four dollars, payable at the time of the sitting. A dollar fine will be placed on each organization that does not keep its appointment. Most pictures will be taken at the noon hour.

Doors of the studio will be locked while a group is having its picture taken, so members of organizations are urged to be on time to an appointment.

OXFORD DEBATERS CAUSE DISCUSSION

Smith College Find English System Obnoxious; Impression Favorable at Emory

(New Student News Service) Three Oxford debaters came to America last fall and debated in many colleges, departed for England, having been the cause of violent and various opinions on the relative merits of the American and English debate systems.

At Smith College, where a debate was held on the subject of Russian recognition, anti-Oxford spirit ran high. Many students felt insulted at the "almost insulting" flippancy of the Englishmen. Disgruntled editors of the Smith College Weekly decided that she had paid fifty cents to see an authentic pair of "Oxford bags", not to hear a debate on Russian recognition.

"We had hoped to be able to speak in glowing terms of the debate. The English system, we had been told, by doing away with the obnoxious element of college loyalty gave supreme importance to the issue under discussion. In the recent debate the importance of the issue was so little apparent as to quite negligible. Under the American system of intercollegiate debating, the debater has some incentive, at least, for stating his side of the argument to the best of his ability in the fact that he represents his Alma Mater in a friendly contest. Whether it be worthwhile to debate at all, when distorted enthusiasm for a cause must be thus aroused, is another question."

At the University of Alabama a different impression was gotten of the debaters. Crismon-White reporter attended the debate at Emory University. He decides that the "element which actually gripped and held the attention of an entire audience for virtually two hours was surely a human one, emanating from the personalities of three Englishmen and broken at designated intervals by stirring arguments from the
