Many of these are away from parental discipline for the first time in their lives and do not know how to use their unaccustomed freedom. Also coming as they do from High Schools or Colleges where they have been spoon fed, and forced to do their work under threat of punishment, they fail to consider that at University it rests with themselves to get the most out of the time at their disposal.

Sir Arthur Currie, speaking at the Dentistry banquet last year, told his hearers that one of the most difficult problems to solve was that of the Christmas graduate. Often he said the student passed his matriculation examinations with very high marks but fell so low in his term test that the University was not warranted in keeping him on. It was difficult to know what to do in such a case, the student could not be sent home with a note to his parents that he was only fit for digging ditches.

the Lyric all this week!

-see it and learn! Perhaps you'll agree with Jacqueline Logan's idea of "no wages, no matrimony"-perhaps not. At any rate, you'll be highly enter-tained by the actions of a few married folk, during the brief period in which they drag their several balls and chains with extreme reluctance. "Should a husband dole out his dimes, or divide his dollars?" THAT |s the big idea of "Wages for Wives"—enacted by a notable cast including Jacqueline Logan, Margaret Livingston, Zazu Pitts, and Creighton Hale. An act from the Orpheum circuit is also at the Lyric this week; "Dance Mad"—featuring very clever, highly entertaining terp-
