

ED WEIR ACCEPTS COACHING BERTH

Former Husker Tackle Added To Gridiron Staff for Next Season

PRO OFFERS DISMISSED

Ed Weir, Nebraska's all-American tackle and captain of the Cornhuskers for the last two seasons, has definitely stated his acceptance of a position on the Nebraska coaching staff.

The Nebraska Athletic Board has been negotiating with Weir, relative to his acceptance of a position on the 1926 coaching staff, for the past few weeks.

The former grid-captain and perhaps the greatest figure in the realm of Cornhusker history, will be assigned the duty of coaching the candidates for positions in the Nebraska line.

Weir ended the suspense of the Board in relation to securing him, by formally notifying Head Coach Bearg that he would be on the job when the Cornhusker candidates report for practice next September.

There has been some doubt as to the action of Weir in this matter due to the fact that professional football promoters have been camping on his trail since last fall. Although the "pro" promoters have made glaring offers to the former Cornhusker captain, none were accepted. The most recent offer from professional football circles was received from Minneapolis, where Red Grange, and his manager, C. C. Pyle, heading their league, proposed to locate a team in the new National League.

This addition to the coaching staff will make another place on the staff for a Cornhusker athlete who has proved his ability on the gridiron and has placed his name on the honor rolls of football history.

It is Weir's intention to return to the university in the fall, registering for the five hours that he needs for his degree. This work will be carried while he helps Bearg whip the line in shape. The opportunity will be presented to the former grid-star to officiate in Valley conference games on Saturdays and it is the present intention of Weir to take advantage of these opportunities. Weir has stated that his chief interest in football has to do strictly with amateurs, not professionals. The Cornhusker captain seems quite determined in not considering any professional offers.

Nebraska Fourth in Furnishing Workers

Mr. A. H. Ashley, Lincoln manager for the S. S. Kresge Company, states that Mr. Forshee, personal director of the company, reports that 18.35 per cent of men in training in their stores are college graduates, and of the states in which the company operates, Michigan stands first, Illinois second, Michigan stands first, Illinois fourth, in supplying these men. Within the last few years sixteen graduates of the University of Nebraska have entered the company and Mr. Ashley states that all of them are doing well.

IN THE VALLEY

...by...
"Zim" and "Zim"

The Nebraska State Journal of Thursday evening carried a column entitled, "What's It All About?" written by John Bentley. In the article the writer tells of the criticism that has been offered the athletic board of the University. He goes so far as to say that, "even the school daily is carping about the board's decision to abolish baseball temporarily."

An opinion concerning the abolishment of baseball was printed in this column, as have been like opinions on many other items concerning athletics. The writers of this column were not "carping" the athletic board but were merely stating their own opinions.

Mr. Bentley in his article seems to believe that the school paper has no right to express opinions on matters pertaining to the university. As a matter of fact we hold that it is our privilege to do this. This column and the school paper always tries to cooperate with the athletic board and other university officials in matters pertaining to our welfare.

However, we are not merely "yes men" for anything that occurs at the university. We shall state our opinions as we believe is right. The Daily Nebraskan is the student paper of the university, run by the students and for their use in the matter of expressing their opinions.

Spring football practice starts on March 15 and Coach Bearg expects a large number of men to turn out for practice. This idea of spring training for gridiron athletes started several years ago and has grown in popularity ever since.

The purpose of spring practice is to get the men in shape for the following fall games, but to enable the men out for the team to find out what style of play the coach uses. It also gives the freshmen a good opportunity to get into the swing of things on the football field.

Plenty of material should be available for the Cornhusker basketball squad next year. Only one man, Beerle, will be lost to the team for the entire year. Captain Eckstrom will be eligible for play for one semester. Anderson and Smaha each have another year of participation in this sport and the remainder of this year's squad are sophomores.

Come on students, let us have your opinion on the baseball situation. One student has made his opinion known on the question in the student opinion column in the Daily Nebraskan is for your use. Pro or con, we want your opinion on the question, whether Nebraska should have baseball or not.

The athletic department of the university has signed another football coach for next year. Ed Weir, Husker captain for two years and for three years all-American tackle, has accepted an offer from the department. His duties will be to work with the line.

Nebraska completes its 1926 basketball schedule tonight and tomorrow when the team meets the University of Missouri at Columbia and Washington University at St. Louis. The Huskers should finish the season in fourth place in the Valley and their percentage should be better than five hundred.

With the advent of spring just around the corner Husker sport followers will turn to out door activities. Track has always been a leading sport in the Missouri Valley and Nebraska as usual will be represented by a strong team.

Although there will be no Varsity baseball this season, a large number of the men of the university will indulge in this sport. The different fraternities will put teams into the field for the inter-fraternity tournament which is an annual event in the school.
