DISCHARGE DENVER LIBERAL TEACHERS

Dismissal of Two Professors is Protested by Students at Informal Meeting

DENVER, Colo.—(By New Student News Service)—Denver University had two liberal progressive professors. They have been dismissed. Says the chancellor, Heber Rice Harper, "they have been released for inefficiency in teaching and for expression of opinions harmful to the University and its administration."

Say the students, "They have been discharged because of their avowed liberal views, and because such views were opposed to those of the administration and of its financial backers."

Grove Samuel Dow and Carroll M. Hildebrand are the professors in question. Their suspension has aroused a vigorous protest among a large number of students who have been circulating petitions and nailing up flaming, indignant handbills and posters.

Posters Ask Questions
"Who is the power behind the throne?" demand the posters, "where is freedom of speech and democracy for all instructors?" An informal mass meeting reiterated the questions. Chancellor Harper tried to explain.

Professor Dow, of the sociology department, declared the chancellor, instead of lecturing in the classroom as a good pedagogic should, used the "forum method" of discussion and worse still actually took his pupils on visits to the various social centers and institutions to see conditions as they actually existed in Denver. This practice, continued the chancellor, and the Rocky Mountain News backed him up, of sending "immature students" to the very heart of Denver's social institutions is an "unwise practice," and a "practice not to be endured."

As so Professor Dow was released. As for Professor Hildebrand—er—well, that was a purely financial matter, said the chancellor, and anyway students are obviously not competent judges of what is pedagogically sound.

But the students remain unsatisfied, and it is rumored that the Association of University Professors may take a hand in the matter.

PRO FOOTBALL HERE TO STAY

Sports Writers Do Not Think It Will Injure The College Sport

WILL AMUSE THE CROWDS

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 19.—Professional football has come to stay, but it will not injure college sport, in the opinion of sports writers who gathered at the University of Kansas department of Journalism for a conference prior to the Kansas Relays. Leslie Edmonds, of the Kansas Boxing Commission, presided at the conference. Coach F. W. "Hurry Up" Yost of the University of Michigan attended the conference, and made the chief address at a general meeting.

Professional football will provide amusement for the crowds which, under present increasing interest in the sport, will not be able to get into the stadiums for the college games. Professional teams, however, would lack the "fight" of college teams, it was declared.

All-Valley Teams Unjust?
The present practice of choosing "all-valley," and "all-state" teams was declared full of injustice, in that many deserving players were often slighted in the selections. Some sentiment was expressed favorable to an "honor roll" in which could be listed as many or as few names as were entitled to such honorable mention.

Basketball, and methods of reporting the scores of the game, also came in for discussion. The present basketball "box" was declared to be unchanged from the earlier days of the game, and did not contain the information that interest in the game demands. University sport writers were asked to suggest improved forms that would include a suitable separation of the starting lineup and the substitutions, the number of attempts at free throws and number successful; also a record of the technical fouls as well as the personal ones.

Many Attend Conference

TRAVEL SCHOOL OFFERS PROGRAM

Six Weeks Study in Fifteen Different Tours To Europe Arranged By Foreign Travel School

The School of Foreign Travel of New York City is offering an attractive program of six weeks study in fifteen different study tours to Europe this summer under the expert guidance of well known university men and women. The subjects include languages, art, history, geology and literature. The courses have been outlined with the purpose of combining the cultural value of travel with academic work. Collegiate credit will be offered by several universities for completed work providing the usual qualifications are met.

There are eight language courses to be given this year, four of which will be French. The others are English, Italian, Spanish, and German. The students will make their residence in the cities of the country whose language they are studying. The different groups will be connected directly with the university or universities of that particular country.

The classes in art appreciation will make a grand circuit of Europe visiting all the famous beauty spots and art galleries of the continent.

The popular "Rough it Tour" for men is to be repeated this summer with a separate group for boys of high school and preparatory school ages. The only subject to be offered to these hikers will be field geology. The cost of these study trips has been kept down to a minimum price and the ultimate expenditure is no more than that necessary for the usual summer school. The classes will be limited in number in order to insure individual instruction.

$360 REWARD Plus Two Months of Sales Training

FOR eight weeks during July and August we offer you an opportunity to put classroom theories to the test—to acquire under trained salesmen a business experience that will be invaluable later on—and last, but not least, a chance to bring the emaciated bankroll to its former robust state.

This summer as in previous years, Woman's World—a magazine entering 1,325,000 homes monthly—invites ambitious college men to enter its subscription sales organization, to work shoulder to shoulder with seasoned veterans, to learn the thrill that comes with getting a prospect's name on the dotted line and to reap the cash rewards that industry and ability invariably bring.

The work is dignified, intensely interesting and keeps you out in the open. No other branch of modern business offers such large or such quick returns as does the sales department. This is a real opportunity and we will help you make the grade.

A letter or postcard will bring you full details without obligation, together with a booklet of letters from other college men in our employ. Write promptly, please, as units are now being filled.
