Plans for Intra-Mural Athletics Are Made

next year. On a limited scale, indoor baseball in inter-class, inter-college and inter-organization will be held. Bowling, which has been sponsored by down-town firms, will be taken over by the University. The tournaments, which will probably be limited to the fraternities, will be held at the down-town alleys. It is hoped that soon the Field will be equipped with alleys, as there is sufficient room.

Indoor track and field contests will of course be held both in the winter season inside, and in the spring, outside. This has attracted much interest from the students, as it has offered more chances for the lesser lights in the athletic field than the other sports.

Wrestling tournaments will be held again next year. An addition, as in most of the other sports, will be the inter-college and inter-organization tilts. The individual men will as before strive for single honors.

Expect More New Men Out
The spring promises to see a greater number of men competing in athletics. Baseball, which this year was extended over that of last, except that there was no Varsity team, will include even more than the present season. The college teams will be placed in one league, and the organizations in another. The inter-organization league will have two divisions, the fraternity and the interfraternity groups. All the baseball contests will be run in leagues, which broadens the number of games in which the teams may play.

Track will probably call out the largest number of aspirants. The tri-color and individual meets will be held as during the past season. The interfraternity meet, which has been run off, will be improved upon. This will be by a graduated scoring method. It is thought that an interfraternity relay meet will be new event but this is not definite. The colleges will have a meet, and the champions chosen will be by competition.

Tennis, which seemed popular this season, will be conducted on much the same manner as the others. Inter-college and inter-fraternity tournaments will be additions. The individual meets will attract much of attention.

Horse-shoe meets will be held extensively. The "harnyard golf" artists from the colleges and the organizations will compete for honors. The individuals will have an event, which will probably be the most important of all the horse-shoe pitching tournaments.

Carnival Prizes Now On Display

with the new carnival properties. All the oriental mysteries of the east will be found in these shows. "The Streets of Cairo" will cover the north west end of the big Field House. Fortune telling, dancing girls, magicians and other weird acts will be found in this unique part of the Carnival of Fun.

Twice during the evening the inhabitants of these side-shows will stage a parade. One procession will be in the early part of the evening and the other will be held toward the end. The balcony of the Field House will be a splendid place from which to view this and other events during the evening.

The winning company in the competitive drill held in the afternoon in the stadium will parade with their ladies in a grand military march. This will be the company to which the Omaha Cup will have been given at the end of the competitive drill on the field.

The Pershing Rifles will give a five-minute drill. Individual compet-will be held during the evening. The Carnival of Fun will be in full swing when the doors open at 7:30 and will continue with characteristic carnival pep until 11:30.

Give Extracts from Innocents' Constitution

names shall be selected from this list for the Tentative List and their method of selection shall be as follows: Each active member shall ballot on thirty names, the same name not to appear more than once on any one ballot. Each voting member shall place these thirty names on his ballot in the order of his preference. Each nominee shall be credited with the same number of points on each ballot as his relative position on each ballot indicates. (e. g.—The first name on a ballot shall be credited with one point; the thirtieth name shall be credited with thirty points.) Each failure to appear on a ballot shall count thirty-one points. The total number of points received by each nominee on this basis on the thirteen ballots shall be divided by the actual number of times his name has appeared on a ballot. The thirty eligible men receiving the lowest number of points in the manner indicated shall constitute the Tentative List."

The Final Election
"The thirteen Innocents-elect shall be selected in precisely the same manner with the exception that each active member shall ballot for thirteen men, placing them on his ballot in the order of his preference. As before, each nominee will be credited with the same number of points on each ballot as his position on that ballot indicates. Each failure to appear on a ballot shall count four-ten points. The total number of points received by each nominee on this basis on thirteen ballots shall be divided by the actual number of times his name has appeared on a ballot. The thirteen men receiving in order the lowest number of points in the manner indicated shall be declared the members-elect for the coming year."

Suspension of Rules
"These provisions either in whole or in part may not be repealed or temporarily suspended at any time except by the unanimous vote of the thirteen active members and the two duly elected and qualified advisors."
