MUSEUM RECEIVES NEW FOSSIL GIFTS

Large Bison Head and Elk Antlers Are Unearthed by Louisville Workmen in Sand Pits

The University museum has recently received a large fossil bison head (Bison occidentalis) and fossil antlers of an elk and the red deer, also the molar of a fossil elephant (Elephas Primigenius) collected in the deep sand pits owned by the Lyman-Ritchey Company at Louisville, Nebraska. The specimens were collected by Howard Taylor and Henry Yonquist and donated to the University museum by Elmer Sundstrum, superintendent of the Lyman-Ritchey Company at Louisville.

V. W. Finity, state gravel inspector, brought the specimens to the museum. Mr. Finity has also sent to the University Museum a large septaria shaped like a camel's head. This specimen was collected by Sam Leard and S. W. Ball in the Lyman-Ritchey Sand Pit at Valley, Nebraska. The pre-historic bison and elephant were much larger than the history of the entrance of the United States into the World War. It was impossible to keep out of the war in spite of all precautions.

"If no means of settling international disputes is to be found at the present time, let us at least be prepared to defend the nation," he implored. "The Living Church, a publication of the Episcopal church of the United States, stated editorially in a recent issue: 'National preparedness to ward off attack is the fundamental duty of a great nation.'"

"In every case the United States has, started preparation after war has begun. Our soldiers have received most of their training in actual battle. The resultant cost in lives needlessly sacrifice has been staggering."

"It is not the purpose of the R. O.

T. C. to militarize the nation nor does the training accomplish this result. Experience has shown that the great need in the past has been for trained officers who were capable of organizing, training, and directing a citizen army. The purpose of the R. O. T. C. is to meet this need, to furnish officers who can be counted upon to train and lead an American citizen soldiery."

The speaker stated that the units were established in the colleges of the country because they are ideal places for such training and college men are the proper men out of which to make officers, since the colleges contain the pick of the young American manhood. That commission is an absolute necessity for successful training was brought out further by Mr. McKie.

"We do not wish our country to be militaristic or aggressive," he concluded. "But until some means of settling international disputes is framed and adopted by the world—until the nations of the world have so far advanced that they will lay aside bitterness and jealousy—until humanity will have reached the point where laws and force are no longer necessary—until that time, we must and will be prepared to defend our country in her time of need."

Ben Simon & Sons are Ready for Active Vacationists!

—ready for the co-eds who expect to do something besides languishing under a shady tree with the latest novel this summer; for co-eds who participate in active as well as side-line sports! Bathing suits—designed not only to look well, but of the minimum quantity and correct cut which encourages a successful Australian crawl. All wool are these, from $2.95 to $4.95. Then there are knickers at Ben Simon & Sons and knickers suits that insure a trim appearance as well as utter comfort when camping or touring. And of course you'll want a sport dress or two, from the group of really remarkable values at $14.

What Man's Name is on the Tip of Every Sorority Girl's Tongue!

—the answer is "Champ"—of permanent waving fame!! Just peep into his attractive little beauty shop in the Lincoln Theater Building if you don't believe the Greek sisters all congregate there in the name of beautiful boys! In ONE WEEK, Mr. Champ has put in ELEVEN waves for one prominent sorority, and six in another — so you see he must be good. Today he has a mere twenty waves to put in, with the assistance of a corps of trained operators. All this means but one thing: that Champ's waves are becoming waves, so have one yourself, for only $10. (It's a Nestle Circuline permanent too.)

Win a Free Camera from the Sugar Bowl!

—just submit the pictures you've taken which you think are best from the standpoints of clearness, artistic value and originality of subject; if the judges think the same way you do, an $18.50 Ansco camera outfit will be given you absolutely free of charge. The contest closes June 15th, so it would be well to make your entries as soon as possible. If you wish to enter an older picture, have the Sugar Bowl make a copy of it and that will constitute your entry. Walter Johnson is waiting for you, so hurry down with your possible prize-winners!

The Modern Cleaners do a Mail Order Business!

—no need to deprive yourself of their splendid cleaning service just because you'll be elsewhere for the summer! No indeed, for they maintain a very efficient service by mail which offers you the same expert cleaning and pressing in just a fraction more time than it would require were you in Lincoln. So remember this, when your choice dresses, coats and suits take on a bedraggled appearance. Send them to Soukup & Westover in perfect confidence that they will be handled as you would have them, and sent back to you miraculously refreshed.
