VARSAITY DANCES

The first general University dancing party in the new Coliseum will be held Saturday night, according to a recent announcement of the party committee. The parties this year are to be called "Varsity Dances."

One dance seems a relatively unimportant matter in the minds of most of us but this party Saturday night does hold a real significance and will be watched anxiously and hopefully by those who have studied the social conditions at this University.

The dance Saturday night will undoubtedly be the crisis. It will then be seen whether or not Nebraska is forever to be cursed with the social system which has prevailed here in the past. At that time it will be decided whether or not a good healthy democratic social condition can exist here.

A more undemocratic social institution than the Nebraska of the past could hardly be imagined. We have had no large dances attended by the entire student body. The University mixers have been generally recognized as failures. Comparatively few students have attended (partly due to the lack of room, of course) and the proper spirit has been sorely lacking.

Members of Greek letter organizations have ordinarily kept to themselves, inviting each other to their parties and usually having few outsiders. In the past it has been the custom for the gentlemen and their companions to dance the entire evening together. There has been very little mixing around, meeting and dancing with other students at the parties.

These, then, are the social conditions at Nebraska as they have existed in the past few years. It is these conditions which we hope will be changed with the inauguration of the Varsity dances Saturday night.

If the Varsity dances can be operated as they are in many other universities so that everyone attends on an equal with everyone else, then it will be time to Hip Hip Hurray for Nebraska will have pulled itself out of the rut it has got into in the last few years.

We cannot urge too much that individuals and organizations take advantage of this opportunity to break the old system. Every student who possibly can should go. Every organization should refrain from having parties that night so that its members may attend.

There is no reason why Varsity dances should not be a success here. We now have facilities to accommodate the student body. The committee has been working hard and the arrangements are complete. It is now up to the student body whether or not the dances will be a success.

THESE TERRIBLE STUDENTS.

Some student of theology in a small eastern college has published an attack on co-education as responsible for the bad bad morals of college students and became famous over night.

This young gentleman has received as much front page publicity in the last few days as "Red" Grange ever did even at the height of his highly press-agented career.

Our young theology student has certainly gone about it in the right way, that is if he is looking for publicity and there seems to be little doubt that he is.

If there is anything the public loves to read it is an article about someone else's bad morals. That in itself is something to be cherished with many nods of the head and "Oh's" and "Ah's." But if the possessors of the morals in question are university students, the interest grows amazingly and the "Oh's" and "Ah's" become "I told you so" and "Just as I thought."

We'll put in a newspaper with a blaring headline about a college student's drinking pajama party to one featuring a boxing match or a double murder or an oil scandal any day. It just can't be beat.

So we congratulate our young theology friend. He has made the front page of nearly every large daily newspaper in the country and that is more than 99 percent of us ever do. Yes, his future is assured. He will now probably get to write for Mr. Mencken and other magazines of the "Mercury" type and he might even get to go into the movies. Red Grange did.

Morrill Hall Will Serve Many Uses

 hibit has been in the process of assemblage since 1893 and is acceded to be the largest and most varied collection of proboscideans in America, but previously there has been no building on the Nebraska campus adequate for its display. Each elephant skeleton will be displayed with a mural painting background—a life size portrait of the creature in bas-relief.

The corridor of the first floor, twenty feet wide, running the length of the building and across both ends will be lined with deep wall cases of attractive material from the museum.

Artificial light will be used in the exhibition rooms of the Museum so that the intensity, color and direction of light may be controlled. The main lecture room, with a seating capacity of 300, will be used for classes and Sunday afternoon lectures. There will also be several ample class rooms and laboratories with modern equipment.

The permanent art display will line the corridor of the second floor, 200 feet long, and the third floor corridor will be occupied by statues and paintings. Two art galleries open off the second floor corridor and will be used by the orchestras, band and chorus. The remainder of the second floor is given over to class, music, and reception rooms. The third floor will be used for art classes.

Pictures which are taken of every stage in the construction of Morrill Hall, are sent to Mr. Morrill who plans to come to Lincoln early in October to inspect the building, and to view the additions to the Morrill collection purchased with a part of the $40,000 donated by him for that purpose.

Use the Old Bean of course — but use the Remington Portable too!

YOU can't get through college without using your head, but you can lighten the drudgery of writing long reports and theses by using a Remington Portable. This handy typewriter is "made to order" for students. It is the lightest, most compact, simplest to operate, and most dependable of portables. Has four-row standard keyboard. Weighs only 8 1/2 pounds, net.

You can tuck it away in a drawer when not needed—the carrying case is only 4 inches high. Can be bought for $10 down and $5 monthly. We'll be glad to tell you more about it if you'll let us.

Sandhill Pictures Are Taken During Summer

The conservation and survey division took 600 large still pictures and 3,000 feet of motion pictures of the sandhills region this summer. The pictures show all topographical details, resources, and agricultural and general development. The purpose of the picture is to place enlarged Nebraska Views in schools, churches, banks, railway stations and publications throughout the state in place of views from other states and foreign countries.

The pictures are also expected to become of some historical interest as time goes on and the sandhill region changes its character with the increased and better cultivation going on all the time. The region is now much different from what it was fifty years ago. The pictures include a set of illustrations of an orchard near Ainsworth where every kind of fruit from strawberries to cherries and apples has been raised successfully.

Miss Waite to Iowa School.
 Miss Alice Waite, assistant in the department of romance languages, has accepted a position next year in the department of romance languages of Junior College, Webster City, Ia. She has been an assistant in the University two years.

Y. W. C. A. in Group Bible Study Courses

The Y. W. C. A. plans to offer a number of Bible study discussion groups this year. One of these is to be a special group of sophomore and junior girls who are willing to study the synoptic gospels throughout the year in preparation for the leadership of groups next year. The hours for these groups will be arranged to suit the convenience of those desiring to enter them. Girls who are interested in these groups are urged to come into Miss Appelby's office and talk the matter over.

Young People Study Prohibition Problem

More than ten thousand young people in the Methodist Episcopal church will study the alcohol problem this year. The Board of Education of the church, in cooperation with the Board of Temperance, has issued a text-book of elective lessons to be used in the Sunday schools of Methodism and classes are being organized for study.

A large collection of documents concerning the labor movement in America has been made by the University of Wisconsin.
