SOMETHING LACKING

Saturday afternoon when Nebraska and Drake meet in the Memorial Stadium in the opening game of the 1926 football season, there will be something lacking.
 According to a recent decree of the athletic board there will be no stunts between halves at this or any other of the games this season, but the time will be taken up by the University Band.
 We do not doubt that the athletic board considered this matter seriously before taking this action, but we cannot help but wonder if there is not something else that can be done rather than excluding all stunts.
 The stunts between halves have been criticized some in the past. Undoubtedly several of them have been poor. But they were usually entertaining and at least proved some diversification for the crowd.
 There was never a great deal said about the stunts. They had come to be accepted as a part of the game. Whether or not they were well liked and will be missed can better be told Saturday night.
 The reason given by the athletic board for its action was the Notre Dame trouble which has been attributed to so many things by this time that it has become a regular "Bugger Man."
 We doubt very much if the stunt at the Notre Dame game last year had anything at all to do with the trouble that arose later. If it had any connection with it, it must have been very slight.
 But even if it were in a way responsible, is that sufficient reason to abolish all stunts? Would it not be possible to arrange it so that some person or committee versed in the subject of the tender feelings of other institutions see the stunts before they are put on?
 As a matter of fact the stunts have been subject to approval in the past and the responsibility for the Notre Dame stunt of last year should not rest with the Corn Cobs, the organization which put on the stunt.
 But with closer supervision or some other seemingly necessary changes, would it not be possible to rectify the situation rather than just cut out and abolish the custom?
 We wonder if it is not somewhat similar to the case of the man who had a sore finger and cut it off rather than to bother about healing it. We wonder.

OUR TRAFFIC PROBLEM

"The assurance given a Daily Nebraskan reporter by John Wright, Lincoln commissioner of public welfare, that signal lights similar to those used on O street will be placed at the intersections of Twelfth with E and Q streets, is good news for all who are compelled to participate in the dangerous congestion at those corners. It is only to be regretted that the lights cannot be installed at once, rather than a month or two from now, when the school year will be nearly over."—The Daily Nebraskan, April 14, 1926.
 Five months have passed since the above was printed in the editorial columns of this paper. At that time it was promised that in "a month or two" traffic lights would be installed at the two intersections mentioned. They have not been installed yet.

 The Daily Nebraskan last semester conducted a rather vigorous campaign to have lights installed or some other regulation instituted to take care of the heavy and dangerous traffic near the campus. It seemed that the case had been won, but it has evidently gone down to a bitter defeat.
 The worst thing about it is that the situation has become worse instead of better since that assurance of protection was made. We can state positively that there are more cars parked on or near the University campus this year than last year. There are probably from ten to twenty per cent more cars now than last year.
 The intersection of Twelfth and R streets at noon is a regular bedlam. Cars are jammed, backing up, passing each other and everyone evidently in such a hurry that it is really miraculous that someone is not hurt every day.
 That corner at noon is more congested than any other corner we have ever seen in Lincoln at any time of the day. Yet, for some unknown reason Lincoln authorities have seen fit to ignore the pleas of students and faculty members that some regulation be installed.
 Lincoln authorities do not hesitate to arrest and fine University students for traffic violations, but they seem reluctant to provide protection for them.
 We don't know in just what way pressure could be brought to bear to bring about the desired change. Probably nothing will be done until someone is badly hurt on that corner. It won't be long.

GLAD TO BUY
 Athletic tickets have been on sale since Wednesday and nearly all of the 3100 tickets reserved for students have been sold. There has been no active campaign to sell the tickets, merely the announcement of the price and when and where they would be put on sale.
 The excellent sale of these tickets shows that the students realize their value and are willing to go out of their way to get them. We will wager that a large number of salesmen out over the campus soliciting everyone they meet would not do any better than the present sales, perhaps not as good. The public in general and especially University students are getting to be hard to sell through the soliciting method but just let it be known that a limited number of tickets are for sale and that they will have to go out of their way to get them, and they will flock to the sales booth glad of the chance to buy the tickets.

Nebraskans Attend Philosophy Meeting
 Philosophers divided into groups, according to their special interests. Dr. Alexander presided over a discussion of "The Bearing of the Distinction of Judgments of Value and Judgments of Existence upon Logic and Epistemology."
In Harvard Dormitories.
 The delegates were housed and most of the meetings held in a suite of spacious new Harvard dormitories along the Charles River. On one occasion they were the guests of Henry Ford at the famous old Wayside Inn at Sudbury, Mass. The inn, which dates to the sixteenth century and was made famous by Longfellow's "Tales of a Wayside Inn," was purchased a few years ago by Mr. Ford, who has restored it as nearly as possible to its original condition. Delegates to the Congress were also the guests of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts at a banquet in Boston.
 The next Congress of Philosophy will be held in 1930 at Oxford University, England.

Best in any class

To be absolutely truthful, we must admit a Wahl Pen will not get up and make your 8 o'clocks for you. It won't answer the roll call, or take notes all by itself.
 But it will go along with you to any class you have, and do a better writing job than any other fountain pen you've ever seen. Hour after hour, it will glide across the pages with an ease that rests your wrist and leaves your mind free to consider what you're writing.
 Its iridium-tipped point of solid gold will stand up to the action when the "prof." is talking fast and you just have to "jab 'em down," or it will roll the rounded out sentences when you're building a theme for somebody else to read.
 This most serviceable and handsome pen comes in a wide variety of materials and styles. In slim, symmetrical cylinders of solid gold or sterling silver, gold-filled or silver-filled, or in red, black, or mottled rubber. For point, you can choose exactly the Wahl nib that suits your writing style: stiff or flexible, fine, medium, stub, oblique, or Wahl Standard Signature.
 And, oh, yes! A Wahlful of ink is a bookful of words, whether you're passing an exam or writing out your alibi. Fill up a new one at the Wahl Pen and Eversharp counter and see if it isn't so.
 $3 to $7 for the silver or rubber $6 and Northward for the gold
