Museum In Morrill Hall Will Contain Unusual Group Display Features

Habitat groups for specimens of the Museum will be one of the most unusual features of the displays when they are exhibited in the Morrill Hall, which will be completed by February 1, 1927. The flora and fauna of the state should receive particular attention in the Nebraska State Museum, thinks Dr. E. H. Barbour, so the new museum will contain very complete collections of fossil animals, and specimens of all the living reptile, birds and mammals of the state. Elaborate habitat backgrounds, which will show the natural surroundings of each specimen, are planned.

The exhibition of the flora and fauna of the state in natural habitat groups will not only be attractive, but it will be instructive, and will be of particular educational value not only to the students, but also to citizens of the state, who support the Nebraska State Museum.

Mural paintings will be used as the background for many displays, especially for the fossil elephants of the famous Charles H. Morrill collection. In these mural paintings the animals are to be painted life-size in bas-relief, with contemporary animals and plants and general surroundings also shown. Sod, rock, soil and shrubs will be brought from the spot where the fossil animals were found, when possible, and these will constitute the immediate base and foreground upon which the skeleton will stand. The painting will begin where the natural objects leave off, it is planned, thus blending the natural and artificial, so that they will appear the same. The articulated skeleton portrait, when exhibited in the cases. Inanimate skeletal parts will be made more animate in this way and visitors can see the fossil bones in their proper positions and relations, as well as the creatures modeled and painted as in life.

Gallery of Mammoths
The fossil elephants which are to be displayed in the Gallery of Mammoths, will be given particular attention, but similar treatment will be accorded the giant hog of Sioux county, the horned rhinoceros, four horned antelope, fossil turtle, and the varied species of Nebraska rhinoceros, camel, giraffe, giant tortoise, tapir, sabre-toothed tiger, giant dog, bison, sloth, lizard, beaver and many other animals.

A child's museum will be an unusual feature of the new Museum. This is planned for the particular interest and instruction of children, who are very frequent visitors to the Museum. This material will be very carefully chosen and displayed, so that it will be especially especially helpful to children.

A very complete system of labeling will be in use when the material is displayed in Morrill Hall. Many interesting facts will be given about the various specimens, so that visitors can appreciate and understand them more fully than is now possible.

Artistic and Inartistic
Adequate space will make it possible for the many and varied collections and specimens of the Museum to be displayed, artistically and attractively. When the existing material belonging to the Museum, together with new collections and specimens which are being added from time to time are all displayed in Morrill Hall, Nebraska will have a most complete artistic and instructive Museum.

PROF. H. J. CRAMLICH VISITS NORTHWEST

Sees Huskies in Action and States Nebraska-Washington Game is Creating Interest

Prof. H. J. Gramlich, chairman of the animal husbandry department returned from a ten-day trip in the Pacific Northwest where he judged the beef cattle classes at the Midland Empire Fair at Billings, Montana, and the Washington State Fair at Yakima, Washington. He also visited the Washington, Idaho, and Oregon agricultural colleges.

He reports seeing the "Huskies" of Washington on their Sunday morning hike with their coach, and says that they are still true to the name. He also says that there is a great amount of interest in the Northwest in the coming clash between the Husky and Husker teams on Thanksgiving Day.

Speaking of the general conditions of that section of the United States, he said that the fruit crop, especially apples, is unusually large, but that the growers are not satisfied with the market indications.

CHOOSE NEW CHEER LEADERS FOR YEAR

Names of Five Freshmen and Four Varsity Yell Commanders Are Made Public

The cheer leader selections have been announced by the committee in charge. Nick Amos had already been chosen head cheer leader. He has served as a cheer leader for two years. The two assistants who were picked are Charles Dox and Ernest Weymuller. These three men will lead the student sections in the cheering. Emerson Smith was chosen as the alternate, to act in case of scholastic ineligibility. New Varsity uniforms have been ordered by the athletic department which consist of red and white blazer sweater jackets and white flannel trousers.

The freshmen tryouts brought forth several very promising men. Five were chosen, without any order of preference. They are George Gregory, James Hamilton, Howard Kennedy, Cleo Lechtfilter, and Ted Scherdeman. Three of these men will be used at a time. They will lead the cheering at the west stands. Nick Amos will have charge of all cheer leading and will make the assignments.

WELCOME PARTY TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Joint Entertainment of Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. Will Start at 8:30 in Ellen Smith Hall

The Y. M. C. A.-Y. W. C. A. welcome party will be held Saturday night, October 2 from 8:30 to 10:30. The event will be held in Ellen Smith Hall instead of the Armory, where it has been held in years previous. The program includes entertainment and refreshments.

According to Carl Olson one of the Joint Chairmen of the Party committee, the scene of the entertainment was shifted to Ellen Smith Hall because it better fit the needs and the committee believed that a more successful party could be staged there. "The place is a little more beautiful and a little easier to decorate," stated Olson.

Plans for an elaborate entertainment are being drawn up by those in charge. A detailed announcement will be made before the end of the week, according to Olson, which will include the entire program.

The committee in charge of the party includes, Carl Olson and Mable Dorma, joint chairmen; Paul James, Dean Hokanson, Genevieve Freeman, Yrsa Hansen, Maurine David, Alice Leslie, Madeline Downey, Katherine Beckman, Helen Reager, Arline Struble, and Nellie Marie Howe.
