PLAN MAMMOTH BONFIRE ON EVE OF TIGER GAME

Big Rally Hoped to Raise Spirit of Students to High Ebb For Saturday Game

FRESHMEN FURNISH FUEL

Many in Line-up of last Year's Valley Championship Squad Will Play Here

A mammoth bonfire rally is scheduled for Friday on the eve of the crucial struggle with Missouri. The Nebraska-Missouri game is rapidly being rated as Nebraska's "1926 Notre Dame" despite the fact that it comes in early season.

Nebraska held the Valley title for the last time in 1923. Missouri took it from Nebraska in 1924 and retained it last year. The bulk of last year's valley championship team will be on hand Saturday facing the Huskers. Included in their ranks will be Lindenmeyer, who was picked by many sports writers as All-American tackle last year, along with Ed Weir.

Student leaders feel that the maintenance of the fine spirit displayed in the Coliseum last Friday is a necessity this week. The rally is the first outdoor rally of the year. The raising of an unconquerable spirit such as has been raised in the past for Notre Dame will be an effective aid to the team in their battle against the twice valley-champion Missourians.

Freshmen to Bring Boxes

All Freshmen are expected to bring one large box to the parade field north of Social Science building before 4 o'clock Friday. The boxes are to be piled at the bonfire stake. Five thousand rabid fans are expected at this rally which should be one of the biggest of the season.

The rally is to be the outstanding rally of the early season as Nebraska's next two games will be played on foreign soil.

The program for the rally includes short, snappy talks by C. L. Brewer, director of athletics at Missouri; Harold Hutchison, Nebraska's all-valley center for the last two years, Captain Lonnie Stiner, and John Curtis, secretary of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

The fire will be started promptly at 7:15 and the rally will be over by 8 o'clock. Spirit-building for the rally and game Saturday should start today and continue with increasing vigor until after the contest. Rallyes will be held between classes Friday. All enthusiasm is to be centered behind the team as they prepare for their chance to avenge last year's defeat and to take another step toward wresting the title from Missouri.

Varsity Cagesters Hold Initial Drill

Initial practice for varsity basketball was held Tuesday evening in the Coliseum. Practice will not go into full swing until after the football season, according to Coach Black.

The practice dates were set and a short talk was given on the principles and fundamentals to be taken up at first.

There were thirty-five men out for the primary practice, and workouts will be held four days a week until Thanksgiving.

Spanish Senorita Added to Teaching Staff in Romance Language Division

That the American universities are more adapted to the practical side of life than are the Colleges of Spain and other European nations is the opinion of Ernestine Gonzalez, a Spanish senorita who joined the staff of instructors in the Spanish department of the University this year.

Senorita Gonzalez is a graduate of the University of Madrid and came here but a few weeks ago, directly from Spain. When interviewed she started out to answer questions in English but was soon forced to revert to her mother tongue and the service of an interpreter. She found more ease in expressing herself in her native language, pouring out her impression in a stream of rapid Spanish which was well punctuated with characteristic foreign gestures and inflections.

Miss Gonzalez is much impressed by the striking differences between the European and the United States universities. She was very enthusiastic over her new experiences and insists that there is more freedom in our schools than in those of Spain although she declares the students here are strangely docile in character.

Spanish universities are better fitted to develop the exceptional rather than the ordinary student.

Botanical Seminar To Hear Dr. Rydberg

All those interested are invited to the meeting this evening.

FIRST-FORUM HEARS HAYES

Y. M. C. A. Secretary Speaks On Individuality Problem Or Following Crowd

"Just how far should we follow the crowd and how far should we go it alone?" asked Secretary C. D. Hayes of the University Y. M. C. A. in his address before the World Forum at the Grand Hotel Wednesday noon.

Secretary Hayes talked on the question of following the crowd or being individual under the title, "Follow the Man from Crook's." He opened by pointing out that this was the slogan of Cook's tourist agency and that they have built up a reputation for showing the crowd where to go for a tour.

On these tours, Mr. Hayes pointed out, "The whole crowd follows along. All see the same thing. On their return, they can tell all they have seen if they can look long enough in their guide book."

"Going through the University is much like touring a foreign country, according to the speaker. Students come and find everything an apparent turmoil. Some never get out of this state of mind. Many follow the course and get out with a vague feeling that they had missed something which they could have seen if their eyes had been open.

Enjoyed Freshman Initiation

Secretary Hayes spoke of his enjoyment of the Freshman initiation in the Coliseum and then raised the question, "How far should college traditions be followed?"

In partial answer, he cited two quotations. One college president dealt with the mishandling of freshmen. He contrasted those men who are built like Rolls-Royce cars with those built like Fords. Often the school or its students try to make the Rolls-Royce type over as Fords. The result, he declared, is generally not a good Ford and the Rolls-Royce is ruined.

On the other hand, he pointed out that a prominent dean of an American state university believes in the formation of student groups, since he feels that ordinarily the group idealism is better than individual idealism in its practice and the ease with which it can be handled.

Secretary Hayes then turned from the question of how far to follow the crowd to the problem of which crowd to follow. In this relation he pointed out that there were generally two crowds, two attitudes on questions, and that a decision had to be made as to which was to be followed.

Mr. Hayes closed with a series of questions directed to the audience and which were answered by members of the Forum. Finally, he pointed out that there were two extremes going blindly with the crowd or going against the crowd.

Twenty-two students studied history in the Graduate College of the University of Nebraska in 1925-26.

Twenty-one students studied Romance, ancient and Germanic languages in the Graduate College of the University of Nebraska last year.

In 1925-26 four students studied mathematics in the Graduate College of the University of Nebraska.

RHODES SCHOLAR WILL BE CHOSEN

December 11 Is Election Date of New Representative to Attend Oxford

Literary and scholastic attainment, leadership and interest in outdoor sports, are a few of the attainments necessary for recognition as a Rhodes Scholarship candidate. On December 11, Nebraska will elect a scholar to enter Oxford in 1927.

Five candidates for the scholarship from the University of Nebraska will be chosen by Dr. E. H. Barbour, Dean Herman James and Dr. J. D. Hicks. The scholarship student will be chosen from these five, and others from other state colleges. The appointment is made by a committee composed of four or five ex-Rhodes Scholars of Nebraska and Chancellor Avery.

For eligibility and to be a candidate one must be a male citizen of the United States and unmarried, must be from nineteen to twenty-five years of age and must be at least a sophomore in his school.

Qualities of manhood, character, public spirit and leadership play a big part in the choosing of a real character to represent Nebraska in Oxford University, England. The stipend has been increased to 400 pounds per year, this sum being sufficient with economy to meet all expenses for school and vacation.

John D. Westermann, Jr., was the last Nebraskan to receive the scholarship and only lately reports show that Sheldon Tefft, who was chosen several years ago, was among the highest of Oxford scholars making the three year course in two years. A large number of candidates are hoped for so that a winner can be picked who will keep up the Nebraska record.
