Teams' Colors Will Decorate City Streets

Nebraska is beginning the season right, not only by winning the first game, but in another way namely, a display of that famous Cornhusker spirit of good sportsmanship, not only to her own sons, but to her opponents.

An innovation has been started this year in the matter of street decoration. Instead of hanging the American flag on the downtown flag poles, Nebraska colors and the colors of her visiting opponents are placed on the same staff.

The chamber of commerce has cooperated in this matter by sending bulletins to every retail merchant in Lincoln, requesting a display of flags and colors of visitors instead of the flags which have been shown in the past. According to Mr. Kirk of the chamber of commerce, good results have been obtained from this bulletin. Some merchants not only display colors but have also worked out welcoming signs in their window displays.

These colors and banners are sent out by the university athletic department although some merchants have furnished their own. Downtown hotels are displaying banners of Nebraska and of visitors in their lobbies.

Tiger Quarterback

Ed O'Sullivan of Kansas City, Mo., is playing his second year at a quarterback position on the Missouri Tigers. Although he weighs but 155 pounds, he offers a serious threat to the Nebraska Cornhuskers in the game to be played at Lincoln, October 9th.

During the past year the Varsityes made a profit of $1162.00 after the Manager was paid his salary of $100.00. All books and funds are handled by the student auditor who takes charge of the money of all organizations on the campus. The profits are divided equally between the Mens' Student council and the Womens' Self Governing association and are used to promote the activities of the two organizations.

Two Years Ago

Gamma Phi Beta sorority won the first prize offered for the best-decorated house for Homecoming day. The prize was a pair of Dutch silver candlesticks donated by Halletts.

Sigma Phi Epsilon won first prize among the fraternities in the annual house decorating contest for Homecoming day.

The University male quartet was selected and will sing at the home football games and other group meetings. The quartet is composed of the following men: Hobart Davis, James Marshall, Raymond Lewis, Lloyd Robinson.

Gayle C. Walker, instructor in the School of Journalism, was one of the judges in the competitive tryouts for the Forum Debating society of Lincoln.

Three Years Ago

Alpha Zeta Sorority was the first University organization to equip a room in the new Lincoln General hospital.

Julia Sheldon was appointed editor of the historical section of the 1924 Cornhusker.

The College of Law of the University was rated a "Class A" college among the standard law schools and colleges of the country by the American Bar Association.

The Delta Gamma sorority house was placed under quarantine by the city health authorities following the discovery of two cases of diphtheria in the house.

NEW BOOKKEEPING SYSTEM COMPLETE

Nebraska Instructors Originate New Method of Accounting For the Farmer

Professor A. W. Medlar, associate professor of rural economics in the College of Agriculture, and Mr. C. M. Yerkes, state extension agent in rural economics, have completed plans for a simplified system of book keeping to be taught in agricultural schools.

Material used in working out this system was obtained directly from business records kept by two Nebraska farmers during 1925. One record was taken from a typical western farm, while the other came from a farm in eastern Nebraska. It is thought that book keeping for the farm could well be substituted for the usual course now taught in rural schools. Part of this material consists of questions and answers, which, when studied with the daily exercises, bring up many practical farm problems that confront the farmer of today.

Although this is not the regular year for the teaching of book keeping in rural schools, a number of schools in several different counties have already started the work, or are planning to do so in the near future. The county superintendents of Jefferson, Saunders, York, and Lancaster counties have voiced their approval and are actively encouraging the teachers to take up the work. The county superintendents of Cass and Deuel counties have also expressed a desire for more information for the benefit of the teachers and meetings will be held in the near future by the Farm Management Extension service. It is believed that if a boy or girl is taught the keeping of the various records that later, as operators of their own farms, they will be keeping good business records.

Cornhusker Orchestra May Play For Kansas University Homecoming Party

Effort is being made by the dance manager at Kansas to secure a Nebraska orchestra to play in conjunction with the K. U. band for the Homecoming Varsity October 27, which will be held in gymnasium after the Kansas-Nebraska game at Lawrence.

Varsity dances at Kansas University are in full swing again after the close of a successful year—success to such a degree that it is sometimes necessary to hold two dances the same evening in different halls to accommodate the students wishing to attend.

In a letter received by the Varsity dance committee of Nebraska from the chairman of the committee at Kansas a detailed description of the dances was given.

Varsities at Kansas University are the outgrowth of a desire on the part of the student body for a weekly social function which all may attend, regardless of fraternal connections.

Each week on Saturday night the dances are held in a downtown hall and last from 9 to 12 o'clock. At the first of the year when the demand is the greatest two varsities are held the same evening in separate halls, with two orchestras playing. With such an arrangement, pass-out checks are used to give students the opportunity to go from one hall to another, as they wish.

The dances are sponsored by a joint committee from the Mens' Student council and the Womens' Self Governing association, which corresponds to the Associated Women students on the campus of Nebraska. Three members from each organization are appointed to the Varsity Dance committee and this committee elects its chairman who serves as Varsity Dance manager. Up to the present time he has always been from the Mens' Student council, although there is nothing to prevent the election of a woman to this position. The women members on the committee are responsible for the chaperones and see that they are transported to and from the party. House mothers usually serve in this capacity.

Representative orchestras from the "Hill" play for these dances and play cheaper at the Varsity dances than at ordinary parties because of the advertising resulting from such a job. The plan is to divide the work among the orchestras at the university and to show no favoritism to any one organization. The selection of the orchestra is left largely to the discretion of the dance manager.

Refreshments are served during each party and decorations are used only for special occasions such as "Homecoming." The admission to the dances is seventy-five cents a couple and one dollar and a quarter for stags. This move was made to discourage stags but so far the plan has failed as at least one-hundred stags are turned away at nearly every
