

FINAL TRY-OUT FOR HARRIER VACANCIES

Distance Runners Will Compete for Remaining Two Places on Team at 4:30 Today

Tryouts for the remaining two places on the cross-country team for the Kansas meet will be held this evening at 4:30 over the regular Belmont five mile course. Another numerical meet will be held this evening also.

Coach Schulte anticipates a close race in the contest for the last two places on the cross-country team. Johnson, Dickson, McCartney, and Cumings are doped as the most likely winners on the basis of past performances. However, there are a number of others who have been improving all season who stand a chance of upsetting the dope and winning a place on the team.

Preliminary tryouts to select men to run in the exhibition half mile race against A. O. Martin between halves of the Ames game will also be held this afternoon at the stadium track.

Cyclone Cross-Country Outfit Mostly New Men

Ames, Iowa, Oct. 13.—Special: Three sophomore cross country men will make their first appearance as varsity harriers when Iowa State meets Minnesota at Minneapolis Saturday in the first dual of the year for both teams. The new five mile men making their debut as regulars are Hoak of Des Moines, Behrens of Davenport and Christenson of Eagle Grove, all members of last year's freshmen team. The three new men have been picked for the first meet over Cervi and Drew, two veterans from last year's team which finished second in the Valley cross country meet.

The Cyclone-Gopher harrier dual has been cut down to three miles because of the lack of heavy workouts of both teams due to a short training season and bad weather.

COLLEGE VOCABULARIES

Incredible as it may seem to the student accustomed to both using and hearing the all too familiar expressions, the idiomatic collegiate vocabulary is veritable jargon in the ears of the "outside world."

Slang is a nation-wide habit and is universally understood, but the university campus has a language all its own. Who but a college student could identify and define the words "Polly Cy," "Sosh," "Lit," and "Syk?" Phonetically that is the impression that non-collegiate folk secure from student conversation. Few can interpret the weird sounding words or even guess that they are nick-names for such serious and weighty subjects as political science, sociology, literature and psychology.

College jargon is acceptable where professors and students are the only residents of their little campus universe and everyone speaks the same language; but the more literal-minded world demands that courses be dignified by their proper names.

Wisconsin Professor Publishes Report on Classroom "Cribbing"

Sidelights and statistics on "cribbing" and other dishonesty in college classroom work are contained in the annual report of Prof. E. S. Owen, chairman of the discipline committee at the University of Wisconsin.

Out of a student body of about 8,000, exactly 79 students were reported to the committee last year, and of these 53 were found guilty and punished. During the last six years, of the 606 reported to the committee, 413 have been convicted and punished, while the others were dismissed for lack of evidence. The figures for the last three years are almost identical.

Majority are Men

Of the 413 convicted by the committee in six years, 293 were men and 120 were women. During last year, 35 men and 18 women were convicted, out of a student body of 4,743 men and 3,017 women.

Of the six-year total, 129 were freshmen, 96 were sophomores, 61 were juniors, 28 were seniors, and 3 were graduate students. Some 86 were in their first semester of residence.

Although ages of students punished ranged from 16 to 35, the average age was 20.2 years. There were 252 under 21 years old and 161 over 21.

As for scholastic grade of those punished, 5 of the students had averages of "excellent," 61 were "good," 166 were "fair," and 181 were "poor."

"Cribbing" involved 34 Studies While the "cribbing" involved some 34 different studies, the greatest amount was in English, physics, zoology, chemistry, and philosophy.

The commonest penalty was "probation" and extra credits to be earned for graduation. A grand total of 338 semesters of probation and 2,066 "extra credits" were assessed during the six years, an average of about 5 credits per student.

Some 27 students, many of them second offenders, were suspended during the six-year period; two were suspended last year.

Wants Men

Oberlin College has recently appointed a committee to see what can be done to make the college more attractive to men, in order to increase the male attendance, the fact being that there are more than twice the number of girls than boys.

CYCLONES DRILL ON NEW DEFENSE

Defeat at Hands of Oklahoma Aggies Fails to Squelch Spirit of Ames Team

Ames, Iowa, Oct. 13.—Special: Defensive work for Grinnell's new and deceptive "corkscrew" attack will constitute part of the Iowa State drill for Saturday's game before the Grinnell homecoming crowd, according to the announcement of the Cyclone coaches. The green Iowa State team in spite of its 13 to 0 defeat at the hands of the heavy Oklahoma Aggies, gave a performance which satisfied the fans as to its possibilities. The men have settled down to a week of intensive drill, with special emphasis on the new Grinnell attack, and new Iowa State plays.

No Changes Likely

No changes shakeups seem likely on the young Cardinal and Gold team, according to Coach Workman. The continued improvement in the work of Ernie Anderson in Saturday's game with the Oilers, Cyclone right end, was assuring to the coaches. Captain Bud Coe at the other end position put up a good exhibition of punting, and his skill kept the play well back of the danger zone in most of the game.

The task of building up a defense to stop Meeter and Stotts, crack Scarlet and Black backfield stars, will be one of the features of the forsaking the severe quadrangles of Oxford to become the personal sidekick of the Prince of Wales—and to tell the entire English Court what it should wear—he doubtless gained his first reputation for correct attire by appearing in a smart suit of 18th Century college clothes.

Not that we wouldn't be the first to mob anyone who stepped out in a similar costume today—we like today's college styles a lot better; they seem simpler to move around in—but here's the point:

When it comes to knowing styles, college men are still as far ahead of everyone else as they were in Brummel's day. They know the sort of thing they want to wear, and nothing else will do! That's why we offer them Society Brand college clothes—because these clothes are made strictly according to college men's ideas, carried out to perfection—to the last whisper.
