Homecoming Stamp Sale is Success

More May Be Secured at College Book Store, Fraternity and Sorority Houses
Homecoming stamps went on sale yesterday in preparation for the annual Homecoming game. They can be obtained at the College Book Store, and at various fraternity and sorority houses. The price of one stamp is one cent and they will be sold in sheets of ten.

Letters from students in the future will show the red and white Homecoming stamps with the regular postage stamp. Freshmen will write home to "the folks" telling about the Nebraska spirit and the dads and mothers will see the Homecoming stamp. It will produce a strange yearning to see their school again and they will get on the train to come and see their Alma Mater fight once more on the gridiron. Graduates all over the state will be reminded of the annual Homecoming festivities. These are the hopes of those in charge.
Sell Early
The stamps are being sold earlier than usual this fall. The Associated Women Student Board has charge of the sale. Orrel Rose Jack is general chairman. Her assistants are Kathryn Douglass, Geraldine Heikes, Audrey Beales, and Laura Margaret Raines.
Lincoln firms have contracted for stamps and have taken ten thousand of the twenty-five thousand ordered. They include Miller and Paine, Ben Simon and Sons, Mayer Brothers, Gardner and Son, City Shoe Rebuilding Company, The Famous, and Beachley. Sororities and fraternities have purchased 3,200.

Dormitory Question Becomes More And More Important at Nebraska

The question of proper housing facilities at the University of Nebraska is becoming more and more important with the great increase of attendance. An article on the increasing need for a dormitory system was published in the October issue of "The Nebraska Alumnus."
There are now four dormitories capable of accommodating ninety-five women, under the direct supervision of the University. There are about fifty sorority and fraternity houses which accommodate about 1,500 students more or less under the supervision of University officials. The remaining hundreds of students are lodged in private houses.

The Board of Regents has been authorized to receive cash offers from private persons for the purpose of erecting dormitories on University owned land. As yet not a single offer has been made since the bill was enacted by the State Legislature four years ago.
If the University is ever going to have the needed dormitories, it seems necessary that money be set aside for the purpose of erecting them.
It is very important that all fresh-

Miss Benson Describes Old and New Furniture

Miss Edna Benson, of the design division of the home economics department, addressed the Thursday Morning Lecture Circle yesterday at the home of Mrs. Frank Eager.
The subject was "Furniture, Old and New." The main idea of the lecture was to define the qualities that make furniture satisfying to use in the home. Miss Benson said in her lecture that "a good many people are blinded to art value, they are intrigued by novelty and when choosing an antique they forget to decide whether it is of good design or not, or appropriate to the home."

It was also pointed out that the same qualities of beauty are shown in pictures, furniture, and architecture, the difference being merely a matter of application of design.

An investigation of the plan used in building a new dormitory at the University of Wisconsin has been made. In this dormitory for men, known as Tripp Hall, the building and equipment cost $800,000 of which $200,000 was secured from a grant of the University and the remaining sum was borrowed from some of the revolving funds.
Tripp Hall Dormitory has accommodations for 526 men, and it contains only twenty-four double rooms because single rooms are preferred. The rooms are excellently equipped, and for the use of about every nine men there is a telephone and bathroom.

The needed dormitory accommodations at Nebraska would be somewhat settled by the construction of a building similar to Tripp Hall.

Start Field House

The first 1,300 tons of steel for the new field house at the University of Iowa are now being erected. The building will be the largest of its kind in the country.
