PICTURES FOR YEARBOOK DUE

Juniors and Seniors Must Arrange for Sitings By November 13

LISTS PRINTED DAILY

Only three weeks remain for several hundred juniors and seniors to have their pictures taken for the 1927 Cornhusker. November 13 is the deadline for pictures of upperclassmen, and all sittings must be made by that date, according to W. F. Jones, Jr., editor of the yearbook.

Pictures must be taken at Hauck's or Townsend's, the two official studios of the Cornhusker. Appointments may be made through either studio or through the Cornhusker office by telephone or in person.

Each day a list of the members of each class is published in The Daily Nebraskan. That is to facilitate matters with the staff of the annual and to have some definite list to assign to studios. If a senior or junior appears on the list for a certain day he should make an appointment for some time that day.

Pictures for Greek Letter Groups Fraternity and sorority pictures are being taken at the same studios. Seniors and juniors may use the same picture as they have in the class section by paying fifty cents for an extra print. They should designate what organization they are affiliated with on the information card they fill out at the studio. Individual pictures for other organizations will be fifty cents extra.

Juniors and seniors are urged by the editor to have their picture taken within the next few days if possible. November 13 is absolutely the last day for sittings as the two studios must get the work over in order not to interfere with their own Christmas rush for appointments.

Vold Contributes To Law Questions Book

Prof. L. Vold of the College of Law has completed a set of questions and answers in quasi-contract which will be part of a new book, "Test Questions in American Law," soon to be issued by the West Publishing company of St. Paul, legal publishers. The book will be a compilation of questions and answers on the more important legal topics and is expected to serve as a guide for systematic review for bar examinations. Professors in the leading law schools of the country have prepared the material under the editorial supervision of the School of Law of the University of California.

Sympathy Extended To Harvey Taney's Parents

Professor Pfeiffer's class has extended the following expression of sympathy to the parents of Harvey Taney, freshman who was killed last week in an automobile accident:

"We, the members of the European History Class, pause in our daily occupation, to pay tribute to our friend and classmate, Mr. Harvey Taney, who has been taken from our midst in such a sudden and tragic manner, October fifteenth, nineteen hundred and twenty-six.

"The class wishes to extend its sincere regret and profound sympathy to the parents and friends of Mr. Taney."

Signed in behalf of the class—

Numerous Committees Carry On Varied Campus Work of Y. W. C. A.

What is the Young Women's Christian Association doing for University of Nebraska women?

The work is carried on by committees, under the guidance of Miss Erma Appleby, Y. W. C. A. secretary.

The Bible Study committee, led by Mary Kinney, acquaints students with the essence of the mind and teachings of Jesus. Three classes are maintained throughout the year. A group meets on Monday and Wednesday at 4 o'clock under Miss Appleby, and on Thursday at 4 o'clock under Miss Kinney. An upperclassman's group led by Miss Appleby meets on Sunday at 4 o'clock to study Matthew, Mark and Luke.

The World Forum committee, led by Margaret Hyde, cooperates with the Y. M. C. A. committee for the World Forum luncheons, and arranges for discussion groups on campus and world problems of interest to the students.

The vesper committee, led by Ruth Barker, arranges for a religious service of worship and inspiration, every Tuesday at 5 o'clock. The Vesper Choir, directed by Ruth Ann Coddington, leads hymns at regular services and prepares special services

R. O. T. C. Sponsors to Be Chosen for Semester

Sponsors for groups in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps will be selected for each semester this year according to an announcement by Colonel F. F. Jewett, commandant of cadets. This arrangement will make it possible to choose a new sponsor when the organization commander changes.

A parade in honor of the sponsors for this semester will be held on November 4.

The sponsors will also form a guard of honor for the University flag in the Armistice Day parade, November 11.

NAVY BAND RANKS HIGH

Musical Group Appears Here Nov. 6; Recognized Over World

The United States Navy band, which will be heard in an evening concert on November 6 at the University Coliseum, is recognized as one of the great military bands of the world, ranking with the most famous of Europe, past and present, declared John K. Selleck, agent of student activities, who has charge of the arrangements, yesterday.

It has won a position beside such great bands as the Grenadier Guards, the Coldstream Guards, the Royal Artillery, and the Royal Marine, of England; the Garde Republicaine, of France; the Guides, of Belgium; the Bersaglieri, of Italy; the Imperial Guards, of Austria; the Ottoman Palace of Turkey; the Kaiser-Franz Grenadiers, of Germany, and the Presbjajenski, of Russia.

Status Approved by Coolidge The band, which will appear in Lincoln under the auspices of the University of Nebraska, is the premier musical organization of the United States Navy, having had that status conferred upon it by special act of congress, approved by President Calvin Coolidge.

The concert programs of the Navy band are varied to an unusual degree, its numbers including stupendous classical selection, inspiring marches, thrilling dance music of the most up-to-date kind, and the best features of the musical comedies that are most recently in popular favor.

Among the popular numbers that Lieutenant Benter has secured for his Lincoln concert are five of Irving Berlin's compositions, especially arranged and orchestrated for the Navy band by the Berlin staff of musicians.

Pharmacy Graduates Placed in Positions

The College of Pharmacy has found places for two graduates since the first of the school year. Mr. H. R. Lewton, '22, who was an instructor at Colgate until last June has been placed in the College of Pharmacy at the Oregon Agricultural School as an assistant professor.

W. A. Prout, who graduated from Nebraska in 1924 and who continued his study of pharmacy at Tulane, has been placed at the University of Tennessee as associate professor.

Mr. H. L. Thompson, who was an early graduate of the pharmacy college of Nebraska, has been placed as head of the Pharmaceutical College at the University of Utah by Dr. Lyman.

U. S. Navy Band to Play

In an effort to meet the demands of the public for both classical and popular music, Lieutenant Charles Benter, director of the United States Navy band, which will appear at the University Coliseum, November 6, under the auspices of the University of Nebraska, has organized a number of smaller combinations within his organization to supply the little fancies. The jazz band is one of the most popular of these smaller combinations, and those who attend the concert will be given "a few minutes with the U. S. Navy Jazz Band." The concert of the Navy band is carefully balanced and should satisfy the most discerning taste for the classical, as well as delight those who are not so exacting.

PLANS READY FOR LUNCHEON

Girl's Cornhusker Luncheon, Sponsored by A. W. S. Will Be Homecoming Day

Plans for the Girls' Cornhusker luncheon, which will be held this year in the Coliseum on the noon of Homecoming Day, November 13, have been completed by the committee in charge. Helen Aach is chairman and the luncheon, as in former years, is being sponsored by the Associated Women Students Board.

Tickets will go on sale Thursday, October 28 and may be obtained from the sorority houses or from members of the Mystic Fish, freshman women's honorary organization. Ruth Barker and Grace Elizabeth Evans are joint chairmen of the ticket committee. Tickets are selling for seventy-five cents and will be on sale until Thursday evening November 11.

Decorations will be in scarlet and cream and novel favors and place cards are being arranged for by the committee. Lucille Refshauge is in charge of the decorations. The members of Mystic Fish, Xi Delta, Silver Serpent and Tassels will serve the luncheon and will be directed by Esther Zinnecker, chairman of the waitresses.

Circular Letters Sent The committee on menu, of which Viola Forsell is chairman is making every effort to serve as an attractive luncheon as they can. Circular letters are being sent out by the A. W. S. Board asking that sororities close their tables on the noon of the luncheon and that they also extend invitation to alumnae who will be especially welcome at the luncheon.

The Cornhusker luncheon needs no introduction to most upperclassmen. For years it has been a part of the football season and has always been held before the Homecoming game until last year. This year the A. W. S. Board decided to go back to the old custom of holding the luncheon Homecoming day.

Dispensary Examines Over 1700 Students

The University Dispensary, during the past four weeks of school has examined over 1700 new students who are registered in the different colleges. Of this number 814 are women and 968 are men. Besides those that have been examined there are about 50 students who are treated daily for different minor ailments.

Y. W. C. A. DRIVE ON AG CAMPUS OPENS

Membership and Finance Campaign Begins Monday; Ruth Davis Is Chairman

The joint membership and finance drive of the Y. W. C. A. at the Agricultural College will open on Monday and terminate with a party on Thursday evening at which the new members of the organization will be entertained.

Ruth Davis is chairman of the drive and has instructed her assistants to meet the girls to be approached, at lunch if possible and to explain to them the different branches of work the Y. W. C. A. is carrying on.

The branch of the Y. W. C. A. work at the Agricultural College was organized in the fall of 1923 and carries on its work under the direction of Miss Erma Appleby, University Y. W. C. A. secretary. Noonday meetings of the association are held on each Tuesday. Discussion groups are also held at regular times for freshman women and a reading room is being sponsored by the association during the coming year.

AG SPECIALIST TALKS AT KANSAS CONVENTION

Miss Mary Ellen Brown, agricultural extension specialist in women's work, attended the annual extension conference at Kansas State Agricultural College at Manhattan Friday and Saturday. She gave an address on the Nebraska Mothers' vacation camp.

STUDENTS EXHIBIT STOCK AT AG SHOW

Over Fifty Enter Animals in Sixth Baby International At Ag Campus

Over fifty students showed three classes of cattle, and one class each of hogs, horses, and sheep at the sixth Baby International staged by the Block and Bridle Club last night at the agricultural college.

The results of the judging follow: Aged steers: Roland Swanson, first; Ed Janike, second; Walter Post, third.

Sheep: Glen Hedlund, first; Carl Jenkins, second; Russell Datie, third. Aged mares: Warren Rice, first; E. Danielson, second; Harold Nellor, third.

Aberdeen Angus calves: Clyde Baldwin, first; Austin Gotch, second; Wayne Kinsey, third. Hogs: Clifford Webster, first; Cy Winkler, second; Claude Eastburn, third.

Fillies: Edwin Booth, first; D. Smith, second; George Garrison, third.

Klein Is Champion Nail-Driver Alice Klein won the championship in the co-ed nail-driving contest. She drove the required twenty nails without bending any of them, and was presented with a small hammer by W. W. Derrick, of the College of Agriculture.

Dr. S. W. Alford won the nail-driving contest for faculty men. Right-handed men had to drive with their left hands and the reverse. Prof. H. J. Gramlich challenged the winner to a match and succeeded in defeating him.

The animals shown were part of the college's herd of fine live stock, many of which will be shown at some of the leading live stock shows this season.

Fouts Is Judge

K. C. Fouts, extension agent of York county, was the judge. The placings were made on the manner in which the animal was groomed and the skill in handling it in the show ring, no attention being paid to the individuality of the animal itself.

Dairy Barn on Ag Campus is Opened

The University of Nebraska College of Agriculture can now boast of the finest dairy barn in this section of the country, with the completion and formal opening of the new barn at the agricultural college campus last Thursday.

Regent Seymour, in speaking on the formal opening program, said that it was a mark of true Nebraska culture and that people could really be proud of it.

A full program, presided over by Chancellor Avery, consisted of talks by Dean E. A. Burnett, Prof. H. P. Davis, Regent Seymour, Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific Railroad, Charlie Olmstead, Lancaster county dairy farmer, and E. T. Reator, president of the Fairmont Creamery company. Following a dairy lunch served by the dairy department, Professor Davis introduced some of the distinguished members of the University of Nebraska dairy herd which have made enviable records in the dairy cow world.

The visitors included over 150 representatives of all branches of the dairy industry.

Model of Utility

The barn, a model of utility and beauty of construction, is the result of the study of several hundred dairy barn plans by Professors Davis and Morgan. They worked out their idea (Continued on Page Two.)

HUSKERS SCORE VICTORY OVER JAYHAWK GRIDMEN

Nebraska Football Team Snatches Game from University Of Kansas by Score of 20 to 3; Displays Powerful Line-plunging Attack

PRESNELL FEATURES GAME WITH TWO TOUCHDOWNS

Howell Enters Fray in Last Quarter to Make Added Points; Injures Weak Ankle but not Seriously; Mielenz Exhibits Brilliant Ground-gaining Runs

By Oscar Norling
LAWRENCE, KANSAS, Oct. 23 (Special)—Displaying a powerful line-plunging attack, the Huskers triumphed over the Jayhawkers this afternoon before a crowd of about twenty thousand fans by a 20-to-3 score. Not until the last quarter, when Nebraska smashed through for two touchdowns, was the game safely snatched from the fighting Kansas squad. Glenn Presnell, ploughing and twisting through the Jayhawk line, for two touchdowns, was the main factor in the crumbling of the Kansas defense. It was Presnell's day and he gained more yardage than the combined efforts of the opposition.

JOURNALISTS TO ENTERTAIN

Theta Sigma Phi to Sponsor Dinner for All Women in Department

To give the women of the School of Journalism an opportunity for a better acquaintance with one another, Theta Sigma Phi, honorary and professional journalistic sorority will sponsor a dinner for all women registered in the School, at the Grand Hotel Thursday, October 28, at 6 o'clock.

This dinner is the first attempt on the Nebraska campus this year to bring together all the women who are interested in journalism.

Several speakers will give the guests an intimate glimpse of the profession and of the School and its work.

Addresses to be Given

Prof. James E. Lawrence, instructor in the School of Journalism and managing editor of The Lincoln Star will speak on "Women in Journalism." Gayce C. Walker, acting director of the school, will discuss "The School of Journalism." "The School Publications" will be the topic of the address by Victor T. Hackler, '27, editor of the Daily Nebraskan. Ruth Godfrey, president of the organization will preside as toastmistress.

Tickets are fifty cents and may be obtained from any of the members of the society.

Theta Sigma Phi is a national honorary and professional organization of women who are active in journalism as their profession, and who have shown marked ability in their field.

Candle-Lighting Vesper Services to be Tuesday

The annual candle-lighting vesper service of the Y. W. C. A. will be held Tuesday at 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith Hall. Alice Criss will preside.

Girls who wish to join the Y. W. C. A. and members of the organization desiring to renew their vows do so by the symbolic lighting of individual candles from the large candle representing the light of the Christian religion.

Special music has been arranged for by Ruth Ann Coddington, leader of the Vesper Choir and Alice Duffy will sing a vocal solo, "The Lord Is My Shepherd", which is sung each year at this particular service.

Swarthmore College Described In Letter From Douglas Orr

Douglas Orr, ex '27, who is attending Swarthmore College this year, where he is an honor student, has written to The Daily Nebraskan the following account of his impressions at this famous eastern college:

Swarthmore, Pa.
October 19, 1926.

To the Editor:

The only word of advice that I had in going to college was that I should stop trying to reform things for a while. But since your managing editor has requested it, I don't think that a purely descriptive account of my experiments in a co-educational Eastern college will fly in the face of that advice. Therefore, please forgive this intrusion into your columns.

Swarthmore College is more or less what the University of Nebraska Arts College would be if it were limited to five hundred students and if each freshman class of one hundred and fifty were selected from twelve hundred applicants. It is a liberal college, but it offers courses in engineering and in education leading to the B. S. degree. But there are some rather important differences from

In a heroic exhibition of real football nerve, Blue Howell, whose injuries of last Saturday had kept him from a week of scrimmage, entered the game in the last quarter and in two plays carried the ball six yards for the second touchdown. Blue injured his weak ankle on the scoring plunge and was carried from the field. The injury will not keep him out of the Ames contest, it was reported after the game.

Frank Mielenz broke away for several brilliant ground-gaining runs. Dailey, Oehrich, and Stephens were other backs who made it a long afternoon for the Kansas defense.

Forward Wall Excels

The work of the forward wall was a marked feature of the game. The fine gave their backfield plenty of time to do their punting and passing, while they sifted through and hurried the attempts of the Jayhawks. Whitmore, whose one hundred eighty-one pounds of aggressive spirit have kept him in the lineup longer than any other guard, and Holm, who made his debut in the line, took care of the middle of the line in good shape. Weir and Burnham allowed no yardage around the ends, and Captain Simer and Ashburn were cutting plays short before they were underway. To sum it up, eleven Cornhuskers were playing the game every minute of the tussle in the best exhibition of football seen this season.

The Jayhawkers fought hard but they were unable to compete with the Husker line smashes. The punting of Wellman and Zuber was the outstanding feature of the Kansas play, while the passing combination, Zuber to Burton, was a constant scoring threat. The one scoring play came in the second quarter, when Wall's place-kick from the forty-three yard line was good for three points.

Even Contest in First Quarter The game was evenly contested during the first quarter and neither was able to score. Kansas gained ground on their exchange of punts, but lost yardage in the scrimmage. Stephens threatened to score on a placement but the attempt fell short.

The opportunity for the Huskers to score came on the first play of the second quarter when Mielenz recovered his own fumble and tossed the ball to Stephens who completed a twenty-five-yard pass to Presnell, who raced fifteen yards behind good interference for a touchdown. Stephens booted the extra point from placement.

The second touchdown came in the fourth quarter when Stephens brought the ball within scoring distance by returning Zuber's fifty-five yard punt to the Kansas twenty-eight yard line. Line plunges by Presnell and Dailey brought the ball to the eight-yard line. The Kansas line stiffened and two attempts failed to bring the ball past the six-yard mark. Blue Howell entered the game and (Continued on Page Two.)

other liberal colleges; these may be of interest.

To be graduated with an A. B. a student must have a reading knowledge of two languages, preferably two modern languages, French and German. It is expected that this requirement will be worked off by the end of the second year, especially in the case of those who wish to read for honors. The courses of the first two years are rather rigidly prescribed, care being taken that the student has thorough courses in college mathematics, English literature and composition, one of the important physical or biological sciences, philosophy or history, and physical education.

It is the so-called honors courses, however, that are the particular and peculiar glory of Swarthmore. About fifty juniors and seniors read for honors. They are admitted to do work in honors at the beginning of the junior year, having proved themselves apt students with about "B" averages in the first two years. A description of my own work may give (Continued on Page Three)
