

HUSKERS WORK HARD FOR GAME ON HOMECOMING

Bearg Taking No Chances In Preparing Team For Tilt With Kansas Aggies

Coach Bearg sent his regulars against a numb but fighting freshman team Tuesday afternoon on the upper Memorial field. Tuesday's appearance was the first for the yearlings since their victory over the Kaggie youngsters last Saturday. Few of their first team were in suit, but they offered a great resistance to the hard-driving Varsity.

Bearg seemed to favor blocking and running interference as a suitable means of conditioning his men for the fast-approaching game with the Kansas Aggie footballers this week-end. Promises of a stiff combat are all to the affirmative, so lagging in practice is out of fashion.

The remainder of the Cornhusker pigskin schedule offers as hard a task as has ever confronted a Nebraska eleven. In only twelve days the Scarlet and Cream representatives will stack up against three of the outstanding football teams of the country; namely, Washington, New York, and Kansas Aggies.

New York, in addition to being undefeated, ranks as a leader for national honors. Washington and the Kansas Aggies, although suffering one defeat apiece, are rated at the top in their respective conferences. Therefore, anyone who proclaims that either of these games is Cornhusker meat, will witness different things when these events come to pass.

Meanwhile, Bearg lets it be known that Saturday's clash is a cause for worry. Varsity regulars were out in numbers anxious for a chance at the yearlings. Those that did participate wasted no time in putting into action their intentions. As a consequence, touchdowns became frequent and sensational runs common. By the way, too much credit cannot be given to the freshmen. Anyone who faces the Varsity on an "on" night can testify with a big yes.

Another scrimmage is on the books for tomorrow night. McMullen received a slight leg injury at the first of the practice. He was immediately removed but reported not seriously injured.

Coach Rhodes will keep his freshmen working on plays of Nebraska's opponents. In this way the yearlings will prove valuable in training Varsity men for their big contests.

HARRIERS HAVE EASY WORKOUT

Nebraska Cross Country Team Rapidly Getting In Shape For Kansas Aggies

The last hard workout before the dual meet with Kansas Aggies was meted out to the Nebraska cross-country team last night by Coach Schulte. Light workouts, tapering down, will be the order for the team the rest of the week.

Nebraska's team is a young team but has been showing up better all season. They will face the valley's best Saturday. The Kaggies won the valley championship last year and lost only one member of that team. This year's team has decisively trounced all opponents. They are the favorites to win Saturday but with the Huskers in the best shape of the season and running on their home course, it is likely to take all ten places to determine the winner.

Coach Schulte sent Captain Hays, Chadderton and Johnson through two and a half or three mile workout underneath the stadium yesterday afternoon. The rest of the squad, Sprague, Reller and McCartney took the same outdoors later on account of the dust inside the stadium.

The meet Saturday with the Kaggies will be the last home appearance of the Husker harriers this season. They will go to Norman, Oklahoma for the Missouri Valley meet November 20th to conclude the season.

New York May Bring Band To Nebraska Game

That New York University may bring a sixty-piece band to Lincoln for the Nebraska game on November 20 seems possible, according to a clipping from a recent issue of the New York Alumnus which reads:

Band at Nebraska Game?
Lieutenant E. A. Hopf and Coach Chick Meehan are active at work to insure the presence of the N. Y. U. band at the forthcoming game with the University of Nebraska in the latter's territory. Chick says: "I shall back the band to the limit. The band expresses the backing of the student organization. Without a band the average college game would be as drab as a back-lot affair. It puts the college atmosphere into football and that is what attracts the outside following. For that reason the band and the football team should go hand-in-hand. The marked improvement of the band is a source of gratification to me."

Lieutenant Hopf says: "The presence of their own band, playing New York University songs amidst a multitude of opponent rosters, thousands of miles from home, should inspire and help the team's game materially. Perhaps the very inspiration that would thus be given, might be the factor between defeat and victory. There will be few N. Y. U. adherents at that game so many miles away."

Lieutenant Hopf lately has been fairly beaming with optimism. "These boys are much ahead of what they were last year," the Lieutenant states. "I certainly am proud of them. They are now playing real music—not making mere noise."

An alumnus of New York University, Griffith Bonner of Topeka, Kansas, writes the Daily Nebraskan that the band will broadcast over KFAR if it does come to Lincoln for the game.

Restriction on Athletes

Athletes who have played in other institutions will hereafter be ineligible for competition under Pittsburgh colors.

FRESHMEN WOMEN WIN HOCKEY GAME

Sophomores Are Defeated 4 to 1 In Annual Hockey Tournament Sponsored by W. A. A.

Freshman women struck their way to a 4 to 1 victory over the sophomore women in the annual hockey tournament sponsored by the Women's Athletic association. The game was characterized by long hard drives and little dribbling or dodging by either team. Team work was conspicuous by its absence. The freshmen played an aggressive game, keeping the ball dangerously near the sophomore goal. The sophomore backs put up a good defense and allowed the ball to go through only four times in forty minutes of actual playing time.

The lineup for the teams started with:

Sophomores	Position	Freshmen
DeLes Dernier	RW	Ender
Peterson	RI	Safarick
Clayton	CF	Schrick
Eastabrooks	LI	Selander
Grow	LW	Olson
Hoag	RN	Hay
Frohnm	CN	Spencer
Kunkler	LN	Dom
Hallgren	PB	Horton
Gobde	LB	Davis
Bergstrassen	Goal	Hall

Substitutions: Sophomores: Elliot for DeLes Dernier, Eiberton for Peterson, Peterson for Eastabrooks, Eastabrooks for Grau.

Freshmen: Gille for Ender, Cooper for Safarick, Parker for Schrick, Safarick for Olson, Hall for Davis, Loringhouse for Hall.

INTER-FRAT MEET AGAIN POSTPONED

Cold Weather Causes Coach Schulte To Set Friday Afternoon For Cross Country

The inter-fraternity cross-country meet, scheduled for this evening, has been postponed until Friday afternoon, by Coach Schulte, because of the cold.

the meet will be started from the stadium at 4:30 Friday afternoon. Coach Schulte expects the weather to turn warm again before that time and urges all fraternities to keep their men out.

The inter-fraternity cross-country meet is part of the intramural athletic program planned for the University. The cross-country run counts for points on the big cup to be awarded the fraternity ranking highest throughout the year in intramural athletics.

IN THE VALLEY

By OSCAR NORLING

Washington University, St. Louis, is planning to send a trainload of rosters to Columbia, when their team meets Missouri next Saturday, Nov. 13. The Tigers are expected to put up a stiff resistance because of their unexpected defeat at the hands of the Oklahoma Sooners last Saturday. Setbacks at the hands of Missouri in former games make the Pikers extremely desirous for a victory, so they plan to give the Washington team all the support possible.

Drake and Iowa State tangle on the letters gridiron at the same time.

Both were defeated at Nebraska by approximately the same score, so if paper calculations could be accepted a close result would be forthcoming.

Meanwhile, the Huskers indulge in daily skirmishes with the Nebraska yearlings. Facing a trio of high-class opponents in brief order, the Cornhuskers must come through with their best football to conquer in the three combats. The first task is to tuck the Kansas Aggie tussle away for safe keeping. To this end, Coach Bearg is striving with constant attention and effort.

MUSEUM RECEIVES BIG COLLECTION OF FOSSILS

The museum has just received a collection of fossil bones which were discovered by John Koop in the Lyman Richey sand pit at Meador, Nebraska. They were sent in by V. W. Finity, gravel inspector. They include fossil buffalo bones, some skulls, fossil elephant bones, and also a mammoth tooth.
