At 7 o'clock Friday evening the judges inspected the displays and made their final decision. This will be announced in the Sunday morning issue of The Daily Nebraskan. Many of the decorations are extremely imposing. The Delta Tau Delta house has an immense ear of corn for a centerpiece. On top of this is a man in football clothes, pulling up a ball labeled "Valley Champs". On the porch below are two men in Kansas Aggie togs who are attempting to get the ball. On the left of the house will be a white U and a red N, and on the right a purple K and a white A. These letters will be as high as the hous.

In front of the Delta Upsilon house will be a replica of University Hall. Welcome signs will be prominently displayed. The Alpha Sigma Phis will decorate with the Nebraska and Kansas Aggie colors. One side of the Acacia lawn will represent a graveyard with the graves of Nebraska's defeated opponents. The other will depict a field with Nebraska dragging the Aggies toward an open grave. Over the front door of the Alpha Tau Omega house will be a large football with red and white lights running around the edge. A "T" will form the doorway, with an Alpha and Omega fifteen foot figures representing a Corncob and an alumnus on the Phi Gamma Delta hous. The Phi Kappa Psis will have an electric welcome

Chancellor Extends Homecoming Welcome

Chancellor Samuel Avery extends the following welcome to the returning alumni and friends of the University who are here for the annual Homecoming Day:

"Again it gives me great pleasure to welcome the alumni of the University back to the campus. Homecoming Day is one of the few times during the year that the undergraduate has an opportunity to meet the alumni of the institution. With this in view, unusual efforts have been made this year to make the day Two worth while. great teams in the Valley are to meet today. The game will be well worth while, whatever the score may be. I sincerely hope that this Homecoming Day will be one of the bright spots in the memory of both the alumni and the undergraduates.

Sincerely yours," S. Avery.
