Regents Have Full Control Of University

Act As Direct Representatives Of People of State in Managing Affairs

CHOOSE FACULTY AND ALL OTHER OFFICERS

Editor's Note: This is the fifth of a series of articles which Mr. Kezer has written for The Daily Nebraskan on the history, development, ideals and administration of the University.

We have discussed the development of the University, particularly in regard to its spirit and ideals and their significance to the state. The next several articles will deal with the administration of the University. In our life on the campus, we see only a small part of the administrative work that has to be carried on. It is the purpose of these articles to furnish information concerning the general organization of the University and the more important administrative offices in detail.

In this article we shall deal with the general organization of the University. We have already noted that the provision for the establishment of the University was made in an act of the legislature on February 15, 1869. Practically entire control of the University has been vested in the Board of Regents. The legislature retains control over appropriations. The legislature has consistently followed a wise policy in regard to the administration of the University. It has made no attempt to regulate the University, leaving that to the Regents who are elected directly by the people for that purpose. This has meant that the University has had one authority. It has been able to carry out a continuous policy while directly responsible to the people.

Regents Similar to Corporation

Except for the necessity of securing appropriations from the legislature, practically entire control of the University is in the hands of the Regents. The revised statutes of the state provide that they may sue and be sued like any corporation. They may acquire real and personal property whenever the University can be benefitted thereby, except that they are not permitted to dispose of grounds upon which buildings of the University are located without the consent of the legislature.

Power to enact laws for the government of the University is placed in the hands of the Board of Regents. They are given power to elect a Chancellor, to prescribe the number of professors and officers, their duties, and their compensation. They also have power to remove the Chancellor or any professor or officer of the University.

Restriction on Building Sites

One peculiar restriction was placed on the Board of Regents. The legislative enactment, known as the University Charter, provided that the buildings of the University should be erected within four miles of the statehouse.

This so-called charter provided that the immediate government of each college should be by its own faculty, but that no course of study should be adopted or series of text books used without the approval of the Board of Regents. The Board of Regents is given exclusive authority to confer degrees and to grant diplomas. By legislative enactment all meetings of the Board of Regents are open to the public. The Board is required to meet at least twice a year.

From this we see that the Board (Continued on Page Two.)

Senior Officers Are Elected for Semester

Lloyd Wagner was elected vice-president of the senior class at its meeting Thursday, November 17, in Social Science Auditorium. Other officers chosen to serve during the first semester are Richard Elster, treasurer, and Fred Vette, secretary.

The advisability of renewing the old tradition of a Junior-Senior prom were discussed, and the sentiment of the class seemed to be in favor of it.

President Joe Weir presided at the meeting. About fifty were present.

FIRST YEAR MEN EAGER FOR FRAY

"Remember the Barbecue" Is Freshman Slogan on Eve of Olympics Clash

"Remember the Barbecue", will be the battle cry of the Freshman class when they face the Sophomores in the Olympics Saturday.

The Freshman class is indignant over the annual Freshman Barbecue, feeling that it did get the full benefit of the sixty cents they spent to get a weenie, a bun and a doughnut.

John Hedge, Freshman president asserted that "the class spirit will be at the highest ebb. We are going into the Olympics with one purpose in our minds. That is that we are going to win."

Freshmen Confident of Victory

"We will win, of course," declared Harold Trumbull, president of the Green Goblets. "We are pretty well organized and will show the Sophomores a good fight."

The Sophomores, however, feel that the yearlings will have a much harder contest this year to doff their green caps. The Olympics of 1926 have been arranged to give the smaller numbers of the Sophomores a better chance to defeat the mob of Freshmen that turn out annually.

Ramsay Chapman, president of the Sophomore class thinks that the Sophomores have a better chance than in former years and states, "we have made all possible preparations. The teams are organized. Everything is ready. I want to urge every sophomore to turn out to give more competition than in former years."

"I think the Olympics will be fair to both sides. The Sophomores have a good chance to win and they will be in there fighting." This is the statement made by Harold Fulscher, president of the Iron Sphinx.

May Be Held Under Stadium

It was announced by Stanley Reiff, chairman of the Olympics Committee that the boxing, wrestling and relay race will be held under the east stand of the Stadium if the weather is very cold. All other events will be outdoors. The Tug-of-War will probably be run off with hoses playing in between the sides. The losers will get drenched when they are pulled into the hose.

Ellsworth DuTeau in charge of the relay says, "Both relay teams have some good men—it will be a close race."

All contestants are urged to be present in the Stadium promptly at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, as the events will start on time.

DR. HERNEY MAKES SHORT VISIT HERE

Dr. Anne Herney, a graduate of the College of Medicine in 1923, returned Wednesday for a day's visit. Her home is in Petersburg. The first two years after her graduation she spent in the Tex-Crause Drug Co. of Osceola.

HARRIERS LEAVE FOR VALLEY MEET

Team Is Strongest to Represent Nebraska This Season. Johnson Eligible

Nebraska's cross-country team left yesterday afternoon for Norman, Oklahoma, to compete in the annual Missouri Valley cross-country meet. Coach Schulte accompanied the team composed of Captain Hays, Chadderton, Keller, Sprague, McCartney, and Glen Johnson.

Johnson has been working all semester to raise his scholastic intelligibility and finally succeeded in removing it. He completed the bulk of the work last Saturday and took his final examination Wednesday morning. Johnson has not had the advantage of the experience of the season's meets but he has been running right up with the leaders in all trials.

Coach Schulte feels that the team in the Valley meet will be the strongest to represent Nebraska this season. Fast competition is expected with Nebraska considered as having an outside chance of copping the meet.

BENEFIT PARTY PLANS COMPLETE

Varsity Party Benefit to Send Band to Seattle in Coliseum - Saturday

A live turkey will be given away at the Band Benefit party, Saturday night, as a part of the entertainment features. Each ticket holder will have a number. During intermission a drawing will be held to decide who will drag the turkey home. Interest in the drawing is reaching a high pitch, according to Don Campbell, chairman of the ticket sale. Tickets are being sold rapidly on account of it.

A saxophone quartette will furnish part of the entertainment program. The members of the quartette include the leading saxophone players in the band. They will present several numbers during the intermission. According to present plans there will also be some solo numbers. It has not yet been decided definitely which instruments will play these.

Beck's ten-piece band will furnish music for the dance and the members of the New York university football team have been invited to be guests of the band. Refreshments have been donated by Lincoln firms, and the turkey also was donated. It was contributed to the band cause by Max Mozer & Co.

A final drive on the ticket sales is being made today by the members of the band. A canvass of the campus will be made before the final check up Saturday morning. A committee from the band is calling all fraternity houses tonight to urge them to attend the party, not as a charity dance but as a real all-university mixer. Stress is being laid upon the fact that this is the students' last opportunity to give the team the support that only a band can give.

Daily Nebraskan Inquiring Reporter

Every day he asks a question from different students picked at random on the campus.

Today's question: What is your opinion of the student council—the work it does and tries to do?

Asked at different places on the campus.

Margaret Schmitz, A. S., '27, Hastings.

"The student council is a very worth while organization; the student council should be given more power, because it is only fair that the students have a part in the government."

H. Herbert Howe, A. S., '28, Table Rock.

"I don't think the student council does everything it is supposed to do; it should take steps to make and enforce an adequate rule against smoking on the campus. The student council is not a true representation of the different colleges on the campus."

W. P. Kriemelmeyer, T. C., '27, Yuma, Colo.

"The student council as it exists now is much of a figure head, because even though they propose measures that would be of benefit to the student body, they are not always accepted by the governing board."

August Holmquist, Bizzad, '27, Oakland.

"The student council is a good organization; their work with the class organizations, the sponsorship of the last elections, and the way which they were managed are good examples of an efficient student council."

EASTERN TEAM ARRIVES FOR HUSKER TILT

New York U. Squad Arrives On Special Train After Two Day Trip

WORK OUT AT CHICAGO

Violet Gridsters Lumber Up On Stag Field Thursday Afternoon

After a two-day train trip halfway across the continent, Coach Meehan and his New York gridsters arrived in Lincoln this morning to complete preparations for their western invasion. Inspired by the greatest sendoff in the history of their University, the Violet squad is ready to display its eastern prowess against the Huskers Saturday afternoon in an inter-sectional battle which is attracting national interest.

"Beat Nebraska" was the farewell cry of New York as the Wolverine Special carried the Varsity squad of twenty-seven players, coaches, trainers, and managers from the New York Central station Wednesday afternoon. The special stopped in Chicago yesterday afternoon while the players loosened stiff muscles in a light workout at Stag Field.

Engage in Signal Drill

Meehan sent the squad through a final signal drill and dummy scrimmage against Nebraska formations. Strong and Connor were getting away some long punts in the kicking drill. The first string consisted of Riordan and Losa at the ends, Lassman and Miller, tackles; Skudin and Bunyan, guards; Dunn, center; Connor, quarter; Strong and Roberts at the halves; and Captain Briante, fullback. This is the tentative lineup for the Saturday tussle.

Equipped with mittens and woolen underwear, the Huskers braved the chilly winds racing through the stadium field yesterday afternoon in a dummy scrimmage against New York formations, centering upon the aerial attack. All of the men were in suit and no injury handicaps will hamper the squad when they meet the Violet players tomorrow and the Huskers on Turkey Day.

Tentative Husker Lineup

The eleven who are tentatively listed for the starting lineup include Lee and Weir at the ends, Captain Stiner and Randells at tackles, Holm and McMullen at guards, James at center, Stephens at quarter, Howell and Presnell at the halves and Oehlrich at fullback. After a brief workout this afternoon and appearance at the rally tonight, the Huskers will stay at the Eastridge club until time for the game.

SEATTLE ALUMNI WILL ENTERTAIN

Plans Being Made for Luncheons and Dinners At Washington

Nebraska Alumni around Washington are making elaborate plans for the big Thanksgiving Day game. Secretary Holtz of the Nebraska Alumni Association has just received a telegram from the Seattle Alumni stating that a luncheon would be held at Seattle on Wednesday noon, and that the football coach, Athletic Director, Varsity captain, and the entire team, if permissible, are invited to attend.

At a dinner of Nebraska Alumni at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening an opportunity will be given Alumni to meet the team. Between courses they will practice Nebraska songs and yells, including the chant, so as to be in good trim for the game on the following day.

All College Night for University men and also All College Night for University women will be held on the same evening. Coach Bearg is asked to have the team appear at both functions.

Section twenty in the stadium has been reserved for Nebraska Alumni and their friends. From present observations a large delegation will attend the game. They will not only have a chance to greet old friends, but their presence and their cheering will undoubtedly be an aid to the team.

Many Directories Sold During Week

2300 directories have been sold during this week. Those wishing copies of this 1926-27 Student and Faculty Directory should procure them immediately as there are but three hundred copies left. After today, campus sales will be discontinued and the remaining few will be sold at the bookstores. They will be sold today in Social Science hall and in the Library.

Foreign Universities Want Debates

Cambridge University of England and the University of Sidney, Australia, have requested debates with Ohio State for next quarter.

Military Ball Tickets Selling at Rapid Rate

Tickets for the annual Military Ball are selling at a very rapid rate according to the committee in charge of sales. A limited number of tickets are on sale at Latsch Brothers and at John Selleck's office in the Coliseum. Each fraternity has been allotted twenty tickets and these are almost gone.

SHORT COURSES TO BE OFFERED

Ag College Will Offer Winter Short Courses to Aid Busy Farmers

Winter short courses in general agriculture, auto-tractors, farm shop, poultry husbandry, and ice-cream making are being offered this season by the College of Agriculture.

"We know that there are hundreds of young men who would like to avail themselves of the dull season by spending anywhere from one to four weeks in a study of special problems in which they are interested," said H. E. Bradford, principal of the School of Agriculture.

The first course being offered is one in Cooperation, on November 30, December 1 and 2. Among the various phases of this subject to be taken up are the Essentials of Cooperation and Marketing Grain Cooperatively, November 30; Marketing Livestock Cooperatively and Cooperative Marketing of Poultry and Eggs, December 1; and Marketing Dairy Products and the Outlook for Cooperation, on December 2.

Four Week Automobile Course

The Automobile and Tractor Short Course consists of four weeks work, eight hours a day, on ignition, carburetion, valve timing, lubrication, bearings, batteries, starting and lighting, and tractor operation.

The dates for the various courses are as follows: four weeks courses, Auto Tractor, December 27 to January 21; and January 24 to February 18; General Agriculture, January 24 to February 18; one week courses, Farm Meats, January 10 to January 14; Poultry, January 11 to 14; and Ice Cream Makers' Roundup, February 9 to 11. Registration takes place on the morning of the first day of each course.

All persons must be sixteen years of age or over to gain admission to these courses, as they are especially designed for busy men who cannot spend more than a few weeks away from their homes.

PLAYERS PRESENT "THE AUCTIONEER"

First Performance of Second Play Of Season's Series Given Thursday Evening

"The Auctioneer", a three act comedy, presented by the Temple Stock Company, made its initial appearance at the Temple Theater Thursday evening. This is the second play of a series of seven which will be presented by the University Players during the scholastic year of 1926-27. There will be another performance tonight and Saturday night, with matinees on Friday and Saturday.

The leading character in the play is Simon Levy, the Jewish pawn broker and auctioneer who conducts a shop in lower New York, and around him centers the production. This part was carried by Ray Ramsey, who enacted a part showing all the cleverness of the money grasping Jew, and filled the part to perfection. The part of Mrs. Levy, the wife of the pawn broker is played by Kate Goldstein.

Sumption Has Double Role

Credit must be given to Harold Sumption, who took the part of Jacob Sampson, the brother-in-law of Simon Levy, the pawn broker. Mr. Sumption, takes one of the heavier roles in the play and also acts as stage manager. Both roles are very seldom handled by the same person, but Sumption manages each with the skill and ease of an expert.

Other leading characters in the play are Helen Aach, who plays the part of the adopted daughter of Simon the Jew, and the fiancée of Richard Eagen, played by Harold Felton. Zolley Lerner, the stage-struck clerk in Levy's pawnshop, was slightly over done, while the appearance of Mrs. Eagen in her ungainly makeup brought an uproar from the audience.

Forty persons made up the cast of the play. Some of the leading roles were enacted by Thad Cone, Ruth Schrank, Joyce Adair, Paul Pence, W. Zolley Lerner, Elizabeth Coolidge and Eloise McAnan.

Foreign Universities Want Debates

Cambridge University of England and the University of Sidney, Australia, have requested debates with Ohio State for next quarter.

The Palisades

New York University Alma Mater Song

By Duncan M. Genna, '00.

O grim gray Palisades, thy shadow upon the rippling Hudson falls, And mellow mingled tints of sunset illumine now our classic halls;

While students gather round thine altars, with tributes of devotion true, And mingle merry hearts and voices in praise of N. Y. U.

Here as the evening shades are falling, and gone is every care of day, We gather, and the campus echoes with laugh and shout of students gay;

Thy sons well guarded from all sorrow, linked firm in bonds of violet hue, Forget the cares that come tomorrow, and praise old N. Y. U.

But college friendships all must sever, And fade as does the dying day, And out in life we wend our way; And yet wherever be life's fortune, Tho' memory fail and friends be few, We'll love thee still, our Alma Mater, Our dear old N. Y. U.

Noted Writer and Editor Talks At Methodist Student Banquet Thursday

"One problem is before the world today which must be solved if we are to build a decent world," declared Kirby Page in a talk at the Methodist student banquet last night before 150 students at the Grand Hotel on the subject, "The Modern Meaning of the Cross."

"That problem which we must face deals with the methods of doing with evil-doers. The world has not yet found a satisfactory way of overcoming evil doers. We can look at evil in world affairs, in industry, in every human relation. The question must be solved. We must find an effective way of handling them."

"War Only Method"

"Modern war is the only method we have at the present time of dealing with this problem. The methods of destruction are approaching such magnitude that we must do something. Civilization is unable to meet the evil today. It is incredible," declared Mr. Page, "that advanced civilization has found anything to do but war."

"I am a believer in religion," continued the speaker, "and so let us look at religion and see if we cannot get some clue to solve the problem. The problem of today was also a problem in Jesus' day—the methods of dealing with evils."

"Return Good For Evil"

"The teachings of Jesus were that the way to overcome evil is by doing good. Man is inherently equipped by nature," was the opinion of the speaker, "because man is made in the image and likeness of God."

"When we look at the cross of Calvary we look at one of the most realistic things of Jesus' life. The tragedy of Christendom" said the speaker, "is that few have followed his ideals. Wars have been waged, not only in the name of religion but for resources, politics and conquest."

"The meaning of the Cross is the answer and only answer to the question of how to overcome evil," concluded Mr. Page. "And that is by doing good. We must have good will and appropriate mechanism to settle disputes. Our disputes must be settled upon a basis of peace. We must deal with evil by doing good."

Prominent Army Officer Visiting on Campus. Will Umpire N. Y. Game

Colonel F. F. Jewett, with the University of Nebraska as a whole, has as his guest for the rest of the week, one of the most distinguished and best known men in the United States Army, Colonel Morton C. Mumma, now Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University of Iowa in Iowa City.

Colonel Mumma has come to Nebraska for the purpose of umpiring the inter-sectional game with New York University on Saturday. He arrived early on a tour of visitation of several Seventh corps area R. O. T. C. units which he is making to better acquaint himself with the activities of the units in this section.

TORCH-LIGHT PARADE WILL BE TONIGHT

Annual 'Bon-fire' Parade Will Leave Armory At 7:15 Following Rally

TO WELCOME NEW YORK

Band Will Lead Way to Cornhusker Where Visitors Will Be Introduced

Nebraska's annual torch light parade will be held tonight following the final Cornhusker football rally of the 1926 grid season to be held starting at 7:15 in the Old Armory. The torch parade will be formed at the close of the campus student gathering.

Torches Will Be Sold At Armory By Corncobs

Those who have been unable to secure torches for the annual Torch Light parade tonight may do so during the Rally at the Old Armory from the Corn Cobs. The Green Goblets are in charge of the pre-rally sales at the various fraternity houses. Three gross of ten-minute railroad torches have been obtained and it is expected that all will be used during the parade from the Old Armory to the Cornhusker hotel where the New York team will reside while in Lincoln. The torches will sell for twenty-five cents as in former years.

ering in front of the Social Science building and the Husker rooters will march to the Cornhusker Hotel where a formal welcoming will be made to the visiting New York football team.

The city officials have been requested to block off the streets from the city campus to the Cornhusker and a flaming avalanche of Nebraska followers will advance to meet Coach Meehan and his Violet gridsters. The University band will lead the column from the city campus followed by the Corn Cobs, Tassels and the student body. Varsity yell leaders will conduct the march and Nick Amos will introduce the personnel of the visiting team to the student body on arriving at the hotel.

Bearg Will Speak

The closing rally of the season will be most impressive with eleven Cornhusker representatives who will play for their last time on the home grid-iron Saturday being called upon to say a final word before those who have watched them in action for several seasons. Coach E. E. Bearg will close the program with a brief outline of the stiff schedule facing the Cornhuskers during the coming six days. Nebraska football players will be a medium of comparison for the east and west grid strength when they meet two inter-sectional teams inside of a week thus connecting two coats with football comparison.

Pre-rally visits will be made to all (Continued on page three)

Dr. Waite Speaks at Pre-Medical Banquet

Dr. H. H. Waite of the department of bacteriology and pathology, spoke on "The Evolution of Medical Science" at the pre-medical banquet held last night at the Hotel Grand.

Dr. Waite traced the development of medical science and cited many particular instances where the present knowledge of causes of diseases and their treatment was unknown in former years.

Prof. R. H. Wolcott of the department of zoology, Prof. H. W. Manner, of the department of zoology, Prof. Marvin of the department of physics, and Prof. Brown of the department of chemistry, were guests.

Kirby Page Speaks at Convocation on Russian and Italian Political Life

"There are five aspects of life in which the fascists and bolsheviks both agree," declared Kirby Page, New York lecturer, at a Convocation Thursday morning in the Temple, under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A.

"One thing that the fascists and the bolsheviks have in common is contempt for democracy and popular government. Mussolini's speeches are full of contempt for popular government and democracy. Look at not only Mussolini's words but his actions. There is a king in Italy and Mussolini is prime minister, but he is the ruler and rules with an iron hand."

Only one party exists in Italy, according to Mr. Page, and that party is the potent party. "It is a crime punishable by three or four years in jail, to criticize the fascist party. This party controls all of Italy. Elections have been abolished and even with the fascist party elections have been eliminated."

"Russia has also abolished democracy as much as Italy," declared the speaker, "and the Bolshevist party is the only party that is trying to keep down its size. There is, however, a slight trace of democracy within that party. They elect delegates to a sectional party convention and an executive committee is elected by these delegates. Eleven men theoretically control the destinies of Russia and control the party. One man is in supreme control of all the governing machinery and therefore in control of Russia."

"The second thing the two party governments agree upon is violence," said the lecturer, "and they openly admit that they practice violence. Mussolini maintains that he controls because he exercises force in his government and the bolsheviks use the same tactics and openly admit it. Each believes violence is necessary to consolidate their government. Whoever opposes their policies is gotten rid of."

The third phase that the two radical parties agree upon, in the opinion of Mr. Page, is that the economic life of the country should be controlled by the political state. "Mussolini's 'Minister of Corporation' is his means of controlling economic problems. It is a criminal offence to go on a strike or lock-out but disputes are to be
