FARMERS END SECOND DAY OF MEETINGS

Eight Hundred Attend Fun Feed Held in Activities Building Last Evening

MASS MEETING TODAY

Farrell, Marshall, and Burnett Are Scheduled As Special Program Speakers

Eight hundred farmers, farmers' wives, and farmers' sons and daughters attended the Farmers' Family Fun Feed held last night in the College of Agriculture activities building as one of the evening sessions of the Organized Agriculture meetings being held on the ag college campus this week.

The banquet was prepared in the agricultural college kitchen and served by ag college and home economics students under the direction of the home economics department of the college.

Every one present was presented with a copy of the January Cornhusker Countryman, the college of agriculture student magazine.

A program following the banquet was prepared and presented by a committee of the college of agriculture.

Organizations holding sessions yesterday included the Nebraska Crop Growers, the Nebraska Dairywomen, the Nebraska Honey Producers, Nebraska Horticultural Society, Nebraska Livestock Breeders, Nebraska Milk Goat Breeders, Nebraska Farm Equipment Association and the Home Economics Association.

The Livestock Breeders and Crop Growers held a joint session in the afternoon. The main speakers on the program were faculty members and alumni of the University of Nebraska. These included George R. Boomer, '99, H. J. Gramlich, '11, D. L. Gross, '21, Ivan D. Wood, '14.

The morning session of the crop growers dealt with the 1926 crop yield contest in which the winners were announced and presented with medals by Dean E. A. Burnett. P. H. Stewart, '16, presided.

The meeting of the dairymen consisted mostly of talks on the value of cow testing association. This was explained by M. L. Flack, '23, extension agent in Dairy Husbandry, who introduced the representatives of the eleven Nebraska cow testing associations.

O. O. Waggoner, assistant state extension agent in animal husbandry, discussed pig work in Nebraska, and M. B. Posson, '14, explained the Nebraska Pig Crop Contest.

C. K. Morse, '14, acted as presiding officer over the meeting.

The mass meeting of all organizations features the program for today. All will meet in the college of agriculture activities building where they will listen to F. D. Farrell, president of Kansas State Agricultural College, Hon. Duncan Marshall, former Minister of Agriculture to Canada, and Dean E. A. Burnett, dean of the college of agriculture. Rufus Moore, '27, will speak on "What Activities Mean to the Student Body."

Other associations meeting in the morning include the dairymen, the farm equipment association, the home economics department members, the livestock breeders, and the poultrymen.

In the evening, the livestock breeders and the dairy men will hold a joint banquet at the Lincoln Hotel.

Speakers

Hon. Duncan Marshall, former Minister of Agriculture of Canada, Toronto, Canada, who will deliver an address in the general session of Nebraska Organized Agriculture meetings this afternoon in the College of Agriculture activities building.

F. D. Farrell, President of Kansas State Agricultural College, Manhattan, Kansas who will speak on "The Real Basis of Rural Prosperity" in the college of agriculture activities building this afternoon in the general session of Nebraska Organized Agriculture being held on the agricultural college campus this week.

W. A. A. ARRANGES OFFICE WARMING

Women's Athletic Association Will Celebrate Complete Furnishing Of New Quarters

To celebrate the complete furnishing of their new office in the Armory, the Women's Athletic Association plans to hold an office warming in conjunction with the customary past season soccer treat, Thursday, January 13, from 6 to 8 o'clock. Hazel Snively who has successfully managed the soccer season and has been very active in looking after every detail in equipping the office will act as hostess.

Every University woman who came out for at least one soccer practice is invited, as well as members of W. A. A. In order to interest others and acquaint them with the personnel of the Association each is asked to bring a friend who has never yet gone out for W. A. A. activities. Twenty-five cents each will cover the cost of the refreshments. Dancing and games will be provided for entertainment.

DRAWINGS FOR CAGE TOURNEY ARE COMPLETE

Thirty-five Fraternity Teams Entered in Leading Event Of Intramural Program

PLAY BEGINS SATURDAY

League Winners to Compete in Final Series; Champion Chosen By Percentage

Thirty-five teams have entered the interfraternity basketball tourney according to Herb Gish, acting director of athletics. The drawings were made yesterday and play in the tournament, which is the largest event on the increased intra-mural program this year, will start Saturday. The athletic department announced the schedule for Saturday's games.

Due to the number of entries it was decided to change the plans for determining the champion. In place of an elimination round for the winners of the leagues, the six winners will meet in a final series in which each team plays each other one, and the winner will be reckoned on a percentage basis.

The league drawings are:

- League 1
 - Phi Delta Theta
 - Sigma Phi Epsilon
 - Alpha Gamma Rho
 - Delta Theta Phi
 - Delta Sigma Phi
 - Lambda Chi Alpha
- League 2
 - Delta Sigma Lambda
 - Zeta Beta Tau
 - Beta Theta Pi
 - Phi Gamma Delta
 - Alpha Theta Chi
 - Delta Sigma Phi
- League 3
 - Kappa Psi

 - Acacia
 - Delta Upsilon
 - Delta Chi
 - Pi Kappa Phi
- League 6
 - Sigma Nu
 - Sigma Alpha Epsilon
 - Phi Sigma Kappa
 - Xi Psi Phi
 - Mu Sigma
 - Alpha Tau Omega

Twelve games are scheduled for Saturday. The other games are not fixed definitely, but will be run off in such an order that they will not interfere with studies.

Saturday's games:

- Phi Delta Theta vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon, League 1, 10 o'clock, court 1.
 - Kappa Psi vs. Delta Tau Delta, League 3, 10 o'clock, Court 2.
 - Delta Sigma Lambda vs. Zeta Beta Tau, League 2, 10:30 o'clock, Court 1.

Chancellor Avery

Samuel Avery, who since 1909 has been chancellor of the University of Nebraska, was granted an indefinite leave of absence by the Board of Regents Tuesday. Dangerous physical condition necessitated Chancellor Avery's request.

AVERY GRANTED LEAVE OF ABSENCE DUE TO ILLNESS

Chancellor's Dangerous Physical Condition Necessitates Relief from Duties; Board of Regents Approve Request at Special Meeting Tuesday

AUGUST 31, 1927 IS EFFECTIVE DATE OF RESIGNATION

Advanced One Year—Former Agreement Ended Term in 1928; Selection of Acting-Chancellor to be Considered Today at Regent's First Meeting of Year

Chancellor Samuel Avery has been granted an indefinite leave of absence and at his request the effective date of his resignation has been advanced a year, it was decided at a meeting of the board of regents Tuesday. At the advice of his physicians he will immediately take a six week's trip to San Diego, California.

A dangerous physical condition, complicated by impending heart muscle failure, was the reason given by the chancellor before the board of regents meeting in special session. Following was the action of the board of regents:

REGISTRATION REACHES 1600

Reports of Third Day Indicate Increase in Numbers of Students Registered

ARTS AND SCIENCE LEADS

About 16 hundred students registered during the first three days of registration. A complete and accurate check on the number could not be obtained because a few of the colleges have not compiled results. The big rush of registration is expected today and tomorrow.

The College of Arts and Sciences reported 283 registering on Wednesday, the highest number for the day in any college. The total number in this college is 539.

The College of Engineering reports 250. The College of Business Administration also reports about 250 for the first three days.

In the College of Law 110 students have registered.

Teachers College has 320 registered so far.

No complete report could be obtained from the College of Dentistry. The report Tuesday stated that 60 had registered. This is about one third of the expected registration according to Dean Grubb.

The School of Fine Arts report will be given in full tomorrow.

Classes Excused For Convocation

All eleven o'clock classes will be excused for the convocation to be held next Tuesday morning at 11:00 o'clock at the St. Paul M. E. church, it was announced yesterday afternoon by Dean Chaburn. Francis J. McConnell, noted lecturer on social implications of Christianity and bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Pittsburgh, will speak on the topic, "Through Other Men's Eyes."

The convocation will be the first of a three-day series of lectures to be given by Bishop McConnell on January 11, 12, and 13, under the auspices of the University and the local federation of church workers. His address on Tuesday evening will be on "Prophetic Leadership," on Wednesday, "Christianity and Human Values," and on Thursday, "Things Worth Fighting For." These lectures will be delivered at 7:15 o'clock at the St. Paul M. E. Church. Bishop McConnell will also speak at World Forum, Vespers, and afternoon discussion groups.

More Cadet Ushers For Basketball Games Needed

Freak Weather

Never before has a mid-winter period of moderate weather extended for as long as has the balmy spell which Lincoln is now enjoying, records of the local weather bureau office reveal. From December 30 to January 5 the average temperature was 39.7. The maximum was 52 and the minimum 28.

Prospects are that the mild weather will continue for another day or two, says Prof. T. A. Blair, director of the bureau, but there are signs that a change is impending.

The highest temperature ever recorded in Lincoln in January was 66, January 29, 1919. At that time, however, there was not a continued warm spell. For four days in January, 1914, the average temperature was 41.

Engineers to Hear Lecture on Asphalt

Mr. H. C. Smith of the Asphalt Association of Kansas City is to give an illustrated lecture to the civil engineers on asphalt design, the asphalt plant, and job inspection, at 7:30 o'clock, Thursday, January 6, in Mechanic Arts, Room 106. Mr. Smith will give the students an insight on the practical side of the construction of asphalt pavements.

BUCK NAMES COMMITTEES

Four Student Council Groups Announced Yesterday By President

PLAN TO BEGIN SURVEYS

Four standing committees of the Student Council were appointed late Wednesday afternoon, by Glenn Buck, chairman. They are committees on organization, athletics, election and varsity dances.

The athletic committee, according to the statement made by Council members, is to meet with the athletic board and make arrangements, if such is possible, for student representation on this board. This committee will be asked to make a survey of the conditions in other schools concerning the relation between the student body and the athletic board. An unofficial survey showed that the majority of the colleges and universities have such representation.

The committee on organization will be asked to function in case of campus problems concerning campus organizations. Class honorary societies may be asked to indicate reasons for their existence.

The election committee will have charge of the arrangements for all student elections and will arrange a place for the elections.

The newly appointed members are: Organizations, Ruth French, Arthur Sweet, Hugo Kuhl, Alice Johnson; athletics, Thomas Elliott, Edwin Dozier, Stedman French, Simpson Morton; varsity dances, Ernestine McNeil, Eloise MacAhan, Lincoln Frost, Mildred Sweet, Emerson Mead; election, Richard Vette, Sylvia Lewis, Bryon Weeth, Esther Zinnecker.

These committees will stand until the election of new members to the Student Council at the close of the school year.

Reading, Kate Goldstein. Vocal solo, Marjory Way. Violin solo, Lucille Mac. Vocal solo, Thelma King.

Milwaukee Conference Speaker Says College Students Are Dissatisfied

"Students are dissatisfied," stated Dr. A. Bruce Curry in his keynote address in the Milwaukee auditorium at the opening session of the National Student Conference December 28 to January 1. In that terse sentence Dr. Curry seemed to have struck at the very center of the idea embodied in the mind of every conference delegate.

Youth, he pointed out, has tried almost every thrill of life and tired of it and is now questioning society's institutions—as the home, the church, the state. Dr. Curry cautioned the students to remember that they had come not to settle any problems finally nor to discover complete answers for many of life's problems but rather to "clear the fog" by openly facing and discussing facts.

During the whole conference the general theme of "What Resources Has Jesus Christ for Life in Our World," was divided into four main cycles. Aiding the students in their search for the truth were speakers of note brought to Milwaukee from China, England, Switzerland and other countries to supplement an outstanding group of America's most influential student leaders.

A main topic was introduced each evening of the convention by platform addresses and was discussed from a different viewpoint in the next morning's session. It was then put in a group discussion, conducted by specialists in each particular field. In the informal groups problems pertaining to campus life, fraternities and sororities, the problem of the foreign student, international clubs on the campus and innumerable other problems were discussed.

During the last session of the conference a number of resolutions were drawn up by a committee appointed from the general conference body. The resolutions embodied a plea for free discussion and investigation on the problems of war, race, industry and religion, in American colleges and universities. The convention delegates pledged themselves almost unanimously for racial equality, and were by a large majority dissatisfied with the present capitalistic system and advocated investigated industrial democracy. The vote on the various phases of the question of war was divided.

Of the 1500 students voting on the question of war, 740 agreed to support some wars but not others, 356 were non-committal, 372 voted to support no wars and 95 agreed to support all wars in which the United States entered.

Seven Contests During Past Year Prove Mettle of Ag College Teams

An article by Emil G. Glaser, managing editor of The Cornhusker Countryman, in the January issue, summarizes the work accomplished by the Nebraska judging teams this year:

These seven groups of young men represented the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture in as many judging contests during the past year, in which they met and held their own against some teams with a reputation like they themselves have—the best in the country.

We talk about the training rules which our athletic teams are compelled to observe, the many things they forego to earn places on the teams, and the various hardships they undergo. Folks, right here in our own College of Agriculture, yes, right here before our very eyes, are seven groups of young men who have foregone just as much, sacrificed just as greatly, slaved just as hard if not more so, and undergone just as many hardships and privations as did the members of any athletic team which ever strode upon a Nebraska gridiron or basket ball floor. We dedicate this page to them, the red-blooded truly Nebraska young men that they are.

who, when they went out in contest, went out to fight for the really and only true Nebraska—Agricultural Nebraska, the Commonwealth of golden corn and wheat, livestock and poultry, dairying and fruit raising, to say nothing of the great seed potato and beet sugar industry of the North Platte valley, and the greatest country for growing alfalfa in the World. Such a state, and the knowledge of such products, these seven groups of young men fought to uphold.

We are proud of them because they have demonstrated that what they can grow with such unsurpassed success they are also able to pass judgment upon with unsurpassed excellence. They showed that Nebraska young men know good meat when they see it, because that's the only kind produced in this state. Consequently the meats judging team placed first at the recent Chicago International Livestock Show. The competition was keen.

Nebraska produces corn to such an extent that it is third in this respect in the United States. She is high in the production of oats, wheat, (Continued on Page Two.)
