

HUSKERS TRAIN FOR JAYHAWKS

Begin Strenuous Practice Before Lawrence Game On Wednesday

Returning from their two-game Missouri invasion, Coach Black and his Husker quintet started on a strenuous practice in preparation for one of the hardest tilts of the season, when the Scarlet and Cream five meets the Kansas Jayhawkers at Lawrence this Wednesday.

With the Ames defeat still stinging, the Kansas five will be keyed for the clash with the Huskers Wednesday. Even though the brilliant victory of the Ames quintet over the Jayhawkers, Coach "Phog" Allen's five are still rated as a powerful team, and that defeat will probably make them harder to beat.

Coach Hugh McDermott's Oklahoma Sooners profited more by the Kansas defeat than any other team outside of the Cyclones. The Sooners are also rated as one of the strongest fives in the Valley, but they do not meet the Kansas team in a conference standing game, so it would seem that the road is clear for the Oklahomans.

Plenty of Action

There will be plenty of action on tap when the Huskers and Kansas meet at Robinson gymnasium Wednesday. Both teams are preparing for the battle of battles and although Kansas has a slight edge on Coach Black's quintet, the Huskers will attempt to duplicate the feat of Ames and turn back "Phog" Allen's five-time champions. Nebraska's demonstration last week at Missouri and Washington gave the Husker five a rating of strength in Missouri Valley basketball circles, and they should prove a worthy foe of the Kansas team.

The Husker quintet went through a long workout last night with a thirty-minute drill on the short passing game. It will be this style that Black will employ when he sends his Husker basketballers against Kansas.

Scrimmage with the freshmen was the next number on the program and the Varsity lineup was Captain Clark Smaha and "Jug" Brown at forward, Tom Elliott at the pivot position, Anderson and Holm at the guard posts. This is the probable lineup that will start against the Kansas five, with the exception of Ted Page, lanky Husker center, who was perfecting his short shot last night.

Although the Yearlings held the Varsity to a tie, the Nebraska quintet was getting their plays and taking the ball through the freshman defense only to miss short shots under the basket.

JAYHAWKERS BEGIN SWIMMING PRACTICE

Twelve Men Report for Varsity; Kansas Placed Third in Valley Last Year

Lawrence, Kan., Jan. 17.—About a dozen men at the University of Kansas are trying out for the varsity swimming team and practicing for the first meet of the year which is scheduled for January 29 with the Kansas City Athletic Club.

Other swimming contests scheduled are a triangular meet between Kansas, Washington and the Kansas Aggies on February 26 at Kansas City, and the Missouri Valley meet on March 11 and 12 at St. Louis. Last year Kansas won third place in the Valley meet, placing first in the 200-yard relay.

Men who are showing up well in practice are Meredith Jocelyn, Wichita, last year squad man, 100 and 200-yard dashes; Perry May, Lawrence, last year squad man, diver; Robert Gemmill, Abilene, 50 and 100-yard dashes; Marvin Borgmesser, St. Joseph, Mo., 50 and 220-yard dashes; Austin Smith, Chanute, breast stroke; Allen Raup, Kansas City, Mo., 50 and 100-yard dashes; and Joe Shultz, Lawrence, diving and 220-yard dash.

One of the picturesque traditional events of the University of Wisconsin is the Venetian Night water carnival held in the latter part of May each spring.

IN THE VALLEY

By JACK ELLIOTT

It was one of the biggest upsets in years—the Iowa State five defeating Coach "Phog" Allen's champion Jayhawk team on their own court Saturday night, and the first Jayhawk defeat by Ames in six years.

The game was featured by the sluggish and listless playing of the Kansas quintet who failed to locate the basket consistently. The Ames five played a tight five-man defense game and fought fiercely to hold their slender margin over the Kansas quintet.

The only bad feature of the Cornhusker trip to Missouri was that neither game counted in the Valley standing. Nebraska won both games by decisive scores and sent the rating of the Husker basketballers up several notches in "Old Man Dope's" column.

Many long shots in the second half of the Tiger-Husker game sent the Scarlet and Cream quintet up to a safe lead. The rampage of long ones was led by Roy Anderson, Husker guard, who was going strong in the Tiger game. He accounted for nine of his team's points in the second period.

Dr. James Nainsmith, now at the University of Kansas, originator of basketball and honorary chairman of the joint basketball council, points out that the game is entering on its fifty-fifth season. The game is played by more than one million enthusiasts throughout the United States and it has gained adherents all over the world.

Another Nebraskan who has won high honors on the cinder track is the Rev. Alva Martin, pastor of a church at Otoe, Neb. "The Flying Parson," as he is known to followers of the cinder oval, journeys to Lincoln two and three times a week to train under the watchful eye of Coach "Indian" Schulte. The former Northwestern star will compete in every big coliseum meet this season and hopes to meet the great German, Dr. Otto Pelzer, either during the indoor or outdoor season. Martin won the national collegiate and national A. A. U. half-mile last year.

University of Oklahoma wrestlers defeated the Kansas Aggie matmen in a dual meet at Norman on January 13 by the score of 18 to 8. Paynter of the Aggies pinned Ward of Oklahoma in three minutes and three seconds, and Crew of the Aggies won a decision over Ingles of the Sooner squad. Oklahoma won the remainder of the matches.

Although he didn't snag any baskets during the Tiger game it was the Page and his height that enabled the Husker team to complete their plays and defeat the Mizou Tigers Saturday night. So it all goes to say that baskets are not the only thing that will win a basketball game.

Captain Clark Smaha, Roy Anderson, Ted Page and the towering height of the Nebraska quintet were the main factors in making the Cornhusker invasion of Missouri a success. In the two games Captain Smaha accounted for eight baskets, Anderson seven, and Page six. The height of the Husker five and their ability to recover shots off the backboard were big cogs in the wheel of victory.

Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, basketball coach at Wisconsin and formerly coach at Missouri, is the inventor of the short pass game. He is stating his eighth year at Wisconsin.

TIME TRIALS USED IN TRACK PRACTICE

Martin, Locke, and Weir Among Men Working Out Under Stadium Monday

Time trials occupied most of Nebraska's track candidates Monday as the squad began its third week's training, under the Stadium, for the 1927 season. Martin, former Northwestern star, Locke, and Weir, worked out alongside a host of willing comers.

Two quarter-mile races in fast time by A. O. Martin, the Otoe "flying parson" showed the stuff that made him national intercollegiate and A. A. U. champion at the half-mile last year. He beat Robert Davenport, Varsity quarter-miler, to the tape with a two-yard lead to make the 440 in 53.4, early in the afternoon. Later he beat Tappan, who was running a pace quarter, a few yards, for a time of 53.5 seconds. Campbell, a sophomore, trailed in 54.5 seconds in this race.

Locke Wins
Locke ceded two yards to Easter on the fifty and then breezed in ahead without extending himself for a time of 5.8 seconds in one race and 5.7 in another. Weir led Krause to the tape in a fast flight of 50-yard low hurdles. Weir made them in 6.1 seconds with Krause, sophomore, a step and a half behind. This was the best performance Krause has yet made on them.

Chadderdon and Lemly stepped a fast three-quarters mile to a tie in 3 minutes 26 seconds. Later McCartney, cross-country runner, led Dexter and Frink to the tape in another three-quarter mile run in 3 minutes 30 seconds. Ritcher bested Rice in a 660 when he stepped the distance in 1 minute 31.3 seconds.
