

TRACK SEASON OPENS FEB. 12

Indoor Meet Scheduled For Combined State Schools For Next Month

EXPECT TO SEAT 2,000

Track and field stars from the Nebraska state college conference will meet the University of Nebraska squad in the opening meet of the season, Saturday February 12, on the indoor track underneath the stadium. Negotiations for the meet have been carried on for over a week and it was finally scheduled Tuesday by Coach Henry F. Schulte.

This meet will open the season for the Huskers a week earlier than was originally planned. The season was to have been opened with the annual Kansas City Athletic Club's indoor meet which comes February 19.

Representatives of all the colleges in the state conference are expected to be on hand for this meet to pit their combined strength against that of Coach Shulte's Cornhuskers. The state college conference includes Nebraska Wesleyan, Cotner, Doane, Hastings, Grand Island, Midland, York and Peru Normal.

Plans are now being laid for seating arrangements. It is thought that by judicious arrangement of bleachers, two thousand people can be seated so that they can watch the progress of the meet. This is the first attempt ever made by Nebraska to hold an indoor meet. Until two years ago, the University didn't even have a place for indoor practice.

Nebraska's indoor schedule is now complete. Opening with this meet against the teams of the state college conference on February 12, the Cornhuskers will participate in the K. C. A. C. indoor games, the Illinois indoor relays, and the Missouri Valley conference indoor meet.

IN THE VALLEY

Students of Two Eastern Colleges Resent Curtailment of Athletics

Student resentment against faculty curtailment of athletics evidenced itself recently in violent fashion at two Eastern institutions where the undergraduate bodies gave vent to their feelings in bitter demonstrations against the authorities. These colleges were West Virginia Wesleyan and St. John's College at Annapolis.

The affair at West Virginia Wesleyan was the outgrowth of a letter sent to the alumni last month by President Homer E. Wark of the institution. In this letter Dr. Wark said that football at his university was being commercialized and "the players have been receiving pay in the form of tuition, fees, books, rooms and board. This has amounted to nearly $500 per man this year."

At Tuesday's chapel services at the University Dr. Wark was hissed by the students and rumors were prevalent on the campus that the undergraduate body might resort to a general strike as a protest to Dr. Wark's proposal to restrict athletics in order to provide funds for a new chair of theology.

Although the president took no direct notice of the chapel demonstration, he announced a special chapel session to discuss in detail the reasons which guided the board of trustees and himself in deciding to curtail athletics. Some persons close to the situation hoped this would quiet in a large measure criticism of the president's policies. All students were ordered to attend the special session or suffer a reduction in their grades.

The affair at St. John's was also the outgrowth of friction between faculty and students in regard to athletics. According to the complaint of the students, Dean Walter R. Agard had set a high standard of studies and required athletes to keep up in their work. The undergraduates maintained that athletics could not interfere with this standard.

versity five is making a name for himself at the Jayhawker school. He is Carmen Newland of Newton, Kansas who played with the Hillyard National A. A. U. champions two years ago. Although Newland is not classed as a regular, he has played in every game this season at the forward position.

Athletic authorities are endeavoring to get a dual track meet with Arizona University or the University of New Mexico to be held at Tucson or Albuquerque. The meet will be held as a stopover when the track squad journeys to California to meet the University of California this spring.

Spurred by defeat Saturday night at the hands of the Ames quintet, 12 to 15, the University of Kansas basketball squad renewed practice this week for the second home game of the season, with Nebraska at Lawrence tonight.

The game tonight will mark the 49th time that Kansas and Nebraska have met on the basketball court. Out of the 48 games played the Cornhuskers won 19, the Kansas five 29. Although Nebraska has not beaten the Jayhawkers since 1919 the Scarlet and Cream quintet will be out for vengeance tonight when they meet Coach "Phog" Allen's basketballers at Robinson gymnasium, and will try and make it two in a row for the Kansas team.

In the Valley race up to date, only three teams remain in the undefeated class. They are the Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas Aggie fives. They all play conference standing games this week, so it appears that the dope column may take on a different hue after the thuds have died from the basketball courts in the Valley this week.

After the windup last week the conference standing was in a muddle, but fans of the winter pastime are expecting a grave change this weekend. The strength of the teams are now definitely known, and Iowa State holds the center of light at the present. The Cyclones meet the undefeated Sooners at Norman and predictions are that it will be a real battle.

Washington Freshmen Take Army Air Tests

Forty-three freshmen in the R. O. T. C. of the University of Washington have successfully passed the army air service examinations. They will be given the basic course, and those who take the advanced course will be given the opportunity to make flights. Aside from physical fitness, the candidates must pass unusual equilibrium tests. Washington now has the army, navy, and R. O. T. C. corps.

HUSKERS BREAK CAMP FOR GAME WITH JAYHAWKS

Ten Men Make Trip; Black Expects Hard Game With Champions

JAYHAWKS ON EDGE

Nebraska meets Kansas this evening on the Lawrence court in what promises to be one of the hardest games of the Husker basketball schedule. Ten players composed the squad which left Lincoln last night with a firm determination to break the "Kansas Jinx" which has so successfully knocked the props from the Husker aspirations for Valley honors during the past few years.

The ten making the trip are Captain Smaha, Othmer, Klepser, Brown, forwards; Page, Elliot, centers; Anderson, Holm, Gerelick, and Lawson guards. An infected toe kept Olson from making the journey.

Both Teams Keyed Up

Both teams are being keyed for the tussle. The Kansas Jayhawkers, smarting under the defeat handed them by the Ames quintet last Saturday night, will enter the fray with many pointed suggestions by Coach Allen fresh in their minds. The general opinion is that the Iowa setback will make the Kansas aggregation a harder squad to defeat. There is also some talk that the Jayhawk team has not yet reached tip-top form. Coach Black has been sending the Huskers through lengthy practice periods in preparation for this evening.

With the squad still showing a few effects from the victorious two-game journey through Missouri, Coach Black has not stressed heavy scrimmages this week. After drilling for some time on the short pass and free attempts at the goal, the rest of the period was spent in signal practice, with Smaha and Othmer as forwards; Page, center; Gerelick, and Anderson, guards. Brown, Klepser, and Elliot alternated in the drill. Holm, who arrived late, replaced Gerelick for a short practice on the tip off plays.

The line-up which will start against the Valley champions tonight will probably be Smaha and Othmer at the forward positions, Page at center, and Holm and Anderson at guards. Othmer's injured ankle seemed in good shape at the workout yesterday afternoon.

Kansas Threat

CARMEN NEWLAND

A new player started on his way to basketball fame by playing on the University of Kansas squad is Carmen Newland of Newton, Kans. Newland is a forward and has played in all the Jayhawker games to date although not yet classed as a regular.

Running against Conger for the coveted Wanamaker cup will be Lloyd Hahn who defeated the Iowa State ace at the Sesquicentennial races in Philadelphia last summer. Connelly of the Meadowbrook Athletic club, and a former winner of the Wanamaker trophy, Sibak of the Illinois A. C. Larrabee, formerly of Holy Cross, Moore, another star miler prominent in A. A. U. track, and Goodwin of the New York A. C.

Three firsts in the Wanamaker races give the runner permanent possession of the trophy. Nurmi, Jolie Ray and Connelly, who is invited this year, have each won the Wanamaker mile once.

Conger, who is conceded to be the greatest miler among the long list of crack Iowa State middle distance runners, is in active training, and is expected to be in perfect condition in short order, according to Bob Simpson, Cyclone track coach.
