ORPHEUM ALL THIS WEEK You are going to enjoy this fine program of screen and stage attractions COLLEEN MOORE In golden curls in her latest and greatest success "TWINKLETOES"

Elinor Glyn's story "It," written for Clara Bow is a snappy comedy of what can happen when a person really does possess that inborn quality that distinguishes them from other persons.

On the same program is the Lincoln Harmony singers, two girls who croon a mean melody, Clyde Cook comedy, scenic and news, Organ novelty.

The story concerns a young man who was careless with his dress and bragged about the movie stars he knew, but when he really met this star, then he repented and began to reform.

Colleen Moore is back in "Twinkletoes," a story of the London Limehouse district. Twinkletoes is a motherless waif who is trying to follow in her mother's footsteps and become a dancer of note.

The stage attractions are Elsie Pilcer, Dudley Douglas and "Boots" McKenna presenting a very clever song and dance review that's different. The ten Lincoln Rockets are featured on the same bill.

Peter B. Kyne's story "Jim the Conqueror," is a stirring western that will please any thrill fan. The plot concerns a youthful student who is called home to take his father's place in a sheep and cattle war.

Chemistry a Basic Science, says Upson

(Continued from Page One.) of petroleum, the extraction of sugar from the cane, and beet, the purification of water supplies, the manufacture of glass and pottery, the tanning of hides to leather are essentially chemical industries or depend upon chemistry at some stage of the process.

"Furthermore," the speaker continued, "the other sciences, such as physiology, botany, and zoology, are coming more and more to be based upon chemistry because the processes in the plant and animal, under normal and abnormal conditions are essentially chemical in nature.

"Chemistry, dealing as it does with molecules, atoms and electrons is a fine example of how far the human mind can go in dealing with a world beyond our senses. Just as astronomy deals with the infinitely great, so chemistry deals in terms of the infinitely small."

BANQUET GIVEN TO LEGISLATORS BY UNIVERSITY

(Continued from Page One.) industry represented in the state. Included in the slides thrown on the screen, were pictures of Professor Lawrence Bruner, Professor M. M. Fogg, and others who have served the University and mention made that they had devoted their life to the institution.

The banquet was served in the activities building on the college of agriculture campus. It was prepared in the kitchen in the building and served by the students of the college. Acting Chancellor Burnett called the attention of the guests to the fact that everything served was prepared on the College of Agriculture campus.

In showing several views of the senate and house in action, which were a part of a reel of "movies" being prepared, the spirit of competition made itself known in deciding which group was the better looking. The "ayes" had it until the House got a chance to vote which left the Senate out.

They were told that this reel was being prepared by the University of Nebraska to be used in the high schools of the state for the purpose of teaching the high school students something about law-making. Emphasis of the fact that there are over one hundred films available on various subjects covering every industry in the state was made.

Dales Connected With University Since 1871

(Continued from Page One.) with pride the growth of the University," states Judge Dales. "With the addition of each new college and department I have noted an addition in the number of students entering this University. I do not believe that the men who first organized it had any idea that within a half century it would reach such proportions."

His services to the state of Nebraska for over fifty years has made Judge Dales dean of secretaries of all American universities. None other can boast of such service from one of its students.

When Mr. Dales became secretary of the board of regents about $50,000 were being spent yearly in the operation of the University. Now nearly four millions are spent annually in maintaining it. From an institution with 125 students and five teachers he has seen it grow to one having a student body of nearly 10,000 and a faculty of 381.

According to Mr. Dales the regent board was formerly composed of twelve members and the work was done chiefly by committees who reported in writing at the meetings. The president of the board held that office as long as he was regent. Other officers held their positions for a similar period. Now the board is composed of six members and the officers are elected for one year.

Prof. George E. Howard of the department of sociology of the University is dean of all instructors in the length of service in the University, having been on the faculty since 1876. Adding to his association with the institution is the fact that he was also graduated from here in 1881 and was appointed assistant in the department of German the following year. Dr. Sherman was graduated from Yale university and came to Nebraska as an instructor in the English department. He has been chairman of this department for a number of years. Both have served the University continuously since their first appointments.

PLANS MADE FOR JOURNALISM DAY

Gridiron Banquet Features South Dakota Event; Expect Many Newspapermen

Vermillion, S. D., Feb. 14.—In response to inquiries from South Dakota newspapermen, Professor J. A. Wright of the department of journalism at the University of South Dakota, issued a statement giving the full details of the plans for Journalism day, February 18.

Because of the lack of funds it has been impossible to secure a special speaker for the occasion, Mr. Wright states, and the program has been shortened accordingly. The feature event will be the Gridiron banquet staged by Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, which is presented chiefly for the entertainment of the newspapermen. Being a member of the profession is sufficient qualifications for admission to the banquet. Other than newspapermen are admitted only upon presentation of special invitations.

Immediately following the close of the winter meeting of the South Dakota Press association at Sioux Falls at 4:00 p. m. Friday, a large motor coach will be waiting to take the editors to Vermillion. Those who drive their own cars will leave at the same time. The banquet will begin at 6:15 p. m. and will be over by 9:00. The motor coach will return to Sioux Falls following the banquet.

Mr. Wright expects a large number of newspapermen to remain over night in Vermillion and has made plans for the entertainment of all who care to do so. Saturday morning the editors will be shown the exhibit of the work of the journalism students and complimentary luncheon will be tendered them at noon.

Danish Co-Eds Dance, Wear Rouge. Short Skirts, Have 'Permanents' Co-Eds are the same everywhere! In the University of Copenhagen they dance, use rouge and wear short skirts just as they do at Indiana, Miss Ingeborg Voigt, a baronesse of Denmark, said yesterday. Dances are held every Saturday in the Student's Union building in Copenhagen where the students do the Charleston, one-step, tango, waltz and two-step.

Talks of eating at the

"Sausages, Cakes and Coffee 40 cents", written across the Breakfast menu of the Central Cafe attracts many orders. The items printed in the menu, many of them, are just as appetizing and some of them less expensive; but the one pen-written line seems to catch the eye—and it makes a great many sales. The experts on psychology and advertising and selling might explain this in scientific terms.

In our last breakfast talk we mentioned the first three Combination Breakfasts with Toast, Eggs and Meat, and Coffee or Milk at 25 cents; with the choice of varying from toast to Cakes at 5 cents extra, or with Waffles instead of Toast at 15 cents extra.

But a good many persons—and by no means all of them vegetarians—avoid eggs and meat for breakfast. So other combinations are made for their convenience.

Combination Breakfast No. 4 gives you a bowl of Oat Meal with Pure Cream; Toast (two slices and two pieces of Butter) and Coffee or Milk for 25 cents. Or you may vary this with Cakes instead of Toast for 30 cents; or Waffles instead of Toast at 40 cents.

Combination Breakfast No. 5 allows your choice of Prunes, Figs, Apple Sauce or Grape Fruit; Toast and Coffee or Milk at 25 cents. The usual variation to Cakes or Waffles is permitted instead of Toast.
