DINNER OPENS GRACE COPPOCK DRIVE TUESDAY

150 Women Entertained By Nebraska Staff At The Y. W. C. A.

FOREIGN WORKER TALKS

Ethel Joy Williams, For Several Years in China,
Attends Meeting

More than one hundred and fifty women sat down at the long tables on the third floor of the city Y. W. C. A. for the dinner which officially started the annual Grace Coppock memorial drive. Each team, composed of a captain and ten members sat in a group, and at this time the captains gave their final instructions; the team members received the actual material for the drive.

"You have sent funds and friends and faith," declared Miss Ethel Joy Williams who has spent several years as a Y. W. C. A. secretary in China and who spoke as a young Chinese girl might speak to her "sisters" in America. Miss Williams was dressed in Chinese costume. "We look to you in the United States as our older sisters, not in years, but in opportunity," she said.

Grace Coppock's Work Known

"We have heard more about you Nebraska sisters because of Grace Coppock and because of Vera Barger, and through her we know that you have faith. I want to tell you some of the things it means to us living out there under the blue triangle for you are all blue triangle sisters. A new age is dawning in China. Chinese women are coming to the front and sisters are standing beside their brothers," Miss Williams told of how the Y. W. C. A. in China is looking to Chinese leadership. Only one example of this fact is the fact that Miss Vera Barger, a Nebraska graduate and head of all recreational work in China, has a Chinese girl practically trained to take her place. "They have insisted that funds coming from this side be invested in people, not equipment. Whenever possible a Chinese person must do the job. Our place is to make ourselves dispensable."

Wilhelmina Schellak, chairman of the Grace Coppock committee, gave a short talk on the work of the drive. "We are here," she said, "because we believe in this work with all our hearts." Group singing was led by Lucile Bauer and Miss Alta Hulst and several songs in Chinese.

Miss Coppock a Nebraskan

Grace Coppock was graduated from Nebraska in '05, and went to China with two other secretaries to do Y. W. C. A. work there. It is because of her work that the Chinese women have learned to play, have gained a better position socially than they previously held, and have had better working conditions than they (Continued on Page Two.)

DR. RICE TALKS TO VESPERERS ON BIBLE

Father of Nebraska Professor Says
We Must Realize for Whom Bible Was Written

"The Bible came out of religion and religion did not come from the Bible," said Dr. John A. Rice, in his talk on "Growth and Outgrowth of the Bible" at vespers on Tuesday at 5 o'clock. Dr. Rice who is the father of Prof. J. A. Rice of the University is the pastor of the Methodist church at Tulsa, Oklahoma.

"To truly understand and comprehend the Bible we must study for what people it was intended and what it was meant to convey. We must look at the Bible just as we do at other forms of literature and study it with the background in view. Take the Book of Job, for instance, it seems a little odd and queer to us unless we visualize it with its proper setting."

Dr. Rice told of a southern friend of his who said that most of us know the Bible and the hog knows its pasture. The pig knows just where to find his corn and we know just where to find the particular verse of text for which we are looking.

"I believe that we get from the Bible just what we are looking for," the speaker said. "A college friend of mine used to pray for a wife, 'Lord he used to pray, 'give me a wife who will be a helpmate and a true mate, and dear Lord, let Sally be the gal.'"

"The Bible will speak forever to the lowest depths for it is made from the lowest depths," concluded the speaker. Marjorie Sturdevant led the meeting. The special music was a vocal solo rendered by Miss Graham. One of the Lenten innovations will be a period of quiet before the beginning of each service to allow time for meditation.

Komesky Club Will Hear Molzer Play

Selections played by Professor Molzer of the Molzer School of Music, will feature the entertainment given by the Komesky Klub next Friday evening at 8:15 o'clock in Temple 204. All Czech students and friends are cordially invited.

PROM TICKETS SELLING FAST

Interest Growing in Revived
Junior-Senior Event; To Name Prom Girl

TWO ORCHESTRAS TO PLAY

With the sale of tickets mounting above expectations, the success of the Junior-Senior Prom March 18 is nearly assured, Oscar Norling, chairman of the committee stated yesterday afternoon. All unused tickets are to be turned in to Louis Turner at the Delta Tau Delta house Wednesday afternoon from 1:30 until 2 o'clock.

From the interest that is being shown now the annual selection of a Nebraska Prom girl promises to become a Nebraska institution. Candidates for the honor are to be taken from girls of the Senior class and will be announced during intermission the night of the Prom. Only university men will be eligible to vote on ballots given out at the door the night of the Prom.

Two Orchestras Will Play

Meanwhile plans for the Prom are progressing rapidly. Two orchestras, Tracy Brown's Oklahomans of Omaha, and Beck's of Lincoln, have been engaged to play for the final formal social event of the season.

Favors in the form of unique programs will be given out the night of the Prom, the committee announced.

Because of the crowd that is expected to be present the Prom will be held at the Coliseum and every effort is being made to have the floor in the best of condition. As the basketball season closes with the High School tournament this week, the floor will be smoothed off and waxed especially for the Junior-Senior Prom.

Tickets are still available for the Prom from fraternity representatives and at the college book stores at $2.50 each.

Daily Nebraskan Inquiring Reporter

Every day he asks a question from different students picked at random on the campus.

"What teams will go to the finals in Class A of the High School Basketball Tournament?" William Stephens, '28, Sprague, Chem. E.

"Lincoln will be one and Hastings or Crete will be the other."

Ralph R. Fowler, '28, Kearney, E. E.

"Kearney will be one of course, and Hastings will be the other."

Wayne Landon, '27, Lincoln, A. S.

"Of course Lincoln and Hastings. Marguerite Melick, '29, Lincoln, T. C.

"Hastings and Lincoln."

Eugene Justice, '29, Omaha, A. S.

"Lincoln will be for one, and I think that Auburn might."

Max Neumann, '27, Lincoln, A. S.

"I think Lincoln has about the best chance. That's good enough."

Ineligibility In Way of 1927 Grid Team, Coach Bearg Tells Reporter

"Ineligibility is playing havoc with the fine freshman prospects that we were figuring on for the 1927 Cornhusker grid team," was the statement Coach Earnest Bearg, Nebraska's football mentor gave to a sports reporter for the Daily Nebraskan today. The Husker coach was very reluctant to give out such a statement, because Nebraska has always been noted for the high standard of scholarship it has maintained among its athletes. Nebraska athletes are known the world over for their prowess in the classroom and on the field. "But nevertheless we are going to have a hang-up fighting Cornhusker eleven on the gridiron when the students return to Nebraska this fall," said the Husker coach with a smile that betrayed his satisfaction of the progress that his proteges were making during the spring practice.

Coach Bearg is very optimistic in regard to the football team that Nebraska will have on the field next autumn, and is bent on making it Nebraska's great year on the gridiron. His greatest worry is to replace the stellar football men that will be lost to Nebraska with this spring's graduation, "Bobbie" Stephens, the Husker's triple-threat man on last year's team will leave a vacant place at the helm of the Husker team that will be hard to fill. He handled the punting and a new punter will have to be developed to fill the shoes of

STATE TITLE CONTENDERS

Enos Heller Is Named Junior Vice-President

Enos Heller, Hebron, was elected vice-president of the junior class, Aileen Isaacson, Clyde, Kansas, secretary, and Carleton Frease, Beaver City, treasurer at a class meeting held in Social Science 101 late Tuesday afternoon.

Members of the Junior Senior Prom committee gave a report on arrangements being made for that party. About sixty class members were present at the meeting. Robert DuBois, Cheyenne, Wyo., is president of the class.

Annual Exhibit Of Art Club To Be March 14-19

The Art Club of the University will hold its fourth annual exhibition in Gallery B, second floor of Morrill Hall from March 14 to March 19.

The purpose of this exhibit is to encourage independent work among its members. The work submitted must have been done without the criticism of an instructor and must be entirely original. All members and alumni are eligible to submit work. This work must be left in the Library, Room 201, of Morrill Hall not later than 5 o'clock Friday March 11.

There will be a great deal of very interesting and original work. Oil painting, charcoal, illustration, china design, modeling, and applied work will all have place in this exhibition.

There will be a reception for the public Monday evening at 7 o'clock. A short program will be given by the students. Students and public are invited.

Freshmen Paraded at Tulane

Dog-collared, padlocked and leashed Freshmen co-eds of Tulane University were recently paraded in front of the main building by upperclassmen.

DR. RICE SPEAKS TO WORLD FORUM

Father of Nebraska Professor Begins
Series of Address Today
On Religious Topics

Dr. John A. Rice, pastor of the Boston Avenue M. E. church of Tulsa, Oklahoma, who was brought here by the Federation of Church Workers and the University Y. W. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., will address the World Forum at noon today on the subject "Jesus and Evolution."

A discussion will be held in Temple 101 at 4 o'clock. He will also talk at this time. At 7:15 he will give an address in the same room on "What is the Bible for?"

On Thursday Dr. Rice will address the University Convocation at 11:00 o'clock in the Temple Theater on "Jesus Today." He will speak before the Ag College World Forum at noon on "What Science Has Done for My Religion." The final talk and discussion will be held at 4 o'clock in Temple 101.

Dr. Rice is the father of Professor J. A. Rice of the Classics Department. Dr. Rice is the author of a number of books about the Old Testament on which he is a well-known authority.

Minor Senior Class Officers Are Chosen

Minor senior class officers were chosen at a class meeting called by Robert Stephens, president, in Social Science Auditorium at 1 o'clock yesterday. Gordon Luikart, Omaha, was elected vice president, Fred Marquist, Avoca, secretary and Clarence Wright, North Platte, treasurer.

NEBRASKA HOST TO BASKETEERS

Total of Near Three Thousand
Expected for Annual
High Tourney

EVERYTHING MADE READY

The University will be the host of approximately 3000 high school students and faculty members, this week end. Of the total number 2216 will be members of the various teams, 300 will be high school coaches and assistants, while the remainder will be comprised of supporters and faculty members.

"Everything is in readiness for the opening of the tournament Thursday, officials have been appointed, check stands are finished, seating arrangements have been made, the entertainment has been completed, and the floors are in fine shape," Herbert D. Gish stated.

The referees for Thursday are the only ones definitely assigned. The high school coaches will have some selection for the following games. The meeting of all officials was held last night for final instructions.

The tourney will offer an excellent opportunity for the high school students to acquaint themselves with the University. All classes and class rooms will be open to them. Definite plans have been made to help the visitors acquaint themselves with the University during their stay here.

OUTLAW AWGWAN TO BE ON SALE FRIDAY

New Edition of Nebraska Humorous
Publication Promises More
Original Material

Several new features are to be included in the March issue, the "Outlaw Number" of the Awgwan, when it makes its appearance on the campus the last part of this week. The new number will be ready for distribution Friday and can be secured at all news stands and the College Book Store.

The editors are trying to give more local color to the humorous publication and are striving to secure a more personal atmosphere. "Aunt Mammies Mail Box," Hoax Hoo on the Campus, new features in the last issue will be continued and those in charge promise something new in the way of complimentary articles.

"The 'Take-Off Number' was a huge success," Jack Boyer, editor of the comic paper said today, "and the personal attitude seems to be taking with the students. Circulation of the magazine has increased twenty per cent and should continue with the remaining numbers."

Allan Klein has cleverly drawn up the cover for this issue. Six covers were submitted, thereby speaking well for the one chosen. Fill Fent, former Art Editor and who is at present studying in a New York art school has sent in several drawings along with those by Bob Barr, Hugh Carlson, Torgny Knudson and Peter Coniglio.

Modern Thinkers Beginning to Doubt Bible, Says Dr. Rice, Visiting Here

"Not only students, but the entire thinking element of society is beginning to doubt the former interpretation of the Bible," declared Dr. John Rice, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, visiting the university in the interest of religious work, under the auspices of the Federation of Church Workers and university pastors, when interviewed Tuesday afternoon.

He is a large man, white-haired, with a firm hand clasp and distinguished manner. Having been president of Columbia College in South Carolina, for six years, and teacher in colleges and other schools for several years, Dr. Rice is eminently fitted to discuss the present needs and demands of students as a thinking body independent of other people.

"The modern pressure on the Bible is too great for the old approach," he said. "Students are thinking more and more about it, and are demanding an adequate interpretation of it."

"The whole thing," he continued, "really narrows itself down to the method of approaching the Bible. This may be done in two ways—first, finding out what it meant to people when it was first written, and what it means to people today. To do

SPONSORS TO BE NAMED AT RIFLE PARTY

Plans Laid for First Spring
Party; to be Given By Military Group

PLAN NOVEL DECORATION

Scottish Rite Ball Room To Take On Appearance of Eastern Temple

The selections of sponsors to military organizations have been made by practically all unit commanders and they await their formal presentation at the First Annual Spring Hop, a subscription dance by Pershing Rifles on Saturday night of this week. The list of sponsors is being completed in the offices of the military department, and after the Spring Hop it will be taken to be featured in the society sections of the Lincoln Sunday newspapers.

Any military officers eligible to choose sponsors for their organizations in Nebraska Hall should do so immediately.

Sponsors Are Chosen

The selection and presentation of military sponsors in this manner is something new on the Nebraska campus, although it is quite an old custom in other schools. Being chosen to sponsor the work of from one hundred to one hundred and fifty men should indicate no small step in the ladder of social success for a co-ed, and this is the first time that Nebraska's favored eighteen girls are to be given the proper recognition.

A regimental sponsor, three battalion sponsors, thirteen company sponsors, and a sponsor for the organization of Pershing Rifle company constitute the list of positions to be filled.

With the Pershing Rifle Spring Hop but four days off, the plans of the committee are about perfected. Beck's Orchestra has plans for opening their own series of many engagements with something new and different for the dancers of the evening.

The ball room of the Scottish Rite Temple will take on the appearance of the palace of an oriental ruler, with a canopy and large clusters of highly colored flowers in baskets and vases of true eastern style. Punch will be served to refresh the dancers in their merriment.

Tickets for the Spring Hop may be obtained from any members of Pershing Rifles or in the Military Department's offices in Nebraska Hall. In case any tickets remain on the night of the party, they will be available at the doors. The price of admission is only one dollar and fifty cents, made possible by the large membership of the sponsoring organization.

The change in appearance, from formal to spring-like and informal will mean much in the eyes of many who are tiring of the tuxedo and the gown.

NATIONAL WORKER INTERVIEWS GIRLS

Miss Alice Reynolds, Y. W. C. A.
Staff Member, Spends Time on The Nebraska Campus

Miss Alice Reynolds, of the national staff of the Y. W. C. A., has been interviewing the university girls who are interested in the Y. W. C. A. for the last two days at Ellen Smith Hall.

About sixteen girls had interviews with Miss Reynolds while she was here. All of these girls were interested in some phase of the Y. W. C. A. work such as the position of an Industrial Secretary, a Business Girl's Secretary, a Girl Reserve Secretary. No one inquired about the work of the Girl's Gymnasium Secretary or the Cafeteria Secretary. This was quite surprising because this is a position that usually interests many.

The girls who desired to take this up as a profession and who can qualify will be selected by the Y. W. C. A. for the profession of secretaryship and will study in New York.

Miss Reynolds also advised the girls as to the subjects they should pursue to qualify for this type of work. She recommended sociology, adolescent psychology, educational philosophy and economics.

Craig Speaks Before City Optimist Club

Robert Craig was the speaker at a meeting of the Optimist club at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon yesterday noon. Members of the club were present. Mr. Craig explained the objects of the club. Mrs. Harriet Cronin, Kenner and C. Wilcox presided at the luncheon.
