

HIGH JUMPERS BADLY NEEDED

Schulte Sounds Call for More Men for High Jump Event. No Good Prospects

TRYOUT MEET SATURDAY

A special call for high jumpers was issued by Henry F. Schulte, head track and field coach, from the stadium track Tuesday afternoon. Coach Schulte also announced a special numeral tryout for Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock and Varsity tryouts in the field events at the same time.

Since "Hobb" Turned was graduated in 1924, Nebraska hasn't had a good high jumper. Turner was always good for better than six feet and was a close competitor of Poor of Kansas who later placed in the 1924 Olympics. Last year Page and Joe Weir were the best Nebraska had. Both made 5 feet 10 inches at some time during the season but neither was consistent. This year Coach Schulte has in addition to these two men, Fleming, Marrow, and Gillilan. Any of them may develop but at present none of them looks like a first rate high jump prospect.

Jumpers Better Than Last Year

It wasn't so bad last year when nobody in the valley had a high jumper, Anderson of Oklahoma being the only man to clear six feet in the valley meet last year. But the 5 foot 10 and 5 foot 11 inch jumpers of last year showed by their performances in the valley indoor at Des Moines last week that it is going to take six foot jumpers this year. It took 5' 11 3/4" to place in the valley indoor, two months before the valley outdoor. In Elkins, Coach Schulte has a good prospect for next year's team, but with the California trip and Missouri Valley outdoor season looming up, Coach Schulte is scanning the horizon for an eligible six-foot jumper this year.

Steps Makes Good Time

Over-distance work and 220's were the schedule Tuesday for the bulk of the varsity squad. Captain Stephens turned in the best time in the 220, running in slightly over 22 seconds, aided by a strong wind at his back. Chadderden, winner of fourth place in the mile in the valley indoor, surprised the squad by running a 220 practically on a par with Tappan, quarter-miler. Both had previously run a mile for over-distance work.

Krause, Fleming, and Marrow started working out over the low barriers at 100 yards, Krause setting the best time although bothered by the wind, he was not clipping the hurdles as closely as usual.

SPRING WEATHER IS AID TO GRID SQUAD

Candidates for Berths on 1927 Cornhusker Football Team Sent Through Paces

The football field at Nebraska is the scene of much activity these balmy spring days as Coach Earnest Bearg and his staff drill the 1927 Cornhuskers in their spring workouts. Every evening for one hour and thirty minutes, the Husker football mentor puts his candidates through fundamentals, plays, passing and scrimmage. The spring football practice will continue until April 2.

The entire session was spent last night in offensive passing work and defense on passes. Two games in the last two years have been lost by teams passing from the 20-yard line for a touchdown. With this in mind, Bearg is putting forth every effort to have a team that can break up any forward pass that the opposing eleven is able to hurl. Bronson, Blue Howell, and Witte were on the hurling end of the passes, with Presnell, McMullen or Howell on the receiving end.

New Rules Help Defense

The new rules that go into effect with the opening of the 1927 football season will help the defensive passing work of teams this autumn. The new rules are to the effect that the goal posts will be set back ten yards from the goal line. This also makes the kick for point just ten yards farther than it was last season. Bearg thinks this is a good rule and thinks it will help teams fighting the forward pass game.

Another new rule that goes into effect with the 1927 gridiron season is the 30-second signal rule. This rule provides that 30 seconds for a team to run off its signals, with but 15 seconds in the huddle. This is quite a revision from last year, when the teams spent over a minute in the huddle and calling off signals. Bearg was not working this new rule out last night but intends to put all the new laws into the game Saturday.

More Than 100 Men Out

There are over 100 men out for the spring football practices and six to seven teams in suit regularly every night. Classes, drill and laboratories interfere with the practice sessions, keeping the full number from reporting every night. Coach Bearg will try out the new 1927 football rules in a game Saturday. The exact lineup will be announced in tomorrow's paper. The Husker coach intends to have his pig-skin luggers play in three games before the spring sessions terminate.

The freshmen are showing up this spring better than ever before. Richards, Sloan, McBride, and Farley are showing up well in the line and backfield.

IN THE VALLEY

By JACK ELLIOTT

The Washington University swimming team took first in every event, except fancy diving, and won an easy victory in the Missouri Valley swimming meet at Ames Saturday afternoon. The scores are as follows: Washington, 60; Iowa State, 25; Drake, 22; Grinnell, 9 and Kansas 1. Nebraska does not have a swimming team nor a baseball team, both of which should be put back into the field of sport at Nebraska.

Lazy spring winds blow across the athletic fields at the Cornhusker school but the sound of the old horsehide is dead. Coach "Indian" Schulte's crack Nebraska track squad will hold the sport-light for the remainder of the scholastic year, and the thud of the spiked shoes is now being heard daily on the cinder track in Memorial Stadium.

Three Missouri Valley championships for 1926-27 now rest in the Sooner state. The Oklahoma Aggies took the Missouri Valley football title last autumn, and this spring the championship of conference wrestling was captured by the Stillwater Aggies. Saturday night at Des Moines the Oklahoma Sooners took the Missouri Valley indoor track meet for the third Missouri conference title to be captured by the Oklahoma state. In the indoor meet at Des Moines, the Sooners barely nosed out Nebraska, while the Missouri Valley met meet at Lawrence, Nebraska finished fourth, behind Oklahoma Aggies, Iowa State and Oklahoma. Five points were all the Huskers could chalk up at the meet.

Oklahoma's Indian hurdler, Dunston, who tied for individual scoring honors at the valley indoor and tied the low hurdle record became eligible for the meet just the day before they left. The Indian promises to be one of the sensations of the conference this spring and will bear watching at the valley outdoor meet here in May.

Lyman Bingham, athletic director at Denver University thinks the Coloradoans will show the Cornhuskers some fast competition this spring. There is no doubt but that both Denver and Colorado Aggies will have stronger track and field teams than represented Colorado University when the Cornhuskers defeated them so badly two years ago. But unless the Huskers fall down from their present promise, there shouldn't be any doubt about a Nebraska victory April 2.

DENVER BOASTS OF SPRINT MEN

Rocky Mountain Conference Team Strong in Dashes, Hurdles, and Weights

MEET NEBRASKA APRIL 2

Reports from Denver indicate that the University of Denver, which, with the Colorado Aggies, will meet the Cornhuskers in a triangular track and field meet at Denver April 2, will have the strongest team to represent Denver in years.

The Pioneers will be especially strong in the sprints and hurdles, should be well fortified in the pole vault and weights, but will probably be weak in the middle distances and jumps.

Two men who have clipped 100 yards in 9.8 seconds is one of the proud boasts of the Denverites. These men are Haynes, a former East Denver high school star, who was the sprint sensation of the Rocky Mountain conference last spring, and Albert of Holyoke, Colo., who set a new state high school record of 9.8 seconds for the 100-yard dash at the Colorado state high school meet last year.

Mullen Is Hurdle Record Holder

In the hurdles, the Pioneers have Mullen, holder of the Rocky Mountain conference low hurdle record, and Weakley, who placed close to Mullen last year in intercollegiate competition. Captain Geyer is the only outstanding quarter-miler at D. U. at present but he has covered the distance in better than 51 seconds in the rare mountain air. Cutler, a freshman, is heading the list of half-mile candidates. Freshmen are eligible for competition in their second semester in the Rocky Mountain conference which opens a big squad of crack high school men for use at both Denver and Colorado Aggies. The Denver University squad is being coached by Glen Preston, former University of Nebraska athlete.

In the weights, Denver has a big fellow by the name of Brotzman who has been making some fine early season marks in both the shot put and discus throw. Palmer, a former Colorado high school record-holder in the discus throw, also looks good for the Pioneer weight staff. J. Lyman Bingham, athletic manager at Denver University, was recently quoted as saying that both Denver and Colorado Aggies would present a group of athletes that should show their heels to the Cornhuskers.

GRID PROSPECTS ARE GOOD AT STILLWATER

Aspirants for Positions on Oklahoma A. & M. 1927 Football Team Report for Practice

Stillwater, Okla., March 15—(Special)—Early spring gridiron practice, at Oklahoma A. and M. college, took on a serious aspect last week when 23 aspirants to places on the 1927 football eleven reported to coach Vernon "Puny" Wahl to receive equipment.

Practice began immediately and will be held every day except Saturday and Sunday according to the program outlined by Wahl. Saturday afternoon may be added later in the spring when signal practice begins. At that time Maulbetsch, head coach, will give as much time to gridiron training as can be spared from baseball. For the first few weeks, however, only football fundamentals and conditioning drills will be meted out to the candidates.

With the close of the wrestling season additional players are expected to join the spring work-outs as many Aggie football men are now busy in that field. The present turnout is very promising, according to Maulbetsch, as it includes lettermen from the Oklahoma Aggie, Missouri Valley championship team of 1926 and a number of stellar numeral bearers from the yearling squad of the same year.

All day Face Comfort

MORE and more men are demanding comfort. The makers of Williams Shaving Cream have answered that demand with Aqua Velva, a scientific liquid made expressly for use after shaving. A few drops of Aqua Velva slapped on the newly-shaven face give it an exhilarating thrill—keep it as comfortable all day long as Williams Shaving Cream left it. In big 5-oz. bottles—50c.

Williams Aqua Velva

was a star on the University of Kansas teams of 1915 and 1916, while Haskell, a former Sooner football and baseball star, is now coaching at the Kansas City, Kan., high school. Their appointments confirm the shakeup of the Oklahoma coaching staff recently announced by Ben C. Owen, director of athletics, and President W. B. Rizzell.

Owen Retires as Head Coach

Under the new plan Owen retires as head football coach after 22 years of service to devote his entire time to the task of directing the Sooner athletic program. He hopes to develop intra-mural athletics to the point where every young man in the university will have an opportunity to take part in some sort of sport or outdoor exercise.

In joining the staff as baseball coach Haskell replaces Bill Owen, brother of the director, who has served voluntarily as baseball coach for the last four years and who in that time has established a remarkable record in directing the sport. For the last two years, Sooner teams under his guidance have won the Missouri Valley championship. His first two teams finished second in the race.

Haskell, who is well known on the campus, will take up his duties here at the opening of the summer session, June 6, as he is scheduled to teach several courses in physical education.
