HUSKERS PLAY INITIAL SPRING PRACTICE GAME

Team A Outplays Team B to Win By 28 to 0 Score in Wednesday Contest

REGULARS NOT IN LINEUP

Brown, McMullen and Howell Unable to Take Part in Opening Tilt

In face of a strong north wind, the A team outplayed the B team by a 28 to 0 score in the first official scrimmage game of the 1927 season. The game showed early season form, being marked by numerous fumbles and inability of the men to get under way.

Many of the regulars were out of the lineup, "Jug" Brown was still bothered with his game knee, Dan McMullen was out with an injured vertebrae while "Blue" Howell continues to carry his arm around in a sling. Other promising members of the squad failed to show up for the game.

Team A Receives First Kickoff
The A team received the kickoff but were unable to make much yardage and were forced to punt. Neither team was able to gain much ground until the latter part of the first quarter when Voris plunged over for the first touchdown. Bronson failed to make the kick good but the B team was offside and the point counted.

In the second quarter the A team proceeded to speed up when Presnell went over for a touchdown and Bronson sent the ball through the posts for the extra point. Bronson next tallied when he crossed the line for the third touchdown of the game. He also made good the try for point.

Marrow Scores After Long Run
"Wally" Marrow gave the small group of watchers a thriller when he ran practically three-quarters of the field for a touchdown. "Wally" eluded almost the entire B team through clever side-stepping and stiff arming.

Presnell was displaying his old wares hitting the line for consistent gains throughout the entire game. Among the last year's freshmen that showed class were Sloan, Richards, and Farley. Sloan was breaking up plays in fine style and showed promise of making a great wing man.

Richards, playing for the A team, figured in almost every play, holding down his side of the line in fine style. Farley broke into the game in the second half when he replaced Oehlrich at the half position, hitting the line for several good gains.

Busby Injured
Busby was injured in the early part of the second half on a line plumb and it was necessary to carry him off the field, he was replaced by Lewandowski.

The game consisted of 80 plays, another game will be played next Saturday which will be 160 plays long. Joe Weir refereed the game while Ralph Wiley worked in the headlinesman position.

Varsity Ag College Men

These men represented the College of Agriculture on the 1926-27 Varsity football squad. Three of them were awarded letters at the close of the football season.

Upper Row: Arnold Oehlrich; Joe Weir.

The College of Agriculture, although carrying on an extensive intra-mural athletic program is furnishing its share of material for the varsity teams.

Some of the outstanding men on the gridiron last fall were Ag men. Three of these were awarded letters, Weir, Whitmore, and Oehlrich.

Joe Weir, varsity end for three years, was a dependable cog in Bear's machine.

Bob Whitmore, varsity guard, took care of his position well and will be back fighting them next fall.

Arnold Oehlrich was considered one of the best defense backs in the Valley. He will also be back next fall.

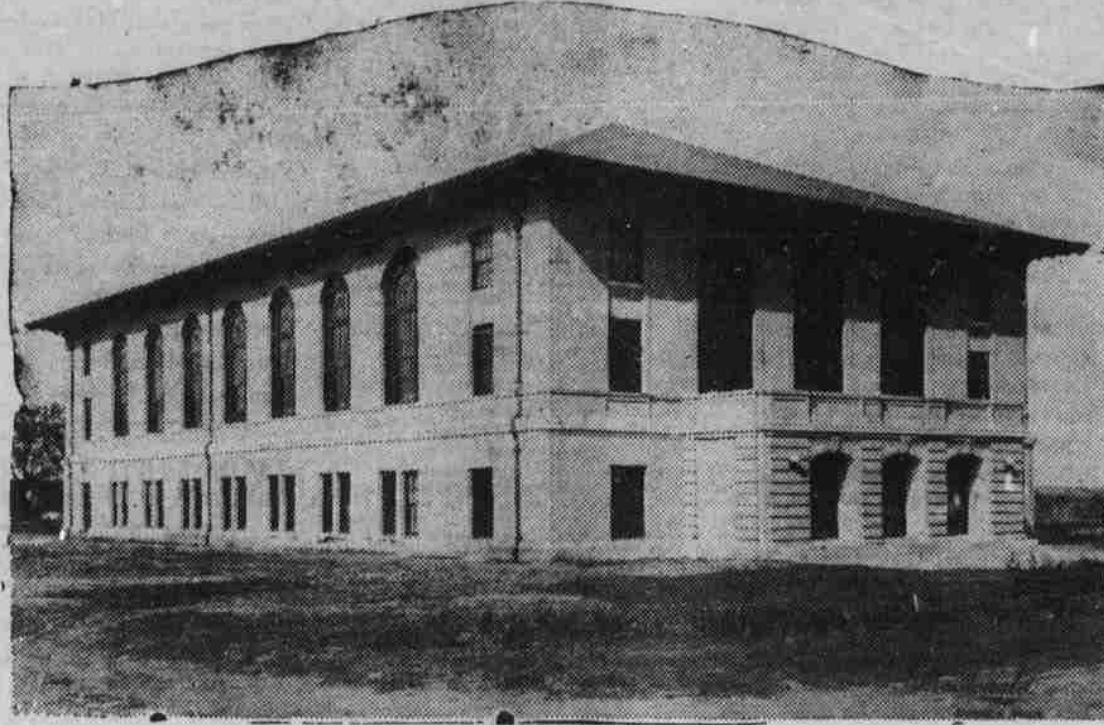

Durisch and Moizen were a pair of live men who could be depended upon at any time.

Pearly Wyatt, due to his speed went well at half-back.

There was a good number of Ag men out for the freshman squad who showed up well. Craig, Easter, and White receiving numerals.

It has been used for the Ag College basketball tournament and was used in the recent high school basketball tournament. It is also used for meetings and banquets held on the Agricultural College campus.

First Day of Spring Gives No Promise of Warm, Balmly Days

The first day of spring this year gave no promise of balmly spring days nor languid afternoons spent in strolling about the campus. Students hurried from one building to another with their heads lowered against the sharp March wind.

This weather is not unusual spring weather, however, Mr. Blair of the weather department said yesterday. We must expect anything from March. Quick changes in weather are her specialty. Tomorrow will probably usher in fair weather again.

Benefit Game For Lincoln High Tonight

A Lincoln high school alumni team, including five members of the 1927 freshman squad, will battle the state high school champions of Lincoln high in a benefit game at 7:30 this evening at the University Coliseum. The receipts of the game are to help meet the expenses of sending the Lincoln squad to represent Nebraska at the national high school tournament held by the University of Chicago, March 12.

The alumni squad will be composed of Dutch Witte, Adam Kahler, George Gohde, Bill Sawyer and Ralph Buechner of the freshman squad and Bob King who played with the Phi Sigma Kappa champions. The remaining members are Corrick, Mills, Baker and Wyant, members of the city league of the season just past.

Coach W. H. Browne's team, consisting of Captain Fisher, Morrison Kimball, Suter, and Koster have already proven their worth in the cage sport. The meeting of these two teams should mean an evening of fast and flashy basketball.

Captain "Dutch" Witte announced the following tentative line-up with which the alumni will attempt to curb the champions: Witte, forward; Bill Sawyer, forward; Adam Kahler, center; Frank Corrick, guard and Ralph Buechner, guard.

The price of admission is fifty cents and tickets will be sold at the gate.

PLAYERS BEGIN PERFORMANCE

"The Merchant of Venice" Presented For First Time This Evening

The University Players' first performance of "The Merchant of Venice" begins this evening in the Temple Theater at 8:20 o'clock. This offering is the last one of the season, and is being presented in an unusual and rich setting, with special stage lighting effects, and draperies to give a realistic atmosphere. Harold Sampson as Shylock, and Eleanor Fogg Whitam as Portia, will portray the leads.

Matinee performances will begin at 2:30 o'clock Friday and Saturday afternoons. Tickets may be obtained at the Ross P. Curtice store.

WINNING SKIT TO BE OMITTED

Players Are Unable to Produce Sigma Delta Chi Act; Slides Due Today

TICKETS ARE OBTAINABLE

The prize-winning skit submitted for the University Night program by Sigma Delta Chi, national honorary journalistic fraternity, will not be presented at the show Monday night. The omission of this act from the program is due to the inability of Pi Epsilon Delta, national collegiate players organization, who were to present the prize-winning skit, to produce the skit as they will be busy over the week-end entertaining Miss Gertrude Johnson, National Grand Secretary of the players organization. It is too late at this time to get anyone else to work up the skit and present it.

Committee Writes Skit

The latest feature added to the program is a skit written by the University Night Committee. It is original and different from anything ever attempted before, and will be produced by members of the University Players organization. This act has been arranged to take the place of the Sigma Delta Chi skit.

There will be a final meeting of the Committee at 7 o'clock tonight at the Beta Theta Pi house to arrange last minute details of the program.

Anyone who has slides which they wish to submit for the approval of the committee should turn them in to Sam St. John before 7 o'clock tonight, as all slides will be read before the Committee at the special meeting tonight.

Dress Rehearsal Monday Afternoon

Organizations which are producing skits are urged to get them in complete shape before the dress rehearsal Monday afternoon, as final decision will be made by the committee at that time as to whether or not the acts are good enough to be given at the program.

Programs for the show have been made up and are being printed, according to announcement from the committee in charge of programs.

A few tickets have been turned in by persons unable to use them and are available at the Orpheum Theater box office.

THREE PRIZES OFFERED FOR BEST REPORTS

$100 in Prizes Will Be Given For Best Reports on Lecture by H. B. Collins

CONDITIONS GIVEN LATER

Address Will Be Presented in Activities Building on Ag College Campus

One hundred dollars in gold, divided into separate prizes of $50, $30, and $20, will be given for the three best reports on the address of H. B. Collins at the 11 o'clock convocation this morning in the new Student Activities building on the Agricultural College campus, according to Prof. H. E. Bradford, chairman of the Agricultural College convocation committee. Mr. Collins is the general manager of the produce department of Swift and Company of Chicago, and will talk on "A Business Man's Suggestions to College Students."

These prizes are offered in an endeavor to create more serious thought on the place of the college student in business. The reports will be about fifteen hundred words long. The conditions of the contest are to be announced at the convocation.

Address to Be Broadcast

Arrangements have been made for broadcasting the address over Westinghouse Station, KFKX, Hastings. Mr. Collins' talk will be of interest to high school students, and high schools with radios have been asked to hold a special chapel service at that time.

All classes in the College of Agriculture will be excused for the hour. Invitations have been extended to students of other colleges, especially the College of Business Administration and the School of Journalism.

Some of the classes from the city campus are to be excused and permitted to attend the convocation. The news writing class will write up the speech with the expectation of competing for the prizes.

BASEBALL TOURNEY IS BEING PLANNED

Tournament of College Baseball Teams Will Be Held in Addition to Greek Tourney

According to H. D. Gish, acting director of athletics, plans are definitely under way to organize a baseball league among the different colleges of the University. In all probability it will be handled similarly to the interfraternity basketball contest recently completed. The plan is to have a team in each college.

Alpha Kappa Psi, honorary Biz Ad fraternity, has already taken definite steps and will sponsor the Business Administration college team. The Agricultural College has taken a similar step and their team will be sponsored by the Board of Athletics there. The Teachers College will be organized by the coaching staff. In all probability Sigma Tau will take charge of the organizing of a team in the Engineering College.

In addition to this annual interfraternity baseball tourney will be held. A player is eligible to play on both his fraternity and his college team. The Stewart Tract, two blocks north of the tenth street viaduct, has been secured by the University from the city and will be divided into five different diamonds. In addition to these various city parks will be used which will give ample room for the staging of the tournament.

CONVOCATION WILL HEAR ENGLISHMAN

"Russia's Experiment and Modern Europe" is Subject of Kenneth Lindsay's Address

Kenneth Lindsay of London will speak before a University Convocation Thursday, March 31 at 11 o'clock in the Temple Theater on the subject of "Russia's Experiment and Modern Europe."

Arrangements were made through the University Y. M. C. A., to have Kenneth Lindsay speak here.

Mr. Lindsay is traveling under the auspices of the League for Industrial Democracy and is giving addresses in the various colleges and universities throughout the United States. He has been actively engaged in different labor movements since the world war and was the choice of a number of prominent British labor leaders and publicists who were asked to recommend a speaker for a tour of this sort.

"THE NEW LIFE" PRESENTED TODAY

University Chorus, Soloists and Orchestra to Give Cantata At Convocation

Under the direction of Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond the University chorus, soloists, and the University orchestra will present Dante's "The New Life" at a convocation this morning at 11:00 o'clock in Memorial Hall.

This cantata tells in prose and verse the story of the few meetings between Dante and Beatrice, of her death, and of the vision of Beatrice which led Dante to make himself more fit to glorify her and inspired him to write the "Divine Comedy."

There is nothing in musical literature quite like this and the situations are original and extraordinary. The soprano, which is taken by Harriet Cruise Kemmer and represents the Divine Beatrice, is heard chiefly in the prologue, while the baritone, taken by Hermann Decker, individualizes the poet himself.

The prologue showing love as the conqueror of death leads us to the first part which brings out love in the more wildly strains as is seen in the glories and beauties of nature. Then it rises and tells of the angels appealing to the Almighty Father to take Beatrice's soul.

Several Piano Numbers

The composer has made the accompaniment very unusual and pleasing by having three distinct but parts which at times constitute the entire accompaniment. Several numbers are written for the piano alone.

At the death of Beatrice there is a number in the low strings which (Continued on Page Two.)

Ag College Football Team

The Ag College football team is composed of men who have a sufficient interest in the game to come out just for the playing alone. They do not play before cheering crowds nor gain fame and publicity. They are not even awarded sweaters or letters and may not have any scheduled games. They play their games and win or lose, very few hear of the outcome.

The most promising candidates go out for football downtown and there have been few Varsity teams which have not contained at least one Ag College man. This first year three men received varsity letters and three men received freshman numerals. For this reason the team does not represent the true football strength of the college.

The coaching staff was composed of Mr. W. W. Knight and Mr. Krimmelmayer. The men were taught some of the same plays and formations which the Varsity used.

The team was victorious in the majority of the games played.

The real value of the team is not in the victories they win, but rather in the good fellowship and spirit developed. The men learn to work together for a common end and thus help to put across the many activities which would be impossible without such a spirit.

Second Row—Wendt; Miller; Danekas; Foster; Rice; Beluers; Garrison.

Third Row—Fahney; Matzke; Snyder; Schmidt; Stone; Sundberg.

The above men were able to make the first string Ag College football team.
