THIRD OF YEARBOOK IN PRINTERS' HANDS

Probably Ready for Distribution About May 12; Student Life Features Annual Production

The 1927 Cornhusker will probably be distributed May 12 as most a third of the book is already printed and the remaining copy is in the hands of the printer.

The feature of this year's Cornhusker will be a Student Life section containing 28 or 30 pages of gossip consisting of cartoons, pictures, jokes, and "cracks" on individuals.

Another rather new thing will be the pebbling or stripping of the Campus Events and Scenes section. This has not been done for a long time.

Copies of the 1927 Cornhusker are still available in the business office at $5.00. A limited number of extra copies have been ordered, but with the unusually heavy sale that is anticipated these copies are expected to be sold very quickly.

Series of Radio Talks Is Closed With Discussion of Gounod's Faust

Professor Paul H. Grumann, director of the School of Fine Arts and professor of Dramatic Literature, presented the last of a series of twenty radio talks on the musical dramas last evening when he talked on Gounod's "Faust."

Last time the Faust as written by Goethe was discussed. The comparisons of the two dramas, that of Goethe and Gounod, was brought out in this talk.

"So popular did the story of Faust become that it inspired three important composers to construct operas on the theme. The one that we are discussing, by Gounod, one by Boito called "Mephistophele," and one by Berlioz called "The Damnation of Faust." Professor Grumann said: "Sometimes Gounod's opera has gone by the name of 'Marguerite.' This is a very much better title for the opera than "Faust" for Gounod moves Faust himself into the background and is concerned almost wholly with the Marguerite episode. The large and essential features of the Faust character are lacking. The love story gains so much prominence that we get a distorted view of Faust himself.

"As in the original story, the opera begins with a scene presenting Faust in his study with the thought of suicide. This suicide is hardly justified in the opera for we are given rather a faint conception of the despair that Faust has not been able to fathom the last secrets of the universe. In Goethe's "Faust" the great scholar was prevented from committing suicide by hearing the bells ring out proclaiming the coming of Easter Sunday. Gounod has substituted for these Easter bells a chorus of maidens. This makes the opera more attractive but we see at once that it gives the character of Faust an undesirable twist to realize that he is rescued from suicide by a chorus of girls rather than by the Easter bells. "Gounod's Faust despairs of life because in his old age he lacks youth, love and faith, while in Goethe's (Continued on Page Four.)

MONEY AND TICKETS TURNED IN TONIGHT

Plans Progressing on "Cyrano de Bergerac," Last Play Given During Season

All money and unsold tickets to "Cyrano de Bergerac" must be turned in Wednesday evening at the Dramatic Club rooms, it was announced yesterday by Herbert Morrison, chairman of the ticket sales committee for the Dramatic Club production.

The first check on the number of tickets sold will be made Wednesday night. Until then, only estimates can be made, but indications point to a good advance sale.

It has not been decided yet whether the leaders in ticket sales who are competing for the prize offered to the person selling the most tickets will be granted additional time in which to sell. That will be decided at a meeting of the committee Wednesday night.

Chairmen Asked to Report All committee chairmen are asked to be present Wednesday evening with complete reports of their committees. This will be absolutely necessary so that each ticket may be accounted for.

The seventh week of rehearsal was started Monday night when practically every member of the cast was present. Other rehearsals will be held Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The Thursday evening rehearsal will be held in the Temple Theater and will be the first complete rehearsal of the production. As far as is possible, costumes will be worn at this rehearsal.

Since it is the next and last large drama to be presented by a University organization this year, "Cyrano de Bergerac" has been properly termed the climax to the University drama season. With three performances, Thursday evening, April 28, and Friday matinee and evening, April 29, most of the playgoers of the University and Lincoln will have the opportunity of witnessing the staging of Rostand's famous play.

Work on the scenery has been started and each of the five acts will be staged in an entirely new and original setting. Some scenery will be used in the rehearsal Thursday night.

Large Number of Nebraska Professors Are Included In the 1927 Who's Who

Over one-third of the professors of full professional rank in the University of Nebraska are included in the 1927 Who's Who's. They were selected on account of special prominence in creditable lines of effort. The development of literature, science, art and other phases of American activities are pictured through the life sketches of these men and women.

John Donald Hicks, professor of history, was born in Pickering, Missouri, January 25, 1890. He attended Northwestern where he received his A. B. degree in 1913 and A. M. in 1914. His Ph. D. was conferred upon him by the University of Wisconsin in 1916.

Professor Hicks was an assistant professor and professor of history at Hamline University from 1916 to 1922. He also taught history at the North Carolina College for Women in Greensboro, North Carolina, from 1922 to 1923. Since 1923, he has held the position of professor of American history at the University of Nebraska. During the summer sessions, he has been employed as a teacher at Northwestern University, University of Wisconsin, Syracuse University, and the University of Minnesota.

The American History Association, Mississippi Valley History Association, Delta Upsilon, Phi Eta. He is the author of "The Constitutions of the Northwest States."

Maurice Harley Wesen, author, was born in Oakland, Nebraska, on December 15, 1880. He received his A. B. degree at the University of Nebraska in 1914 and A. M. in 1917.

Professor Wesen was an instructor at Iowa State College from 1914 to 1918. The University of Nebraska has claimed him since 1918 in the capacity of assistant professor of English. He has specialized in business English and correspondence.

Professor Wesen is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and was president of the Alpha Nebraska Chapter from 1924 to 1925. He is author of "English, Science and Engineering," and "Everyday Uses of English."

RELAY TRYOUTS ARE TOMORROW

Competition for Places on Kansas Relays Teams Will Be Held on Thursday

SQUAD RETURNS TODAY

Tryouts for the Kansas Relays will be held at the stadium Thursday following the arrival of the Husker team home from California. The squad will arrive at 5:05 o'clock this morning. The fourth tri-color meet of the season for non-varsity track men will also be held Thursday afternoon.

Coach Schulte hopes to enter teams at Kansas in the 440, 880, 1-mile, 4-mile, and possibly 2-mile relays and in the individual events. The Kansas meet comes April 23 with the Drake relays the following week-end. Indecision is greatest as to the 2-mile event due to the scarcity of half-milers, unless milers or quarter-milers double back. Johnson, Chadderdon, and Lemly, if his work is again up, are the only first class half milers. Sprague, Hays, or Tappan could run the distance. But both Johnson and Chadderdon will be needed in the 4-mile relay and the others either in the 4-mile or mile relays.

Sprint teams are handicapped this year also. Stephens and Wyatt are both temporarily out again with pulled muscles which are more than likely to prevent their entry at Kansas. If Doty gets into shape, the Huskers will have Lowe, Doty, Dailey and Davenport for their sprint team. This will cut into the effectiveness of the mile relay team as both Dailey and Davenport will be needed there. Weakness in the sprints and an insufficiency of good middle distance runners will severely handicap the Cornhuskers in this year's relay meets.

The regimental review, previously announced to be held at five o'clock this afternoon, has been called off by order of Col. F. F. Jewett. The muddy condition of the drill field is responsible for the postponement.

Arkansas Co-eds Make Record

Exceeding all previous records of women's athletic awards, 27 co-eds of the University of Arkansas, received their "A's" at a meeting of W. A. A. March 30. The "A" is given a girl for accumulating 300 points of varsity intramural contests at the University. When she makes 1000 points she wins her sweater. Formerly no more than ten girls have received their letters in a single year. Such an increase is explained by the improved physical education department and the new Women's Gymnasium.

Intelligence Quizzes Unpopular

I. Q.'s aren't popular things to have at the University of Washington. I. Q.'s or intelligence quizzes were given to the incoming class of seven hundred members of which only thirty-five had the courage to really take the tests seriously and make respectable sentences out of the jumbled words. Probably the untested six hundred and sixty-five deemed themselves far superior to such child's play.

PLEDGING BILL IS FAVORED BY STATE SENATE

Senate File 257, Second-Year Pledging Bill, Brought from Committee and Voted On

UP FOR THIRD READING

Upper House, in Committee of The Whole, Prepares Bill For Third Reading

The second year pledging bill which was thought to be dying in the committee on miscellaneous subjects, practically passed the senate today when it was advanced to the third reading by a vote of 23 to 8. If the senate passes the bill it will go to the house of representatives to be voted upon there.

Acting-Chancellor E. A. Burnett in commenting on the bill said that he felt that in general it would be against the interests of the University until dormitories are available. Without them it would be difficult and not satisfactory.

Prof. E. F. Schramm, chairman of the Interfraternity Council feels that it will mean there will be rushing throughout the entire year. He says that although laws may be laid down regarding rushing the men will go right on quietly doing so. Such a condition would take up a great deal of time of both upperclassmen and freshmen.

"While there may be some bad points the good outnumber them," stated Prof. R. J. Pool, chairman of the Interfraternity Council last year. "I am glad the senate passed it and I hope the house will do the same," he said.

Measure Is Amended

The senate dissolved into a committee of the whole after the bill was placed on general file through the recommendation of the committee on miscellaneous subjects. The bill was taken up, discussed, and amended by the committee of the whole, and was read again in the senate. The bill is now ready for the third reading which will come in the near future. After a bill passes the committee of the whole it usually passes the third reading.

Although the bill will not take effect until March 1, 1929, all the fraternities and sororities would be influenced by the measure immediately because they would have to fill their houses next year in order to be financially secure when the bill becomes a law.

A. W. S. CONVENTION TO MEET AT URBANA

Delegates from All Parts of Country Will Gather at University of Illinois April 20 to 23

The national convention of the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students will be held April 20 to 23, at the University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois. At least two delegates from every university in the United States will attend this convention. Many colleges and women's colleges will also send delegates. Several deans of women will be in attendance at this convention.

The Nebraska delegates are Margaret Dunlap, retiring president of the A. W. S. board, and Helen Anderson, the newly elected president. They will take to the convention some of the activities which have been successful on Nebraska's campus, and will bring back with them suggestions and helps for next year's work.

At this convention student self-government problems and women's activities in general will be discussed. Personnel workers and prominent women will give lectures and lead round-table discussions on university women's problems. The last day of the convention will be devoted to the national reorganization of the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students. A strong national organization would be of great help to the separate organizations in each school especially in the exchange of helps and suggestions among delegates.

Ask that Hand-ball Tournery Be Run Off

Coach Jimmy Lewis, director of inter-terminal athletics, states that he would like very much to have the fraternities play the inter-fraternity hand-ball tournament off as fast as possible to make way for the tennis tournament.

The University of Nebraska intramural tennis tournament will start the week of April 23. The tennis tournament is open to all students and all are urged to take part. Those wishing to play in the tournament are requested to report to the athletic office soon.
