

Nebraska Ranks First in Valley Sports in 1912

Success Largely Due to Efforts Of Coach Stiehm; Minnesota Loses Feature Game

SIX GIVEN PLACES ON ALL-VALLEY ELEVEN

XIV (Editor's Note)

This is the fourteenth chapter of an historical resume of Nebraska athletics which has been compiled by a member of The Daily Nebraskan sports staff.

By Jack Elliott

A third Missouri Valley championship team was the result of Coach Ewald "Jumbo" Stiehm's third year as coach at the University of Nebraska.

At the opening of the fall practice season in September 1913 many speculations were heard on the Nebraska campus in regard to the football team's prospects.

Minnesota Loses Second Game The big game of the season was with the Minnesota Gophers.

It was one of the greatest battles of the year and the work of Towle and Beck on the forward passes, Howard on punting, and Purdy, Towle and Halligan on the end runs enabled the Husker eleven to put a win across on its northern rival.

Haskell Was Difficult With the defeat of the Gophers, Jack Best, Nebraska trainer realized the dreams of a lifetime—to beat Minnesota.

Grumann Reviews "Jane Klegg" in Talk on Modern Drama Over Radio

"Jane Klegg," a powerful social drama by St. John Erbine, was reviewed by Prof. Paul H. Grumann, director of the School of Fine Arts, Tuesday evening, in the last of a series of radio talks on the modern drama.

During the whole play, Jane, a true moral heroine, is fighting for the welfare of her two children. Her every act is governed by this consideration for their future and her courage in resisting Henry, his ignorant and diabolical old mother, and his stolid father, single-handed, is proof enough of her habitual greatness.

"This drama," Professor Grumann remarked, "is one with almost no physical action, but in that respect it is in accordance with drama of the highest type, that of the ancient Greeks. The characters are plastic, real individuals, and the children are not negligible stage property, as one might suppose, but are presented as natural youngsters with the faults and possibilities of children."

Erbine has characterized his figures by their use of language alone, in words, and throughout the play,

STATE DEBATE TEAMS TO MEET FOR CONTESTS

Twelve District Championship Squads Gather Here For Tournament

DISCUSS CURTIS-REED BILL

Hastings, Aurora and Omaha Tech Picked as Leaders; Will Start Thursday

Twelve district championship debating teams will gather tomorrow for the annual state high school debate tournament to be held Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. The teams are prepared to debate both sides of the question, "Resolved: That the present Congress should adopt the Curtis-Reed bill, in substance. (Constitutionality waived.)"

Hastings was favored early in the season to win the championship, having the same team this year that was runner-up last year. Aurora, however, split with them in two debates in mid-season and Omaha Tech is known to have developed a strong team again although it is an entirely new aggregation. Bayard defeated North Platte, who had practically all of last year's champion western division team back, and won the right to come to the tourney.

Opening debates will be held Thursday evening. Announcement of the locations of the debates will be made sometime Thursday. Arrangements for the tournament are under the direction of Professor H. A. White, president of the Nebraska High School Debate League. Drawing for each round will be made immediately after the completion of the preceding round.

Six debates will be held Thursday evening with defeated teams eliminated. Semi-finals will be held Friday evening and finals Saturday morning.

MISS ROBBETT TALKS AT VESPER SERVICE

Health is Biggest Factor, Remarks Personnel Worker in Discussing Personality of Women.

"College women entering the business field today must be keener than their predecessors," said Miss Florence Robnett in her talk on "Personality" at the vesper service yesterday. "There are several habits to be acquired or rather several milestones to be passed before we reach our goal in our chosen work."

"Health is the biggest factor of all. Everyone should make a habit of health for without it success is fruitless. Cleanliness, not overindulgence in social diversions, good dispositions are all part of this necessary habit."

Miss Robnett said that college girls should find it easy to cooperate with their co-workers after their four years experience at the college or university.

"Voice control, the modulating of one's speaking voice so that it does not squeak or grate on a person's ears is a great asset, for the most wonderful personality can be ruined by a unpleasant voice."

According to the personnel worker punctuality, reliability, and daily exercise of judgment all lead to reward in the business world.

Elaine Keefe was in charge of the meeting. Evelyn Bauer gave a piano solo.
