

BUSY PLACE THIS WEEK-END

Nebraska Memorial Stadium, scene of the 25th annual state interscholastic track and field meet and of the Nebraska-Drake dual meet this week-end. Preliminaries in the high school meet will start here at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, Nebraska will meet Drake in the first home meet of the season and the last appearance of the Cornhuskers in competition before the annual Missouri Valley meet next week. Finals in the state high school meet will start Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

HUSKERS MEET DRAKE IN DUAL

Last Dual Meet of Season Held Here Tomorrow Morning On Stadium Track

HUSKERS HANDICAPPED

Nebraska track and field men will hold their last dual meet of the 1927 season when they meet Drake on the stadium track at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The Huskers will be handicapped by the loss of Captain Stephens and Wyatt who will be unable to compete on account of injuries.

Drake lost a close dual meet to Iowa State last Saturday at Ames. Nebraska nosed the Cyclones out at the Valley indoor so are conceded the edge on the dope although a fast meet is expected.

Drake men placed one, two, three in the 100 yard dash and second and third in the 220 against Iowa State. They are expected to have a wide margin in the sprints here. In the 440, Drake has Tolles who performed here last year. He is expected to put up a strong race against Dailey, Davenport, and Campbell, Husker tracksters.

The hurdles should furnish some thrilling races. Krause and Fleming, sophomores, have been coming along slowly, placing strongly in several meets. Drake has Penquite who ran Ed Weir such a great race in the 220 yard low hurdles last year in the Nebraska-Drake dual meet here.

Brunk and Carle, Drake high jumpers, are considered the class of the valley conference this year. They tied for first last week at 6 feet 2 1/4 inches. Their mile relay team must also be reckoned with as they stepped the four quarters ahead of the strong Iowa State aggregation in the Drake-Iowa State meet. Boettger of Drake placed in the shot put and discus throw in the valley meet last year and should furnish Ashburn, Hurd, and Durisch strong competition.

The meet is scheduled to start at 10 o'clock and Coach Schulte expects to have the meet run off in an hour and a half. High school students here for track meet, debates, and academic contests will be admitted free to the meet. Student tickets are good for the meet.

Ag Department Finds Jobs For Engineers Outnumber Students

The agricultural engineering department has had a greater number of calls for men trained in agricultural engineering than can be filled, according to Prof. O. W. Sjogren, chairman of the department. He says that this is not true of the situation here at the University of Nebraska, but reports from the ten other institutions that offer courses in agricultural engineering have the same situation.

Many of the requests for graduates come from manufacturers of farm machinery, chiefly of tractors, Pro-reason he could only compete two years at Nebraska.

Playing a tackle position for two years Stiner was very consistent. He was a unanimous selection for all-Missouri Valley honors. Lonnie was also a weight man on the 1925 track squad.

fessor Sjogren feels that this is an evidence that these people are now realizing the advantage of men trained in agricultural engineering for their work.
