

CAMPAIGN OPENS FOR NEBRASKAN SUBSCRIPTIONS

Three Organizations Will Stage Contest for Subscribers

REWARD FOR WINNERS
University Paper Will Be Made
Bigger and Better. New Features Added

The annual subscription campaign for the Daily Nebraskan will start at 8 o'clock today. Three organizations of the University of Nebraska will aid in selling the subscription. These organizations are: Xi Delta, Tassels, and Silver Serpents. The three will contest until 5 o'clock Friday. The organization that finishes in the lead and each individual participant will be rewarded for their services in the campaign.

A meeting of the three societies was held yesterday evening to discuss the details of the contest. At this meeting the circulation managers of the Nebraskan addressed the organizations, and the girls responded enthusiastically. They resolved to enter the fray with such vim that the result would be the biggest and best subscription campaign ever staged at Nebraska.

Interest in The Daily Nebraskan seems greater than ever this year, and everything seems to be in line for a great Nebraskan year. Freshmen have subscribed in great numbers already, and it is thought that a goal of 3200 subscriptions can be reached.

The subscription rate for the paper remains the same as last year. For local deliveries the rate is $2 per year, or $1.25 per semester. By mail the rate is $3 per year, and for fraternities, sororities, or any other organizations it is $50 per year, delivered.

More cuts to illustrate campus news, and new sections will be added this year in an attempt to make the Nebraskan more attractive than ever. This is the fourth issue of The Daily Nebraskan for 1927-1928.

FRESHMEN VESPER SERVICE IS HELD

First of Weekly Religious Meetings
Of Y. W. C. A. Directed to
First Year Women

The first Vesper service of the year, "freshmen vespers" was held Tuesday at 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall, with Grace Modlin, chairman of the Vesper committee on the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, leading. For special music Frances Bolton gave a vocal solo.

Mary Kinney, president of the Y. W. C. A. based her talk to the freshmen women on Luke 2:5 "And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man." In this one verse, the speaker stated, are the four things that are to be desired in a well rounded life. First, the mental development expressed in the choice of courses during the four years of university life; second, the physical, with the most important the building up a strong body by plenty of sleep and exercise; third the religious, in giving consideration to the spiritual values that each one of us has within us and fourth, the social expressed in the fellowship of university life.

"The freshman has to choose and recognize values and choose the most valuable in university life," stated Miss Kinney in closing.

Ruth Barker, chairman of the membership group, brought out in her talk the fact that although everyone is different there are within each person two common desires, first everyone wants companionship and second everyone wants to go on and be the best that he can be.

"The Y. W. C. A.," Miss Barker, pointed out, "meets these needs through the discussion groups in which campus and international problems are discussed and in which lasting friendships with the other members of the group are made."

The Y. W. C. A. has also organized groups through which membership in the Y. W. C. A. may be obtained. The groups meet under the leadership of upperclass members of the (Continued on Page 2)

STUDENTS FORM CHEER SECTION

Six Hundred Men Chosen to Fill First Rooting Section
At Nebraska

Approximately 600 men were selected yesterday afternoon to compose Nebraska's first cheering section. The tickets went on sale early Tuesday morning, and all available seats were quickly sold out.

Preparation is already being made for the first game with Iowa State. Although it is probable that the reversible rooting hats will not arrive in time for this game, the desired effect will be obtained by the use of cardboard. According to present plans, only one practice throughout the season will be necessary. This will be held just before the Iowa State game, in order to call the rooting section together and instruct the men in their duties.

The rooting section is a new feature of Nebraska cheering, but is an established part of the organized cheering of other large schools. The movement to initiate one here is the work of the innocents, with the Corn Cobs acting under their directions. The Corn Cobs and cheer leaders will be in charge of the section at the games.

Gretchen Standeven, who will fill the sophomore vacancy on the board, will have charge of the office. SALE OF STUDENT TICKETS OPENS

Reduced Rate of $8.50 is Price Set
For Season's Sport Events;
Large Sale Expected

Student tickets for the sport events of the 1927-28 season went on sale this morning at the student activities office in the Coliseum. The office will remain open until 5 o'clock this afternoon giving all students an opportunity to purchase a season ticket at the reduced rate of $8.50.

Football tickets only are included in the book given out at the student activities office today; the stub of the book may be exchanged later in the season for another book containing tickets for basketball games and other athletic events.

Many organizations are planning to secure seats in a block. This may be done by a representative of the organization presenting a list of the members desiring seats in that block.

The ticket sale this year is expected to surpass that of all other years because of the many more students in school this year and because of the many big games on the home field. The price of $8.50 is a great saving to the students, as single admissions to the athletic events total around $25.00. Twenty-five hundred seats are reserved for students.

Freshmen Will Have Opportunity To Meet Prominent University Officials

Why should freshmen attend the formal initiation and convocation held in their honor?

The Freshman Convocation is a tradition which the university holds every year. In the first place it gives the new students a chance to get acquainted with each other. With such a large group as there is this year, it is almost impossible for the freshmen to know each other. At such meetings as the Freshman Convocation they become more or less acquainted.

It is at the convocation that the new students become acquainted with the duties to be theirs while attending the school. Talks on discipline and scholarship are given, and the principles advanced are worthy of attention.

Chancellor Burnett, Dr. Condra, Coach Bear, Coach Schulte, and the various assistant coaches and captains are introduced, giving the freshmen knowledge of who these men are. The new student will later become more or less intimately acquainted with these men and to know who they are in advance will prove helpful.

At Freshman Convocation the student organizations are presented to

About 150 men have had their physical examination, and Col. Jewett announced today that if there were any men who had missed being examined with their company, they could go through with another company.

Guggenheim Foundation Offers Opportunity for Advanced Study Abroad

Students, graduates, and faculty members of the University of Nebraska have an opportunity to do advanced study abroad under the patronage of an educational fund, according to the announced plan of the John Simon Guggenheim Foundation, with headquarters at New York City. The foundation, established as a memorial to their son by former Senator and Mrs. Simon Guggenheim, has as its purpose, to quote the published announcement, "to improve the quality of education and the practice of the arts and professions in the United States, to foster research, and to provide for the cause of better international understanding."

Approximately fifty Fellows are to be maintained annually by the foundation, fifty-five grants having been made during the present year. The Committee of Selection will award scholarships only to those who have proved themselves of unusual capacity for research. Both men and women are eligible, and an age limit, though not hard and fast, states the committee's preference for men and women between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-five. The Fellowships are open to citizens (or, in exceptional cases, to permanent residents who are not citizens) of the United States, irrespective of race, color or creed.

STUDENT RULES FOR ACTIVITIES TO BE ENFORCED

Dean of Student Activities
Announces Eligibility
Rules

TO COVER ATHLETICS TOO
Require Successful Work in 12 Hours During Present
And Past Semesters

Eligibility and scholarship rules for the coming year were announced yesterday afternoon from the office of the dean of student activities. The authorities are checking up very carefully on the eligibility of all students who are engaged in activities, and the rules will be rigidly enforced.

To be eligible for any activity, a student must be regularly registered and successfully carrying at least 12 hours. He must furthermore have passed in at least 12 hours his last preceding semester in school.

Any student found to be delinquent in two fifths or more of his hours at the time any quarterly reports are given out may be dropped from school. The reports are sent in to the office and students notified of delinquencies three times during each semester and at the end of the semester. If any student is found to have received grades less than 70 in 50 per cent or more of his hours, he is subject to probation. The first reports will be turned in October 15.

The Missouri Valley Conference rules also apply to men entering athletic activities. No student is eligible to compete in any athletic event in the Missouri Valley conference who has completed less than twenty-seven hours his two preceding semesters.

The presidents of the four classes, the Ivy Day Orator, members of the Student Council, and the student members of the Board of Publications are elected under the supervision of the Student Council and are subject to its eligibility rules. These rules set forth the number of hours required for rating in any class. Any student with less than twenty-four semester hours is rated as a freshman, those with 24 to 52 are rated as sophomores, juniors must have 52 to 88, and 89 or more hours are required for the rating of senior.

There are no definite rules regarding absences. No cuts are allowed and anyone missing a class should get an excuse from the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women as the case may be when classes are missed for legitimate reasons. All missed work must be made up or no credit will be given.

SEALOCK SPEAKS OVER THE RADIO

Teacher's Attitude Toward Work
Essential to Success Says
Teachers College Dean

"The biggest factor in the success of a teacher is her attitude toward teaching and her ideals with regard to her profession," W. E. Sealock, dean of Teachers College stated in an address over the University radio yesterday afternoon.

"You have no doubt heard that teachers are born not made," he went on, "but this is in no sense true. Many who never attended a teacher's training school have become good teachers. They were probably capable men and women and learned readily, but they would have been aided greatly by study in a teacher's training institution. The tendencies today in teacher preparation seem definitely to require that every one who appears before young people in the public schools must have a specific training for the work he is to do."

Dean Sealock concluded his remarks with the statement, "the teacher is the chief factor in the school and if she is not trained in an atmosphere of sympathy and appreciation of the problems of the public schools, the boys and girls will fail to receive the birthright which is theirs—an opportunity for the very best education possible for the state to provide them."

Creighton Abolishes Freshmen Green Caps

A precedent of several years standing was abandoned at the Creighton University, Omaha, this year, when the Student Union governing board voted to abolish the wearing of the freshman caps. The move was made in order to raise the freshman group to a plane of equality with upperclassmen, and to induce the spirit of democracy in the student body.
