Varsity Wins 21-0 Victory Off Yearlings

Four Thousand Watch First Full Time Game of Season Open to Public

Howell Stars in Game Husker Back Scores 14 of 21 Points; Presnell Makes Other Points

Coach Bearg sent his Cornhusker eleven against the freshmen team Saturday on Memorial Stadium field to annex a 21 to 0 victory over the yearling squad. This was the first game of the season open to the public and 4,000 Husker fans took advantage of the open gates and watched the Nebraska eleven perform for the first full time game.

"Blue" Howell, smashing Cornhusker back was the sensational player of the game scoring 14 of the 21 points. The first touchdown came early in the game after Glenn Presnell, Howell's running mate had advanced the ball down to within striking distance of the goal line. On a fake play Howell carried the pigskin over the line for the initial touchdown.

Again in the second quarter the running mate of Howell advanced the ball with large gains through the freshmen line and around the wing until the Varsity eleven was deep in the freshmen territory. "Blue" Howell again carried the oval over and kicked the goal as the first half ended with a score of 14 to 0.

Good Performance

The Cornhusker four horsemen were performing in all-American style and made the hopes of the Nebraska fans for a Missouri Valley championship run high. Howell-Presnell-Brown-Oehrich, the Husker four horsemen were taking the ball through the freshmen line and around the ends for repeated gains. Glenn Presnell was responsible for a great amount of the yardage made by Bearg's eleven and with "Blue" Howell as the other half back, no football coach could wish for a better pair of backs. Howell and Presnell work together in machine-like (Continued on Page 3)

First Football Rally of Season Is Planned for Friday in Coliseum

Meeting Preceding Game With Ames First This Year; Other to Be Held Before Each Home Game; Students Urged to Attend.

The first rally of the 1927 Cornhusker football season will be held in the Coliseum next Friday night. This rally, which precedes Saturday's clash with Ames, is only one of the rallies which will accompany each home game this year. Students are urged to turn out en masse, and to greet the team with a burst of the old Nebraska spirit, which has been of so great an aid to past teams, and, in view of the wonderful prospects which this season offers, would undoubtedly be a factor in making the coming season perhaps Nebraska's banner year in gridiron history.

Definite plans for the rally will not be announced for a few days, but it is probable that it will follow the same form which was prevalent last year. The entire football squad will be present and the team will be introduced to the student body. Speeches will probably be given by the coaches. The band and the new cheer-leader will, no doubt, be on hand to instill the pep.

Later in the year an outdoor bonfire rally will be staged at which the freshmen will furnish fuel in the form of old boxes. Torch-light parades will also be held during the season. Freshmen especially should attend, in order to familiarize themselves with Nebraska's famous rallies. The rally will be over with in time to allow students to meet other engagements.

Fourth Number of Prairie Schooner Will be off Press in Early October

The Prairie Schooner, Nebraska's literary magazine, will be off the press early in October with its fourth number, Prof. L. C. Wimberly of the English department, announces today.

Kwei Chen, formerly a student in the philosophy department, who has published poems in the Century, Dial, and similar types of literary magazines. Other contributors are Helen Rummons, C. S. Yuan, Edward L. Fraker, Loren C. Eiseley, Frances Waggoner, Ivan Hall, Robert Lasch, Victoria Samuels, Thelma W. Sealock, G. O. Kelley, Harold C. Sandall, and Katherine R. Shankland.

The magazine is sponsored by the Wordsmith chapter of Sigma Upsilon, a national literary fraternity, and is published "as an outlet for the literary work in the University of Nebraska and a medium for the publication of the finest writing of the prairie country." It is being used in the English department this year as specimen material, the July issue having included the Freshman Scrapbook, a collection of notable work done in first year English courses last year.

With the October number of the Schooner, the magazine will be one year old, the first issue having appeared January 1. It is published every three months. During the year the Schooner has numbered among its contributors Bess Streeter Aldrich, well-known fiction writer of Ashland, Dr. L. A. Sherman, head of the English department and ranking dean, and Dr. H. B. Alexander, formerly head of the Philosophy department and an author of note.

The board of editors is composed of Prof. L. C. Wimberly, chairman, Martin S. Peterson, instructor in English; Gayle C. Walker, acting director of the School of Journalism; Gilbert H. Doane, University librarian, and members of the Wordsmith chapter of Sigma Upsilon.

Home Ecs Will Have Two New Silk Displays

Two exhibits of more than usual interest have been promised to the Home Economics department at the College of Agriculture by the educational department of the Wisconsin Co., New York City, N. Y., manufacturers of rayon silk and undergarments. The undergarment exhibit will arrive this week and the silk material will be ready in about two weeks.

The silk exhibit, which is called the "Permanent Rayon Exhibit," will show each step in the manufacturing process, starting with wood as the basic material, and ending with the finished product. Rayon Charts, explaining each step in the manufacture of Rayon, will accompany the exhibit.

The undergarment exhibit, is expected to arrive by the middle of next week. Charts are also being sent with the exhibits which will explain in every detail each step in the process of manufacture.

All students in the university are invited to see these exhibits which will be shown in the Home Economics building. Students in chemistry will be especially interested since the manufacturing process of both the silk and undergarments embody the use of chemicals.

New Shipment of Green Caps Expected Monday

A shipment of green caps is expected Monday morning at Spier's Clothing company. The shortage is the result of the unexpected large demand for the caps by the freshmen.

The time limit for the purchasing of the caps has been changed from Monday evening to Wednesday evening. Of the 800 green tickets sold about 500 have been exchanged for caps. Tickets may still be purchased from the Iron Sphinx at the University Activities office.

FORUM LUNCHEONS WILL BE RESUMED

Lloyd Marti to Address Group on "Activities" at Meeting Wednesday Noon

World Forum luncheons will be resumed Wednesday noon, when Lloyd Marti will address the group on the subject of "Activities." The World Forum luncheons are held at the Grand hotel at noon, each Wednesday. They are sponsored by the University Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. and all students, especially freshmen are welcome to attend.

Throughout the year, the committees in charge plan to present outstanding speakers and worthwhile subjects. It is their aim to have addresses on subjects of special interest to students, on campus problems as well as national and international questions. Following the talks, those who do not have 1 o'clock classes are urged to stay to ask questions of the speaker and for general discussion of the topic.

AWGWAN READY OCTOBER 10

First Issue of Nebraska's Student Humor Magazine Soon To Be Distributed

CALLED THE 'EYE-OPENER'

Awgwan, Nebraska's student humor magazine, is rapidly taking shape for the 1927-28 year with the announcement Saturday of its opening issue, "The Eye-Opener," to be released October 10, and the beginning of the annual subscription drive Wednesday of this week.

A snappy two-color cover for the Eye-Opener, drawn by J. Alan Klein, '30, Beatrice, is already in the hands of the engravers. Munro Kezer, editor of the Awgwan, when interviewed Saturday stated that the collection of cartoons submitted for "The Eye-Opener" contained some of the best work submitted for the comic monthly in recent years.

Plans for the subscription campaign are going forward under the direction of Hal F. Childs, business manager. Increased popularity of the Awgwan on the campus during the past year and its prospects for the present year in the opinion of the business manager warrant him to expect an increase of at least one-third in the circulation on the campus. The Awgwan has long been known off the campus as one of the cleverest of college comics. On the campus, however, it has been slow in gaining popularity, the bulk of the student body failing to appreciate its position until late last year.

Room For Staff Members Short sketches, jokes, verse, and other tid-bits of humor have been drifting slowly into the hands of the editor. He reported Saturday that there was still room on the staff for contributors, however, with final copy going into the hands of the printers early this week.

Monocle Club Will Become Active Again

Announcement of the re-organization of the Monocle club after two years of inactivity is made today by Wilbur Gaffney, president.

The Monocle club is an organization for university men who write verse. It was organized in the collegiate year 1924-5, but after that year, on account of the dispersion of some of its members, became inactive.

The club has contained several members who have attained some importance in the literary world since, especially K. Kwei Chen, who has published in the Century magazine, "The Dial," and others. The club also has a chapter at Marseilles headed by Raoul Ganteaume, a rising young French poet.

A get-together dinner will be held at the Cornhusker hotel in the near future, according to the president.

SIX VALLEY SCHOOLS TO FORM NEW CONFERENCE

Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas State and Iowa State Withdraw from Valley Taking Effect At the End of This Scholastic Year ORGANIZATION WILL BE FORMED NEXT DECEMBER

New Conference Not to Interfere with Contracts Made by Missouri Valley for This Year; Scheduled Games to Be Played in All Sports

The Missouri Valley conference will be no more. The withdrawal of Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas State and Iowa State from the Valley to take effect at the end of the scholastic year was announced last evening by Herbert Gish, acting director of athletics at Nebraska. The Missouri Valley has existed for 20 years and is one of the best known conferences in the country.

The six institutions that withdrew will form a conference of their own, the officials meeting in December to draw up plans for the coming year in the new formed conference. The embryo conference will not in any way interfere with any of the contracts made by the Missouri Valley for this year. All games scheduled will be played and all contracts fulfilled until June 1, 1928. The basketball schedule in the Valley has been drawn up since last spring and every game will be played and all contracts in minor sports fulfilled.

Chairman

Herbert Gish, who has been largely instrumental in bringing about the organization of the new conference. In recognition of his work, Mr. Gish has been appointed temporary chairman of the group.

MANY TRY OUT FOR MEN'S GLEE CLUB

Two Trips Scheduled for Club To Cover Southeastern Iowa and Nebraska

More than seventy candidates stood in line when tryouts for the men's glee club were held Friday afternoon in Morrill hall. Between thirty and thirty-five are expected to tryout Tuesday between 5 and 6 p. m. when aspirants will be given another chance to demonstrate their vocal abilities in room 219.

Last year ninety tried out for glee club and forty-six were admitted. This year the organization will be cut down to thirty-two members. Herman Decker is the club's director.

Two trips are already on schedule for the club. One will be taken the week before Christmas and will cover four days. The tour will take in southwestern Iowa. The other tour is to be during spring vacation and eight days will be spent traveling over Nebraska. The exact itinerary of the two trips has not yet been arranged. Twenty-two men are usually taken on the tours.

One hour credit is given for glee club. Freshmen who are accepted must also enroll for chorus if they expect to get credit for glee club.

The names of those who passed the trials will be announced the latter part of next week.

All University Church Sunday Is Fostered By Inter-Religious Group

The Inter-religious Campus Council, made up of student representatives of all denominations and religious groups represented on the campus, the student pastors, and the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. secretaries, met in regular session Saturday afternoon. It is the plan of this council to cooperate in bringing outstanding speakers to the campus, and to promote such affairs as All University Church Sunday.

Arrangements have already been made to have Dr. Allyn K. Foster, noted speaker, come to the campus Dec. 6, 7, and 8, and other prominent men are expected to come here under the auspices of this group.

All University Church Sunday, Oct. 9, will be especially fostered by the council, which plans to help interest the students in observing this traditional Sunday.

Women To Be Chosen for Octette This Week

Tryouts for the Women's Octette will be held in Morrill hall on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

Each year women are chosen for this group and they appear at various university functions.

There were three reasons for the six Missouri Valley schools withdrawing. The first was that the athletic officials of the six larger state institutions thought the present conference too large and unwieldy. Second it was too difficult to arrange schedules that were satisfactory to all concerned and that there was too much difference in the size of the schools and their power in athletics. Third, the present round-robin schedule in football and basketball required too much time of the athletes from their classes.

This action in forming a new conference was not the result of ambitious athletic boards, stated conference officials. It has received the hearty official approval of the presidential boards of the six institutions. The officials of the new conference will meet in St. Louis on December 3 to draw up the football schedule for 1928. The football schedule in the valley has always been made a year ahead of time and this custom will be followed in the future. No name has been decided upon for the new conference but by the time the officials meet in December, a name for the embryo conference will probably have been decided upon. Rules in the conference will require that each school plays a complete round-robin schedule, thus making each team meet every team in the conference at least once and possibly twice in basketball.

Advantage Given

The advantages of the new formed conference stated the committee are that all six of the schools are state institutions and their athletic prowess is somewhat equal. Also the enrollment is large enough to insure large attendance at all games. Another advantage is that all six of the schools have adequate housing capacity for football and basketball games thus insuring that the largest crowds will be taken care of.

Next fall on the gridiron Nebraska will meet every team in the conference, thus making every game a championship game. This will assure a definite means of determining a real champion, thereby doing away with the old system of only meeting half the teams in the valley and trying to hit upon a champion at the end of the season.

The constitution and bylaws of the new conference will be modeled somewhat after the Missouri Valley and after the Western Collegiate conference, with such changes and additions in rules as deemed necessary.

Gish Acting Chairman

Herbert Gish of Nebraska is temporary chairman and M. F. Ahearn, Kansas State, is temporary secretary of the newly formed conference, the other officers are as follows: The committee to form the constitution and bylaws: Dr. W. G. Manley of Missouri, Dean H. W. Arant of Kansas, and Director T. N. Metcalf of Iowa State. The faculty advisors are: Dean S. W. Beyer of Iowa State, (Continued on Page 2)

Museum Receives Freak Root and Tree Growths

A freak root growth peculiarly appropriate to Nebraska has been received at the university museum. It is in the form of an "N" and is about a foot square. It was found while excavations were being made on R street and was donated to the museum by Ervin J. Moyer.

Two other freak growths found in Nebraska are on display at the museum. One is a block of soft maple wood in which is embedded a horseshoe which was placed in the small tree thirty years ago, the tree growing around the horseshoe until it was cut down to make room for the new state capitol. Another freak is a section of a cherry tree through which a slender piece of wood was driven during the Omaha tornado in March, 1915. It was given the museum by U. G. Cornell.
