THE ANNUAL CRY

Bigger and better and cleaner elections! The cry goes around the campus twice a year—or three times if an election is thrown out on account of "dirty politics".

Last year the cry was stronger than ever and the Student Council took elaborate precautions. A clean election seemed inevitable. The Daily Nebraskan came out with a picture of the crowded polls, and the report of a record election.

But, rumor has it, even that election was not without its extra ballots nor as free from party management as could be wished.

Now rumor is about again. She whispers that two faculty members will stand guard behind the booths on election day—next Tuesday.

Mr. Jensen, president of the Council this year, is bending every effort to bring about a clean election. He can not do it alone.

Faculty supervision of student elections is not the ideal situation, but a clean election under faculty supervision is preferable to another kind under student management.

A COMMON BASIS

Considerable comment has come to this office about the editorial, "Just Decisions", which appeared in yesterday's Daily Nebraskan.

This editorial, however, was not intended to offend the persons who caused the dismissal. Only one grievance was held against them, that being the lack of a definite rule which would decide without question the matter of eligibility.

With this situation as an example, students interested in publications and other activities will have definite eligibility rules to follow.

NO SPECIAL TO MISSOURI?

Telephone calls pour into the offices of The Daily Nebraskan every afternoon asking why there is no special train to Missouri this week-end.

There are two very good reasons. First, no railroad goes directly to Columbia, Missouri; so it is necessary to make negotiations with two systems for a special.

Another reason stood in the way. Such a trip could have been made successful if every student attending had promised to ride on the train.

A large Nebraska gathering at the game Saturday is necessary. At present prospects look fairly good for a routing section.

In Other Columns

Students who attend this institution perhaps do not realize the importance of the state which supports

it. Here are a few important facts taken from a recent editorial in the Omaha World-Herald:

Nebraskans may well be proud. Sixty years ago this state was admitted to the union. Its raw hills and valleys have become agricultural wonders.

Its total wealth is now $5,500,000,000, an average of four thousand dollars per capita. The total state income amounts to 719 million dollars per year.

It is now erecting a nine million dollar state capitol. During the past three years three thousand miles of permanent highways have been constructed.

The combined value of live stock and crops amounts to $569,877,390. The state ranks first in cattle per farm, the annual beef production amounting to 1,400,000,000 pounds.

It has the largest horse market in the world. The annual surplus of pork amounts to 1,332,632,894 pounds.

The value of poultry raised in the state amounts to 32 million dollars annually. During the past five years the corn crop has averaged 218,107,000 bushels.

Over three million tons of alfalfa is raised for the market each year, which brings the agriculturists between 35 and 40 million dollars.

Sugar beet sales amount to about five million dollars per year, from which is manufactured an annual surplus of 80 million pounds of sugar.

An additional outstanding fact about Nebraska is that it has no bonded indebtedness, and cannot have any, except 100 thousand dollars for emergency.

THE SPECTATOR

I have observed, how that when a Delusion or Misapprehension is once conceived (or, if you wish, not conceived), it is likely to propagate itself to the Point that Men accept it as truth without applying to it the Test of Reason.

I quote: "It is too absurd for words to think for a moment that he (the Spectator) has any idea of service driving him onward to such unflinching labors."

As my last Proof that no mean Desire for Amusement is the Ground for this Column, I submit to Mr. L. M. M. that only those who are having Fun give the Appearance of Solemnity; and if Mr. L. M. M. will call 'round at the Office he will find me a Man of jocular Disposition.

I have had Cause to suspect, in this matter of Publications, that the Campus will soon be thrown into a peculiar Situation as regards Material for Thought. For not only is the Awgwan to be published soon; but The Prairie Schooner has threatened to come off the Press within a few Days too.

A prize fight, robbery, and an elopement help tangle up matters into what seems to be a hopeless state, when the "Deacon" arrives, and with his ludicrous actions and keen wit, manages to extricate the heroine and her lover from their difficulties, besides clearing up all other complications.

The first performance will start promptly at 8 o'clock in the Temple theater, with additional evening shows Friday and Saturday. There will be a special student matinee Friday at 3 o'clock and another matinee Saturday at 3 o'clock.

A new assistant in the geography department is Miss Floy Hurlbut, who has spent several years teaching in China.

STARS ARE SUNS, THE SUN IS A STAR

"Light which travels 186,000 miles a second comes to us from Neptune, the outermost planet of our system, in about four hours, but it takes about four years for the light to reach us from the nearest stars.

Reckoning distances in light years we find the outlying globular clusters are at distances ranging from 20,000 to 200,000 light years away. It is a staggering thought that these objects, barely visible to the naked eye, are seen by the light which left them before human history began on the earth."

Honorary Colonel Secret

The ballot for the honorary colonel will be counted by the council advisor in the presence of a representative from the Military department, probably Colonel F. F. Jewett.

No electioneering will be allowed inside the Temple building. This rule is to be enforced. Senior Council members will be stationed about the lobby and are to put forth every effort to give each student a fair chance in the fall election.

Filings may be made in the Student Activities office in the Coliseum.

LUTHERAN CLUB MEETS

First of Year Will Be Held Friday Evening in Temple

The University Lutheran club will have its first meeting of the year Friday evening, October 8, at eight o'clock, in room 204 of the Temple. Lee Odman, president, will introduce the other officers, and take charge of the program.

The group is primarily social, and presents interesting programs through the year. Several parties have been planned, the first to be a Halloween party on November 4. Interesting speakers will be present at some of the other meetings.

The regular meeting nights are the first and third Fridays of the month. All Lutheran students and their friends are invited to join.

Lieutenant-Commander John Philip Sousa says that student audiences are the most intelligent in the world. He says that both in Europe and in the United States he has found a certain alert spirit in college audiences.

Sousa contends that applause is necessary because it is the only way that the poor musician can tell that he is appreciated.
