RULES FOR STUDENT AUTOS WILL DEPEND UPON SURVEY

Officials Decide That Conditions Concerning Use of Automobiles Needs Attention; Nothing Will Be Done Until Complete Examination Is Made

PLAN PROBABLY IN EFFECT BY SECOND SEMESTER

Belief That Automobiles Are Bad Influence Brought About Action; Diversion Caused By Use Brings Bad Scholarship, Moral and Financial States

Restriction of the use of automobiles by students, to be effective in near future, is planned for the University, the board of regents announced Saturday following their regular meeting. Rules concerning the use of automobiles by students at the University of Nebraska are to be laid down after an investigation by the board of regents of present conditions and needs.

Action of the regents concerning student use of automobiles as delivered to the press read as follows:

"The regents ordered that the use of automobiles by students at the University of Nebraska be eliminated subject to such rules and regulations as the board of regents may determine after special study of the present conditions and needs."

Does Not Abolish Autos

Interviews with Acting Chancellor Burnett and William P. Warner, president of the board of regents, revealed that the action of the regents was not as sweeping as was indicated in their statement to the press. The action of the regents did not ban student autos. It merely laid down the general policy of the regents that such usage should be restricted. The regents plan an investigation of the policies in regard to student autos as adopted at other institutions after which they intend to formulate a definite program which they believe will be applicable to the Nebraska situation. Acting Chancellor Burnett stated that he thought the plan would be in operation at least

Unofficial Check of Cornhusker's Annual Sales Campaign Shows Record Number

The Cornhusker campaign sales are exceeding the highest expectations of the management of the 1928 yearbook according to a report from the business office late last evening. Although some of the organizations have not yet checked in their sales results the results so far point to a record-breaking campaign.

The largest day's sales in the history of the book for the past several years was turned in to the business office Friday evening at the close of the drive. Only a limited supply of extra books are to be printed this year and students who have not as yet purchased their books are urged to do so at once.

"We have pledged ourselves to make the 1928 Cornhusker pre-eminent and with the whole hearted support thus far given us by the students we will find it much easier to fulfill the promise," declared Dwight Wallace, editor.

Life Series In Morrill Hall Near Complete

Important additions to the life series in the university, Morrill hall, are being made this week, and this series, one of the most interesting in the museum, will be completed within a short time.

The new additions which will complete the display consist of large plaster-paris casts representing all the stages of life known to science, together with explanations of each group. The series starts with the amoeba, most elemental form of life, and continues in zoological order until the vertebrates are reached. When the series is completed it will be on display in the center cases of the lower floor, Morrill hall.

Scabbard and Blade to Sponsor Dance to Replace Old Military Carnival

MOST INFORMAL EVENT

The Cadet Crawl, October 29, will take the place of the annual military carnival staged by Scabbard and Blade in previous years. The party is to be a very informal military ball. The change was made in the type of parties to leave the old carnival spirit and to stage an altogether different dance.

The general chairman, Cadet Colonel Henry Jorgensen, explained yesterday that the plans are being shaped up now to make this the most informal dance of the year. The details of the entertainment features have not been announced yet, although the colonel intimated that this part of the program would be all that is desired.

A fortnightly series will open for the women at Westminster house, 335 North 14th street, next Sunday at five. At this time Professor C. H. North Platte Alumnus Visits Campus Friday

Mr. R. A. Ogier who graduated in mechanical engineering in 1922, was a campus visitor Friday. Mr. Ogier is in the gas and oil business at North Platte.

Selection of "Andrews hall" as the name of the new building was made by the board of regents in honor of former Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews. He served as chancellor of the university from 1900 to 1908 when the present Chancellor-Emeritus Samuel Avery became chancellor.

The new building will make it possible to have the college of dentistry on the main university campus. At present it is located on the second and third floors of the old Oliver building at the corner of 13th and P streets. According to present plans the building will also be used to accommodate the English department. The statement issued by the board of regents following their meeting indicated that the building would probably be used to house other departments. These were not named.

Building Fund Will Be Used
The building will be erected out of funds from the university building fund, not out of the maintenance fund of the university.

All members of the board of regents were present at the meeting Saturday except Regent Stanley D. Long of Cowles. He was unable to be present due to his wife's illness.
