

IN THE VALLEY

By JACK ELLIOTT

The Syracuse Orange football squad arrives in Lincoln this morning on the Rock Island. Reports are coming in from outside sources to the effect that Nebraska is not showing its usual amount of pep before a big game. A stranger coming on the campus would be totally unaware of the fact that Nebraska was meeting the fastest eastern eleven in the country. There seems to be something the trouble with Cornhusker spirit. A huge rally of the Notre Dame type will be held tonight and a snake dance and torch light parade will proceed to the Lincoln hotel to bid the Orange eleven welcome to the camp of Nebraska's Huskers.

Eastern football eyes will focus on the Memorial stadium gridiron tomorrow. Eastern football meets western football to determine the supremacy of the two sections of the country. So far this season western pigskin tactics have overcome the eastern game and now comes another test for the ball jugglers from the Atlantic seaboard.

Valley football critics will match the homecoming game at Ames where the Iowa State eleven, that has been doped as one of the strongest elevens in the conference will entertain the Kansas Aggies. The victory the Wildcats put over on the Sooners last week sent their stock up and the valley critics are watching the Cyclones to pick a possible victor over Missouri.
