DEBATERS HOLD CAMPUS FLOOR MONDAY NIGHT

Advance Reports Indicate Largest Attendance At Nebraska

BEGINS AT EIGHT O'CLOCK

Two Audience Votes and Open Forum Discussion Will Be Features

International debate will hold sway on the Nebraska campus Monday evening when Cambridge, England, takes the affirmative of the question, "This house thinks that the ethics of the modern business world are incompatible with sound morality," against the University of Nebraska. The debate will start at eight o'clock in Grant Memorial hall. Former Governor Samuel R. McKelvie will act as chairman.

Advance ticket sale and inquiries concerning the debate indicate that the attendance will be the largest in the history of Nebraska forensics. The English debaters have drawn unusual crowds for debate in their appearances in this country in the last few years. Cambridge drew 2,000 at Portland, Maine. An Oxford team last year drew 2,000 in St. Louis and 2,000 in Pittsburgh, being forced to turn 1,000 away in that city.

Opposite Political Views
Representing each of the three important political groups of England, the three Cambridge debaters form an interesting combination. Cambridge will be represented by M. A. B. King-Hamilton, Herbert Lionel Elvin, and Hugh Mackintosh Foot. Mr. King-Hamilton is a conservative, Mr. Elvin a socialist, and Mr. Foot a liberal.

Nebraska will be represented by David A. Fellman, Robert Baldwin, and George E. Johnson. Fellman and Johnson are both former varsity debaters and members of Delta Sigma Rho, national forensic fraternity. Mr. Baldwin, a law student, is in his first year on the Nebraska campus, having taken his pre-law work in Tennessee.

Audience Has Votes
An audience vote before and after the debate and the open forum at the close will furnish an opportunity for audience participation in the debate. The audience will vote as to their beliefs on the question before the debate. They will vote on the same manner at the close, any change in sentiment, tending to indicate superior debating on the part of the team

1500 Radio Listeners Are on Mailing List Of University Studio

More than 150 names were on the mailing list on October 17 when the first mailing was made of Mrs. True Homemaker's radio recipes. Mrs. True Homemaker talks each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday morning at 10:30 at the University of Nebraska radio studio. One feature of each talk is one or more recipes that have been tried out and found satisfactory. Copies of these recipes are then mailed twice each month to those who ask to be on the mailing list.

This is the second year that this service has been given to radio listeners. Experiments are being made now with question and answer periods at 12:30 in the noon hour and an attempt is being made to give prompt and accurate answers to inquiries sent in through the mail to the college. Most of these questions will be of interest to men. If the response to this noon period is good, it may become a regular feature of the 1928 farm radio program of the university.

WALTHILL GIRL WINS PRIZE

Helen Ludwickson's Essay on Good Roads Chosen as Best

The Nebraska prize-winner in the state-wide contest for essays on good roads is Miss Helen Ludwickson, a student in the Walthill high school, it is announced today by the University of Nebraska extension division.

Miss Ludwickson's essay was chosen by a committee appointed by the national board in charge of the essay contest for the $4,000 Firestone prize. The contest was state wide, and preliminary elimination was made by the English department of the university, the final decision being determined by the national committee.

The Walthill student's essay will be submitted in the national contest. She has been issued a diploma certifying the state award.

FIFTEEN BANDS VISIT LINCOLN

Over Four Hundred Musicians Will Come for "Band Day" Tuesday

SOUSA WILL PRESENT CUP

"Band day" in Lincoln next Tuesday, is taking on noticeable proportions with the decision of fifteen high school and town bands in Nebraska to come to Lincoln on that day. More than 400 young musicians will be in the city.

The feature of the day, planned by the University of Nebraska, will be the presentation of a large silver cup to the university cadet band. Sousa himself will present the cup, which is donated by him, as a reward for Nebraska's cadet regiment attaining the "blue star" rating last year.

High school and town bands which will come to Lincoln for "Band day" include those from Humboldt, Unadilla, Syracuse, Geneva, Tecumseh, Craig, Greenwood, Havelock, Seward (two bands), Utica (two bands), Beaver Crossing, and Milford, besides the Lincoln high school and the university cadet bands.

When the young musicians arrive in the city Tuesday morning and afternoon they will parade through the city in uniform, then will go to the coliseum for the matinee performance. There they will be massed into one large musical organization and directed in one number by Sousa. In the evening a similar performance will be given.

Iowa College Students See Huskers Play

Among the delegations attending the Nebraska-Syracuse football game was that of Clarinda Junior college of Clarinda, Iowa. There were sixty-five students in the party, which occupied a special section in the stadium, arranged by the courtesy of the athletic department of the university.

The trip, which is about a hundred miles, was made by automobile. The morning was spent in a sightseeing excursion which included the new state capital building, the agricultural college campus, the downtown campus, and the museum in Morrill hall.

The young people were chaperoned by members of the faculty of the college. Among them were G. C. Rowland, and Superintendent Weaver, who are alumni of the University of Nebraska.

Posture Defects Are Discussed by Co-Eds In Ag College Class

An out-of-the-ordinary class discussion was held in the home economics classes last week when Miss Rousch from the physical education department visited them. The purpose of the discussion was to present ways of correcting defects of the posture of the girls. It was the dress forms, made of each girl, that pointed out very distinctly the many defects.

After an individual analysis of abnormalities and their possible remedies, Miss Rousch suggested exercises by which each might be helped. As an example, continuous wearing of high heels tends to cause a girl to sway her back, thus making the hips too prominent.

A change has been made in conducting the physical education classes at the college of agriculture campus. Instead of regulation tactics drills, corrective classes in posture are being conducted, with the purpose of aiding the girls to develop proper, normal bodies. In this way, it is hoped that the dress forms to be produced next fall shall be less defective and more nearly normal than at the ones of this year.

DECORATIONS WILL FEATURE HOMECOMING

Annual Contest by Campus Organizations Staged For Alumni

BONFIRE RALLY FRIDAY

Winning Fraternities and Sororities Will Be Given Prizes

Plans for the annual Homecoming day, featured by the Nebraska-Kansas football game, were announced by the Innocents yesterday afternoon. Fraternities and sororities will welcome visitors and alumni through house decorations, competing for prizes awarded by the committee. A bonfire rally held on the drill field Friday evening will be the opening event of the celebration.

Saturday morning the olympics, annual contest between the freshmen and sophomores, will be held in the stadium and on the drill field.

Announcement of rules for the decoration contest has been made by the committee in charge. Each sorority and fraternity will be limited to $25.00 for expenditures in decorating. The treasurer of every organization must turn in a statement of money spent to Oscar Norling at The Daily Nebraskan office by 5 o'clock Friday evening. Flood lights will be required for the display, as the judging will be done after sundown. The round of the houses by the judges will begin at 6:30 o'clock Friday

ARTS FEDERATION TO CONVENE HERE

Western Section of Society Will Hold Meetings in Lincoln Thanksgiving Week

Artists, critics, and teachers of art will gather in Lincoln during Thanksgiving week with the new state capitol, one of the few distinctive buildings in America today, as the principal attraction. It is the first meeting of the western section, American Federation of Arts, and Lincoln has been honored by being chosen for the first convention. Sessions begin November 21 and continue through Wednesday, November 23.

Without doubt, some of the most important persons in the world of art will be here for the meetings. One of the noted artists is E. L. Blumenschein, of the Taos school in New Mexico. Blumenschein was one of the first of this school, which finds its material in the picturesque country and aboriginal traditions about Taos, and he is surely one of

TRYOUTS WILL BE THURSDAY

Dramatic Club Announces Time For Membership Trials

Tryouts for the Dramatic club will be held Thursday evening in the Temple theater. Each person trying out will be allotted two minutes, while five minutes time will be given to two persons.

Herbert Morrison is president of the Dramatic club; Marjorie Sturdevant, vice-president; W. Zolley Kerner, secretary; Fred Barber, treasurer; and Kate Goldstein, publicity manager.

Presnell Makes It First and Ten

Sulphur Mining Film Shown this Afternoon

The weekly entertainment at Morrill hall this Sunday will be a double reel film on sulphur, preceded by a short explanatory talk. The mining of sulphur, how deposits are charged with hot water to dissolve the sulphur and bring it to the surface, will be brought out in the film.

The program begins at 4 o'clock in the museum auditorium, lower floor of Morrill hall, Fourteenth and U streets.

YEARLINGS TRY FOR OLYMPICS

First-Year Men Are Chosen; Sophomore Trials Held Tuesday Afternoon

PART OF HOMECOMING

Sophomore boxers and wrestlers will try out for positions on the second year olympic team next Tuesday, at 5 o'clock in the coliseum. The tryouts will be judged by Kellogg, assistant wrestling team coach, and Rudolph Voelger, physical education instructor. The team to be picked will include men in the following classes; 125, 145, and 175 pounds.

The four men to represent the sophomores in the 440-yard relay will also be selected Tuesday afternoon. According to Gordon Larson, sophomore olympics head, a large number of men have signified their intention of trying out for both of these teams. There will be no tryouts for the other events, but those men wishing to take part are urged by the men in charge of each team to report to Gordon Larson, or Harry Pritchard, freshmen captain.

Freshmen Work Saturday
The freshmen boxing and wrestling tryouts were held Saturday morning in the coliseum. The results have not been announced yet. It is expected that the men who will represent the first-year men will be announced later in the week.

"Unusual interest has been shown in the olympics this year," declared Thomas Elliot, in charge of the

Three Hundred Omahans Make Annual Visit

Three hundred Omaha visitors, representing every phase of the livestock industry in that city, visited the college of agriculture yesterday where they were entertained by the department of animal husbandry.

After arriving in Lincoln by special train at 9:15 o'clock, they paraded to Fifteenth and O streets where they were transported to the college of agriculture campus in special busses. They assembled in the judging pavilion where they were entertained until noon by the Block and Bridge club, an organization of students.

At noon they were taken to the student activities building where a lunch was served. Acting Chancellor E. A. Burnett gave an address of welcome and Prof. W. W. Burr acted as toastmaster at the luncheon. The lunch was served by students in the college, being under the direction of Miss Bernice Elwell, director of the cafeteria.

After arriving in Lincoln by special Ford Hovey, manager of the union

HUSKER MACHINE TALLIES 21 POINTS TO SYRACUSE 0

Nebraskans Score impressive Victory Over Orange Invaders In Dad's Day Clash; Presnell Adds Two Touchdowns To Season's Record Before 23,000 Fans

BAYSINGER DISPLAYS KICKING AND PASSING WARES

Rival Pilot Shows Flashy Form in Aerial Game; Attempts Twenty-eight Passes When Scarlet Linesmen Stop All Efforts at Running Attack

By Jack Elliott

Nebraska triumphed 21 to 0 over Syracuse in the east-west intersectional clash on Memorial Stadium field yesterday before a crowd of 23,000 Husker fans. Baysinger, Syracuse quarterback, was the stellar performer of the annual Dad's day game. The passing of the sensational back was the best exhibition of the aerial game against Nebraska this year.

The first touchdown of the game came after the first five minutes when Glenn Presnell, stellar Husker halfback, skirted left end for six yards and crossed the goal line. Dan McMullen kicked goal for the extra point. Another counter was collected by the Scarlet eleven in the first quarter when Presnell again drove across the Syracuse goal line for six points. The last touchdown of the game was made by George Farley, diminutive Husker fullback, after he had received a long pass from Witte.

Blue Howell did not start the game but "Dutch" Witte was assigned the task to work with Presnell in the starting Nebraska lineup. Witte and Presnell tore through the Orange line during the first quarter for numerous first downs. Wide end runs by Presnell and tackle smashes by Witte carried the ball to the six-yard line in the first five minutes of play.

HARRIERS WIN EASY VICTORY

Schulte's Long-Distance Men All Cross Final Line Ahead of Drake

Bronson Pilots Team

Bronson opened the game in the pilot position and generated the Husker team in great fashion. The reserve Husker quarterback displayed his ability at carrying the pigskin and smashed the Orange forward wall for big gains. To Witte fell the job as Husker passer and Glenn Presnell held down the punting department with his sneak punts.

The Syracuse passing combination, Baysinger to Goldman, was the best exhibition of the aerial game that has been displayed on stadium field this season. The Orange quarterback tried twenty-eight passes and completed eleven of them. Long hurls as far as seventy yards were thrown by the flashy back. The Orange aerial attack worked during the opening quarter against Coach Bear's well drilled Scarlet crew but as the game progressed the Bearmen commenced to intercept some of the long passes of Baysinger and accounted for seven intercepted passes before the game ended.

Blue Goes In
Six first downs were marked up for the Cornhusker eleven during the first quarter. Syracuse could only collect one long first down during the opening stanza and it was made by a forward pass, Baysinger-Goldman.

Blue Howell was inserted into the lineup near the end of the first quarter. He replaced Witte in the Husker backfield. The Lincoln high school star walked off the field amid a great ovation from the student body in the stadium. Witte in the opening quarter played the greatest game of his football career. Elmer Holm, who has been suffering with an infected leg, was sent into the Nebraska line in place of Whitmore.

Monday Luncheon Will Begin Invitation Week Of Campus Y.W.C.A.

The luncheon and get-together of all girls working in the Y. W. C. A. invitation week drive, which was to have been held Saturday noon has been postponed until Monday noon, on account of the Day's Day luncheon. Because the drive will not start until after the luncheon, invitation week will not begin until Monday noon.

Ruth Barker, vice-president, and Hazel Sutton, chairman of the finance committee, will give short talks explaining the significance of the drives and membership in the organization.

Mary Ball is in charge of the luncheon which will be given at Ellen Smith hall, Monday, between 12 and 1 o'clock. About a hundred girls are expected to attend.

Illustrated Lecture On "Shoes" Presented At Museum November 6

An interesting and significant program is being planned for the museum's entertainment on November 6. It will be an illustrated lecture on "Shoes," featured by a display of original shoes from all countries and times since the middle ages.

According to the museum staff, the collection of shoes is an extraordinary one, and the lecture will be unusually interesting. The shoe collection will be on display on the lower floor of Morrill hall before and after the lecture.
