

Cambridge Debaters Are Impressed With Industry and Efficiency Here

Three young Englishmen, the Cambridge debate team, saw the campus of the University of Nebraska Monday, and were impressed with the efficiency and industry which they saw everywhere about them. Mr. M. A. B. King-Hamilton, Herbert Lionel Elvin, and Hugh Mackintosh Foot, Cambridge debaters, were most impressed with the coliseum, the stadium and Morrill hall. They compared the stadium with the stadium at Wembley, and thought Nebraska's the better. Mr. King-Hamilton said that Nebraska's stadium was the most magnificent one that they had seen.

In Morrill hall, the debaters lingered over the fossil displays, and were surprised to find that teaching of evolution was permitted in the schools of the state. The Dayton trial had received as much publicity in England as it had in the United States, and they thought that evolution was no longer taught "in the states."

"You start work much earlier than we do and work harder than we do," said Mr. Foot in reply to a request for his impressions of American university life. He added that there are very few lectures in the morning, so that a Cambridge university student seldom has any classes before one o'clock in the afternoon. There are few lectures, sometimes one or two each day, and cutting may be done with impunity.

Women in English universities are over-chaperoned and regulated. Ten o'clock in the evening is the time when the doors are closed, although at times, they are left open for an additional half-hour. Leave is granted to remain until a later hour in special cases. Women who are taking university work are not permitted to go to the theater except in groups of four or more, properly chaperoned.

A regulation is in effect at Cambridge and Oxford permitting student cars on the campus only between the hours of one and eight o'clock. As a consequence the villages about Cambridge are very much patronized as places in which one may keep a car in defiance of university rules.

The student life at Cambridge is that of care-free bachelors. The men are as carefully regulated in their lives at school as are the women, the hours being supervised by the authorities, although as it was brought out in the interview, "There are ways of evading the rule."

At Ames, the debaters witnessed their first American football game. They were surprised at the organization that existed even as to the cheering. The sport of Rugby, which is English football, draws large crowds, as many as forty thousand attending the annual contest between Cambridge and Oxford. Seats are hard to get and the rivalry is keen between the supporters of the two teams. Cheering is spontaneous, and added Mr. Sheldon Tefft, Nebraska's Rhodes scholar, "They make more noise than we do." English colleges have no yells or school songs.

Dining clubs fill the place in English life that is occupied by the fraternities and sororities in the American university life. Dining is very popular in England. Coffee-drinking, too, is a diversion of English university students and is much indulged in, in the early morning hours. The debaters complimented the Americans on their ability to make coffee, but had to admit that our tea has not much to recommend it.

The debaters admitted a fondness for "hot dogs". They remarked on the prevalence of waffles as a breakfast dish; pancakes in England being a "sweet" or dessert. American ice cream appealed to their taste as being far superior to the English product.

The American woman was neither censured nor commended. Mr. King-Hamilton said that more long hair was found in America than in England. The "Eton crop" has supplanted the boyish "bob" in favor, and demands a shorter cut than the former favorite. There is no indication in England that short hair is going out of favor.

Only twice have the debaters seen women smoking here, once at a restaurant, and once on the train, which led them to make the statement that Americans indulge their "vices" in private.

No English university has a daily paper. The Englishmen were much impressed with the Daily Nebraskan and at the real news it contained. The London press is too dominating to permit college daily papers, and the only attempt at journalism in these colleges is a weekly bulletin, that cannot be called a "newspaper", since it does not contain much of news value.

"We never believed Pittsburg would be so indiscreet as to permit itself to be beaten four to nothing," replied Mr. Elvin to the question as to his opinion of the world's series. He further explained that in England, baseball was a children's game, played with a racket and soft ball, and called "grounders".

Hockey, which in America is more of a woman's game, is popular among both sexes in England. Mixed matches are played and are, according to Mr. King-Hamilton, "hard for the men, who have to be gentlemen enough not to strike the women when a feminine player has used her stick on a masculine ankle". Basketball is a woman's game in England, and the Englishmen were amazed to find the importance given to the game here, and the huge space which is devoted to it in the coliseum.

The PLAYHOUSE TONIGHT—ALL WEEK A WORLD-FAMOUS HIT "THE HOTTENTOT"

Ralf Harold in the part made famous by Wm. Collier. Cast of favorites, augmented by Ruth Thomas, new leading lady; Bebe Leslie, tiny but, oh, my; John Holden, needs no introduction. Evns. 25c, 50c, 75c—Mats. 25c, 50c

LIBERTY THIS WEEK—EXCEPT THURS. PIERRE WATKIN —Presents— TWO BROADWAY STARS Dulcie Cooper (New Leading Lady) J. Glynn McFarlane (New Leading Man) —IN— "MARY'S OTHER HUSBAND"

A High Gear Comedy Still Playing on Broadway Music by the Revellers Mats. Tues. and Sat.—25c and 50c EVENINGS—25c, 50c, 75c Wednesday Night ALPHA XI DELTA BENEFIT

A SLICE OF LIFE! NORMA SHEARER "AFTER MIDNIGHT" An M. G. M. Picture

A rapid fire story of what takes place while you sleep— GORGEOUS GOWNS DELIGHTFUL ROMANCE VAUDEVILLE— Ed & Morton Beck Singing Funsters MARTIN, MAYO & TWEED International Clowns JANE DECKER "A Dance Cycle" Beaver and His Melody Boys Wilbur Chenoweth NEWS—FABLES

THIS WEEK INCOLN MAT.—35c NITE—50c

LIBERTY—Thurs. Nov. 3 THEATRE Special School Teachers Matinee

LOVELIEST, MOST SATISFYING OPERETTA OF OUR TIMES AND FOREMOST SUCCESS OF MUSICAL STAGE HISTORY Messrs. Shubert Present FAREWELL ENGAGEMENT Brilliant—Beautiful—Memorable

BLOSSOM TIME

Special School Teachers Matinee Thursday Best Seats $2.00 With an Ideal N. Y. Cast. SPECIAL SYMPHONY THE N. Y. CENTURY THEATER PRODUCTION A Sprightly Ensemble of Dancing and Singing Girls NIGHT—50c, $1, $1.50, $2, $2.50 Plus Tax Pop. Mat. Thur. 50c, $1, $1.50, $2 No Higher

Here's a Drama As Ruthless and Thrilling As "Underworld"—

FRED THOMSON Jesse James NEWS—COMEDY—TOPICS

THIS WEEK RIALTO THIS WEEK

COMEDY — NEWS MAT.—25c NITE—35c SHOWS—1-3-5-7-9

ORPHEUM ALL WEEK A Romance of Youth Combined With Rallicking Comedy

MARY PICKFORD America's Sweetheart in "MY BEST GIRL" "THE OLD WOLLOP" A Jolly Laughest With "OUR GANG"

BARBIC AND ORCHESTRA SHOWS—1:00, 3:00, 7:00, 9:00 MATS.—35c NITE—50c

Laughs Are Healed This Way

CONKLIN TELL 17 TO SWEENEY

COMEDY — NEWS MAT.—15c NITE—25c SHOWS—1-3-5-7-9

MON. TUES. WED. COLONIAL THEATRE

cheering. The sport of Rugby, which is English football, draws large crowds, as many as forty thousand attending the annual contest between Cambridge and Oxford. Seats are hard to get and the rivalry is keen between the supporters of the two teams. Cheering is spontaneous, and added Mr. Sheldon Tefft, Nebraska's Rhodes scholar, "They make more noise than we do." English colleges have no yells or school songs.

Dining clubs fill the place in English life that is occupied by the fraternities and sororities in the American university life. Dining is very popular in England. Coffee-drinking, too, is a diversion of English university students and is much indulged in, in the early morning hours. The debaters complimented the Americans on their ability to make coffee, but had to admit that our tea has not much to recommend it.

The debaters admitted a fondness for "hot dogs". They remarked on the prevalence of waffles as a breakfast dish; pancakes in England being a "sweet" or dessert. American ice cream appealed to their taste as being far superior to the English product.

The American woman was neither censured nor commended. Mr. King-Hamilton said that more long hair was found in America than in England. The "Eton crop" has supplanted the boyish "bob" in favor, and demands a shorter cut than the former favorite. There is no indication in England that short hair is going out of favor.

Only twice have the debaters seen women smoking here, once at a restaurant, and once on the train, which led them to make the statement that Americans indulge their "vices" in private.

No English university has a daily paper. The Englishmen were much impressed with the Daily Nebraskan and at the real news it contained. The London press is too dominating to permit college daily papers, and the only attempt at journalism in these colleges is a weekly bulletin, that cannot be called a "newspaper", since it does not contain much of news value.

"We never believed Pittsburg would be so indiscreet as to permit itself to be beaten four to nothing," replied Mr. Elvin to the question as to his opinion of the world's series. He further explained that in England, baseball was a children's game, played with a racket and soft ball, and called "grounders".

Hockey, which in America is more of a woman's game, is popular among both sexes in England. Mixed matches are played and are, according to Mr. King-Hamilton, "hard for the men, who have to be gentlemen enough not to strike the women when a feminine player has used her stick on a masculine ankle". Basketball is a woman's game in England, and the Englishmen were amazed to find the importance given to the game here, and the huge space which is devoted to it in the coliseum.

cheering. The sport of Rugby, which is English football, draws large crowds, as many as forty thousand attending the annual contest between Cambridge and Oxford. Seats are hard to get and the rivalry is keen between the supporters of the two teams. Cheering is spontaneous, and added Mr. Sheldon Tefft, Nebraska's Rhodes scholar, "They make more noise than we do." English colleges have no yells or school songs.

Dining clubs fill the place in English life that is occupied by the fraternities and sororities in the American university life. Dining is very popular in England. Coffee-drinking, too, is a diversion of English university students and is much indulged in, in the early morning hours. The debaters complimented the Americans on their ability to make coffee, but had to admit that our tea has not much to recommend it.

The debaters admitted a fondness for "hot dogs". They remarked on the prevalence of waffles as a breakfast dish; pancakes in England being a "sweet" or dessert. American ice cream appealed to their taste as being far superior to the English product.

The American woman was neither censured nor commended. Mr. King-Hamilton said that more long hair was found in America than in England. The "Eton crop" has supplanted the boyish "bob" in favor, and demands a shorter cut than the former favorite. There is no indication in England that short hair is going out of favor.

Only twice have the debaters seen women smoking here, once at a restaurant, and once on the train, which led them to make the statement that Americans indulge their "vices" in private.

No English university has a daily paper. The Englishmen were much impressed with the Daily Nebraskan and at the real news it contained. The London press is too dominating to permit college daily papers, and the only attempt at journalism in these colleges is a weekly bulletin, that cannot be called a "newspaper", since it does not contain much of news value.

"We never believed Pittsburg would be so indiscreet as to permit itself to be beaten four to nothing," replied Mr. Elvin to the question as to his opinion of the world's series. He further explained that in England, baseball was a children's game, played with a racket and soft ball, and called "grounders".

Hockey, which in America is more of a woman's game, is popular among both sexes in England. Mixed matches are played and are, according to Mr. King-Hamilton, "hard for the men, who have to be gentlemen enough not to strike the women when a feminine player has used her stick on a masculine ankle". Basketball is a woman's game in England, and the Englishmen were amazed to find the importance given to the game here, and the huge space which is devoted to it in the coliseum.

cheering. The sport of Rugby, which is English football, draws large crowds, as many as forty thousand attending the annual contest between Cambridge and Oxford. Seats are hard to get and the rivalry is keen between the supporters of the two teams. Cheering is spontaneous, and added Mr. Sheldon Tefft, Nebraska's Rhodes scholar, "They make more noise than we do." English colleges have no yells or school songs.

Dining clubs fill the place in English life that is occupied by the fraternities and sororities in the American university life. Dining is very popular in England. Coffee-drinking, too, is a diversion of English university students and is much indulged in, in the early morning hours. The debaters complimented the Americans on their ability to make coffee, but had to admit that our tea has not much to recommend it.

The debaters admitted a fondness for "hot dogs". They remarked on the prevalence of waffles as a breakfast dish; pancakes in England being a "sweet" or dessert. American ice cream appealed to their taste as being far superior to the English product.

The American woman was neither censured nor commended. Mr. King-Hamilton said that more long hair was found in America than in England. The "Eton crop" has supplanted the boyish "bob" in favor, and demands a shorter cut than the former favorite. There is no indication in England that short hair is going out of favor.

Only twice have the debaters seen women smoking here, once at a restaurant, and once on the train, which led them to make the statement that Americans indulge their "vices" in private.

No English university has a daily paper. The Englishmen were much impressed with the Daily Nebraskan and at the real news it contained. The London press is too dominating to permit college daily papers, and the only attempt at journalism in these colleges is a weekly bulletin, that cannot be called a "newspaper", since it does not contain much of news value.

"We never believed Pittsburg would be so indiscreet as to permit itself to be beaten four to nothing," replied Mr. Elvin to the question as to his opinion of the world's series. He further explained that in England, baseball was a children's game, played with a racket and soft ball, and called "grounders".

Hockey, which in America is more of a woman's game, is popular among both sexes in England. Mixed matches are played and are, according to Mr. King-Hamilton, "hard for the men, who have to be gentlemen enough not to strike the women when a feminine player has used her stick on a masculine ankle". Basketball is a woman's game in England, and the Englishmen were amazed to find the importance given to the game here, and the huge space which is devoted to it in the coliseum.

cheering. The sport of Rugby, which is English football, draws large crowds, as many as forty thousand attending the annual contest between Cambridge and Oxford. Seats are hard to get and the rivalry is keen between the supporters of the two teams. Cheering is spontaneous, and added Mr. Sheldon Tefft, Nebraska's Rhodes scholar, "They make more noise than we do." English colleges have no yells or school songs.

Dining clubs fill the place in English life that is occupied by the fraternities and sororities in the American university life. Dining is very popular in England. Coffee-drinking, too, is a diversion of English university students and is much indulged in, in the early morning hours. The debaters complimented the Americans on their ability to make coffee, but had to admit that our tea has not much to recommend it.

The debaters admitted a fondness for "hot dogs". They remarked on the prevalence of waffles as a breakfast dish; pancakes in England being a "sweet" or dessert. American ice cream appealed to their taste as being far superior to the English product.

The American woman was neither censured nor commended. Mr. King-Hamilton said that more long hair was found in America than in England. The "Eton crop" has supplanted the boyish "bob" in favor, and demands a shorter cut than the former favorite. There is no indication in England that short hair is going out of favor.

Only twice have the debaters seen women smoking here, once at a restaurant, and once on the train, which led them to make the statement that Americans indulge their "vices" in private.

No English university has a daily paper. The Englishmen were much impressed with the Daily Nebraskan and at the real news it contained. The London press is too dominating to permit college daily papers, and the only attempt at journalism in these colleges is a weekly bulletin, that cannot be called a "newspaper", since it does not contain much of news value.

"We never believed Pittsburg would be so indiscreet as to permit itself to be beaten four to nothing," replied Mr. Elvin to the question as to his opinion of the world's series. He further explained that in England, baseball was a children's game, played with a racket and soft ball, and called "grounders".

Hockey, which in America is more of a woman's game, is popular among both sexes in England. Mixed matches are played and are, according to Mr. King-Hamilton, "hard for the men, who have to be gentlemen enough not to strike the women when a feminine player has used her stick on a masculine ankle". Basketball is a woman's game in England, and the Englishmen were amazed to find the importance given to the game here, and the huge space which is devoted to it in the coliseum.

cheering. The sport of Rugby, which is English football, draws large crowds, as many as forty thousand attending the annual contest between Cambridge and Oxford. Seats are hard to get and the rivalry is keen between the supporters of the two teams. Cheering is spontaneous, and added Mr. Sheldon Tefft, Nebraska's Rhodes scholar, "They make more noise than we do." English colleges have no yells or school songs.

Dining clubs fill the place in English life that is occupied by the fraternities and sororities in the American university life. Dining is very popular in England. Coffee-drinking, too, is a diversion of English university students and is much indulged in, in the early morning hours. The debaters complimented the Americans on their ability to make coffee, but had to admit that our tea has not much to recommend it.

The debaters admitted a fondness for "hot dogs". They remarked on the prevalence of waffles as a breakfast dish; pancakes in England being a "sweet" or dessert. American ice cream appealed to their taste as being far superior to the English product.

The American woman was neither censured nor commended. Mr. King-Hamilton said that more long hair was found in America than in England. The "Eton crop" has supplanted the boyish "bob" in favor, and demands a shorter cut than the former favorite. There is no indication in England that short hair is going out of favor.

Only twice have the debaters seen women smoking here, once at a restaurant, and once on the train, which led them to make the statement that Americans indulge their "vices" in private.

No English university has a daily paper. The Englishmen were much impressed with the Daily Nebraskan and at the real news it contained. The London press is too dominating to permit college daily papers, and the only attempt at journalism in these colleges is a weekly bulletin, that cannot be called a "newspaper", since it does not contain much of news value.

"We never believed Pittsburg would be so indiscreet as to permit itself to be beaten four to nothing," replied Mr. Elvin to the question as to his opinion of the world's series. He further explained that in England, baseball was a children's game, played with a racket and soft ball, and called "grounders".

Hockey, which in America is more of a woman's game, is popular among both sexes in England. Mixed matches are played and are, according to Mr. King-Hamilton, "hard for the men, who have to be gentlemen enough not to strike the women when a feminine player has used her stick on a masculine ankle". Basketball is a woman's game in England, and the Englishmen were amazed to find the importance given to the game here, and the huge space which is devoted to it in the coliseum.

cheering. The sport of Rugby, which is English football, draws large crowds, as many as forty thousand attending the annual contest between Cambridge and Oxford. Seats are hard to get and the rivalry is keen between the supporters of the two teams. Cheering is spontaneous, and added Mr. Sheldon Tefft, Nebraska's Rhodes scholar, "They make more noise than we do." English colleges have no yells or school songs.

Dining clubs fill the place in English life that is occupied by the fraternities and sororities in the American university life. Dining is very popular in England. Coffee-drinking, too, is a diversion of English university students and is much indulged in, in the early morning hours. The debaters complimented the Americans on their ability to make coffee, but had to admit that our tea has not much to recommend it.

The debaters admitted a fondness for "hot dogs". They remarked on the prevalence of waffles as a breakfast dish; pancakes in England being a "sweet" or dessert. American ice cream appealed to their taste as being far superior to the English product.

The American woman was neither censured nor commended. Mr. King-Hamilton said that more long hair was found in America than in England. The "Eton crop" has supplanted the boyish "bob" in favor, and demands a shorter cut than the former favorite. There is no indication in England that short hair is going out of favor.

Only twice have the debaters seen women smoking here, once at a restaurant, and once on the train, which led them to make the statement that Americans indulge their "vices" in private.

No English university has a daily paper. The Englishmen were much impressed with the Daily Nebraskan and at the real news it contained. The London press is too dominating to permit college daily papers, and the only attempt at journalism in these colleges is a weekly bulletin, that cannot be called a "newspaper", since it does not contain much of news value.

"We never believed Pittsburg would be so indiscreet as to permit itself to be beaten four to nothing," replied Mr. Elvin to the question as to his opinion of the world's series. He further explained that in England, baseball was a children's game, played with a racket and soft ball, and called "grounders".

Hockey, which in America is more of a woman's game, is popular among both sexes in England. Mixed matches are played and are, according to Mr. King-Hamilton, "hard for the men, who have to be gentlemen enough not to strike the women when a feminine player has used her stick on a masculine ankle". Basketball is a woman's game in England, and the Englishmen were amazed to find the importance given to the game here, and the huge space which is devoted to it in the coliseum.

REPAIR SERVICE

Capital Engraving Co. 319 SO. 12TH ST. LINCOLN, NEB. B-4178

Next!

If you haven't been there it's your own fault.

Follow the crowd to

STURM SHOP 116 So. 13th

ARTISTIC BOOK PLATES

We are now prepared to accept orders for book plates produced on Antique Book paper in artistic designs, 100 to select from.

Prompt Service Attractive Prices

EVERYTHING FOR THE STUDENT

TUCKER-SHEAN 1123 O Street LINCOLN, NEBR.

REGAL REPRODUCTIONS

of Exclusive English and American Custom Bootmakers' Models All Styles All Leathers All One Price $660

REGAL SHOES On Display

Bennett & Flagstad "Bill" Kearns Phi Delta Theta House

Lobbying By "Al"

The Playhouse

Laugh and the world laughs with you. But a few heart throbs now and then, a thrill or two that brings your heart up into your throat like a lump, tend to make the laughs all the more enjoyable. That was the theory on which Victor Maps and Willie Collier must have worked when they wrote the big Broadway success, "The Hottentot" which is to be the offering extraordinary of the players at the Playhouse theater all week, beginning Monday, October 31. The result is a play that enjoyed a phenomenal run in New York and is considered one of the best, if not the best vehicle of its New York season.

In addition to the cast of favorites, all late of Broadway, but now, and for the next 30 weeks of Lincoln—Miss Ruth Thomas, leading woman of the National Players, St. Louis, opens as "Peggy" in "The Hottentot" and Miss Bebe Leslie, of the Muroco Stock company in Los Angeles will appear as "Celeste." John Holden, formerly of the Pierre Watkin Players, appears in support of Mr. Harold as "Alec," the owner of the fiery lion-hearted horse, "The Hottentot."

Miss Bebe Leslie, a diminutive miss who opened last night at the Playhouse, comes to Lincoln from Houston, Texas, where she has been appearing with the Gene Lewis Players, started her career ten years ago while a student at the Denishawn School of Dancing in Los Angeles. She made her debut on the professional stage dancing with her brother, Earl K. Leslie, who is now producer and director of the internationally famous Moulin Rouge in Paris. Her next appearance was in musical comedy in New York, where she played prominent parts in such well-known productions as "Rose Marie," "The Gingham Girl," and "No, No, Nannette."

ers, and concluding the engagement to go with the Gene Lewis Players, There followed numerous stock engagements throughout the United States, principally in Texas and California, where she appeared with such organizations as the Ruth Helen Davis Players and the Duffy Players, and in production in Los Angeles, in one of the season's biggest hits, "The Scarlet Virgin," which ran for ten weeks, in stock in that city.

At the close of the play, Miss Leslie was offered a contract by the William Fox company of Los Angeles and she remained in Hollywood, appearing in a number of pictures with Tom Mix and other well known play with whom she appeared for two seasons, and from which company she comes to Lincoln to join the roster of the Joy Sutphen players at the Playhouse theater.

at 7 o'clock in the evening. At 12 o'clock, Wednesday noon he will give a talk at World Forum. A similar meeting will be held at noon Thursday at the agricultural college. Thursday, Mr. Corbett will conduct special meetings with the various Y. M. C. A. groups.

Worth E. Shoults of Washington, D. C., a member of the editorial staff of the National Geographic magazine, was a guest of the geography department last week. He addressed the geography classes on "The Activities of the National Geographic Society."

WORLD TRAVELER GIVES ADDRESS

(Continued from Page 1)

at close range the political changes which have taken place in the Far East by active service in famine relief and in other similar enterprises he has acquired a knowledge of the sociological and economic conditions which underlie the political changes. He has been a student of oriental culture, as manifested in literature, art and religion.

Understands Chinese Situations

With two brothers in business in China, he has been able to keep in touch with the point-of-view of business interests of and to understand their difficulties at that time. As a teacher of science and author of a text book of physics for Chinese students he has intimate knowledge of the scientific progress being made in that part of the world.

At 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, Mr. Corbett will address a convocation at the Temple on the subject "Briande's Proposal for Arbitration Between the United States and France." He will speak at the Y. W. C. A. Vesper meeting at 5 o'clock, Tuesday. He will also address the joint meeting of the Christian World Educational committee of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. at the Temple

Do You want to go to France?

By a special arrangement with one of the largest travel organizations a few students will be chosen from each college to travel abroad at our expense. Their cooperation will make them eligible for a Scholarship Tour. Why not be among those from your college? Write now.

Director Scholarship Tours LITERARY GUILD OF AMERICA 55 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK, N. Y.

*No Expense After Purchase

Parker's New Duofold with Pressureless Touch and Non-Breakable Barrel

Overalls Duofold $7 Duofold Jr. $5 Lady Duofold $5

Parker's "No Expense After Purchase" offer means that the new model Duofold necessarily must be a pen that stays in perfect order. Otherwise we'd go broke making repairs.

The fact is that trouble has practically vanished since we replaced rubber barrels with Non-Breakable Permalin.

And of course there's never been anything else like the Parker Duofold Point that yields to any hand yet never loses shape.

If you want to taste something new in writing pens—called Pressureless Touch—try the New Model Parker Duofold at the nearest pen counter.

THE PARKER PEN COMPANY JAMESVILLE, WIS.

*No Expense After Purchase To prove that Parker Duofold Pens will stay in perfect order, Parker agrees to make good them. If one Parker Duofold pen breaks, another pen is sent by the owner direct to Parker with no fee for return postage and insurance.

Do You want to go to France?

By a special arrangement with one of the largest travel organizations a few students will be chosen from each college to travel abroad at our expense. Their cooperation will make them eligible for a Scholarship Tour. Why not be among those from your college? Write now.

Director Scholarship Tours LITERARY GUILD OF AMERICA 55 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK, N. Y.

Girls Learn Child Care Using Home Management House for Laboratory

The average student mistakes the home management house of the department of economics for one of the dormitories, but those who know, recognize it as a laboratory in home-making experiments. Inside it are found all the modern conveniences that lighten the work of the modern house-wife. Students also care for a three-months old baby boy.

The home management house of the department of home economics has existed on the campus of the University of Nebraska for seven years. The present home is in charge of Miss Ruby Simpson, an instructor in the department of home economics, and a graduate of the University of Nebraska. She has had charge of the home for the past two years. She is much interested in her work at the house and gives it the greater share of her time. She is the official "mother" of the family which consists of six women taking work in the department, who spend six weeks out of their junior or senior year at the home, doing the work and learning to "keep house".

The work of keeping the house is divided among the six women, during the school year. A group is maintained at the house during one term of summer school. Each girl has very definite duties. One girl is entirely responsible for the baby's care. Another keeps the house clean and in order. A third is responsible for planning the meals and marketing. The marketing is done according to a budget which is made out by the whole "family", and is the result of careful consideration on the part of each one in the group.

Two girls prepare the meals, while another is responsible for the social life of the family. The duty of the latter is to provide entertainment within the home so that there is no need for going outside to seek amusement. The entertainment depends on the ingenuity of the girl in charge. All birthdays are celebrated with appropriate ceremony, and all holidays are observed with a dinner, the decorations and entertainment being in charge of the committee on entertainment of one.

Since no family is complete without a baby, Robert Earl McAllister makes the home management house a finished home. He is loaned to the home by the Nebraska Children's Home society in Omaha. For the school year, he is in charge of the girls at the house. At the end of that time, and when the house is closed during the summer term, he will be returned to the home, and will be put out for adoption. He is a lovable little chap, and is, according to his foster mothers, the "best little baby in the world". He was asleep when sought for an interview, and could not be disturbed.

Miss Esther S. Anderson of the geography department will give an illustrated lecture on Nebraska at the meeting of the fifth district, Nebraska State Teachers' association, at Holdrege, November 4.

The average student mistakes the home management house of the department of economics for one of the dormitories, but those who know, recognize it as a laboratory in home-making experiments. Inside it are found all the modern conveniences that lighten the work of the modern house-wife. Students also care for a three-months old baby boy.

The home management house of the department of home economics has existed on the campus of the University of Nebraska for seven years. The present home is in charge of Miss Ruby Simpson, an instructor in the department of home economics, and a graduate of the University of Nebraska. She has had charge of the home for the past two years. She is much interested in her work at the house and gives it the greater share of her time. She is the official "mother" of the family which consists of six women taking work in the department, who spend six weeks out of their junior or senior year at the home, doing the work and learning to "keep house".

The work of keeping the house is divided among the six women, during the school year. A group is maintained at the house during one term of summer school. Each girl has very definite duties. One girl is entirely responsible for the baby's care. Another keeps the house clean and in order. A third is responsible for planning the meals and marketing. The marketing is done according to a budget which is made out by the whole "family", and is the result of careful consideration on the part of each one in the group.

Two girls prepare the meals, while another is responsible for the social life of the family. The duty of the latter is to provide entertainment within the home so that there is no need for going outside to seek amusement. The entertainment depends on the ingenuity of the girl in

The average student mistakes the home management house of the department of economics for one of the dormitories, but those who know, recognize it as a laboratory in home-making experiments. Inside it are found all the modern conveniences that lighten the work of the modern house-wife. Students also care for a three-months old baby boy.

The home management house of the department of home economics has existed on the campus of the University of Nebraska for seven years. The present home is in charge of Miss Ruby Simpson, an instructor in the department of home economics, and a graduate of the University of Nebraska. She has had charge of the home for the past two years. She is much interested in her work at the house and gives it the greater share of her time. She is the official "mother" of the family which consists of six women taking work in the department, who spend six weeks out of their junior or senior year at the home, doing the work and learning to "keep house".

The work of keeping the house is divided among the six women, during the school year. A group is maintained at the house during one term of summer school. Each girl has very definite duties. One girl is entirely responsible for the baby's care. Another keeps the house clean and in order. A third is responsible for planning the meals and marketing. The marketing is done according to a budget which is made out by the whole "family", and is the result of careful consideration on the part of each one in the group.

Two girls prepare the meals, while another is responsible for the social life of the family. The duty of the latter is to provide entertainment within the home so that there is no need for going outside to seek amusement. The entertainment depends on the ingenuity of the girl in

The average student mistakes the home management house of the department of economics for one of the dormitories, but those who know, recognize it as a laboratory in home-making experiments. Inside it are found all the modern conveniences that lighten the work of the modern house-wife. Students also care for a three-months old baby boy.

The home management house of the department of home economics has existed on the campus of the University of Nebraska for seven years. The present home is in charge of Miss Ruby Simpson, an instructor in the department of home economics, and a graduate of the University of Nebraska. She has had charge of the home for the past two years. She is much interested in her work at the house and gives it the greater share of her time. She is the official "mother" of the family which consists of six women taking work in the department, who spend six weeks out of their junior or senior year at the home, doing the work and learning to "keep house".

The work of keeping the house is divided among the six women, during the school year. A group is maintained at the house during one term of summer school. Each girl has very definite duties. One girl is entirely responsible for the baby's care. Another keeps the house clean and in order. A third is responsible for planning the meals and marketing. The marketing is done according to a budget which is made out by the whole "family", and is the result of careful consideration on the part of each one in the group.

Two girls prepare the meals, while another is responsible for the social life of the family. The duty of the latter is to provide entertainment within the home so that there is no need for going outside to seek amusement. The entertainment depends on the ingenuity of the girl in

White Gold Fraternity & Sorority

Pins—Plain Engraved Pearl set Diamond set

Our Prices Are the Lowest for Fine Goods

HALLETT UNIVERSITY JEWELER Estab. 1871 117-119 So. 12

FOR FACULTY ONLY

HIGGINS' WRITING INKS

FOR almost half a century instructors in engineering and drawing have used and recommended Higgins' Drawing Inks. The entire faculty will appreciate Higgins' Writing Inks—Higgins' Eternal Black, and Higgins' Red, which lend themselves to many uses.

Professor William Lyon Phelps of Yale says "Higgins' Eternal Ink writes jet black and dries instantly, needing no blotter. It is the only ink for the pen that I use."

Higgins' Eternal will appeal to you also, both for personal use and for students' themes, reports, etc. Writes jet black, never fades and cannot be eradicated. Fine for fountain pens.

use it for correcting papers in its highest degree of perfection in Higgins' Red Writing Ink. It is brilliant, free flowing and non-smudging. May be used in fountain pens.

You will find red ink (of course you Try a bottle of each.

FOR SALE BY Meiers Drug Co., Latsch Bros., College Book Store, Co-Op Book Store

CLOTHES Ready-made And Cut to Order

ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.

Charter House Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

Beary Camels Hair Coat $165 Beary Camels Hair Coat $165

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT OUR STORE IS THE

Charter House OF LINCOLN

The character of the suits and topcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.

SPEIERS 10th and "O"