BONFIRE RALLY OF HOMECOMING WILL BE FRIDAY

Annual Bonfire Event Will Be Important Event of Pep-Meeting for 'Grads'

HUGE BLAZE IS PLANNED

Band, Cheer-leaders, Corn Cobs and Tassels Will Lead in Demonstration of Pep

Nebraska's annual bonfire rally will be staged on the drill field north of Social Sciences building tomorrow evening at 7:15 o'clock. This rally combines two of the most important pep meetings of the season—homecoming and bonfire—and for that reason an unusually large attendance is prophesied by members of the rally committee. The rally will be short, and no parade will follow.

Construction of a stage for speakers, and bleachers for the team, will start tomorrow. Every freshman in the University of Nebraska is required to bring one box to the drill field Friday evening as his contribution to the first Cornhusker bonfire rally he has participated in. This enormous amount of boxes will be stacked in one huge pile, and enclosed in wire netting to keep them in place. The blaze caused by this bonfire will illuminate the entire campus. In addition to the bonfire, torches will be placed at regular intervals around the drill field.

Team Members To Talk
The ordinary drab appearance of the drill field will undergo an unbelievable change Friday evening. Freshmen who have never seen a Husker bonfire rally will view the event tomorrow evening. Few students (Continued on Page 2)

TALKER ADVOCATES USE OF DIPLOMACY

Charles H. Corbett States at World Forum That Trouble Can Be Solved Without War

"It surely is a lot easier to settle international disagreement with diplomacy than with war," stated Charles H. Corbett, noted authority on world affairs, at the World Forum luncheon yesterday noon. "Some people think the president is a large body surrounded, entirely, by people who know exactly what they want," he added.

In the course of his talk, Mr. Corbett expressly praised Secretary of State Kellogg for his work in the advancement of good will between the United States and foreign countries. He quoted Secretary Hughes, "our foreign relations are becoming more important." One of his convictions that the state department was doing good work for the nation was results from his belief that the present administration is advancing rather than making gifts of offices to men who are unworthy.

Diplomacy in Philippines
The Philippine situation was cited as one where the United States could establish better feeling if it would give the Philippines a civilian governor. According to his views on the Chinese question, there had been few changes in the last few months. He stated that the party in power is willing to make a treaty with the majority of any group in China which seeks peace.

Mr. Corbett spoke regarding the war debts and their relation to the United States and the foreign countries involved. He expressed his belief that the nations owing the United States will pay eventually and it is better to wait than spend (Continued on Page 2)

Commemorated

Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, who served as chancellor of the University of Nebraska from 1900 to 1908 and in whose honor the new building on the campus will be named.

Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews Instrumental in Advancing School

Andrews Hall Will Honor Memory of Nebraska Chancellor Who Held Office Until 1908; He Made Many Improvements.

Perhaps no chancellor has done more to effect the advancement of the University of Nebraska than Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, in whose honor the new $300,000 building which is to be built on the campus, will be named.

Doctor Andrews served as chancellor from 1900 to 1908, coming from Chicago, where he was superintendent of schools. He took the place of Dean Charles E. Bessey, dean of the old industrial college, who was acting chancellor for the year after the resignation of Dr. George E. McLean. Added Departments

It was during the administration of Doctor Andrews that several new departments were added. He arranged to take over a private medical college in Omaha and establish a university college of medicine. He established a school of education, which became the University of Nebraska Teachers college. New buildings were added to the college of (Continued on Page 3.)

'TRADITION NUMBER' ISSUED NEXT WEEK

Distribution of New Edition of Fun Publication Will Be Completed By November 10

"Tradition Number" of the Awgwan, Nebraska monthly humor magazine, will be distributed the middle of next week, Munro Kezer, editor, announced. The regular publication date of the Awgwan is the tenth of the month. All copy is in the hands of the printer now.

A parody on the Sherlock Holmes stories popularized by A. Conan Doyle, is the head-liner for the issue discussing the "Tradition Mystery." The author of the story, which the editor says is one of the cleverest pieces of copy submitted to the Awgwan this year, has refused to permit publication of her name, adding an additional mystery element to the story.

James Pickering has furnished a striking two color cover in black and red. Other art work has been furnished by Margaret Emery, former Northwestern student, Alan Klein, Charles Senter, and George Koehnke

Katahdin, the highest mountain in Maine. The data on deciduous forests was gathered in Illinois forests. He compares the animal life existing in the coniferous, or pine woods to that found in deciduous, or hardwood forests in his paper.

HUSKERS WORK FOR TILT WITH KANSAS ELEVEN

Scrimmage With Freshmen Is Main Drill for Annual Homecoming Battle

PASSING IS EMPHASIZED

Meeting Will Be Thirty-sixth Since 1892; Margin of Wins With Nebraska

Scrimmage with Coach "Choppy" Rhodes' freshmen eleven was the outstanding number on Bear's program last night as the Husker mentor prepares for the Kansas Jayhawk football eleven. Kansas meets Nebraska on Memorial Stadium field Saturday at two o'clock for the thirty sixth time. The two elevens have battled it out on the football gridiron since 1892.

Passing up the main portion of the coaching staff's time during the opening hour of the practice session. The decided change in the weather around the camp of the Cornhuskers gives the practice hours of the scarlet clad team the appearance of a snappy workout. Signal calling was on deck for the three elevens and then the yearling squad descended from the practice field for a short scrimmage with the varsity eleven.

Bronson At Quarter
Bill Bronson was back in the pilot position and Witte and Presnell working at halves. The starting lineup against the Jayhawk crew has not been announced but indications are that the entire Husker squad will see some action in the annual feud between the school down on the Kaw and Bear's Huskers.

The Nebraskans will hold a slight weight advantage over the Cappon crew when the two elevens line up on the field Saturday. The average weight of the Kansas eleven is 176 pounds and that of Nebraska 186. The average weight of the Kansas line is 181 pounds from end to end while that of the Cornhusker forward wall averages around 189. The ten-pound weight advantage the Ne- (Continued on Page 3)

RULING FORBIDS CORN COB STUNT

Ordinance Last Year Abolished Entertainment Between Halves of Game

CHEERING IS SUBSTITUTED

No stunt will be put on by the Corn Cobs and Tassels between halves of the Homecoming day game, Saturday, according to word received from the athletic board yesterday afternoon. Through a misunderstanding on the part of the pep organizations, it was supposed that each year on Homecoming the Corn Cobs and Tassels would have charge of entertainment between halves.

A rule passed by the board of control two years ago forbid the Corn Cobs of putting on the stunts and no permission had been granted them this year. The stunt produced by them last Homecoming came as special compensation but permission was not granted to them with the idea that it would carry a precedent.

With the advent of the cheering section this fall and with the usual parade of the band between halves, the entire fifteen minutes is taken up, thus substituting entertainment provided by the Corn Cobs previously.

MORRILL PAYS ON STUDENT LOAN FUND

Contributor to University Sends Check to Cover Note on 'C. H. Morrill Fund'

A check for $1,000 for the University of Nebraska agricultural student loan fund was received Tuesday from C. H. Morrill of Stromsburg.

Through this fund, juniors and seniors may receive loans of $200 per person. Learning that the sum on hand had become nearly exhausted caused Mr. Morrill to send the check at this time. The note was not yet due. In all, Mr. Morrill had contributed $81,000 to the university.

Leader Will Compose March For Nebraska

Lieut. Com. John Philip Sousa announced his intention last Tuesday evening of composing a University of Nebraska march.

The "march king" was requested by Acting Chancellor Burnett, and Col. Jewett to compose a march for the University of Nebraska R. O. T. C. The request was made during a dinner held before the concert Tuesday evening.

According to Col. F. F. Jewett, Sousa replied, "I'd be glad to," when asked. The well-known band leader explained that he had a number of similar orders to be filled, but that he would put the University of Nebraska on his list, and when properly inspired would write that school's march. Sousa requested that Acting Chancellor Burnett write him concerning the matter so it would not be forgotten.

With one of the finest bands in this part of the country, the R. O. T. C. is considered worthy of such a march. At present the R. O. T. C. band has no distinctive march, but when it is presented with a march written by Lieut. Com. John Philip Sousa it will enjoy very favorable publicity.

Alumna Is Teacher in Pippappass, Kentucky

Mrs. Arlene Phillips, (Miss Buchanan), '08, is now head of the department of science in Caney Junior college, Pippappass, Kentucky. She is also teaching a general zoology course in the college.

'Blue-blooded Ghost is Gone' Writes Doctor Wimberly in Prairie Schooner

Alas for the passing of the spook! That is the sentiment of Prof. L. C. Wimberly of the English department as expressed in his essay, "The Decline of the Ghost," in The Prairie Schooner, which has just come off the press.

"The blue-blooded ghost of an earlier day has gone forever with the fair ladies and lovely knights of romance," writes Dr. Wimberly. "No more will it be seen with its sensitive heart, loving the quiet of the tomb and to be evoked therefrom only on matters of deep import."

The story is told that Dr. Wimberly may usually be found on certain evenings at the meetings of a local spiritualist group. He has been a faithful listener-in at these meetings, so the rumor goes, for some months past, and now he has set down the results of his findings on the medium's ghost, which, like many things modern, appears to have suffered a deterioration from his counterpart of other times.

KOSMET KLUB WILL SPONSOR HOLIDAY SHOW

Vaudeville Bill To Be Presented Thanksgiving Morning At Orpheum Theater

USE UNIVERSITY TALENT

Breakfast Will Precede Performance; Individual, Organization Skits Planned

The Kosmet Klub is completing plans for a new and different vaudeville show to be staged at the Orpheum theater Thanksgiving morning. A complete two hour bill of acts with Ray Ramsay as master of ceremonies is the present plan. It will begin at nine o'clock and will be preceded by a Kosmet Klub breakfast at the Idyl Hour, from eight until nine to which all students are invited.

University talent will be used throughout the greater part of the cast and the Klub is asking that students having acts or skits which they would like to put on, leave a description of them in Herbert Yenne's office at 201 Temple before 5:00 next Wednesday. The five best acts of those submitted will be chosen as a part of the bill. The entire show will be made up of eight or nine acts. The main feature being a Kosmet Klub review consisting of the favorite songs and dances from past Kosmet productions.

Organization Skits
An effort is being made to have fraternities and sororities submit skits. The best fraternity act and best sorority act will then be chosen to take major positions on the bill. Plans for these acts are to be submitted at the same time the individual acts are turned in. These acts must be of about eight minutes length. The individual acts may be shorter.

A Beat-New York rally spirit will permeate the entire morning program beginning with the breakfast at the Idyl Hour. According to the committee in charge, William Mentzer, Jr., "Doc" Twinnem, and Arch Eddy, tentative plans include the distributing of noise makers that will add to the spirit of the morning. The Klub intends to make this a student gathering and to further this idea, tickets may be reserved early. Thanksgiving week before visitors to the football game arrive in town. Tickets will be priced at fifty cents for the entire house.
