Never has a farce won such unstinted praise from New York critics as was lavished upon the successful production of "A Full House" which has been secured by Mr. JoJy Sutphen and will be presented on the local stage at the Playhouse theater, the week beginning November 14. The story is one that lends itself to untold possibilities in the realm of humor. A youth with more money than brains has placed several records of his devotion to a designing chorus girl in her hands, and then when the "real girl" happens along he sends his brother-in-law, who is a lawyer, up to Boston in an effort to obtain the incriminating letters. Brother-in-law tells his wife he is going to Cleveland and then hops a train for the Athens of America. While he is busy in the accomplishment of his mission, a burglar is equally busy and succeeds in lifting a valuable necklace. Both return to New York on the same train, and both are wrecked and in the confusion that follows, each one gets the other's grip. Brother-in-law returns home with the necklace unknown to himself, quietly resting in the bottom of his suit-case, closely followed by the crook, anxious to get possession of the stolen jewels; in the wild mix-up that results, situation piles upon situation, that gives rise to screams of laughter. It is only after two hours of riotous laughter that everything is straightened out and the curtain descends on a peaceful household at last. "A Full House" is a house full of oodles of fun.

IN THE VALLEY
By JACK ELLIOTT
The Nebraska team pulled into Lincoln yesterday morning and proceeded to hasten to their 10 o'clock classes but before any of them could reach a classroom they were besieged with questions about the game. The front of Social Sciences took on the atmosphere of a post mortem of the Pitt-Husker game Saturday. "They knew that the Huskers were there," "They never will forget that battle," "Hardest game in ten years for Pitt, so they say." These were a few of the remarks we were able to gather before the team members hit the morning classes. Taking this as a good idea of what happened back in the Smoky City, we rather imagine that it will be a long while before Pitts forgets the Scarlet clad Nebraska crew that played there Saturday.

"We could have beat 'em here," says John Selleck, "but it was the greatest game of football I have ever seen." This brand of reports are all that is coming in since the Pitt game last week. No alibis, no criticising words and no razzing for the team but nothing but praise and appreciation for the Scarlet crew.

Missouri still leads the Valley for the 1927 football championship. The Tigers almost slipped in the Iowa State battle at Ames on Armistice day but finally put over the 13 to 6 win that kept their slate clean. Nebraska still holds second place along with a percentage of 750, winning three games and one lost. Oklahoma is third with two games on the win side and one lost. This week Kansas and Missouri got together to fight out their annual battle and then the final hurdle, Oklahoma, and the Tigers have the 1927 championship cinched.

The Valley standings:

	W.	L.	T.	Pct.
Missouri	4	0	1	1.000
Nebraska	3	1	0	.750
Oklahoma	2	1	0	.667
Kansas Aggies	2	2	0	.500
Iowa State	2	2	0	.500
Washington	2	2	1	.500
Kansas	2	3	1	.400
Drake	1	2	0	.333
Oklahoma Aggies	0	1	0	.000
Grinnell	0	4	0	.000

Since the moving back of the goal posts on the gridiron this year, not one Valley player has been able to score a field goal although opportunities and trials to turn the feat have been frequent. McMullen tried desperately to accomplish the feat against Missouri but the distance was too great and the majority of his boots fell short of the white posts.

"Touchdown Johnnie" Miller, Iowa State's ball-toting ace hung up another touchdown to his credit in the Armistice day battle with Miz-zou Tigers and retained third place with a total of 30 points. Cockrane of Drake, who scored the Bulldog's only touchdown against the Minnesota Gophers, went into fourth place with 24 points.

retary. "This is about two dollars less than that spent by the average Y. M. C. A. in a school of this size." "We have compared our budget with that of other schools and found that we do not spend any less for those things which are of direct benefit to the students, but we have cut down on general running expenses." Each of the 130 workers in the campaign has a goal to make of about ten dollars. They are being urged to go as far over this as it is possible. Mr. Hayes explained to the group Sunday that this was a goal to be made and passed and not a limit to come close to. The completed organization of both majors and captains is given as follows:

Majors—Carl Olson, Ed Jolley, Joe Hunt, Archibald Eddy.
Captains—Gordon Hager, Robert Davenport, Perry Morton, Frederick Daly, Eldred Larson, Keith Miller, Ivan Hall, Lee Rankin, Clayton Moravic, Harold Pickett, C. C. Fraternities and Sororities Assignments to Be Made Beginning Thursday
Pictures for fraternity and sorority panels will be taken at Hauck's and Townsend's studios beginning Thursday. Assignments of the fraternities and sororities will be made Wednesday.

Endeavor will be made to have the sections complete this year. All members are urged to have pictures made. In order to have uniformity in the section the staff requests that all pledges be included in the panels. A new and unique lay-out is being used in these sections this year. Letters will be sent to fraternities and sororities in the near future explaining these details, and the assignments.

Magazine Tells of Phi Chi Theta

In the last issue of "The Iris," magazine of Phi Chi Theta, national commerce sorority, the feature article was the installation of Rho chapter at the University of Nebraska. This chapter was installed last spring. Any sophomore may bring a freshman for trial before the vigilance committee at Temple university, Philadelphia, Pa. All upperclassmen are permitted to witness the court proceedings.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology School of Chemical Engineering Practice
INDIVIDUAL and practical training at five industrial plants are important features of the Graduate Course in Chemical Engineering Practice. Field work is carried out at Bangor, Me.; Boston, Mass., Buffalo, N. Y., and Bayonne, N. J.; in plants producing sulphite and soda pulp, paper, caustic soda, chlorine, heavy acids and salts, sugar, coke, gas, steel, petroleum and other chemical products.
The more important operations of Chemical Engineering, as typified by the above processes, are studied systematically by tests and experiments on actual plant apparatus, thus fixing in the student's mind the principles of Chemical Engineering and correlating these principles with practice.
The work is non-remunerative and independent of plant control, the whole attention of the students being directed to study and experimentation.
Registration is limited, as students study and experiment in small groups and receive individual instruction by resident members of the Institute's Faculty.
Admission requires adequate preparation in chemistry and engineering. Able students can complete the requirements for the Master of Science degree in one and a half years.
For further details address the Progress through co-ordination

Getting out a college paper and making telephones have one point in common. Careful planning, persistent search for men and material, whole-hearted cooperation among the entire staff—that's the spirit that means better editing and more skilful telephone making.
This spirit is characteristic of every phase of telephone production at Western Electric. In the laboratory work, in machine design, in the cable plant and in every other department of the great factory—men are working together to set up new standards and to devise more exact methods of attaining those standards. The result is the inevitable improvement which marks this great industry.

THINGS that go together

You'll want all these things—and we have them, the smartest ones, too. But the overcoat's the main thing, and the hardest to choose. Here's our suggestion:
Before you pick any of the other things, get the right overcoat first. Then the other items will naturally fall into place.
For instance, if you pick a Moire Overcoat in dark blue, or Oxford gray, you'll find either a gray or a black and red muffler especially good.
There are many other combinations, just as there are many other rich colors in this cloth. But get the coat first—and make it a Society Brand! That's the right foundation for a successful outfit.
