

HUSKERS WIND UP SCRIMMAGE FOR WILDCATS

Bearg Sends Squad Through Grilling Drill Against Yearling Team

RANDELS IS BACK IN SUIT Captain Brown Handles Pilot Position; Appears to Be in Old Time Form

Practice on stadium sod last night wound up the strenuous workouts of the week in preparation for the Kansas Aggie clash at Manhattan Saturday. A long grilling scrimmage with the yearling eleven was the highlight of Coach Bearg's program. The injury list in the Husker camp still contains a number of first eleven men but many will be in shape for the Aggie tilt.

Ray Randels, who was injured in the Pitt game last Saturday, was back in the moleskins last night and in the thick of the fight with the freshmen eleven. Bill Bronson, another member of the bench crew since the Panther game contented himself with the position of head linesman for the scrimmage session. Bronson is still limping on an injured leg but is expected to see some action against the Aggies.

Brown Injured at Pitt
Captain "Jug" Brown was at the pilot position in the Husker backfield putting the Varsity through snappy plays and appeared to be back in old time form again. Brown is another member of Nebraska's football eleven that failed to come out of the Pitt game uninjured.

The yearling eleven donned the purple sweaters of the Kansas Aggie team and ran the Kansas signals combined with the Aggie's Notre shift which has been backmanized by Bachman, Kansas Aggie mentor. The shift against the Varsity proved very effective at times but the majority of the plays were stopped before they could get under way. The Husker forward wall crashed the violet-clad line and threw the backs for great losses.

Presnell Scores
Two touchdowns were marked up for the Varsity in less than five minutes of play, Presnell scoring the initial counter on a run for touchdown after the kickoff. The frosh were given the ball to run Aggie plays and passing combinations. "Bill" Currier, Morrill high school star was the only freshman back who could gain through the Varsity line and his gains were not sufficient for a first down.

The starting lineup against the Kaggies at Manhattan Saturday has not been announced but Coach Bearg figures on using Captain "Jug" Brown at the quarter position when the two eleven line up for their annual battle on the Aggie field.

Completes Hard Scrimmages
Last night's practice is the last hard scrimmage session of the week for the Bearmen. Today's practice will be light with plenty of drill on the blocking and passing game. Friday morning the Nebraska eleven will entrain for Manhattan, the scene of the annual argument with the Kansans.

The Varsity secondary defense was on deck last night for a stiff workout. Drill on the Wildcat passing game was the point stressed. Tackling was another feature on the Nebraska mentor's program last night in an attempt to do away with any more long runs against the Husker team.

Purple Hurt By Injuries
Reports continue to come out of the Bachman camp that the Purple squad is hard hit with injuries from the Texas clash. Bachman intends to use an entirely new backfield against Nebraska. He was utterly disappointed with the showing the Aggie backs made at Austin last week and in secret practice sessions this week he will attempt to uncover an effective set of backs to send against the Cornhuskers.

The probable lineup for Manhattan will be Edwards and Fleck at end; Householder and Hamler, tackles; Stover and Bauman, guards; Pearson, center. The fullback position has fallen to Dayhoff since the loss of Holsinger. "Chief" Saunders will be at right half with Captain Douglass as reserve. Springer will hold down the other half position and Enns quarter.

Les Edmonds of Topeka will handle the game assisted by B. L. McGreevy, Kansas City, umpire; E. M. Tipton, Kansas City, field judge; V. S. Eagan, Des Moines, head linesman.

Professor Staples Is Conference Speaker

One of the speakers at the home economics section of the Missouri state vocational conference held in St. Louis the first part of last week was Prof. Ruth Staples who is head of the home management division of the department of home economics here. Her talk was entitled "Child Care and Training."

IN THE VALLEY

By JACK ELLIOTT

Coach Charley Bachman is revamping his entire backfield for the coming Nebraska game at Manhattan Saturday. The showing the Aggie crew made at Austin last week did everything but please the mentor of the Purple team and he is attempting this week in five days of secret practice to uncover a set of backfield men that can pierce the Cornhusker forward wall.

Coach "Bunny" Oakes thinks that the Wildcat eleven will give Nebraska a great battle. The Husker line coach says that the Aggie team is out for blood and a victory over Nebraska. If a win could be hung up at Manhattan for the Bachman coached eleven the Aggies would proclaim it a successful season despite the defeats of this season.

Two hard battles on the gridiron within six days is the program for Bearg's Huskers taking on the Kansas State eleven Saturday and the New York Violet crew Thursday for the Thanksgiving game. Both games are real battles and will be hard for Nebraska to put on the win side. New York has not lost a game this season and are rated as one of the strongest gridiron elevens on the Atlantic coast. "Choppy" Rhodes viewed the Violet eleven in action last week and claims the Meehan outfit has every bit as good a team as the powerful Pitt Panthers.

The Nebraska Memorial stadium will be filled to capacity for the Thanksgiving football classic and if the weather man treats Cornhusker football with respect the Violet-Husker game will be one of the most colorful football battles seen on the Husker gridiron for many years. The ticket sale is ebbing and by game time the stadium should be sold out.

In this issue of the paper appears a story from the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, commenting on the Husker-Pitt clash at Pittsburgh last week. It seems the general opinion of that sports writer that Nebraska possessed a great amount of brutal strength but was rather sparsely blessed with brains. He calls his article, "Big but Dumb." Naturally we resent anything to that effect after hearing all the reports from the game in papers throughout the country and from various sport critics.

Nebraska was plenty smart enough to push the pigskin over the chalk line for two touchdowns, something that had never been done on the Panthers this season. If that calls for a dumb football eleven, the pigskin had better be put on the shelf. Another thing seems strange and that is the fact that the 25,000 football fans in the Pitt stadium clamored for Nebraska to come back again for it had been the best football classic Pitt fans had seen for ten years. Surely the fans in this day do not care to watch a dumb football team in action.

Coach Charley Bachman at Kansas State has cut scrimmage from his program this week and will take no chances of losing additional men to the injury list. Householder and Pearson suffered minor injuries in the tilt with the Texas Longhorns, but it is believed that each will be ready for the call against the Cornhuskers Saturday. Joe Holsinger, star Wildcat back will view the game from the bench and it is even doubtful if he will be able to get in the Turkey day classic with the Oklahoma Aggies.

Nebraska and Kansas Aggies started playing the football game back in 1911 and since that date there is no record of an Aggie victory over the Huskers. In 1911 Nebraska took the Wildcat eleven to a 59 to 0 beating and since then have kept up the winning streak, winning every game but one, which resulted in a scoreless tie. The Cornhuskers have rolled up a total of 250 points to the 24 accumulated by the Purple squad. Last year on Memorial field Nebraska barely nosed out the Bachman crew with a 3 to 0 win.

The last session of the evening proved to be an upset of the dope, Sigma Alpha Epsilon failing to score against Delta Sigma Lambda, the latter winning by a 2 to 0 margin. The Sig Alphas were in their opponents territory most of the time, but Delta Sigma Lambda showed a strong defense, keeping the ball away from their goal throughout the game. Both the Delta Sigma Lambda points were made on fouls by Wray. McBride, captain of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon delegation played a strong game, Harris also carrying on a large part of the offensive. The final count was 2-0.

HOMEC JUDGING TEAM TAKES SECOND

Kansas Is Only School to Finish Ahead of Nebraskans; Was First Contest

Nebraska's home economics judging team has returned from Kansas City, Mo., where they took second in the intercollegiate meat identification and judging contest for home economics students. This contest was sponsored by the American Royal Livestock exposition and the National Livestock and Meat board and was held at the Cudahy wholesale market, Kansas City, Kansas. This is the first time that the Nebraska team has ever represented the school in a contest. The team consisted of Marjorie Schults, Mary Schaaf, Dorothy Norris, and Louise Genung, the alternate.

In the contest, Kansas ranked first with Nebraska a close second. The two teams tied for points in identification and Kansas won from Nebraska by a small margin in judging.

The Nebraska team was selected from a group of about sixteen girls. Approximately a month was all the time that real coaching for the contest was done. Other girls who did good work in this class were Henrietta Fleck, Eunice Mauer, and Beth Wilson.

Part of the expenses of the girls on the team were defrayed by the Home Economics club, and a part by a fund acquired by money that had been won by university livestock which had been shown at the state fair.

Considerable credit for the showing of this team should go to the retail dealers and branch house men of Lincoln, and to the Armour Packing company of South Omaha where the team was privileged to study a large exhibit of retail cuts for practice in identification as well as a number of classes of wholesale cuts for practice in judging and expression of reasons for placings.

INTER-FRAT GAMES BEGIN NOVEMBER 28

Both A and B Classes Will Be Held Again; Teams Must Meet by Monday

Inter-fraternity basketball will begin on Monday, November 28, announces Jimmy Lewis, from the athletic office. All entries for the tournament must be in by November 21. There will be both A and B classes.

The purpose of the tournament, according to a letter sent all fraternities by "Jimmy" Lewis, is not to decide championships so much as to provide units of competition for good exercise and recreation. He believes that too much stress has been laid by fraternities upon winning the championship and trophy in whatever sport they are entered. "If a fraternity has a team in every sport," the letter reads, "and doesn't win a single championship, they are performing one hundred percent as regards the purpose of intramurals." Last year's tournament was very successful from the point of view of teams entered and interest shown, but still better results are hoped for in the coming tournament. Last year Phi Sigma Kappa won first and Kappa Sigma second in A class. In class B Kappa Sigma took first honors, with Phi Sigma Kappa second.
