THREE HUSKERS INVITED TO PLAY WITH ALL-STARS

Presnell and Randels Accept Places on Eastern Team For Coast Game

HOWELL IS HOLDING OFF

Omaha Flash Fears Effect on Eligibility; Athletic Board Seeks Rules

Three Cornhusker football men have been extended invitations to represent the east on an All-Eastern football eleven to meet an All-Western team on the Pacific coast December 26. Glenn Presnell, Ray Randels and "Blue" Howell are the three Nebraska men who have been invited to play on this all-star team. The members of the team will meet in Chicago on December 15 and will report to Coach "Andy" Kerr for practice. Coach Kerr is head football coach at Washington and Jefferson and selected the backfield. The East-West post season game will be played at San Francisco on December 26 and the team will leave Chicago for practice sessions at the California metropolises.

Howell Not a Senior

All the men selected for the team are seniors except "Blue" Howell. Howell was given an invitation but has not accepted it as yet. The athletic officials at Nebraska are digging through the Valley rules to see if there is anything in the code to prevent this Husker back from participating in the inter-sectional game. Coach Dick Hanley of Northwestern will assist "Andy" Kerr in rounding the team into shape. He selected the line to represent the east against the west.

Presnell, Howell and Randels were the only men selected from the Missouri Valley to represent eastern football in this post-season game. Indicating where the Husker football team stands in the eyes of eastern football critics.

The probable backfield will be made up of Glenn Presnell of Nebraska, Herb Joesting of Minnesota, All-American halfback, Conners of New York, Bruce Caldwell of Yale and Lewis of Northwestern.

Professor Grumann was one of the officials of the recent fine arts convocation in this city. His talk to the students next Wednesday will be the first one on that kind of a subject to be given at World Forum this season. World Forum meetings are held every Wednesday noon in the Grand Hotel. The luncheon and meeting lasts from 12 o'clock until 12:50. All students interested are invited by the committee in charge. Tickets should be bought in advance. ## University May Have To Stop Radio Service

The possibility that the University of Nebraska will be forced to abandon all its extension service activities by radio is seen by A. A. Reed, director of the extension service, in the reassignment of wave lengths recently announced by the national radio commission.

In the redistribution of wave lengths and broadcasting periods, station KFAB, through which the University broadcasts, has been ordered to divide its time equally with KOIL. This means that the University loses all its former broadcasting periods and is allowed these periods instead: 9 to 10 a. m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday; 2:30 to 3 o'clock on the same days; 8:30 to 9 p. m. Thursday.

Time and Expense Not Justified

But the time and expense involved in broadcasting in these periods would not be justified, according to Mr. Reed, and unless a new wave length is granted the University by the national commission, all radio extension service will be abandoned.

The University has applied for such a change in wave length. This would allow its programs to be broadcast over a different wave length from that used by KFAB in its own programs. The national commission's revisions go into effect December 1.

The University was one of the first educational institutions in America to turn to radio in its extension service, and Prof. Maurice H. Wesesen was the first instructor to give a credit course by radio. He has been giving a combined radio (Continued on Page 2)

The custom of appointing sponsors for the various units is as old as the military department. It was brought into prominence, however, at the first Military Ball, May 13, 1910. The sponsors of the companies were featured at this party, and since then it has been an annual custom.

The sponsors will lead the grand march with the captains of the units. Following military custom the officers will march in order of rank; the cadet colonel, lieutenant colonel, majors, and captains. The presentation ceremony will not be described in detail before the night of the Ball. The seniors, who will be the only ones taking part will be given instruction in the ceremony, Wednesday morning. It is probable that a short practice will be held, Friday evening. In every encounter but the Pittsburgh one Presnell has scored, finishing the season with a total of 72 points, all scored on touchdowns.

"Pres" is one of the country's greatest backfield stars, and made a strong bid for an All-American backfield berth.
