THAT CERTAIN FEELING

All eyes will be turned this evening toward the Coliseum where Nebraska's football squad will be entertained by the men of the school—and a 1928 captain for the Cornhuskers is in the offing.
 This Cornhusker banquet is one tradition at Nebraska which is a tradition. All kinds of students go from the football cynic to the "bonfire boys". Freshmen rub elbows with seniors; fraternity and class feelings are forgotten when football men, inspired by their service for Nebraska, cast a spell over the huge audience, until coughs are noticeable and the clearing of throats is in order. Then the charm is broken—the toastmaster makes a "crack" at Presnell, and suddenly the silence of the great hall is rocked with laughter.
 Finally the crowd becomes uneasy. Whispering is common, and when the football captain rises with a pigskin in his hand, he does not have to call for silence. A few words, words of appreciation, reflection, and then some regret. Then his face brightens, he throws the ball, and hundreds of men scramble to their feet to see the new captain.
 What is there about such a gathering of young men, united with a common bond—Nebraska—which makes them forget their everyday happenings, and spend a dinner hour in fellowship, laughter, suspense, and understanding?
 It is Nebraska spirit!

THE STUDENTS SPEAK

The Inter-fraternity Council last night approved a definite program which its members believed would remedy the student automobile situation which the Board of Regents recently indicated would be subject to control in the near future.
 Serious consideration has been given the automobile matter by the council. On the surface, their recommendations appear comprehensive. It is most gratifying to see concrete, practical recommendations for relief of the situation coming from the student body itself.
 If the Board of Regents can co-operate with the students in working out methods of eliminating evils existing in the use of student cars, the possibilities of securing reasonable and satisfactory rules will be greatly augmented. Self-established rules will always be more readily followed than superimposed ones.
 Through the activity of the Inter-fraternity Council, the Regents will have definite student proposals before them. If the Board is sincere in its attempt to work out a rational solution for the automobile problem, it will consult such organizations as the Inter-fraternity Council and Student Council before establishing its rules. If student proposals or their essentials can be adopted, much of the difficulty encountered in other schools in securing student recognition of the necessity of restriction, will be avoided.

Kernels Off The Old Cob

Wednesday morning Mr. J. M. F. accused this paper of prejudice in writing up the Sigma Alpha Mu-Farm House basketball game, the score of which was 12 to 1. He contended it was a close game although the report termed it a "terrific drubbing".
 Now, we notice that Sigma Alpha Mu forfeits a game to Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Why, Mr. J. M. F., don't you get your team to play another game to show this hidden strength which scores alone fail to uncover?
 Those people who argue that football is the most important part of college life at this University should be convinced after reading this football edition.

FOOTBALL! FOOTBALL! FOOTBALL!

Twenty-one—two—sixty-three—four thousand and four—hike! Bread and Butter, our All-American backs, will star tonight at the Coliseum. Everybody out for the Cornhusker banquet—and bring your armour for the biscuits will fly high and far.

Gurruls! Aren't you sorry you ain't he-men so you could see Claire Sloan up on the stage tonight? Don't you adore him? That hearty smile? Those lovely teeth? Ahhhhhh, those handsome Pi Kap athletes! Zuver—great big heart breaker! I'll bet he'll blush when he sees this—I'll buy him a coke the next time I see him stacked over at the Moon.

All-Sorority Football Team

This team will be announced within the next few days. The writer wishes to make it clear that no political influence will enter into the selection. Despite the popular idea of a football line—this team will be composed of brains rather than brawn. I have ever favored a fast, heady team—heavy girls don't get around quick enough. So watch this column and girls—if you don't make it, come back next year and get right in and fight!

Wonder who will receive Jug Brown's last forward pass? And I suppose you are wondering about the same thing. And while we're wondering lets do some figuring. And while we're figuring, let's try and see how many biscuits we can throw at the toastmaster. The first direct hit gets my pie.

Now is our chance to see how the boys act when they are away from home. Don't watch them too closely—maybe they will be nervous with so many eyes on them—they're not used to it.

And if the speakers talk too long—well, just hold your seats and try to listen attentively—no more till the interfraternity banquet.

And if "Jug" Brown—shrinking, blushing violet—gets embarrassed—try not to notice it, he's a nice boy, and it's the last time he'll be up there.

Are those girl athletes going to be there too? If they are, and if they throw their knives around like they throw their hockey sticks, I don't want to be at their table—and neither do you.

Is Johnny Everetts going to be there? Hope so—nothing footballish would be complete without her everpresence.

Doc McLean will have his rubbing table nearby so that if the Delts gorge themselves they can receive instant first aid.

Last line: "We done our best for Nebraska."
 —CYNARUS.

Athletic Board Has Developed Program

 been built by the work of this athletic board. They are the Memorial stadium and the Coliseum. These two athletic houses are rivaled by few similar buildings in the Valley conference. The stadium will seat the largest crowd of any football stadium in the conference.
 The Coliseum offers ample seating capacity for all Varsity basketball games and wrestling meets and is the center of all intra-mural sports. The high school basketball tournament with more than two hundred basketball teams entered, was played off almost entirely on the floor of the Coliseum last year.
 Besides being the athletic center of Nebraska during the winter months, it has become a social gathering place for university functions of all sorts.

Intra-School Sports Show Development

 murals, football furnishes the money to maintain this program. Football built the Coliseum in which about 234 inter-fraternity basketball games will be played this year as well as several other inter-fraternity sports. The stadium was made possible by football, under which intra-mural track will be run off.
 Due to football a large number of sports have been added to the program this year. Some of the events are water-polo, hare and hound, and boxing, and according to the athletic office it is probable that more will be added before the season closes.
 Another important event which has been added to the intra-mural program is a carnival copied after Ohio and several other large colleges. The carnival will be held February 3 in the Coliseum. The entertainment for the earlier part of the evening will consist of boxing, wrestling and relay races, and a dance is planned for the latter part of the evening.

HUSKERS HAVE FINE MATERIAL

 squad for next season will have an equally fast squad of ends.
 Ray Randels, one of the best tackles ever to play on a Nebraska eleven is numbered among the graduating football players but with Richards, Lucas, Munn, Ray and a large delegation from the yearlings Coach "Bunny" Oakes will also be well supplied with line material. Coach Oakes had one of the best forward walls in the Missouri Valley and Middle West this season and the outlook for next year is promising.

James Will Be Back

At the center of the line, Ted James will be back to protect his old position and will be pushed by men from the freshmen squad. Holm and McMullen will also be numbered among the scarlet clad football men for next year.

During the first three games of the 1927 season it was almost an impossibility for an opposing back to penetrate the Scarlet forward wall. Sport writers and critics throughout the Middle West were lauding the work of the Nebraska line this season. It easily had the weight advantage on all its opponents and the outlook for next season is even better than this year.

Rhodes Had Fighters

"Choppy" Rhodes had a squad of fighting line-men this season and when ever the yearlings and the Varsity got together on the sod for a scrimmage tilt, the yearlings could "hold that line". With these men eligible for the Varsity next season and the men who will return from this year's squad, things in the camp of the mighty Husker should look plenty nice.

In the backfield Coach Bear will have Sloan whose punting was the best variety of the booting game seen in the Cornhusker camp this season. He can throw forward passes with equal ability and when it comes to running the end or hitting the line, Sloan looks as if he will be one of the greatest triple-threat men that Nebraska has ever turned out.

Witte and McBride Coming

His running mate among the sophomores will be "Dutch" Witte or "Bud" McBride. Both of these backs earned letters this year and during their first season on the Nebraska eleven they showed Husker fans that they will be ready to replace the graduating veterans. With the loss of the two regular quarterbacks this year, McBride may be drilled for the pilot position on the 1928 Cornhusker eleven.

At the fullback position, Coach Bear will have George Farley, who played his first year with the Varsity this season. Oehrlich leaves the fullback position vacant for next year and it will be a tough job for Farley to live up to the reputation Oehrlich set at that position in the Nebraska backfield.

From the squad of this year's fighting Huskers, the Nebraska coaching staff will have 32 men back next fall and fifteen of them are sophomores this year. From all indications it looks like a big year for the Cornhuskers on the gridiron.

It will be Nebraska's first year in the newly formed Big Six conference. The Huskers will play every member of the Big Six and three inter-sectional games. The first game of the season is at Ames with Iowa State.

FOSTER DISCUSSES JESUS AND PRAYER

 tor Foster was the "Religion of a Scientist." He spoke about the relation of prayer to the science of physics. He stated that the kind of universe in which we live as demonstrated by advanced physics is exactly the same as that expounded by prayer. Contending that we should try to assume a spirit of religion, he appealed to the scientists to give their hearts to the spirit of the campus of Nebraska.

Doctor Foster was introduced by Dorothy Nott, chairman of the committee in charge. More than seventy students attended the luncheon.

MRS. ALDRICH GIVES HINT AT LUNCHEON

 open forum discussion when Mrs. Aldrich answered questions on approaching the publisher, knowing the markets, finding time to write, and organizing material. She gave it as her opinion that correspondence schools were chiefly valuable discouraging those who had no talent to write but added that they were probably of value to some people.

Mrs. Aldrich advised prospective writers to secure a good background in English, to get an idea for an article and then "live with it," and above all to cultivate the will to succeed.

 "Wild Nell, the Pet of the Plains, Or Her Final Sacrifice," a burlesque pantomime will be staged by Xi Delta. Doris Hosman will play the part of "Wild Nell." Maxine Mathers is Lady Dere de Vere. Both Wild Nell and Lady Dere de Vere are in love with Handsome Harry, and in a dramatic climax Wild Nell sacrifices her life.

Serpents, Take-Off Cleopatra
 "Serpent of the Nile," is the title of the Silver Serpent skit. The theme centers around Cleopatra passing judgment on the campus honoraries. Edith Grau is Antony; Cleopatra, Thelma Logsdan; slave girl, Mildred Cole; Green Goblin, Pauline Bilon; Mystic Fish, Audrey Beales; Xi Delta, Mary Dudley; Iron Sphinx, Margaret Dudley; Vikings, Clara Olsen and Maurine Drayton. The chorus includes Janice Foote, Marie Daugherty, Eleanor Tipton, Irene Lavelly, and Catherine Bradley. Katherine Beckmann is the pianist and Mary Ball reads the interpretation.
 The Tassel's stunt is called "The Music Store." Geraldine Heil plays the part of the store manager,
