A MUSICAL TREAT

The Chicago Civic Opera company, with the famous Mary Garden in the cast, will present "Il Trovatore" in the University Coliseum on March 29. Not only musical circles but all the students and citizens of Lincoln appreciate this opportunity to hear such a truly fine cast and orchestra present this old opera.

Now another item can be placed in the University's program of culture along with the names of John McCormack and Bess Streeter Aldrich. Lincoln and the student body have evidently supported these visitors sufficiently to convince University authorities that even larger and more costly programs can be brought here.

These rare opportunities to hear worthwhile singers and musicians should gradually show the more cynical members of the student body that the University of Nebraska is interested in other kinds of entertainment besides football. Both football and grand opera should be part of a University student's life, but after the last football season there was some doubt about the development of the cultural side.

If the present policy of the University authorities continues, these doubts will be dispelled.

We notice with sadness that another old University tradition has been abolished. Dean Lyman's Ford burned up.

LIVING UP TO EXPECTATIONS

May C. Hermes, who represented England at the convention of the National Student Federation of America held in Lincoln recently, thanks the student body of the University of Nebraska for its hospitality. She said it was the best she had seen in this country.

The convention was only made successful by the cooperation of the student body. The Student Council alone was helpless. So such a letter as the following should be sweet music to the Cornhuskers who helped to entertain the visitors:

To the Editor of "THE DAILY NEBRASKAN"

May I offer through the columns of the "Daily Nebraskan" my congratulations to the students of the University of Nebraska on the success of their work in organizing the annual convention of the National Student Federation of the United States of America and express to my hosts and hostesses my sincere thanks for the generous reception they gave to the delegate from Europe of the C. I. E. (International Confederation of Students.)

The enthusiastic and hospitable welcome that I, as a stranger newly arrived in America, met with from everyone in Lincoln is the happiest introduction I could have had to your country. I sincerely hope that I shall have an opportunity of repaying some of this hospitality to representatives of the University of Nebraska, who accept "the Invitation to Europe" that was my special message from the European members of the C. I. E. to the N. S. F. A. convention.

The students in Europe through the C. I. E. are eager to give the N. S. F. A. delegation a warm welcome; they are planning in all countries to offer much hospitality that will give the visitors opportunity of gaining real insight into the national life.

With my best wishes for the success of the work of your University in the coming year

I am,
Yours very sincerely,
(Signed) MAY C. HERMES.

OUCH!

The city of Lincoln is considering a curfew law which provides that: "children under the age of fifteen shall be off the streets and out of public places at 8 p. m. during the summer months and 8 p. m. during the school year."

Child prodigies in college should not be included in this rule—if the University of Nebraska boasts any such specimens.

But there is a simple way to remedy this defect in the curfew rule. Make it apply only to people with the mind of a child under fifteen years of age.

Even this rule would be unsatisfactory, however, because too many University co-eds would be kept home after 8 o'clock.

NEBRASKA'S FUTURE ATHLETES

The co-ed is rapidly approaching her goal of equality with men at the University of Nebraska. Following the successful inauguration of intramural sports for men, it is rumored that there is to be established, immediately, a similar athletic program for women students. Intramural sports for women would give every student an opportunity to participate in athletics. All a woman has to do to get on a team is to leave her name and telephone number with the director.

If this policy of equality of men and women in athletics is carried still further, we will in the course of a few years, have intercollegiate competition among women as well as men, with the attendant staff of coaches, equipment, and other paraphernalia which athletic teams require.

There would also have to be an organized conference among the various colleges for arranging schedules and other details. There might also be a few inter-sectional games each year. Women would then be on a par with men in college athletics, and this goal would be realized.

From that stage on, the struggle between men and women would be for supremacy. Each would strive to outdo the other in attaining national recognition and selection of individuals for All-American teams. This would further increase the opportunities of women in the field of journalism by creating a demand for women sports writers, who would in turn, no doubt, coin their own "sports slang."

"Say, dearie, you made a PERFECTLY MARvelous return from punt formation yesterday," would be common talk. And women would, beyond a doubt, have attained a standing in the sports world equal to that of men.

Daily Nebraskan readers are cordially invited to contribute articles to this column. This paper, however, assumes no responsibility for the sentiment expressed herein, and reserves the right to exclude any libelous or undesirable matter. A limit of six hundred words has been placed on all contributions.

Dear Editor:

The department of physical education for women of this University has announced a plan for an intramural sports program for Nebraska co-eds. The plan includes basketball and baseball tournaments between sororities and dormitories on the campus.

I think this is an excellent idea for the women on this campus and every group should take advantage of this opportunity.

Two years of gymnasium work is required of every woman student in the University, with few exceptions. Once this requirement has been met, however, there is nothing more in the line of sports for the co-ed unless she happens to be a major in the department of physical education, and the number in this line of work is comparatively small if the total enrollment of women in the University is considered. There has long been a need for some type of sports program for the Nebraska co-eds in general, from the standpoints of both health and promotion of sportsmanship, a quality so often lacking in the so-called weaker sex. Again, the women in this institution should be afforded methods of getting better acquainted.

A program of intramural sports between sororities and dormitories will afford the co-eds of Nebraska an opportunity, hitherto deprived, of engaging in activities conducive to both health and sportsmanship.

to this are the Pullmans necessary for the transportation of the 300 persons and the personnel which makes it reach the size of the largest circuses.

"Il Trovatore" is a four act opera in eight scenes. It is recognized as perhaps the peer of all operas, and has been produced by all leading European and American operatic companies. The music of the play was written by Giuseppe Verdi with the theme by Cammarano. The scenes of Aragon and Northern Spain are beautifully pictured by the organization's own effects.

Other cities that the company will visit during the tour are Milwaukee, Boston, Rochester, Akron, Detroit, Columbus, Chattanooga, Memphis, Tulsa, Wichita, San Antonio, Los Angeles, Oakland, Seattle, Sacramento and Portland.

The ticket sale will start immediately with a downtown office, that will be announced. Prices have not been announced but popular priced seats will be available, it is assured.

Homemakers Are Themes of Talks

M. Wilson concerning "Memories From Twenty-two Years of These Meetings." Oscar Bennett, accompanied by Mrs. Bennett, gave a group of vocal solos, following which Mrs. A. E. Burnett related a few reflections from looking back over the meetings which she had attended.

Miss Clara Rausch, University of Nebraska, spoke on the subject, "Can the Homemaker Feel 100 Per Cent Fit?" She discussed the physical disabilities which are apt to make the homemaker shirk her duty. She also presented an outline of the program which is being used to help girls overcome their weaknesses through physical education.

"The Seven Goals of Education" was the topic of the talk given by Mrs. W. W. Day, state president of the Parent-Teachers Association. The value of the home as a stimulant for reaching any of the goals was explained by Mrs. Day. Mrs. Clara Ingram Judson, author and lecturer from Evanston, Illinois, discussed "The Business Side of Homemaking." She emphasized, and put in its proper place, the importance of money in carrying on the business of making a home.

Debaters Begin On New Issues

negative will meet the affirmative of Kansas Aggies. The second debate is scheduled with Missouri and the affirmative team of Nebraska will meet the negative of Missouri in Lincoln on February 21. The Nebraska negative team will meet Missouri's affirmative at Columbia on the same night.

The men selected by the judges for the two teams are as follows: David Fellman, Junior in College of Arts and Sciences; Robert Baldwin, Freshman in College of Law; Reginald Miller, Junior in College of Arts and Sciences; Lester Schoene, Junior in College of Arts and Sciences; Joseph Ginsburg, Freshman in College of Law; and Evert Hunt, Freshman in College of Law. H. B. Sarno, Freshman in College of Law, and Sherman Welpton, Sophomore in College of Arts and Sciences, were chosen as alternates.

Valley Quints Settle Into Mid-Year Pace

this week the Stillwater quintet will invade the north to meet all three of the conference teams in Iowa. The Aggies showed fine early season form in trimming the Grinnell basketekers at Stillwater, 54 to 43, but on the next night lost to Drake, 37 to 33. Drake and the Aggies meet again tonight for their second conference game on the 1928 card.

Monday night Nebraska entertains its first conqueror when Coach White brings his Washington five to Lincoln for a Valley game. Washington took the long end of the count at St. Louis, winning by one point. Husker fans will have an opportunity to see the Scarlet and Cream quintet in action for the first time this season on Saturday night when Nebraska meets Missouri. Next week the Huskers meet Drake at Des Moines.

The one peculiarity of this week's games is the long road trips of several Valley fives. Missouri comes to Nebraska Saturday and plays the Kansas Aggies Monday and Kansas
