POLICE ISSUE EDICT ABOUT CAR PLATES

Chief Johnstone's Men Will Tag Out-State Cars with Old Plates Starting Today

Students driving cars have been advised to "get your license now," by Chief of Police Peter Johnstone. All out-state cars without the 1928 license plates will be tagged starting today. Nebraska car owners without the new licenses will be arrested starting March 1.

Chief Johnstone remarked yesterday that the crowds at the county treasurer's office had thinned out considerably, and that licenses could be obtained without delay today. Numerous students attending the University of Nebraska from other states are driving cars. Out-state cars should have had their licenses by the first of the year, so arrests will start immediately, according to Chief Johnstone.

ELLIOT SPEAKS ABOUT MORALS

Lecturer Discusses "Men and Women" at Meeting of Men Students

MODERN EVILS PLAYED

"Any act detrimental to the human race is immoral," was the opening statement of "Dad" Elliott last evening in an address in Social Science auditorium. The subject of the lecture was "Men and Women." This was the second of a series of three lectures given to a select group of university men, Monday night "Dad" Elliott gave a discussion concerning the evil tendencies of group control and the restraint placed on individual development of idealism.

"There is no greater question to be considered than that concerning the relationship of men and women," Mr. Elliott continued. "There are some great cardinal principles to be considered by every man and one of them is that he should strive to be a true and worthy companion."

Speaker Gives Fundamental Law As a man thinks so will he act in the crisis of life, was one of the fundamental laws, given by "Dad" Elliott, to which a man must adhere. Fire burns, he reminded his audience, and if a man puts himself in a certain environment he cannot wipe out. (Continued on Page 2)

Companionate Marriage Is Disapproved

Lawrence, Kan., Feb. 7.—Thirty-six out of 50 women in a child care course at the University of Kansas emphatically disapprove of companionate marriage. Five believe it alright "under certain conditions." This and other information was secured by the class instructor, Dr. Florence B. Sherbon, by means of a confidential questionnaire which the women answered.

One girl thinks that companionate marriage is "cowardly." She says, "If there is any doubt as to whether the two parties concerned can or cannot get along, I think it preposterous for them to consider marriage." Twenty-one girls said home-making is the only career they want. Several want "miniature careers" before they get married just to show that they can "be self-supporting if necessary."

PALMER WILL TALK AT WORLD FORUM

Unitarian Pastor Will Give Address On "Humanism in Religion" At Weekly Meeting

"Humanism is not opposed to Theism. Humanism is unwilling to allow man to be used as a means to an end, however glorious that end may be. Human life is an end in itself," stated Rev. Edwin C. Palmer, pastor of the Unitarian church, in regard to the keynote of his talk at World Forum today.

Reverend Palmer has chosen for the subject of his talk, "Humanism in Religion". According to his present plans, he intends to discuss humanism in relation to philosophy and theism. This will be the first of a series of talks to be given at World Forum on the relationship philosophy bears to religion. The second talk of this series will be given next Wednesday by Reverend Paul Johnston, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church.

A few tickets for the luncheon this noon are still available, and may be procured at the Temple in the Y. M. C. A. office. These tickets will cost thirty-five cents if bought at the luncheon. All World Forum luncheons at the Grand hotel begin at 12 o'clock and end at 12:50 o'clock.

ARMY-HUSKER GAME RUMOR IS NOT VERIFIED

Gish Says Lawrence Perry Is Not in Position to Know About Our Contracts

NOTHING DEFINITE GIVEN

Acting Athletic Director States No Positive Information About Contract

"Lawrence Perry is not signing contracts for Nebraska football games," replied Herbert D. Gish, acting athletic director of Nebraska, when questioned concerning the announcement of an Army-Nebraska game to be played Nov. 24 at West Point. The announcement appeared in yesterday's Lincoln Star, and stated that information had been received from Lawrence Perry, New York newspaper writer, who was said to be in close touch with authorities from West Point and Nebraska, which said that a contract had positively been signed.

"It isn't even a good rumor," continued Gish, apparently displeased with Mr. Perry's advance information. Mr. Gish would not positively deny that he had signed a contract, but very strongly inferred such to be the case.

Rumors of a signed contract between West Point officials and the director of Nebraska athletics have been circulating ever since Herbert D. Gish left Lincoln to talk with the Army men. Possibilities for such a grid battle have been increasing since the game was first mentioned, but it seems that nothing definite has been done even yet.

Qualms and Worries Beset Pledges As Period of Probation Approaches

Freshmen worries and wonderings will turn to wallings and whinings, Thursday evening when Nebraska fraternities open up their probation week. The anticipation will become a realization and pledges of the Greek letter societies will embark on the most unsolvable three days of their university career thus far. Unsolvable because they can count on nothing and expect everything.

Already probation week has developed into the chief topic of conversation and campus gatherings in and around Social Science building have stopped talking about past exams, dates, basketball, and track, and are given over to freshmen and their sympathetic mutings. Perhaps in some instances they have even plotted revenge before the battle opens but that is hardly probable because they just can't come to the conclusion of what, when, why, and where it is all going to happen.

Freshmen Will Learn Geography Freshmen can be assured of a complete geographical knowledge of Lincoln and vicinity and perhaps in some instances Lancaster county. They will learn the value of sleep, and can be assured that Sunday morning will mean more than a day of rest for them. It will be a period of convalescence, to say the least.

"Ye Old Alum," who delights in returning to the fraternity house with brutal tales of past probation "exs," "when they were in school" has added, in a great many cases, terror and fright to the minds of the first year men. They tell of an entire week of pre-initiation ceremony and even go so far to enumerate the tragic deaths and mutilations of their fellow pledges and the sorrow they carried in their hearts. And the freshmen heave a sigh of relief because they know it cannot last more than fifty-four hours. But then again what a lot can happen in that two and one-half days.

Period of Probation is Shortened The Inter-Fraternity Council ruling, passed last year, permits the holding of probation only fifty-four hours, starting Thursday evening and ending the following Sunday morning. In previous years the organizations were allowed to hold probation at their own convenience and (Continued on Page 3)
