

Pioneers Fall Before Nebraska

Davis, tall center for the Grinnell squad, took high scoring honors for the Iowa invaders with 7 points to his credit. Coggeshall, sensational forward, was unable to get a basket in the evening's proceedings, but showed to advantage with a clever floor game.

Pioneers Play Well
If the team representing the Grinnell institution in last night's encounter is the same that defeated Missouri, Washington and the Kansas Aggie aggregation last week-end, Husker basket fans may well do some wondering.

The Pioneers displayed a slow floor game and if the Huskers had failed to present such a flashy scoring machine, the evening's exhibition would have been sadly lacking in numerous respects. No doubt the fact that the Pioneers had just completed three hard games on the home court was a large factor in explaining the slow play presented by the visitors.

Hard Games Ahead
Although winning from the Iowa team by a large score the Huskers are faced by a stiff road trip to Oklahoma this week-end. Nebraska is booked to appear at Norman March 3 for a return game with the Valley leaders who edged out a two-point victory on their Lincoln contest. March 5 at Stillwater the Huskers will attempt to break even in the series with the Oklahoma Aggies in a Monday night exhibition which ends the season for both teams.

By winning the Tuesday game, Nebraska goes into sixth place in the Valley basketball standings with seven games won and nine lost and a percentage of .438. By winning both of the remaining games the Nebraska entry can finish in the upper half with an even break in the 18 Valley games played this season.

Syracuse Fraternities Abandon Probation

It is the custom of making neophytes carry goldfish to classes, wear red and green neckties, carry paddles about the campus, or perform distasteful stunts downtown that is being done away with. In the past, sophomores, juniors and seniors have derived considerable entertainment from the childish antics of the flustered freshmen.

Representatives of thirteen fraternities yesterday declared that they had last year or before, definitely vetoed plans for outside rough-house, and at least four others stated that they have decided to abolish the practice this spring. Seven others had not yet decided on their policy for the coming initiations.

This leaves seven chapters which plan to make pledges perform tasks outside their houses. Some of them yesterday stated that the work assigned will be very mild, while one or two gave the impression that their freshmen will undergo all the usual tortures.

Among the fraternities which had done away with outdoor rough-house prior to this year are Phi Delta Theta, Delta Upsilon, Pi Kappa Alpha, Psi Upsilon, Theta Alpha, Zeta Beta Tau, Beta Theta Pi, Zeta Psi, Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Alpha Kappa Epsilon, Delta Kappa Epsilon, and Delta Lambda. Those which have decided to discontinue the custom this year include Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Kappa, Lambda Chi Alpha and Sigma Alpha Mu.

Alpha Sigma Phi, Phi Kappa Tau, Ttu Epsilon Phi, Phi Gamma Delta, Alpha Chi Rho and Alpha Phi Delta were not sure of their plans for this year, although some of them said that they said that they usually have little or no outdoor initiation. The chapter president or a senior representative in each of the following houses said that they intended assigning certain outside tasks to their freshmen: Kappa Sigma, Gamma Eta Gamma, Omicron Alpha Tau, Phi Epsilon Pi, Sigma Nu, Sigma Chi, and Sigma Beta.

All Done Voluntarily
It is significant that the fraternities which have done away with outside work have done so entirely voluntarily, without the issue being taken up by either the Interfraternity Council or the University administration. However, Charles W. Newmark, president of the Greek council, was outspoken yesterday in declaring himself against "all forms of physical initiation, especially the stunts performed outside the houses."

John J. Flynn, president of the student body, when approached on the subject, said: "I can see no good accomplished by the public ridicule of fraternity pledges. I hope that more houses will soon decide to do away with the prep school custom entirely." Robert Thompson, president of the Senate, while refusing to comment in his official capacity, was also much opposed to the methods some fraternities have used in the past.

Mercury Rises and Falls in Late Winter

Have saved the suit, and longs for the old coonskin. Will she ever get over that long stretch from Social Science to Bessey without freezing to death? She will never rush the season again with a spring suit no matter how new or clever the style.

Miss Co-ed steps outside at eleven o'clock rather cautiously, prepared to be met by a veritable blizzard. Instead, a balmy breeze is blowing from the south, the sun burns her shoulders and the suit actually feels warm. After all, one hates old winter clothes when spring is in the air. Her mind wanders again to the show at the Lincoln and Bill's new roadster.

She starts home to lunch and decides that it is not quite as warm as she thought but she hurries courageously along, hoping that the sun will shine a few minutes longer. The weather is a mixture of sun, clouds, and wind when she at last reaches home, and Cora runs the last few steps to the door.

With her fur coat wrapped tightly about her Cora Co-ed starts bravely to her two o'clock class. "Oh well", she thinks, "I might as well go to school. I can see the Lincoln Saturday." She draws on her gloves and with a distinct sniver hurries down the street.

Professor T. A. Blair, who is in charge of the United States weather bureau, tells us that the weather has not been any more "unusual" this year than usual and that spring is the most stable season, but it is too erratic to suit us.

Aggies Sign To Meet Huskers

spent some time Tuesday afternoon grooming Johnson, Husker star miler, for his meeting with the Wildcat runner. Johnson ran three laps on the indoor track and finished up with a fast half-mile.

Janulewicz, who won the mile event in the meet with the Nebraska College Conference champions last Saturday and Mousel and Griffin should also furnish Moody strong competition. Dexter, who won the half-mile run Saturday, will be entered in that event in the Kansas Aggie meet also.

Lyons Is Weight Star
Lyons, weight star, who will throw the shot for the Aggies, will find strong competition in Hurd and Ashburn, Husker weight men. Gardner will also run the quarter-mile run for the Wildcats. Campbell, Davenport, and E. Wyatt ran one lap in 30 seconds each to get in shape for the Aggie meet. Assistant Coach "Choppy" Rhodes supervised the sprinters and hurdlers in practice starts.

The official entry list for the Kansas Aggie team has not been announced yet but will probably be made known today or Thursday. Coach "Indian" Schulte announced Tuesday.

Flagstones, Impressed By Feet of Dinosaurs, Presented to Oklahoma

Norman, Feb. 28.—Robinson Crusoe, the first known collector of footprints, would doubtless have been deeply interested in the most recent addition to the geological collection at the University of Oklahoma.

Several flagstones, deeply marked with prints of dinosaurs and other prehistoric animals, have been presented to the university by Frank C. Littleton, of Aldie, Va.

The stones were found on the estate, owned by Littleton, which was formerly the property of President James Monroe.

Addison Sheldon Ends Radio Lecture Series

Addison E. Sheldon has concluded a series of twenty-two radio lectures on "The History of Nebraska." These Tuesday night lectures were apparently popular, as letters are coming to the office of the Nebraska Historical Society asking that more lectures be given on similar subjects.

After College...
—your opportunity to Make Good!

W. C. CAVINS

While studying Industrial Management in graduate courses at the University of Pennsylvania in 1922, I was impressed with the rapid growth of the chain store. A Kresge manager with whom I was acquainted, told me of their democratic system of promotion, based on merit alone and of the unlimited financial opportunities, so I applied for a position.

In 1923 I began work, as has every man in the Kresge Company, to learn the business from the beginning. Starting in the stockroom of one of our large stores, I spent several months learning at first hand the many phases of stock-keeping. I was then promoted to a position on the floor where I learned so busy and still had to manage a sales organization. Since then, advancement has always come as rapidly as I was ready for greater responsibilities.

The Kresge Company offers the college man just the opportunity he is looking for. Here, he can apply all that he has learned in the classroom. His well-rounded personality is a marked asset. His trained mind enables him to learn rapidly and he is given encouragement and help in mastering the many phases of a scientific business. Every detail of store management is given to men in training, every branch of the work is thrown open to them. His progress is encouraged by his associates and superiors, for his success is their success.

I feel sure of my rewards with a company whose growth is limited only by the number of men capable of managing its ever-increasing and expanding units.

W. C. CAVINS,

CAMPUS days will soon be over. Then follows the biggest job of all, finding success in the business world. And how important it is that you choose a position that is ripe in future possibilities! Will you follow the crowd and accept a job that pays you a fairly good salary now but offers little chance for advancement—or will you sacrifice a little at the start for the sake of greater rewards in the years to come?

If you are willing to begin at the bottom at a small salary and work your way to the top, the Kresge Company offers you an unusual opportunity to make good. Every year we select a limited number of college men and train them in every phase of merchandising and store management. As they advance their salaries are increased and when their training is completed they are given stores of their own to manage—stores in whose profits they share.

If you are looking for an opportunity to make good—to hold a future position of trust and responsibility with an income far above the average—write now to our Personnel Department. We will send a successful graduate of your own college to meet you and tell you more about this Kresge opportunity.
