 ginning of the hour, and the votes sent to the Nebraska office. Persons having no 9 o'clock class on Wednesday were given the privilege of voting at the office of the University daily.

 Herbert Hoover's popularity with Nebraska students was emphasized with the counting of the votes which came to the Nebraska office Saturday. Of seventy-one votes cast Hoover received thirty-eight.
 The taking of college-preference for presidential possibilities is being assisted by R. S. Bailey, editor of The Independent. That magazine will publish a list of the results of "straw votes" in prominent colleges throughout the country.

FOX SPEAKS BEFORE ROUND TABLE GROUP

Minister Declares Knowledge to Be Perfectly Useless Without Moral Passion

"Knowledge is a perfectly useless thing unless it is showered through with the dynamic of moral passion," declared Dr. Hamilton P. Fox, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Lincoln, in his talk Friday noon at the Grand Hotel before the third meeting of the Religious Round Table upon the topic, "Who is Christ?"

Dr. Fox spoke of the various definitions of Christ that have been made by biographers. Among other things, he said, they have called Christ "the everlasting man," "the supreme wonder-worker," and "the apocryphal or mystery man."

"I have not found any adequate answer to the question," Dr. Fox admitted. "There is some element of truth in all of those that have been given, but none of them are complete. The answer that seems most comprehensive to me is that of the man who looked in the face of the Master and said: 'Thou art Christ, the Son of God.' I receive it most willingly because it shows me how I may become a son of God. More, it enables me to become a conscious son of God."

 Bill and Jack were typical college boys,—always broke! To make their expenses, they had that of running everything from a hamburger stand to a near-beer factory,—some how these plans never worked.
 "Bill, we've got to sell something that is good and at bargain prices."
 "Jack, I've beat you to it."
 "The same wonderful idea struck me the other day when I was looking at a hole in my sock, so I wrote the Superwear Hosiery Company of 703 First Avenue North, Minneapolis, Minn., who cater to college men's furnishings, and who are the largest advertisers in the country selling men's hosiery exclusively, direct and just received their complete selling outfit FREE, and Jack, it's a knockout! Every color, fabric, and fancy style a fellow could want! 30 different styles,—and say—they've also got a line of the snappiest men's silk rayon under-garments—sweat and two piece suits.
 "Jack, I'll have every fellow on the campus outfitted with a supply of the spring and summer socks and underwear."
 "Jack, send for it yourself, there's room for several fellows on this campus with 5,000 men buyers. Write them today for their complete free selling outfit."

 Are Exclusive in Every Sense of the Word

Every fabric or pattern is "exclusive" at the moment it is created, but naturally it loses the right to this title as soon as it is produced by the thousands for all who wish to possess it. Marlborough Modes are not in this mass production class. A definite limitation is placed upon their distribution. They are the only suits sold under the Protected Individuality Agreement under which only a strictly limited number of each pattern is sold in this city. Thus, the wearer of a Marlborough Mode is absolutely assured of the individuality of his costume. In addition, "Stripes in the Marlborough Mode" and other fine imported and domestic fabrics manufactured exclusively for the Kirschbaum tailors further protect the individuality of this premier style line. If it's individuality you want—let us show you our Marlborough Modes for Spring.
