BLUE PRINT WILL BE CONVENTION HOST NEXT FALL

Eighth Meeting of Engineering College Magazine Will Be October 25, 26 and 27

PETITION FOR TWO YEARS

Ralph Raikes, John Clema, and George Gillespie Are in Charge of Plans

Eighth annual convention of Engineering College Magazines Associated will be held at the University of Nebraska next fall, October 25, 26, and 27, according to Emerson Mead, general manager of the Nebraska Blue Print. A report that the petition was accepted was received recently. The Blue Print will be the host to the colleges attending the convention.

A general committee composed of Ralph Raikes, '30, Ashland, chairman, John Clema, '29, Beatrice, and George Gillespie, '29, Omaha, was appointed by the Blue Print staff to take charge of preparations for the convention.

Organization Is Extensive

Engineering College Magazines Associated is an organization composed of approximately twenty-five of the best student engineering publications in the United States. Prominent universities are represented in the association including Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cornell University, Michigan, Princeton, University of Minnesota, Ohio State, and Purdue.

The Nebraska Blue Print has been bidding for the convention for the past two years, but the large proportion of eastern schools represented kept the conventions in the east. At the convention last fall at Ohio State, Columbus, Ohio, Nebraska again petitioned.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Purdue were close competitors for the convention and no decision was given until a few days ago, the convention coming to Nebraska.

The organization of E. C. M. A. is the only one of its kind in the world. It was formed to set standards for student engineering publications, and to provide for standardization of page size to accommodate national advertisers. All national advertising is now handled through a special agency.

PRAIRIE SCHOONER RECEIVES ARTICLES

Contributions Come From All Parts Of Country; Magazine Takes National Aspect

Literary contributions from all parts of the country have been received at the editorial office of the Prairie Schooner, literary magazine of the University, according to Dr. Lowry C. Wimberly, chairman of the board of editors.

"With these contributions coming in," said Dr. Wimberly, "the magazine is widening its acquaintance and is taking on a national aspect. The next number which will appear this month, will contain some of these together with local contributions."

The Prairie Schooner was started in January 1927 and is now entering on its second year of existence. Four numbers are issued annually. The Spring number is published in April, the Summer number appears in July, the Fall number in October, and the Winter number in December.

April Fools Day Is Incentive For Many Sly Jokes

April Fools day has passed with many on the campus completely fooled and others apparently unaware that it came around as usual this year. An inquiry as to the number of sorority and fraternity houses receiving frantic telephone calls of smoke pouring from the third floor window, etc., revealed that few such pranks were played. However, the various members who might have been so fooled may feel a trifle sheepish and not wish to relate it to the public.

Credit for a joke that was not a joke should go to the person who called up some fifty members of the Kosmet Klub cast and asked them to report for practice at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. The would-be Garbos and Gilberts, not wishing to be fooled or perhaps just wanting a good excuse to remain in bed, failed to report and had to be notified that the rehearsal was no joke.

Houses On Fire

Some prankster called the Beta Theta P house and told them that smoke was pouring from the aforementioned third floor window. We understand the boys dashed out to see the fire. The Alpha Sigs and the Lambda Chis were the next to be caught with the same trick. The members of Alpha Sigma Phi were so used to fires in the third floor of their former house that they were not surprised and went tearing upstairs, as usual.

The weather must have been too nice for the persons interested in re-

ORTON GIVES OHIO GRADUATION TALK

'Public Pays Too Large Share Of Cost of Education,' Says General

Columbus, Ohio—Regardless of the benefits of higher education to the individual and the state, "the public now pays too large a share of the cost of higher education and the recipient pays too little," General Edward Orton told the winter graduating class of Ohio State University.

"There is some danger," he said, "of over-saturation of our population with people of the 'white collar' class. There has been some evidence of overcrowding in several lines already—notably law and medicine.

'Faulty Distribution'

"The claim will probably be set up in both these cases that it is a matter of faulty distribution, not an actual surplus. It will be shown that in many country districts the old practitioner is gone and no new man comes in to take his place, and that more service is needed and less is available. But the fact remains that the cities and towns are full of struggling lawyers and doctors, and

Students graduating last July, August, January, or the coming June are eligible for election. About three or four hundred of the graduating class are eligible.

'Old Buck' Is Nerve Wrecker in Lives Of Riflemen Firing for Coveted 'N's

"Cease firing" has been "bawled" for the sergeant in charge of the rifle range for the last time this year.

Teamwork predominates in football, basketball, and baseball, but individuality is supreme in rifle shooting.

While the rifleman is preparing to fire for record, "Old Buck" keeps saying, "I am going to get you, I am going to get you, I am going to get you." Clad in a shooting jacket, and bubbling over with iron nerves, he goes to his designated firing point.

Just as he gets ready to pull the trigger, "Old Buck" appears and says, "You can't hold that rifle still. If you miss the bull's eye, what will the coach say? You must beat these other fellows." He shoots and makes an eight instead of a ten.

Coach instructs
When he gets ready to fire the second shot, two "Bucks" appear, and a nine is made. "Forget 'Buck,'" says your time, squeeze the trigger, hold the bull's eye on the front sight, hold your breath," shouts the coach.

The shooter, almost ready to swear, yells back to him, "I am doing this (Continued on Page 3.)

Instructors in Teachers College Christen New Car with Grape Pop

"You auto come to my christening," read the invitations placed on all the desks of the Kindergarten and Primary instructors.

Now what were those feminine instructors going to do? The whole truth of the case was that one of the members of the staff had squandered her hard earned money on a new car, and being human there must be a celebration on such an occasion. (The college instructors are not the cynics that the sweet co-ed and her admirer picture them.)

If you had chance to pass Teachers College last Saturday you would have seen those serious minded (in the class room) instructors gaily tripping down the steps, each with a ribbon tied package under her arm. After an unsuccessful quest finding nothing better a bottle of grape pop was bought for the christening fluid.

Ceremony at Ag College
The next thing they must find a stage setting befitting such a ceremony. No more beautiful scenery could be found than the Agricultural College campus, where the mossy green of the lawn and the trees near blossom served as nature's own background. The scene here opens with the owner of the car holding (Continued on Page 2.)
