

Lobbying By "Al"

LINCOLN
It isn't hard to picture Norma Shearer as an Al saleslady, which is the role she plays in "The Latest From Paris." She's just the type that would get all the orders while the other fellows bragged about what they are going to do. All the cloak and suit companies in America will want to hire her after they see her work in this picture. For she surely sells the goods—and lines up the men in the bargain.

Ralph Forbes supplies the love interest. George Sidney, Tenen Holtz and Bert Roach will tickle your funny bone. Not so bad.
The Chev brothers give an exhibition of unique and difficult athletic feats.
Britt Wood, the boob with his harmonica, gets more music out of that one by four mouth organ than some orchestras do out of ten musical instruments.
Harrison, Jarvis and Company offer a short comedy sketch. It falls a little short of being good but one must give them credit for using original stuff.

for ransom works an interesting and humorous trend into the dramatic story of the aviator's regaining of memory and love.

Marion White and Boothe Howard divide honors this week. Marion does an almost flawless piece of work in the role of a little Mexican girl (I prefer her without the wig) and Mr. Howard gives one of the best performances of his career in the role of "Santos" the General. Mr. Herold does creditable work in an exceedingly difficult role.

ORPHEUM

"The Legion Of The Condemned" is the companion picture to "Wings." Emotionally it is above "Wings" for the suspense is terrific when the pretty heroine stands before the firing squad. Barry Norton, also, plays a bit that will bring a catch to your throat.

It is a war story with some of the finest characterizations that the screen has ever seen. Four men from four different realms of life join the French air corps because they want to crash their way out of life via the shortest route.

Because Mr. Wellman flew over the lines ten years ago, he knew just how to direct this picture. Some of the aerial combat scenes are hair raising.

Fay Wray and Gary Cooper supply the love interest.

RIALTO

To me "Speedy," Harold Lloyd's latest production, is a decided disappointment. It's a good comedy, but the gags and ideas are as old as the hills.

It is the story of an ambitious young man who tries his best to hold on to his job in order to win the good will of his prospective father-in-law. After tough breaks he finally gets his big chance. Politicians are about to wrest the franchise for the only horse trolley in New York, from him. Harold stirs the old man's friends to much excitement and the way they retain the road marks the high spot in the film. I hope you like it.

None of the Husker scrappers will know who their opponents are until they enter the ring. The tourney was supposed to have been a two-day fray, but due to the slim entrance list may last but one day. All the Nebraska men are in tiptop shape, having trained rigorously for the big town affair for some time. For the last two weeks they have run four miles each morning in the stadium's indoor track.

Former Boxer Visits Campus

structing boxing. And said Professor Wedge, "The old 'gym' we worked in wasn't like the Coliseum you now have."

Reared in Lumber Camp
Dr. Wedge's father was a lumberjack of the old school, who could neither read nor write, and his mother was a servant in a camp boarding house. Even though he was reared in the brutal environment of the lumber camp there is no trace of roughness in the man who to-day lives in the scholarly atmosphere of college life. Remarkable grit gained for him the education he now has.

Dr. Wedge graduated from the University of Arizona at the age of forty in preference to dying of tuberculosis as his doctors had ordered. He has also taken courses at Harvard, the University of California, and attended the last summer session of Columbia University.

Wrote Several Books
Perhaps Dr. Wedge is best known by his work in exposing the inside workings of the I. W. W. He is author of several books, "Inside the I. W. W.," "Criminal Syndicalism," and "Education as Adjustment for Citizenship." Dr. Wedge did not write without investigating. After leaving Harvard where he wrote his doctor's thesis he spent fifteen months investigating syndicalist groups.

He worked with them on the docks as stevedore, and even went to jail on two different occasions during a big I. W. W. strike. He worked as a seaman as well as in the lumber and railroad industry. "Hoboing" across the continent by way of box car was part of his early work and training.

Son is Champion

Hugh Wedge, his sixteen-year old son, has inherited some of his father's ability as a boxer and this fall won the Mid-Western A. A. U. light-heavy weight junior championship. The son entered the boxing game when he was but thirteen and has never lost a match.

Professor Wedge and his son leave this morning by auto for their home but "Before I go," he said, "I want my son to see this campus for it is really wonderful. A true Californian never finds anything to excel their own country but I am going to tell them that Nebraska has a most wonderful museum."

"There was a sound of revelry by night." —LORD BYRON

ONCE upon a time an undergraduate came back from his summer vacation, bought a case of "Canada Dry" and to his friends said, "Come around to my rooms, this evening. . ."

"There was a sound of revelry by night," as Lord Byron put it. And if you don't believe me, look it up in some canto or other of Childe Harold.

This is not a story of flaming youth. Or anything devilish.

But just this: "Canada Dry" is the smoothest, mellowest, most palatable ginger ale you've ever tasted. It quenches your thirst. It has a distinctive flavor.

It contains no capicum (red pepper). And it is really good for you.

"CANADA DRY"

"The Champagne of Ginger Ales"

Extract imported from Canada and bottled in the U. S. A. by Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Incorporated, 25 W. 43rd Street, New York, N. Y. In Canada, I. J. McLaughlin Limited. Established 1890.

Look for the name "Canada Dry" on the bottle cap. That shows you have your ginners.

Quality Shirts

WHEN A DEPENDABLE STORE selects the shirt lines it will feature, you may be certain only the finest of standard makes will be chosen, for the reputation of the store for being style-right is at stake.

WHEN WE SAY TO YOU that we carry the best numbers out of several standard lines, we mean that every shirt in our stocks is well-built, cut full and roomy, and made as finely as these big houses know how to make shirts.

THE NEW PATTERNS are in stripes, checks, small figures, one-color plain or with jacquard tracery. Collar-attached styles, 1.75 to 3.50. Collar-to-match, with one or two collars, 1.75 to 5.00.
