The conference is an annual affair. An innovation this year will be a daily association hour when students from different colleges will gather to discuss concrete problems of the student Christian associations.

Retreat Will Be Held

After the conference itself a ten-day "retreat" will be held, a period of quiet with but one or two discussions scheduled.

Among the Christian workers who will act as leaders at the conference are Reinhold Niebuhr, Detroit minister and author, Sherwood Eddy, lecturer, and M. T. Kennedy. Dr. J. Rosslyn Earp of London and Anup Singh Dhillon of India will be two of the foreigners to lead discussions.

NEW TROPHY IS TO BE AWARDED

Interfraternity Council Will Give Cup to Group Second in Scholarship

RUSHING DATES ARE SET

The purchase of a scholarship trophy by the Interfraternity council to be known as the "Interfraternity Cup," which will be awarded to the fraternity ranking second in scholarship each year was announced by Prof. E. E. Schramm, chairman of the Interfraternity council, Saturday. This will enable the council to present cups to the two fraternities first in standings together with the fifteen plaques awarded for the smallest percentage of delinquencies.

The Hainer scholarship trophy, which has been given the past twelve years to the national social fraternity with the highest standing will be considered as the first place cup while the interfraternity cup will be the second award.

Professionals May Compete

This will enable professionals as well as social organizations to compete for a trophy. Heretofore only social fraternities were eligible for the cup award, the Hainer trophy. Should a professional fraternity rank higher than a social organization they would receive the interfraternity cup, the Hainer cup going to the highest social fraternity.

Should two social fraternities rank higher than any of the professional organizations they would receive the first and second awards. The fifteen plaques will continue to be awarded on the percentage of delinquencies as they have been in the past.

Rushing Dates Set

Rushing dates have been set by the council for the first three days of registration, this fall, September 17, 18, 19. Fraternities are asked to remember that rules of the council do not permit organizations to pledge men before 12 o'clock Sunday morning as rushing does not start until Monday.

Copies of the new probation rule to go into effect next year will be mailed to all organizations early in the fall. The plan accepted by the council has met the approval of all the organizations and will be closely followed by the officials of the council.

Canoe Trip Planned

Keratin Thorin, another staff member in the women's physical education department, plans a canoe trip down the Mississippi from northern Minnesota to St. Louis. ## DAILY PAPER USES MANY REPORTERS

Large Corps of Students Works on Staff of Nebraska During Past School Year

Today's issue of The Daily Nebraskan, the last for the present school year, is the 157th paper of the year. Eighty-one were issued this semester. A paid staff of fifteen students and some fifty odd reporters and business staff workers have handled the daily publication of this year's paper.

Five freshmen handled the heaviest reportorial load on The Daily Nebraskan this semester. They were William McCleery, who covered Kosmet Klub, debate and handled a wide variety of miscellaneous stories; Raymond Murray, who covered varsity and intramural track; Jack Lowe, who covered intramural athletics, Don Carlson, who covered World Forum and ground out a consistent stream of miscellaneous stories; and Maurice Akin, leading reserve writer on The Daily Nebraskan staff this semester.

Timmerman Covers Basketball

Douglas Timmerman covered varsity basketball during the cage season and helped cover the College of Business Administration this spring. Leon Larimer also assisted in covering news from that college. Jack Elliott continued his sports column, "In the Valley" which was widely quoted in college newspapers in the other Missouri Valley schools. Fritz Daly covered the work of the Interfraternity council, assisted with track news, and contributed several feature stories.

Among the girl reporters on the staff, Ruth McCormick covered W. A. A. news and all co-ed athletics. Pauline Bilon, Ruth Palmer, Helen Day, and Eloise Keefler, all assisted in covering news from the Y. W. C. A. University Players were covered by Florence Seward.

Students Say Round-Up Week Disrupts Work

"It is all over but the shouting and the sobbing," wailed a fair co-ed. "Why you just get to thinking about working and then you have to give it up for vacation."

That is what many are thinking now just before the final examinations. It was so much more fun to think about parties, masquing and tapping, and to let the studies slide. As a result there will probably be much midnight oil burned by both sexes and much misery at the final examinations.

Finals Not To Be Forgotten

"The last class has been over so long that we've about forgotten what it was all about. But we can't forget about the finals." That was the sentiment of one weary student after three days of Round-Up.

Memorial day is the big loop-hole in the week's schedule. The bulk of the student body is assured of two hours work from 8 to 1 o'clock Wednesday morning. But the rest of the day is closed to examinations. Which means that the bulk of the student body, anxious to return home will remain in Lincoln an extra day.

Object to Staying Extra Day

Columbus day, Lincoln's birthday, Washington's birthday, Arbor day, are all school days. But when it gets around to Memorial day when students want to go home, then school is not held.

That is the tenor of the average student's major complaint of examination week. In fact, being held an extra day, really seemed to be worrying students more than steady approach of the zero hour for finals.

Summer Child Clinic Will Be Held June 4

Twenty Youngsters Will Meet With Special Guidance Director at Bancroft School

Twenty children from varied parts of the state and the city of Lincoln will gather together at the Bancroft school, June 4, under the guidance of Miss Pauline Camp, director of child guidance and special education at Madison, Wis. for the second summer child clinic to be held in the city.

The old idea that the child was doomed to lip or stutter because his grandparents did is no longer believed, and modern educationalists scientifically go about it to correct the slight defect while the child is still young. The diagnosis and treatment of these children requires the skill of an expert.

Alumni President

TRACK MENTOR REFEREES MEET

Schulte Is Umpire of Western Conference Field Events at Evanston, Ill.

Coach Henry F. Schulte, University of Nebraska track coach, refereed the Western conference track and field championships at Evanston, Illinois, Friday and Saturday, May 25 and 26.

Coach Schulte is known over the country for not only producing championship track teams and notable cinder stars but also for his wide knowledge of track and his ability to supervise track contests.

Referees Husky Meets

This season the Husker mentor has served as referee of the Drake relays and the Western conference games as well as many college meets around Nebraska. Many of the most famous track stars point back to "Indian" Schulte as the reason for their outstanding ability. He was the man in many cases who found them and developed them.

Only last week Charley Paddock, "the world's fastest human," who is not as strong as in former years came to Lincoln to have a "specialist" give him some pointers. That specialist was Coach Schulte.

Has Famous Proteges

Bob Simpson, Missouri Valley hurdle record holder, was one of Schulte's boys at Missouri. Of recent years such men as Ed Weir, Roland Locke, and Fait Elkins have worked out under the supervision of the Husker mentor.

During his regime at the University of Nebraska Coach Schulte has turned out five Missouri Valley track and field championship teams, while his teams have not fallen below third place in other Valley championship meets.

Coach Schulte will soon take up his active duties as assistant Olympic coach for the 1928 games to be held at Amsterdam, Holland, this summer. The Husker coach has not been notified as to where he will work first but will know in a short time, he announced.
