

HUSKERS HOLD BREATH AS GRID CLASSIC NEARS

Nebraska Tapers Off for Thrilling Game With Light Drill

'LOOK OUT FOR MEHRLE'

Thirty-Seven Arrive Today From Columbia on Bengal Squad

The eve of the greatest football classic in the middle west is here—Tigers, Tigers, thirty-seven strong arrive in Lincoln today for the big Husker-Bengal clash on Memorial Stadium field to celebrate Homecoming day at Nebraska University. The Tiger-Husker gridiron clash will draw the largest football crowd to the stadium since the last game with Notre Dame. Bleachers have been erected to care for the mammoth Homecoming crowd.

Nebraska Scarlet and Cream Cornhuskers are on edge for the coming clash tomorrow with Henry's crew from Columbia. Tapering off tonight with a light workout will be the program on Coach Bear's schedule. Last night he sent his men through the final scrimmage of the week. The highest hurdle of the conference season is before the Husker football team and the victor of the Homecoming game will be a big favorite to win the first championship in the Big Six Conference.

Mehrle Is Threat
Bob Mehrle, Tiger back will be the thorn in the side of a Husker victory. Mehrle is considered the outstanding quarterback in the conference. His work this season has attracted wide comment in football circles. Mehrle passes, punts, and carries the ball with the skill of a veteran although this is only his second year in the Tiger backfield. It was Robert Mehrle who took the Tigers out of the fire with Iowa State and put the Missouri team on the victory side. It was Mehrle who scored the first two Tiger touchdowns. It was Mehrle who snaggles the light passes for gains against the Cyclones. Football followers are placing Mehrle as the second Red Grange in the Big Six conference.

Led by Captain Blue Howell and Captain Elmer Holm, the Nebraska eleven went through a fast and snappy workout on the sod last night. Passing formations, running formations, and punting formations were all receiving the big end of the practice session. Clair Sloan was brushing up on his goal kicking and punting. Howell and Witte alternated at heating the oval for long and short passes. Reb Russell, Husker quarterback, was reviewing his various plunges through the line and end runs.

Seek to Break Jinx
The Husker moleskin warriors realize that the big game of the conference season is at hand and that for three years in a row the Missouri eleven has taken Nebraska. Long workouts and sessions are in order to stop Coach Henry's crew from downing the "show pass" state and break the three year jinx. The Nebraska squad also realizes that the winner of the Missouri-Nebraska game will be the outstanding contender for the Big Six football championship and also a contender for mythical national honors.

Nebraska's probable lineup for the Missouri game will be the same as started against the Syracuse team last week. The Husker powerhouse will find Blue Howell at fullback, Witte and Farley at halfback and Reb Russell barking the signals. On the wing positions will be Ashburn and Lewandowski, Fisher, Bucher or Morgan. At tackle will be Richards and Mann, at guard, McMullen and Co-Captain Holm and Ted James at center. Missouri's probable lineup will be Bob Mehrle, Rosenheim, Byars, and Diemund or Waldorf. In the Tiger forward wall will be Erickson, or Smith center; Lee and Captain Miller Brown at the wing positions; Hawkins and Terwilliger at guard; Nash and Brayton at tackle.

"And we will take that Missouri Tiger," says the Cornhusker campus as the eve of the great battle draws near. Thirty-seven Tiger warriors are in Lincoln this morning to work out on Memorial Stadium sod in preparation for the greatest football classic in the middle west this week. Husker warriors in the football camp are pawing the earth like young colts and are awaiting that final minute when the referee's whistle sends the two elevens into battle. The Husker-Mizzou game will see the largest football crowd of the year and may even outdo the past Notre Dame-Nebraska games. Tickets in the stadium are going faster every day and when the day of the great game dawns, I think Mr. Selick will have his force out on the field erecting bleachers to hold this mammoth crowd.

How good will a line-man be in the backfield? That's the question that Coach Gwinn Henry is asking himself and what Nebraskans are interested in. John Waldorf, 355-pound center has been shifted to the fullback position in the Missouri "pony backfield" to replace Reese who was injured and will be out of the Husker-Missouri game. Waldorf is going good in the backfield but Nebraska followers are wondering if that change will weaken Henry's crew that will do the ball fudging.

Last night the Cornhusker warriors spent the evening out in the country—no not looking over the country club, but Coach Bear wanted to get his Scarlet squad away from the continual high tension that is being displayed around the Nebraska campus. The tension is reaching its high point. The pigskin luggers that will go against Missouri tomorrow will be away from all that rally and beat Missouri spirit until tonight. The Husker coach figures it best. The entire Nebraska campus has worked itself up to a degree of excitement before the oncoming game that rivals that of past Notre Dame games.

The announcement of Kern Reese's injury is the same story that has been coming out of Columbia for a number of years. Last year it was Clark and Flammak that were on the injury list and it was those two gentlemen who scored the seven points that beat Nebraska. What does this injury of Reese mean? Does it mean that Coach Gwinn Henry will again put an injured man in the game at a critical time and win the game. That's what the Tiger coach did last year. But Husker warriors wearing the scarlet, hearing this news, are working all the harder to take that tiger.

Nebraska is in good shape for the Homecoming football classic and the injury list from the Syracuse game is practically extinct. Richards is the sole remaining headliner on the injury list but expects to be in shape for the Missouri game. Sloan and Witte, the two Cornhusker halfbacks, are raring to go after some Tiger meat.

3900 SEATS ARE BUILT IN STADIUM

Temporary bleachers were being erected yesterday at both ends of the stadium field, to take care of the demand for seating facilities for the Nebraska-Missouri tangle Saturday.
Twenty-six sections of the bleachers with a capacity of one hundred and fifty each are available for the game, making a total of thirty-nine hundred extra seats for the game. This should take care of all ticket demands for the big Homecoming struggle.

Keeping fit

The most popular cereals served in the dining-rooms of American colleges, eating clubs and fraternities are made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. They include Corn Flakes, Pep Bran Flakes, Rice Krispies, Krumble, and Kellogg's Shredded Wheat. Also Kaffee Hag Coffee—the coffee that lets you sleep.

ABOVE all others the college man knows the importance of keeping fit. Classes, sports, campus activities all demand it.
Your strength and energy, your health itself, have no greater enemy than constipation. Its poisons, seeping through the system, sap vitality and often cause serious illness.
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN can protect you from this threat. This delightful cereal is guaranteed to bring prompt and permanent relief from constipation even in chronic cases. Eat two tablepoonsful every day. It is delicious with fruit. Ask for it at your campus restaurant or have it served at your fraternity house.
