OLYMPIC POINT SYSTEM GIVES SOPHS CHANCE

Change in Scoring Method To Provide More Interest in Annual Event

CO-EDS CAN WIN FIFTEEN

Boxing, Wrestling Will Be Staged in Coliseum Before Field Assemblage

Events and scoring system for the traditional freshman-sophomore Olympics, which are scheduled for Saturday, November 10, in the Coliseum and on the practice drill field inside the stadium, were announced Saturday by the committee in charge of the arrangements for the freshman-sophomore settlement.

Three weights of boxing, three weights of wrestling, a 440 yard relay race, tug-of-war, bull pen, and the memorable pole rush constitute the events on the Olympic slate. The system of scoring has been re-arranged and proportioned differently than in other years, so as to make for closer competition and to offset the great differences which have heretofore existed between the mass numbers of sophomores and freshmen turning out for the events.

The pole rush will be the only mass event on the schedule of events, and the rules governing this have been changed to offset the disadvantages that have been experienced by the handful of loyal sophomores who defend the pole.

Number Unrestricted

The number of freshman classmen and sophomores for this mass event is unrestricted. The pole will be higher, however, than in former years and the time limit on unseating the sophomore president from the perch will be whittled down. This is to offset the inequality that has formerly and always existed between the small protecting group of sophomores and the surging mass of angry first year men.

Another innovation in the Olympic program has been the points that are offered for the best co-ed turnout. Red ribbons will be given to every freshman girl that passes through the stadium gate Saturday to witness the Olympics. Sophomores will be given a blue ribbon.

NINE-COACH SPECIAL GOES TO LAWRENCE

Bad Roads Force Many Who Intended to Drive to Go On Train

Nine coaches filled with Cornhusker rooters, band members, and football players departed for the Lawrence early Saturday morning, according to reports from the main office of the Union Pacific railroad.

Due to inclement weather and the almost impassable roads through Nebraska and Kansas, a large number of students who expected to drive to Lawrence were forced to take the train. The special left Lincoln at 5:30 o'clock Saturday morning and returned here early this morning.

Sixty Freshmen Go

Sixty freshmen football players were included in the Cornhusker special party. Each year those freshmen who have been reporting regularly at practice and who are eligible scholastically, are given an opportunity to witness an out-of-town game.

About twenty-five members of the varsity squad, who did not leave with the three full teams on Thursday night, made the trip Saturday. The university band, numbering about eighty men, was also on the passenger list.

Estes Park Conference Offers Real Vacation and Many Famous Speakers

How would you like to live with ten other people in a ten by sixteen shack and do all your own washing, ironing and cooking?

This is only one of the many novel ideas introduced for fun and entertainment by some of the thirty Nebraska students who attended the Estes Park conference last summer. A beefsteak fry to which all the Nebraska girls were invited, was advertised by the Nebraska boys, but the beefsteak turned out to be pancake batter—they have unique stock ranches in Colorado. A better joke—the Nebraska girls in retaliation, planned a tea for the home state boys, and it developed into a real feed.

Friendship and fellowship prevail at this high resort—the Y. M. C. A. conference grounds in Estes Park, where more than four hundred students representing approximately sixty colleges and universities in Nebraska, Kansas, Utah, Colorado and Wyoming gather each summer for the conference.

Famous Speakers On Hand

Nationally and internationally famous speakers are brought to the conference to lecture and lead dis-

WORK ON SOIL SURVEY WILL BE ENDED SOON

University Department of Geology to Finish Tsak in Cedar County

The field work on the soil survey conducted by the university will be brought to a close within a week, with the completion of work in Cedar county.

Professor Russell, Mr. F. A. Hayes, and Dr. Condra are to present papers at the meeting of the American Soil Survey association at Washington, D. C., November 21. This organization, of which Dr. Condra is president, has membership from the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Under statutes of the state, the geological survey of the university is required to keep in touch with all deep drillings being made in the state, and especially those where there are prospects for oil and gas. At the present time eight of these are under observation, near the following towns: Crawford, Scottsbluff, Imperial, two near Beaver City, Riverton, Campbell and Newhawa. Chippings from these tests are forwarded to the geological survey, examined, and a complete record of progress is kept. No report of the findings is made public, however, until the test is completed.

Condra Will Speak

Dr. Condra will speak over the Westinghouse radio in Pittsburgh the evening of November 17 on the subject of "The Relation of the Soil Survey to Industrial Development."

Mapping of the cretaceous formations in Dawes and Sioux counties was finished during the week by Mr. Hewitt and Mr. Upp of the geological survey and they have started work on like formations in northern Holt county.

SALES CAMPAIGN FOR CORNHUSKER WILL CONTINUE

Business Office Unable to Handle Large Numbers of Subscribers

WILL CLOSE WEDNESDAY

Standings of Persons Selling Yearbook Not Yet Made Up by Staff.

Sales campaign for the 1929 Cornhusker will continue until Wednesday, according to an announcement made by the business manager, Bruce Thomas. The period of contest has been extended because of the fact that many students flocked into the Cornhusker office Friday afternoon in an attempt to get the year book before the contest closed. Cornhusker business staff considers that the campus has not yet been sufficiently canvassed and will offer their salesmen three more days.

During the selling contest the ten percent discount will be offered. The 1929 Cornhusker may be bought for $4.50 during the contest. A three dollar payment will reserve a book, which may be obtained next spring on payment of the balance. Numerous books were reserved last year, and there will be no surplus Cornhuskers printed over the sold and reserved amount. Announcements of the standings of persons competing for the trip to

FARMERS PLAN FOR ANNUAL AG FORMAL

Pep Meeting Held in Student Activities Building Is Well Attended

College of Agriculture's annual traditional party, the Farmer's Formal, is swiftly shaping itself into what is expected to be the "biggest and best" Ag party ever held. The Farmers' Formal pep meeting, held Thursday evening in the Student Activities building was well attended despite disagreeable weather.

The Tri-F club, girls' pep organization at the Ag campus, presented a farm-to-the-skill. Professor Russell, a staunch supporter of College of Agriculture activities, gave a short talk on school spirit and the part it plays in the student's college life.

Chairman Gives Views

Ormond Benedict, '29, Darlington, Wis., general chairman of the party, took charge of the meeting and explained in a general way what the party is and the place it takes in the Agricultural College activities. Fred Gran, '31, Lincoln, decoration committee chairman, gave a vivid description of what the decorations would be, and from his report they should rank up alongside the extensive decorations the Missourians have at their annual Ag Barnwarming.

The party starts at 8:30 with a half-hour entertainment before dancing. This will give the crowd a chance to acquaint themselves with the decorations and surroundings. The "Cornhuskers," a nine-piece band, has been secured to furnish the music. Fred Sundeen, '30, Havelock, dance chairman, says he has arranged with Tommy to have the music and costumes of the orchestra conform to the party. Bob and Art Danielson, '21, Lincoln, entertainment chairman, say there will be something new and entirely different in the

CORNTUSKERS MEET FIRST TIME FRIDAY

Pre-Dentists and Freshmen Discuss Club's History, Elect Officers

The first meeting of the Cornhusker club was held at the Grand Hotel Friday evening at 6 o'clock. The Cornhusker club is composed of pre-dental and freshman dental students.

Professor Anderson, head of the department of anatomy of the University is sponsor for the club.

Features of the first meeting were the election of officers and a talk by Dean Grubb of the College of Dentistry. Arthur Haugh was elected president; Herbert Evers, vice-president; Howard Gallagher, secretary-treasurer, and William Wallace, chairman of the entertainment committee. In the election of the president, the vote resulted in a tie between Haugh and Wallace and was settled by the flip of a coin.

Reviews History

Dean Grubb reviewed the history of dentistry up to the present time, including the history of the local college. He also told about the new building for the College of Dentistry.

The club meets on the first Friday of every month. The meetings are held at the Grand Hotel at 6 o'clock.

Bandsmen to Sponsor Ticket Sale for Play

The R. O. T. C. band will sponsor ticket sales for the University Players' show, "Two Girls Wanted." In an effort to make up the deficit in the "Send-the-Band-to-West Point" fund.

Roy Ramsay, business manager of the production, has announced that one-half of the proceeds of tickets sold by bandsmen will be turned into the West Point fund.

The Cadet Band netted approximately $1,500 from its ball given in the Coliseum Homecoming Night. At least $3,000 more must be raised if the band makes the trip to the Army game with the Cornhusker team November 24.

UNIVERSITY IS HOST TO U. S. NAVY BAND

World Famous Organization Will Play in Coliseum Tuesday, Nov. 6

WILL GET VOTE RETURN

University of Nebraska will host this week to the United States Navy band, world famous musical organization, appearing in afternoon and evening concerts at the Coliseum, Tuesday, Nov. 6.

The Navy band is the official musical organization of Uncle Sam's sea forces, being authorized by a special act of Congress. The present concert tour is being conducted by permission of the President of the United States, Lincoln being included on the itinerary of sixty cities to be visited by the bandmen.

While few students of the University have had an opportunity to attend a concert of the U. S. Navy band, a majority have heard this organization over the radio. During the winter season, the U. S. Navy band in charge has been heard every week over the National Broadcasting system network from Washington, D. C. The band which is coming to Lincoln this week, is the organization that plays whenever the President of the United States speaks.

Has Foremost Soloists

One of the remarkable things about the band is its ability to obtain the services of the foremost soloists and musicians of the nation. Its musical standards require that each band member be master of two or more instruments.

Among the best known soloists in the band are John J. Courtney, cornetist; L. J. Goucher, xylophonist; and William Meyer, flutist.

The evening concert at the Coliseum will feature a big election party. Direct wire will flash the latest vote returns to the building and the results will be relayed to the crowd through the Coliseum public address system.

The student matinee in the afternoon is scheduled for 3:45 o'clock. The evening concert will open at 8:15, the election service starting at 7 o'clock.

Former Student Likes Life in South America

A letter, dated October 15, has just been received from Frank J. Pospisil, who is now stationed at Maracaibo, Venezuela with the Lago Petroleum Corporation. "Pos" is best remembered as one of the mainstays in the famous Nebraska lines of 1924 and 1925, also for his ability in the weight events during track seasons of three years. At that time he was only a sideline with "Pos," whose real interests lay in geology. Upon his graduation in 1927, he became connected with the Lago Corporation and left for South America that fall.

Pospisil is in charge of the subsurface formations at a new field located at Tia Juana. His are the labors of a subsurface geologist, better known to the drillers as a "mudsmeller." He described his work in a series of technical terms, in which he spoke of horizons and formations in a vernacular that was somewhat strange. The work is interesting however, and certainly the surroundings are romantic as a book.

"Pos" Not Homesick

"Pos" firmly believes that South America is no respecter of time. His time has been filled so completely with interest, that he can hardly realize that his only six months more and then home sweet home again. Who would not regret leaving a land of tropical storms, earthquakes, alligators and perhaps a coo senorita, perhaps?

Recreation consists chiefly of swimming and hunting. A postscript told of returning from a pigeon hunt and an eviable bag. At other times "Pos" thinks of what the Cornhuskers are doing at the moment on the gridiron. Football news, though a bit tardy, finds its way to interested fans south of the equator.

F. G. COLLINS WILL TALK AT PROGRAM

Mr. F. G. Collins of the museum will talk at the regular Sunday program in Morrill hall on "An Old English City." The talk will be preceded by one or two reels of educational film, as will all other Sunday lectures this winter. Miss Marjorie Shanafelt, in charge of the programs, announced that in the future children will not be admitted to the 4 o'clock lectures unless accompanied by parents. There will be a children's program at 2:45 o'clock Sunday.

Her sister secures a position as cook in the same home.

TEACHERS CONVENTION CLOSES FRIDAY NIGHT

More Than Three Thousand Registered for Annual Gathering Here

DR. SADLER GIVES TALK

Nebraska State Teachers association convention closed Friday evening with a concert given by Nina Morgana, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company. The concert was given at the University coliseum and was well received by the representatives of district one. Upwards from three thousand teachers were registered in Lincoln for the convention. Blizzard weather and impassable highways undoubtedly whittled down the attendance somewhat.

Mr. O. H. Binson, retiring president, read the list of officers elected for the coming year. The officers were elected at the business meeting held Friday at 1

R. O. T. C. PARADE WILL BE STAGED THURSDAY

First Exhibition Scheduled To Prepare Cadets for Armistice Day

R. O. T. C. cadets will march in the first parade of the season on Thursday, November 8. This is in preparation for the annual Armistice Day parade to be held November 12.

Cadet officers have been issued sabres so they now spend several hours daily before a mirror practicing the manual with their cheese knives and admiring themselves. In the meantime those in the near vicinity are keeping their distance as if they feared for their life.

So far no casualties have been reported. This last week several cadet officers have been seen carrying their sabres as if it were a rifle at right shoulder arms, but by five o'clock Thursday they expected to be adept enough to lead their men in a regimental parade.

On November 12 the cadets will have the privilege of showing off to the city of Lincoln as they will march in the Armistice Day parade. The night before every officer will spend several hours shining boots, Sam Brownes, and sabres, besides strengthening buttons on their coats so the chest expansion caused by applause of the populace will not cause an accident.

Dr. Walter Aitken Will Talk at Vespers Service

Dr. Walter I. Aitken of the St. Paul's Methodist church will be the speaker at the regular Vespers service which will be held Tuesday at five o'clock in Ellen Smith hall. The Vespers choir will sing, and other special music will be provided.

First Taste of Winter Is Cause of Confusion, Tardiness and Balky Cars

Yes, children, as I was saying, there are three distinct periods in the evolution of our modern winter. The first of course, was the glacier period when a rugged little atom of energy was deposited upon the western plains and grew, gathering momentum and force as the ages sailed by, until it blossomed from a pollen-like grain into that beautiful flower, Nebraska spirit.

The second was the snow of '88, before even the Alpha Thetas had embarked upon their colorful existence. Old man winter had things in a mess. It might interest you to know that Mrs. Cecilia Jones succeeded in wading the drifts for seven weary miles to borrow the butter and spread her daughter Nellie's lunch (Nellie was co-ed at the time at Nebraska).

Eating Clubs Forsaken

But all joking aside it was a terrible winter, and several Nebraska eating clubs were forsaken at noons for the restful shelter of the "Y" Temple. There they feasted upon the steaks of a buffalo killed a few days before by mistake when tackled by one of the school's pioneer linemen (McMullen take note).

The third period was back in the fall of '28. The tiger was still

Scarlet Powerhouse Rolls Up Impressive Score in Final Period

NEBRASKA WINS 20 TO 0

Clair Sloan Runs 52 Yards Through Kansas Eleven For Second Score

(By Jack Elliott.)

UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS, Memorial Stadium, Nov. 3.—Coming back the second half with a terrific line driving attack that swept the Jayhawkers off their feet, the Nebraska Cornhuskers rode victorious over the Kansas eleven, scoring all their points in the second half to win the Kansas homecoming classic 20 to 0.

Playing a mediocre brand of football throughout the initial half, the Scarlet and Cream eleven from Lincoln could not seem to get organized and floundered around on a soggy field, letting the Kansas eleven go through the Husker line for two first downs.

The Cornhusker "powerhouse" got under way just a few minutes before the close of the first half and started their victory drive down the field, but the time-keeper's gun ended the first half.

Howell and Sloan Start

The second half saw an entirely new and powerful Husker team facing the Kansas Jayhawkers. The Husker backs, Howell and Sloan, the two iron men of the Scarlet backfield, were tearing and ripping through the Kansas line for long gains, which took but a few minutes for the Husker team to march over the line for the initial touchdown.

Nebraska's first touchdown came after five minutes of the second half had elapsed. Clair Sloan's forty-five yard punt to the Kansas 5-yard line started the touchdown march. Lawrence punted back to Sloan, and the flashy Husker back, returned the ball twenty-six yards, putting the ball on the 15-yard line. On the first play, Blue Howell took the ball around the Kansas right end for a fifteen yard run and a Nebraska touchdown. Howell's touchdown run was given a perfect interference by Sloan and Farley Sloan's try for the extra point was good, making the score stand at 7 to 0 for the Big Red team from Lincoln.

HUSKERS TO CLASH WITH AMES IN 1929

Cyclone Athletic Director Announces Game Slated For Turkey Day

Although no official announcement of the 1929 Cornhusker grid schedule has been made news bulletins from Ames, Ia., Saturday, carry the information that Iowa State college will play Nebraska, at Lincoln, Thanksgiving day, Nov. 28, 1929. T. N. Metcalf, director of athletics at Ames, made the announcement.

Is First Information

This is the first leak of information concerning the 1929 Cornhusker schedule. While it was expected that Iowa State would be on the Husker schedule, the announcement from Ames saying that it would be a Thanksgiving game throws the first light on next year's schedule. This year the Cyclone marked the initial struggle for both the Huskers and the Iowans.

The Iowa State schedule for 1929 includes Grinnell, Missouri, Marquette, Kansas, Oklahoma, Drake, and Kansas State.

What All This Has to Do with the Who, What, Where and Why, I Don't Know Myself, anyhow we will have weather, and remember that in that same year after Kansas came the Sooners.
